During the year the relief officer has distributed 4,311 lbs. of beef and 135 bags of potatoes and $65.00 worth of groceries, besides wood and coal. There have been 11 weekly distributions, which began on Saturday, January the 18th, and ended last Saturday. The average number of people supplied each Saturday was 60. Each one was a married man, at the head of a family and in need of charity. The relief officer always had beef, potatoes and groceries on hand to supply all who come during the week. The money of the fund was deposited in the Dominion Bank.

LARGE MEETING OF MEN AND WOMEN

Special Services at Methodist Church Are Concluded To-night.

The basement of the George Street Methodist Church was well filled last night on the occasion of the special open meeting in connection with the week's services. It was a representative gathering of men and women and was an interesting meeting in many respects.

A song service was begun at 7.45 and continued for twenty minutes. Mr. R. J. Soden was chairman of the meeting, Mr. G. W. Miller leader of the song service and Mr. McCann was organist. A male quartette composed of Messrs. Miller, Doidge, Thornton and Cole rendered several hymns in a splendid manner.

Rev. Mr. Pearson spoke at the after meeting. His words dealt with the text, "I can do all things through Christ, which strengtheneth me." Many testimonies were given and the meeting was of special benefit to all those who assisted in it.

OFF ON HOLIDAY TRIP TO SCOTLAND

Party Leaving in the Morning for Glasgow.

Back to Scotia for a holiday is the pleasant prospect of a party which leaves for Glasgow on Friday. It is composed as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barrie, Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Mosley and Mrs. Jas. Walker, who live on Chamberlain street. They will leave for St. John's-to-morrow morning. Their trip is mainly one of pleasure in re-visiting the Old Country, and they will all likely return during the summer.

Mr. Mosley has recovered from the injuries he received in an accident at the Shovel works some time ago, and his trip will be the more beneficial.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL AT THE BARRACKS

Splendid Programme Arranged to Take Place To-night.

There will be a musical festival of a splendid variety at the Salvation Army barracks this evening, given by the Salvation Army Band. It is now some time since the Band has given a concert of this nature and especial pains have been taken to make it interesting.

SIMILAR MOVE ADVISED

The Hastings Star says: In another column will be noticed a news item regarding the Central Milling Company, of Peterborough, which has just declared an annual dividend of eight per cent for the year just closed. As will be noticed the profits on this business for the year have been 27 per cent on the capital stock.

This mill is a patron's mill and most of the stock holders are farmers living in the vicinity of Peterborough. These stock holders get all the benefits of reduced price in buying feed, chops etc. They get their flour cheaper and in addition to this receive 8 per cent per annum on the money invested.

Surely this is an object lesson to the farmers and residents of this district; for Hastings has advantages that the Peterborough mill is without in several particulars. Where the Peterborough mill has to purchase power the mill here has its own. The cost of labour here is far less, and there would not be the competition.

There are very few farmers in this district who would not very much like to get the local mill going, but have no one to take the matter up properly. Eight per cent is far better investment than you can get anywhere in this vicinity; and with the advantages from purchasing flour, feed and chop at your own mill should make it at least 2 per cent more. You have your money invested right here where you can see it. They are, and have been doing it in Peterborough for ten years, and why not in Hastings. Somebody make a move.

SOME STREET LIGHTS WERE OUT

Fire, Water and Light Committee Decide To Deduct From Their Account.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee of the City Council met last night in preparation for the meeting of the Council next Monday night. There were present Ald. Johnston, chairman; Mayor Rush, Ald. Buller, and McIntyre. A report was received in connection with the street lights that were out during the past quarter. On motion, it was decided to deduct $14.66 from the Peterborough Light & Power Company's account, because of lights failing to work properly.

TO CELEBRATE DOMINION DAY AT HASTINGS VILLAGE

Calithumpian Procession Being Arranged —Under Auspices of Fire Brigade.

The Fire Brigade of Hastings has decided to make July 1, a red letter day in the history of their village, and as they have succeeded in anything they have undertaken thus far it is an assured fact that they will carry out their intentions to the letter. The fun will include a calithumpian parade and several other amusements.

SERIES OF QUESTIONS BEGIN ON SATURDAY

Valuable for the Teacher in the Sunday School as Well as Others.

On Saturday of this week the first series of questions suggested by the International Sunday School lesson will appear in the Examiner. All readers who are interested in these, whether they attend Sunday school or not, are invited to send written answers and to compete for the prizes to be presented. The questions will be found interesting and valuable, especially to Sunday school teachers.

MR. CHAS. NIXON'S HOTEL IS CALLED "THE GRAND"

Not "The Gold Dollar"—This Information Was Wrong.

In connection with the report in yesterday's issue, referring to the applications for hotel licenses in Peterborough an error was made on the part of the official who gave the information, Mr. Charles Nixon's hotel is called "The Grand" and not "The Gold Dollar," as stated. He named it "The Grand" when he became the proprietor and this name is plainly written on the window.

SUN AND SNOW

Sometimes Help the Hair to go

In any changeable climate the hair is apt to become brittle and to break off stubby here and there. This makes a hair dressing almost a necessity, especially to ladies. In using a hair dressing, why not get the best, one that combines with it the efficiency in killing the dandruff germ. The germ that eats the hair off at the roots, causing what is called falling hair, and, in time, baldness. Newbro's "Herpicide" is that kind of a hair dressing. You have no idea how delightful your scalp will feel and how stylish your hair will appear, after an application or two of Herpicide. It is certainly a wonderful innovation as a scalp antiseptic and hair dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes — 50 cents and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

ANOTHER YORK LOAN DECISION

SAYS REFEREE KAPPELE

Toronto, April 2.—Another judgment in the York Loan cases was given out by Referee George Kappele yesterday morning. It related to the claims of shareholders whose right of withdrawal had arisen by efflux-ion of time, but who either had failed to give the necessary notice demanding payment or whose notice had not expired at the date of the winding up order. Mr. Kappele holds that this class of shareholders can have no priority.

The text of the judgment is as follows:

I have found against the contention raised by Mr. Douglas that under the bylaws and certificates there is no absolute promise to pay to withdrawing shareholders, but only a promise to pay in a particular way which failed prior to or at the date of the winding-up order.

I have found against the contention of Mr. Scott that the company was insolvent in the sense that there could be no withdrawal rights before any of the claimants in this class had acquired the right to withdrawal, but have fixed the date at which the right of withdrawal ceased as the 22nd day of November, 1905.

I find in favour of Mr. Scott's contention that these shareholders are chargeable with the losses of the company and that this account can be taken in the winding-up proceedings, and that as a result they can only share pari passu with the other shareholders.

I also find that as a matter of law upon the proper construction of the powers of the company under the statutes governing it, these shareholders cannot have any priority, the statutes in this Province governing this company being different from the imperial statutes upon which the English cases are decided.

In the result I find that this class of shareholders have no preference or priority over the other shareholders and must come in and rank pari passu with the general body of shareholders claiming no preference or priority.

TIPS OF FINGERS CUT BY PUNCH PRESS

Accident to Mr. Fred Sisson—Not Very Serious.

CROSSED RICE LAKE ON APRIL FIRST

Experience of Two Men From the Other Side of the Lake.

Across Rice Lake on April 1 is the unusual experience of Capt. Wilbur Harris of Gore's Landing and Mr. D. McAllister. Debating Club Close The Season With A Banquet

Several Members of the Club in Attendance — Splendid Supper And a Literary Toast List.

MR. J. E. HODGSON PRESIDED

The culmination of the present session of the Y.M.C.A. Debating Club was reached last night when a splendid banquet befitting the occasion was held. Tables were set in the Board Room where an inviting repast was spread by the Coleman Bros.

A large number of the members as well as ex-members were in attendance and the event was in every respect very successful and in that respect was in harmony with the meetings of the Debating Club during the past winter.

The manner in which the guests seemed to enjoy the supper bore ample testimony to their excellent appetites as well as to the excellence of the fare. At the conclusion of this portion of the banquet a toast list was presented which was both enjoyable and instructive.

Mr. J E Hodgson presided as toast master and after the King had been fittingly honoured, "Canada" was proposed by Mr. G Armstrong. Mr. N Greenhalgh responded and coupled with this toast "The Maple Leaf Forever" was heartily sung. "The Motherland" was honoured by Messrs. J E Hodgson and W McLaren, after which "Rule Brittania" was sung.

The next toast was "Literature" championed by Messrs. W G Shiner and F Ray in an instructive manner.

Mr. C E Coleman proposed the toast to the Y.M.C.A. which was responded to by Messrs. H C Wright, E A Browde, and J M Laing. "Our Critic" was proposed by Mr. W Common and in this regard Mr. J E Hodgson's services during the past season were complimented. Mr. Hodgson replied in a suitable manner.

Messrs. P Smedmor and G A Hamon spoke for the press.

The banquet was then brought to a successful close as well as the sessions of the Debating Club for this season, by the singing of Auld Lang Syne.

CANADIAN HORTICULTURIST; MEETING OF DIRECTORS

Yesterday a brief paragraph was printed in the Examiner, noting the fact that the first meeting of the present year of the directors of the Horticultural Publishing Company was held at the company's new offices, Simcoe street, city. The importance of the occasion to the horticultural interests of the province demand, however, a little fuller attention. The directors present were Messrs. A. W. Peart, Burlington; Herman Simmers, Toronto; P. W. Hodgetts, Toronto; Harold Jones, Maitland and H. B. Cowan, secretary-treasurer, Peterborough. The fact that these gentlemen, so prominently identified by interest and special qualifications with horticultural matters, came so far to discuss and adopt measures and plans for the coming year, in regard to the publication of that excellent monthly journal the Canadian Horticulturist, augers a commendable concern in the welfare of the interests it represents. As is known the Horticulturist is printed at the Examiner establishment and published from Peterborough. The meeting yesterday will doubtless have resulted in the adoption of practical measures, with a view of making the Horticulturist more worthy than ever of the favours it has received at the hands of those in whose interest it is published. The office of publication is now situated in Peterborough and the meetings of the directors will hereafter be held here monthly.

57th REGIMENT BEING RAPIDLY FILLED UP WITH LAST YEAR'S MEN

The officers of the several companies of the 57th Regiment are experiencing no difficulty in obtaining their usual complements of men. Quite a number have already practically reached their full strength or are assured that they can do so, and it is not feared that there will be any dearth of men.

One of the officers stated to-day that a noticeable feature of the securing of men this year was that nearly all those who have stated their wishes to belong to the regiment have had experience in drill. In other words, they have been connected with the regiment in previous years and are given preference over raw recruits. The prospect of a trip to Quebec apparently appeals to the men, who enjoyed last year's outing to the full.

TWO MEN CHARGED WITH THEFT OF WATCH FROM LOCAL YOUTH

A few days ago Charles Peters, a youth of this city, complained to the Chief of having been defrauded out of a watch and two dollars by two men named Cairns and Armstrong. He claimed that Cairns came to the hotel one night and asked him to buy a watch, which was priced at $3.50. He looked at the watch and said he would like to buy it but did not have the money. He said he would give Cairns two dollars for the watch. The latter went and consulted Armstrong, who owned the watch, and he consented to sell if Peters would pay the balance again. This bargain was struck, and an hour afterwards Peters discovered that the watch was no good and that it had gone slow. He hunted up Armstrong and demanded his money back, but the latter asked to see the watch. Peters first objected, but being assured by Armstrong that he would not keep it, he handed it over. Armstrong told him he was the kind of a chap he was looking for, and then walked away.

In the police court this morning Armstrong and Cairns were arraigned before His Worship, but the Chief explained that the matter had been settled out of court. It appears that Peters paid another instalment on the time-piece, and received back the watch. The case was then dismissed.

FELLOW WORKMEN IN ATTENDANCE

At Funeral of Late James Louden This Afternoon.

The funeral of the late Mr. Jas. Louden was held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the family residence at the corner of Park and Patterson streets to the Little Lake Cemetery. As the deceased was a member of the Court Chemong, I.O.F. and also of the Iron Moulders Union both these organizations were largely represented. As a tribute to the late Mr. Louden's high standing in the esteem and respect of the Peter Hamilton Company establishment there was no work this afternoon.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. H J Keith of Knox Presbyterian church and the burial services of the I.O.F. were performed by Bro. Wm. Miles, P.C.R.

The pall bearers were chosen equally from the two societies as follows: Messrs. J Johnston, Ed. Carr and John Robinson, representing the Moulders, and Bros. Geo. Metcalfe, F.W.; G W Powell, F.S., and Wm. Miles, P.C.R., the I.O.F.

Many beautiful floral tributes were received, a wreath being sent by the I.O.F. and another from the Moulders. The funeral was largely attended testifying to the place which the late Mr Louden held in the esteem of his fellow citizens.

SCHOOL OF COOKERY TO HAVE EXHIBIT OF FOOD

Hold its Closing Meeting on Tuesday Evening Next.

The Y. W. C. A. School of Cookery will have its closing on Tuesday evening, April 7th at eight o'clock. An interesting feature will be an exhibition of food, to be held in the gymnasium of the Y. W. C. A.

DR. JOHNSTON REGISTERS AN OBJECTION

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I am taking this opportunity to convey to the city council my disapproval of the conduct of one of the city's employees. I refer to Mr. Packenham of the fire hall.

About a month ago one of the large gray horses was ill and I was called to the hall to attend it. I did so and treated it for the colic, and in a few days it was around well again. Mr. Packenham spoke to me this morning about my bill, which I had sent in for payment. He said my charge was altogether too high for coming to see the horse. I informed him that I did not merely see the horse but I had successfully treated it. He asked me what I had given the horse and I simply informed him that that was my business. He replied that he would see that I would have no more horses to treat at the fire hall.

I would like to ask the council if Mr. Packenham has such public authority that he is the city treasurer, civic censor, boss of the fire hall et al.

In the first place, Mr. Editor, I did not take advantage of the city, merely charging my fee of two dollars, which I charge when a horse is brought to my stable. In this case the city got the best of the bargain and the horse was quickly well again. Mr. Packenham is the first man who ever complained that my fee was not reasonable and just.

And, Mr. Editor, even if he were in full control as conduct such as his befitting the dignity of the city? Surely because he has charge of the fire hall that does not entitle him to insult a citizen who has done his duty? I intend to lay the matter before the council if they will grant me the favour of hearing my case.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

I am, yours truly.

NEARING CONCLUSION OF THE WORK

Legislature Will Likely Be Prorogued Next Week.

HOLD MORNING SESSIONS

Provincial Secretary Discusses Prison Labor Proposals—New Policy In the Treatment of Criminals—Will Be Employed on Farm Work—Abolish Central Prison—Dawn of New Era, Says Mr. Hanna.

Toronto, April 2.—Hon. Mr. Whitney told the Legislature yesterday that he would like to see the House wind up its business on Tuesday next and prorogue on Thursday. With this end in view he suggested a Saturday morning sitting and regular morning sittings thereafter.

Hon. Mr. MacKay concurred in the proposals for morning sittings, but was not disposed towards the idea of ending the session next week.

Hon. Mr. Hanna, the Provincial Secretary, in discussing his prison labor proposals predicted a new era in the provincial treatment and reformation of criminals. The Government proposed a policy redemptive rather than punitive, and purposed inaugurating it at once.

Mr. Hanna submitted his resolution, already published, based upon the findings and report of the committee of the House which recently investigated prison conditions generally. He sketched the work done by the committee and the character and scope of its investigations. Mr. Hanna referred particularly to the conditions in the Mansfield, Ohio, prison, which, he said, profoundly impressed the committee. In connection with this institution was a very successfully operated farm. Prisoners were not garbed as such and, when their conduct warranted it, they were given positions of responsibility and trust. These were rarely violated. In some cases they were even permitted to "hire out."

Hon. Mr. Hanna said it was the Government's intention at the present session of the Legislature, in the supplementary estimates, to ask a grant of $20,000 or $25,000 for the purchase of land in a suitable place and with sanitary surroundings for the establishment of a prison farm. This would be located outside of Toronto and would be the beginning of the ultimate end of the institution known as the Central Prison. It would also be necessary, the Provincial Secretary said, to establish, as an adjunct, a similar institution in the north country to save the great expense bill now incurred in removing prisoners.

"I trust," said the Minister, "that this may be the dawn of a new era in the treatment and reformation of prisoners, without in any way conflicting with free labor." It was, he said, getting the erring ones back to the land, the great curative operation.

Mr. Dargavel (Leeds) a member of the investigating committee, heartily endorsed the resolution. "Let us get rid of the suits and the cells," he urged, "and do better work in seeking to reform particularly the younger men."

Mr. T. H. Preston (East) moved the adjournment of the debate.

Hon. A. J. Matheson presented the report of the Redistribution committee. In so doing he pointed out that the adoption of the report did not mean that it could not be discussed or amended in committee of the whole. On this understanding the report was adopted.

The following Government bills went through committee without change: To amend the act respecting Queenston Heights Park, respecting municipal telephone systems, and to amend the Public Schools Act.

While the Education Act was under consideration Hon. Dr. Pyne, in response to a question from Hon. Mr. MacKay, said it was the intention to drop the Model Schools by degrees, not all at one time.

Hon. Mr. Monteith, Minister of Agriculture, introduced the following Government bills:

An Agricultural Societies Bill—The present act permits the expenditure of $70,000 for agricultural societies, and no more. As an additional $7,000 was voted in the estimates, an amendment to the act is required to make it available.

The amendment also provides for the incorporation of three societies, namely, Colborne, Richmond Hill and Freelton. Colborne was formerly a horticultural society doing agricultural work. Richmond Hill has been in existence for fifty years but was not working under the act. Freelton takes the place of the West Flamboro Society which has gone out of existence.

An Agricultural Associations amendment—Provision is made to include the Gardeners' and Florists' Association of Toronto under the act.

The Ontario Horticultural Association, which controls the Ontario Horticultural Exhibition, held annually in Toronto, is brought under the act and placed on the same footing as the associations controlling the winter fairs at Guelph and Ottawa.

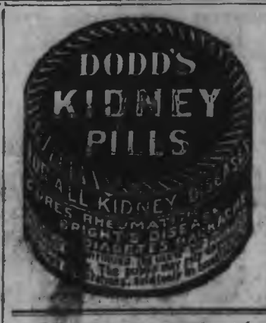
DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP

is rich in the lung-healing virtues of the Norway Pine Tree, skilfully combined with Wild Cherry Bark and the soothing and expectorant properties of other pectoral herbs and barks. It is a pleasant, safe and effectual medicine for Coughs and Colds, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Pain in the Chest, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, Whooping Cough, Quinsy and all troubles of the Throat and Lungs.

A single dose will convince you that it will stop the cough, soothe the throat, and start you on the road to recovery.

Be sure and do not accept a substitute for Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. The genuine is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, and the price 25 cents.

Miss C. M. Woodcock, Kinmount, Ont., writes: "For some time I suffered from a lingering cough. I was afraid it would turn to consumption, and, as I had tried many remedies and found no cure I asked my father to get me a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. When I had taken that bottle I was so much better I got three more, and I am now completely cured."



Douma Is Progressive.

St. Petersburg, April 2.—Following the lead of the legislators of Paris and Washington, 50 members of the Russian Douma yesterday introduced a bill for the increase of their salaries by the extension through the recess of their present compensation of 25 a day.

They complain that the sum they now receive is wholly inadequate to the St. Petersburg scale of living.

Workman Killed at Montreal.

Montreal, April 2.—George Gray, while working yesterday afternoon on the new Eastern Townships Bank building, Victoria square, fell down the well and was instantly killed.

Austria Rejects Proposal.

Vienna, April 2.—The Nue Frere Presse announces that Austria has definitely rejected Great Britain's proposal for the appointment of a governor-general of Macedonia.

DEFENDS LORD HADDO.

Mr. Birrell Says He Knew Nothing of Dublin Theft.

London, April 2.—Chief Secretary for Ireland Augustine Birrell, in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, publicly denied the rumor which has been current in Dublin and other parts of Ireland, connecting the name of Lord Haddo, the eldest son of the Earl of Aberdeen, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, with the theft of a portion of the state regalia, valued at $250,000, from Dublin Castle last summer.

It has been suggested that this was the Government's reason for its refusal to grant a public enquiry into the affair.

Mr. Birrell stated that the jewels must have been stolen between June 11 and July 6, and he wished to take this opportunity of denying the "cowardly calumnies" suggesting Lord Haddo [illegible] them.

He explained that Lord Haddo left Dublin March 7 of last year and lived in Scotland and in London thereafter until Dec. 11.

COLLISION ON I.C.R.

Train Smash Results In One Death, and Several Injured.

Newcastle, April 2.—One man was killed, one fatally and several others seriously injured in a train wreck on the Intercolonial at Derby Junction, near this place, yesterday afternoon, when a westbound special, on which the airbrakes failed to work, crashed into the Indiantown branch train.

The latter's engine was completely demolished.

Albert Lamkey, brakeman on the special, 17 years old, was instantly killed. Two passengers were hurled through the car doors and one man, Havelock Jardine, will die. The other man's jaw was broken.

Brickwood Not Guilty.

Kingston, April 2.—The trial of James Brickwood, for outrage upon Minerva Topping, aged 18, lasted all day. The girl, after three hours' cogitation, decided to testify and relate the horrid details of the assaults made by four men in a shack.

Brickwood's defence was a denial of any participation. He was elsewhere when the assault was alleged to have occurred. To-day, Devine, Crozier, and Mozier, also implicated, will be tried. The jury found Brickwood not guilty.

Bomb Thrown In New York.

The explosion broke all the windows in the house, blew down the front door and wrecked the vestibule, but the occupants escaped uninjured.

Wireless Telephone Tests.

Paris, April 2.—Dr. Lee De Forest yesterday conducted the final test of his wireless telephone system on the Eiffel Tower in the presence of a body of French naval and army officers. Messages were exchanged in the most satisfactory manner with the Government wireless stations throughout France.

This system also will be tested by the [illegible] navy shortly.

Jumped From Fourth Storey.

New York, April 2.—Lena Isabello, the 18-year-old daughter of Vincenzo Isabelle of 81 Pleasant street, Lynn, Mass., died in the Flower Hospital yesterday from injuries she sustained from fire and in jumping from a fourth storey window of her uncle's apartment in East 46th street.

Rosebery Chancellor.

London, April 2.—Lord Rosebery has been elected chancellor of Glasgow University, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Lord Kelvin, who was chancellor since 1904.

NOT GAMBLING BANK, HE SAYS

Mr. Pringle Makes Explanation in House of Commons.

CONVEYS FALSE IMPRESSION

Bank of Commerce Is Exonerated—Scarcity of Money Severely Felt—W. H. Bennett Repeats Accusation of Boodling Quebec Newspaper Article and Says Charges Are Untrue—Canada Prosperous.

Ottawa, April 2.—In the House yesterday afternoon Mr. Pringle rose to clear up some misunderstanding regarding his recent speech on the banking system. He said Mr. Kemp had received a letter from B. E. Walker, president of the Bank of Commerce, objecting to some of Mr. Pringle's statements, and the member for Cornwall thought it due to the Bank of Commerce to clear up any misapprehensions, as he would regret doing any injury to any Canadian bank.

With reference to the statement that the Bank of Commerce was a gambling bank, he merely referred to a reference by the Insurance Commission to certain transactions. On this point Mr. Walker in his letter to Mr. Kemp says: "On the basis of three actual transactions in purchasing shares, reasons for such purchases being unknown to him, Mr. Pringle calls the bank a gambling institution. He even suggests that important events in banking history, such as the absorption of other banks, were brought about as part of a policy of speculation in stocks. These statements are all utterly unfounded. The Canadian Bank of Commerce does not now, and never has at any time, made a practice of buying and selling stocks in public markets or otherwise. It does not now, nor has it ever, speculated in stocks, and its history and reputation as known throughout Canada and in foreign countries are such as to entitle to immunity from criticism of the nature of that in question."

Then the letter deals with charging of high rates of interest in the west. The case in point occurred in the Yukon where prices were enormously higher than in any other part of Canada, and higher rates of interest, therefore, were unavoidable. Referring to the comparison between the Commerce and the newest of banks to show the Commerce had less percentage of assets in proportion to liabilities to the public, the letter pointed out that it was fallacious to make a comparison. Any new bank on this basis was making its position worse with each addition to its customers. The figures properly used were the strongest evidence of esteem in which the Commerce is held, because they indicated extent to which people do business with the bank. The proportion of assets to their public liabilities of several banks at the end of January was Commerce 117 per cent., Montreal 117 per cent., Dominion 121 per cent., Merchants 126 per cent., Nova Scotia 127 per cent.

The next point dealt with was loss of deposits. It was stated by Mr. Walker that all banks found that depositors had drawn upon their balances in much closer manner than when money was easy. All banks had experienced the same result from greater scarcity of money.

Mr. Pringle concluded by saying that he did not take back anything he had urged in support of his amendments to the act, but if he had conveyed the impression that the Bank of Commerce was a gambling bank, he would withdraw the statement.

W. H. Bennett, rising to a question of privilege, read an article from Le Canada, which after a column of adulation of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, said his accusers were tainted by persons who boodled with money of the I.O.F., like Foster, Fowler and Bennett. Mr. Bennett said the statement was a "deliberate untruth." Mr. Fowler followed, characterizing the reference to himself as an "absolute lie."

Dr. Sproule asked if the Government intended taking steps to prevent the importation of cattle and horses from the United States which are being brought in and sold in such large numbers as thoroughbreds for breeding purposes, but which are not in reality eligible for registration in Canadian herd books.

The Minister of Customs said regulations for the entry of cattle and horses for improvement of stock have continued the same as when established by order-in-council in 1867. These regulations do not require animals for improvement of stock to be eligible for registration in Canadian herd books, and the question of amending them is and has been under consideration.

E. H. Lewis introduced a bill to amend the criminal code respecting injuries to persons due to motor vehicles. It provides a penalty of two years imprisonment on drivers and owners of automobiles.

Hugh Guthrie, M.P., spoke 2 3-4 hours on the budget, deducting from trade returns that Canada was never so prosperous.

Joseph Armstrong had the floor at six o'clock, and will continue to-day.

Boys Tested the Powder.

Shawnee, Okla., April 2.—Boys playing near a half carload of giant powder and dynamite caps at the Missouri & Kansas stock yards became involved in a dispute as to whether the powder was good or bad. They determined to test it, and applied a match. An explosion followed that was heard for miles. The car was blown into fragments, and people passing were blown from their feet and across the road. Six people were seriously injured.

Failed to Report Parole.

Brockville, April 2.—William Tomlinson, a native of Brockville, of respectable parentage, is now in the county jail, awaiting extradition proceedings commenced by the United States Government, for neglecting to report to the proper authorities at Syracuse while allowed his liberty on parole, after serving a sentence for burglary.

BAD LEG CAUSED 9 YEARS TORTURE

VARICOSE ULCER HEALED BY ZAM-BUK

Mr. C. Johnston of Poplar Hill Creek, Athabasca Landing, Alta., writes: "Nine years ago a running sore commenced on my right leg, caused by a ruptured blood vessel. As time went on it got worse and my sufferings were intense. I had a very sore leg indeed, and had very small hope of ever seeing it healed, in fact I was told by several who had known such sores that I should suffer with it for life. This was very discouraging. When I was almost in despair I heard of Zam-Buk and wrote to the Company stating my case. They inspired me with hope, and I commenced with Zam-Buk, using it according to instructions. Other salves I had used caused me great suffering, but Zam-Buk soothed the pain, and although it appeared for some time to be doing little good, I persevered, and as soon as the wound became clean, it was only a matter of three or four days before my leg was healed."

ZAM-BUK CURES

TO REFORM SENATE.

Nova Scotia Politicians Scared With Vacant Seats.

Ottawa, April 2.—That the Government has been holding Nova Scotia vacant Senatorships over the heads of their followers for two sessions to compel them to vote as demanded, was the belief expressed by Senator Perley in the Red Chamber yesterday afternoon during a discussion on Senate reform. Hon. Mr. Perley's principal suggestion was that to correct the evil of the great political majority, the Opposition should appoint half the Senators.

In his contribution to the debate, Senator Ellis said the evidence that the Commons was not beyond criticism, was the fact that the Prime Minister had often to go outside Parliament to fill a vacancy in the Cabinet.

Senator G. W. Ross claimed the record of legislation passed and rejected by the Senate showed that partizanship could not be successfully pressed against it. He did not agree with the proposal to return Senators by provincial authorities or that the Opposition should name Senators. The Opposition had no responsibility. The use of Senatorships as described could be as well used by the leader of the Opposition to keep his followers faithful as Senator Perley alleged the Government used the places.

Senator Ross was not so much impressed with the need for maintaining an equalization in the Senate. Measures got fair treatment in the Senate, no matter how the parties stood. Senate reform should be internal and should be along lines of procuring more original legislation and more Government legislation.

How Senator McMullen's son got out a company that had Government contracts was told by the elder McMullen to his colleagues. He had mentioned to W. H. Bennett that he had urged his son to dispose of his stock, but in the Commons Mr. Bennett used the information, declaring that the withdrawal was due to certain "disclosures."

The Senator was sorry he had mentioned the matter to Mr. Bennett, who he thought was a gentleman enough to treat it as private conversation.

Bell People Satisfied.

Montreal, April 2.—The officials of the Bell Telephone Co. are particularly pleased at the outcome of the negotiations with the Alberta Government for the sale of the company's line in that province, and steps will be taken almost immediately with the Saskatchewan Government for the sale of the line in that province.

Rowley a Free Man.

Kingston, April 2.—William H. Rowley, who wrecked the Atlas Loan Co. of St. Thomas and was in 1904 sentenced to 12 years in the penitentiary, has been pardoned and is now in the States.

His health has improved greatly since his confinement.

A Tragedy of the Track.

Los Angeles, April 2.—Mrs. Helen Griffin, 28 years old, who has been a resident of Monrovia since the beginning of the racing season at Santa Anita, was shot and killed by Mrs. L. Z. De Arman, wife of L. Z. De Arman, who has been racing horses at Santa Anita during the past season.

The motive for the shooting is admitted by De Arman to have been jealousy of him by his wife.

Casually Discussed.

Ottawa, April 2.—Senator Scott said yesterday that the question of inviting the United States fleet to visit the Pacific coast harbors and also to send a warship to the St. Lawrence for the Quebec celebration had been casually discussed by the Government, but no definite conclusion had been arrived at.

MR. W. H. HULL,

Dear Sir:—I wish to thank you for the magnificent profits I received from you on the 2nd inst on Policy 18074 on my life, the dividend period having matured on the 1st inst.

To think that all I have paid the Company during the past twenty years was $442.00, and that my reserved cash profits for that period amount to $214.04, leaving the net cost of my insurance of $1,000 during those years only $227.96, and that now I have a free paid-up policy of $1,000 still drawing profits EVERY FIVE YEARS hereafter, as long as I live, is a result that surprises me most agreeably and causes me to regret that I have not taken more insurance twenty years ago.

However, as you know I am trying to redeem the past to the best of my ability and have applied for further insurance on same plan with you.

Again thanking you and desiring to know the splendid results I received, and hoping it may assist some, at least, in making a wise selection when insuring, I wish your Company the patronage it deserves, and remain

Yours truly,

The Systematic Walking Exercises Are Necessary

Interesting Treatise on Pedestrianism by an Englisman--- Why Slow Walking Tires---Rain and Snow Should Not Be Hindrances.

In view of the coming walking tournament at the Brock street rink the following from Lloyd's Weekly, London, will be interesting, written by C. B. Fry:

The proverb which advises us to walk before we run has a special application that is not taken into account. If I know anything about anything (of which none of us need be too sure) I know something about athletics, and I think I know that the commonest mistake made by all of us who go in for athletics is that we do not walk enough.

Ever since I have written about such subjects as athletics and training I have been accustomed just at this time of the year to receive a great number of letters from people who say they intend to go into training, and I will give them some general advice. The inquiries come in February and March because the season for track athletics as schools and colleges happen as a kind of interregnum between football and cricket, and because, for some strange reason, the youth of this country regards fitness for track athletics as something different from fitness for football and cricket. The answer one must give is not likely to give satisfaction. It amounts to this: Practice the particular "event" with due regard to doing never too much per diem: do a lot of walking.

Walking is a simple and familiar form of exercise, and we, therefore, most erroneously underrate its efficacy. A fat merchant walks to the station to catch a train—how, then, believe that walking is an important form of training? But, on the other hand, examine the regimen of the specialist athlete, the boxer, the rowing man, the runner—what you will—and you find that there is one exercise which is both common to all of them, and treated by all as important—namely, walking. The extraordinary thing is that the trainers of professional boxers and runners, who from the rule-of-thumb, but, none the less, valuable experience they possess, are great believers in walking exercise, find that walking is the one exercise against which their charges are inclined to rebel. No doubt, this is because there seems to be so little in walking. Exercise at the punching-ball, Indian clubs, dumbbells—all this seems to bring immediate results; the man thinks he is doing something. But walking; no: he calls it his "grind."

The Only Genuine Walker

But the fact remains that there is absolutely nothing to equal systematic, regular walking exercise—first of all, to promote the general condition upon which all specialised athletic training is founded and built up; and, secondly, to keep up fine tone after one has reached the well-trained stage.

But I would pass on to another consideration, chiefly interesting, possibly, to those who are not by way of wishing to be trained athletes. After all, since walking is of such undoubted value as a means to athletic condition, how comes it that it is not considered a pursuit valuable for its own sake?

The other day I came across an essay on "The Genuine Walker," which contains some suggestive ideas. The sum of it is as follows:—"The only genuine walker is he who at all seasons, in all weathers, under all conditions—barring illness!—and in all localities walks briskly four or five miles on a stretch every day. This is a minimum distance. No one who enjoys walking will want to walk less, and one who does not will not walk at all. Walking should be a pleasure—a treat to give up which would be a serious sacrifice. Not to walk in the rain is to lose a delightful phase of the pleasure; "not to walk in snow-covered fields and woods is to relinquish more than one can be told." I cannot acknowledge the source of this quotation, or the author's name, as I do not know them.

However, the curious point is that so few of us treat walking as something worth doing for its own sake. My unknown author argues that the reasons are two—first, because it bores us, and secondly, because it tires us.

It seems to me that the boredom of walking is produced by precisely that negligent and erroneous attitude of mind towards it which leads the tyro athlete to underrate its value. We are so accustomed to treat walking as a mere means of getting somewhere for the sake of something else, that we come to mark it off mentally from those pursuits which we follow for the sheer joy of sensation, such as skating and swimming and running—when these exercises are non-competitive as, indeed, they are to a very great extent. In walking, the sensation of speed is absent, but the moment one so regards it there is in walking a most delightful sensation of distance easily and rhythmically covered; the miles are pulled from in front and passed away behind us with such certainty and so little effort when once we take to walking as something worth doing.

Why Slow Walking Tires

Certainly it is extraordinary how tired one may be made by quite a short walk, two or three miles, even when one is for other purposes in fair condition. This is due partly to the fact that the muscular exercise involved in walking is very much greater than is supposed. It is the old error — we think walking is nothing, whereas it is distinctly something. But partly, it is due to another reason very well explained by the author quoted above. "It is a great mistake," he writes, "to suppose that slow walking is less tiresome than rapid. In leisurely movement the circulation is not stimulated, the muscles do not gain the necessary elasticity and spring to act automatically, the nerves are not alert, the mind is sluggish and fixed on the locomotion."

That is near the mark, when one considers the question. For certainly if one went skating or swimming, or playing cricket in the same dilatory, uninterested and unbraced state of mind as is the usual accompaniment of walking, one would find skating or swimming or cricket not only boring, but tiring. It is a law of physical life that we get very little from physical exercise which we ourselves do not put there, by energy of mind—skating or cricket being, as it were, extra kinds of physical exercise. Stir our mental energy—we wake ourselves up to do the outside edge or the glance-to-leg quickly, neatly and well — we are physically on the alert, and keen. Walking is so common to our habits that we regard it as nothing, and in consequence we get nothing from it. But the walking we do when we go down the garden to chain up the dog is really not the walking we ought to do when we "go for a walk." To treat the two as one and the same is precisely what robs genuine walking of the pleasure we might derive from it.

DR. JOHNSTON'S "UNKNOWN" TO ENTER SIX-DAY WALKING MATCH

Already there have been 15 entries received for the walking match this morning, to be held in Brock street rink commencing on April 20, and the contest promises to be the greatest sporting event in the history of Peterborough. Three more entries were received to-day, including one from Warsaw, one from J W Sufford of Toronto and the other from a Toronto man who prefers to keep his identity a secret and who calls himself Dr. Johnston's unknown.

Dear Sir,—You may put my name down as an entry in your six-day race, and hope I will be able to keep warm with some of the fast ones. Will you kindly let me know when entries close, and mail me a completel ist of same. I will not be able to get down until about two or three days before the race. Hoping to see large crowds there, I am,

Yours truly,
J. W. SUFFORD,
364 Montrose avenue,
Toronto.

Dr. Johnston has received the following letter from the unknown:

Dear Sir,—Would you please make my entry in that 36-hour walk in the rink there on April 20, and will you send me the conditions of the race? I am the man that challenged Hartley both before and after he walked Jimmy Reynolds, but got no reply. I won't say what I can do, but I know what I have done with better walkers than Mr. Hartley, and I think I can give the best of them a race yet. You can enter me as Dr. Johnston's unknown. I will go up a week before the race, and you can withhold my name if you wish. All I will say is that I will be there at the finish.

BLAKE, NEGRO PEDESTRIAN, MAY HAVE TO WALK ALL THE WAY HERE

J. E Blake, the negro, who made such a good showing under disadvantageous conditions at Kansas City, will be a starter in the big match here this month, if he has to walk all the way here. It will be remembered that Blake walked from a town in Florida to Kansas City for the race there, arriving without money or food, and walking the first day without any nourishment whatever. Mr. Geo. Stevens has received a letter from the negro, who is now in Syracuse, N.Y., in which Blake states that his funds are low, and it looks as if he would have to walk from the New York city to Peterborough. He is coming here, if he has to take to the road for every foot of the way.

Blake is confident of being in front at the end of the 36 hours, and says he will be in better shape here than he was at Kansas City.

Undigested Food

When any portion of food remains in the stomach and refuses to digest, it causes the torments of indigestion. This undigested food rapidly ferments, irritating the sensitive coating of the stomach, while other parts of the body, particularly the head, suffer in consequence.

So long as this undigested food remains in the stomach, the discomfort continues. A few doses of stop all fermentation, sweeten the contents of the stomach and give natural assistance that relieves the stomach of its burden. The use of Beecham's Pills gradually strengthens the stomach nerves and soon restores them to a normal, healthy condition.

Beecham's Pills positively cure all stomach troubles, while their beneficial effects on the liver and kidneys greatly improve the general health.

Beecham's Pills have been used and recommended by the general public for over fifty years.

SEVENTEEN ENTRIES HAVE ALREADY BEEN MADE FOR WALKING MATCH

Below will be found a complete list of the entries received up to date for the walking match to be held in the Brockstreet rink for the championship of Canada. A glance at the list will show that a bunch of famous walkers have signified their intention of being on hand. The entries are:

Dave Hartley, Canadian champion.
Chas. A. Stevens, Peterborough.
John Harper, Millbrook.
Chas. H. Cassells, East City.
S. L. Brooks, Toronto, winner of races in Australia and New Zealand.
Jas. A. Graham, of Buffalo, N. Y., claims U. S. championship.
Walter Hanon, Sudbury, claims English championship with 72 wins out of 80 matches.
W. A. Hoagland, Auburn, N. Y., winner at Kansas City.
J. W. Sufford, Toronto.
Adolph Sharps, Stirling, Ont., who Messrs. Bud, Moon and others of Stirling claim will be a winner.
W. T. Clarke, Smith.
J. Cooper, Toronto.
J. E. Blake, New York, the negro who walked from Florida to Kansas City for the match there; who was thirteen miles ahead of Hartley at one stage in the big match—now walking here.
Dr. Johnston's "unknown," a Toronto man who regards himself as an easy winner.
Chas. C. Stenner, Warsaw.
Chas. Rae, Peterborough.

WARSAW WALKER WANTS TO WALK

Chas. C. Stenner, Seven Years in English Army, the Entry To-day.

And still they come! An entry a day is now almost the record for the big walking contest. This morning Chas. C. Stenner, of Warsaw, called at the Examiner office and left his name. He will enter in the walk and apparently his chances are good. Mr. Stenner is a young man, being about twenty-six years of age. He is an Englishman and has been in the army seven years, two years of which he spent in South Africa, six months in India and the remainder in England. Therefore, he believes, he has the walking ability to qualify in the coming big pedestrian tournament.

WEDDING BELLS

WHITE-BOTHWELL

An interesting and very pretty first of April wedding was celebrated yesterday evening at seven o'clock at the residence of Mr. John Bothwell, High Park Cottage, North Monaghan, when his daughter, Miss Violet Teresa, was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Lawrence White, grandson of Mr. John Fowler, Gravel Road. About eighty guests were in attendance, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Dr. Marsh, pastor of the Springville Presbyterian Church. The house was very prettily decorated for the occasion with beautiful flowers, producing a splendid effect in the candle light.

The ceremony took place before a bank of flowers and ferns. The bride was attired in a costume of cream chiffon broadcloth trimmed with maltese insertion. She also wore orange blossoms. She was assisted by Miss Ella White, a sister of the groom, who wore a pretty white costume and carried pink roses. The groomsmen was Mr. Harry Bothwell, a brother of the bride. Miss Mildred Malwood, niece of the bride, was the pretty little flower girl.

The wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Master John Marsh, son of Dr. and Mrs. Marsh.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the guests sat down to an inviting repast spread on beautifully decorated tables. The presents were handsome and numerous, including a number of cheques. Mr. and Mrs. White will reside on the Gravel Road, North Monaghan.

OBITUARY.

THOMAS DALTON

The death occurred in Dummer on Thursday, March 26, of one of the most highly respected residents in the person of Thomas Dalton. He had been ailing for only five days, and his condition was not considered dangerous, but the end came very suddenly. The deceased was 63 years of age and leaves to mourn his loss a wife and three daughters. The latter are Mrs. P. Leahy of Douro, and Susie and Loretta, at home, and also five sons—James of Dummer, John of Chicago, Edward of St. Paul and Thomas and Percy, at home.

RAYMOND LaVERNE HAW

After an illness of about eight months, Raymond LaVerne, second son, of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Haw, of Cupar, Sask., passed away at the residence of his grandfather, Mr. J. McConnel, Elm Grange, Gilmour street, on Wednesday, April 1st, at the age of two years and three months. Funeral, private, from 528 Gilmour street, on Friday at 3.30 o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery.

WILLIAM G. IVEY

The grim reaper of death has taken from our midst another respected citizen in the person of William G. Ivey, son of Mr. Wm. Ivey, who, until a short time ago resided in Seymour West. Deceased passed away on Friday his death being due to heart trouble and pneumonia. He was a steady and industrious man, quiet in habits and faithful to duty. He was 51 years of age and leaves to mourn his death his widow, two young sons Harold and Edson and a married daughter, Mrs. Nickerson of Flint, Mich. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon when service was conducted by Rev. G. H. Copeland at the family residence, Rear street.—Campbellford Dispatch.

MRS. W. A. STAUNTON

A particularly sad death occurred this afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Nicholls Hospital, when Mrs. W. A. Staunton, of 20 Benson avenue, passed away at the age of 63 years. Although ailing for some time, she had only been under treatment for peritonitis, which was the cause of her death, for the past two weeks. Her maiden name was Margaret Huffy, daughter of the late William Huffy of Ops township. She was a faithful and devoted member of the congregation of St. John's Church, where, at last evening's service, the last prayers were said for her.

The deceased leaves to mourn a mother's loss, besides her husband, four daughters and six sons. The daughters are Margaret, Sadie and Maude of Peterborough and Mrs. T. W. Wood of Orillia, and the sons are Capt. W. R. Staunton, Port Arthur; Thomas of Orillia, Clarence of St. Paul, Minn.; Wilfrid, of Santa Barbara, Cal., and Ernest and Harvey of Peterborough.

Funeral arrangements will be announced to-morrow.

RECITAL ARRANGED FOR TO-MORROW EVENING

To be Given by Miss Adamson, Assisted By Mrs. Dickson Hall.

An interesting recital will be given by Miss Lina Drechsler Adamson, in the Conservatory of Music Hall on Friday evening, April 3rd, at eight o'clock. Miss Adamson is a talented teacher and her pupils will give a good account of themselves.

THE LATEST SPORTS

SOME OLD-TIMERS FOR THE WALK

Brooks Will Bet 2 to 1 That He Will Beat Dave Hartley.

The Toronto Globe has the following to say of the big walking match here next week, beginning April 20: The walking match in Peterborough, which begins on Easter Monday, will bring out some well-known old-time heel-and-toe artists besides James Reynolds and David Hartley—George Kekewich, who was walking hereabouts a score of years ago; Jack Cooper, the former Sussex harrier, who was second to Butler in his famous London-to-Brighton walk, and S. L. Brooks, an old-time champion of New Zealand, Australia and Wales. The last-named is now 61, but has no fear that he will not hold his own in the company, and yesterday he said,—"I will take two to one that I beat Hartley, old as I am." Brooks, who is a resident of this city, walked 117 miles in 24 hours in New Zealand as long ago as 1889. He says that plenty of challenges were flying about a few months ago, and now all the walkers, old and young, will have a fair chance to show what they really can do.

NORWOOD HAS THE WALK FEVER, TOO

A Walking Match From Norwood to Hastings on Tuesday.

The walking fever has struck Norwood and there was a race there on Tuesday night that caused considerable excitement. The sporting editor has received the following communication from Finlayville in regard to the contest:

As walking seems the fad in our village, I thought I would write you particulars of a walking match held here this evening between a couple of our pedestrians. The course was from Norwood to Hastings and return, and the contestants were Mr. John Weese, a knight of the brush, who claims he would like to meet your townsmen, Mr. David Hartley, and Mr. Haig, a sturdy athlete, who claims a place in the athletic world, and not second to the great Tom Longboat. The distance covered was twelve miles over a bad road, leaving Norwood at 5.45 p.m., arriving at Hastings at 6.34, and after a short rest of five minutes, leaving Hastings at 6.40 and arriving in Norwood at 7.32, covering the twelve miles in one hour and forty-seven minutes. Mr. Weese won by two minutes and forty seconds. We believe we have in these two men, athletes of great speed and endurance, with training, in fact, Olympic hunters.

NIGHT OWLS WANT TO SIGN QUINLAN

Have Made the Clever Local Twirler a Good Offer for His Services.

Ab. Quinlan, the clever local twirler, has received an offer from the Night Owls of the Toronto City League. The Toronto team wishes his services as a twirler. Quinlan has not decided what he will do in the matter. Several other clubs have been after him already this season, and he will be able to choose from a number of good offers.

Dr. Browett's Ophthalmometers

In estimating the degree and kind of astigmatism, this eye instrument is most valuable and accurate. Dr. Browett has, during the past fifteen years, taught optometry the use of five different kinds of ophthalmometers, all of which were good instruments, but the one he now uses is conceded to be the most exact and the finest instrument made for the detection and estimation of astigmatism, and the measurements of the curvatures of the cornea of the eye. This and other instruments are used for many examinations daily at our office. We supply modern eye glasses at reasonable prices.

TREACHEROUS OTONABEE CLAIMS A LITTLE BOY FOR ITS FIRST VICTIM; WAS ALMOST A DOUBLE DROWNING

Russell Newbury, Aged 7 Years, Drops Through Ice at Dam No. 5—Anxious Father Attempts Rescue.

AND HE HAD NARROW ESCAPE

A little cap lying on the bank of the Otonabee River, above the power house at Dam No. 5, yesterday afternoon told the silent story that the treacherous water had claimed its first victim during 1908 — Russell Newbury. Although no witnesses saw the little fellow disappear or heard any cries for help, it is believed that the sad drowning of the boy occurred between three and four o'clock. Russell Newbury was only seven years of age, a bright and active youth and a son of Mr. George Newbury electrician; who looks after the power station at Dam No. 5, for the Otonabee Power Company, and who in an attempt to save his son was almost drowned himself.

As far as could be learned the boy was out playing by himself along the river bank, just above the dam and power house. Shortly after two o'clock he was missed from the sight of his parents and a search was instituted. His cap was discovered on the bank and appearances pointed to a drowning tragedy. His parents believed he had been playing on the shore and had slipped on the ice into the river.

The Water Lowered

A search was immediately instituted and by removing the stop logs the water above the raceway and dam was lowered, and in two hours time the little form of the drowned boy was discovered lying in the bottom of the river, a short distance from where he had fallen in. The water at this point is only about six feet deep and very still.

The body was removed and Coroner Gray notified of the drowning. After learning the particulars he decided an inquest was unnecessary.

Father Narrowly Escaped

So anxious was the father to rescue his child that as soon as he found the latter was in the river, made an attempt to recover him and perhaps gave his life. But the treacherous ice along the shore broke and Mr. Newbury was precipitated into the river. It is believed he, too, would have met the same fate as his little son had it not been for his wife, who leaned out over the edge of the ice, grabbed his coat and assisted him to shore and safety.

Russell Newbury is survived by one brother, two years of age.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

TO MOVE HOUSES IN PARRY SOUND

Mr. McCarthy, East City, Going There in About Three Weeks.

Mr. Allan McCarthy, who spent some time last year in Parry Sound moving houses, has another contract in that district to carry out. Mr McCarthy will leave in about three weeks' time for Parry Sound to move an Orange hall and the Salvation Army Barracks into other lots.

THREE HOWLERS BITE THE DUST

Three dogs took the dogs to-day and their shades are now cavorting in the immortal forests of the happy hunting grounds. Alas poor brutes that they should have scented their finish but harkened not to the deadly potion which was cunningly concealed. They will bark no more to the night air and fair Luna may chase cats down the alleys nor cry and howl when the Edison whistle sounds forth the working periods.

TORPEDO DESTROYER CUT IN TWO IN COLLISION AND THIRTY MEN GO DOWN TO WATERY GRAVES

Portsmouth, Eng., April 3,—(Special)—Thirty men, including Lieut. Middleton, commander of the torpedo boat destroyer "Tiger," lost their lives in a collision off the Isle of Wight last night, between the vessel and the British cruiser "Berwick." The vessels belong to Portsmouth division of the British home fleet, and were engaged in the night manoeuvres in the Channel. While on their way to Portland—the night was dark and when the destroyer attempted to cross the big cruiser's bow she was caught amidship and cut in half with knife like precision, sinking almost immediately. The deck crew, who were dressed in heavy oil skins and boots, went down with the vessel. Most of the twenty-two men who were rescued were engineers and stokers, who having light clothing were able to keep themselves afloat until picked up.

G. T. R. Engine Left The Rails Near Stirling Causing Delay

An accident at Anson Station on the Belleville line of the G.T.R. caused a delay in the passenger service this morning. An engine of a freight train left the rails and blocked the main line, causing the regular morning train to be delayed in reaching Peterborough until 12.30 o'clock.

A freight coming west had to do some shunting work at Anson which is at the Central Ontario crossing. It was a double-header, and when coming out of the siding the first engine left the rails. The auxiliary from Lindsay passed through Peterborough at 9 o'clock, and the road was quickly cleared. The scene of the accident is several miles this side of Stirling. The 2 o'clock train started on its way at the usual hour.

Mr. Downey Says Peterborough Should Come Under The Statute

Toronto, April 2.—Towns and cities of Ontario will not lose their privileges of bonousing industries, Mr. J P Downey to the contrary notwithstanding.

"Yesterday we had the spectacle of a brewery asking for free water," complained Mr. Downey in the Municipal Committee of the Legislature this morning. "It's the first time a brewery has come to us to have a bonus ratified," he asserted.

"The present bonus law sets town against town," he went on, and he laid before the committee his bill to amend the Municipal Act. "It stimulates a bogus patriotism," he declared, and he proposed to do away with this patriotism by absolutely prohibiting the bonus provisions of the Act.

Mr. Hanna pointed out that some cities already have special legislation letting them do pretty nearly what they like independent of the Municipal Act. If other towns lost their right to bonus under the general law, these cities, such as Peterborough and Windsor, would leave a tremendous advantage, for their special legislation would enable them to continue to bonus.

"I'd make Peterborough and Windsor come under the statute," answered Mr. Downey.

"I think we'd better ask Mr. Downey to withdraw his bill," suggested his bosom friend, Hugh Clark. "Surely we've done enough to restrict bonuses."

This cruel stab was followed by more.

"The bill places a town in the position of not being able to spend its own money as it likes," said Mr. McCoig.

The committee killed the bill.

Valuable Canine Victim To Wiles Of The Dog Poisoner

The dog poisoner who has been in background for some time, is back again and this morning claimed another victim, a valuable great Dane owned by Mr. Harry Thompson. The canine was poisoned with strychnine and crawled into the doorway of the Bee Hive, where it died in agony despite efforts to save it. Mr. Thompson was offered a large sum of money for the dog not later than yesterday, but refused to part with the animal. He is, of course, highly indignant over the affair and the coward who administered the poison would receive rough treatment if he fell into his hands.

ARBITRATION CASE WAS CONCLUDED

How the Settlement Was Made in Connection With Lumber Dispute.

The arbitration between the Thompson Lumber Company, of Havelock and the McBurney Lumber Company, of Toronto, was finally settled in Toronto a few days ago, the Thompson Lumber Company getting an award of $1,900 against the McBurney Company and the McBurney Lumber Company getting all the Thompson logs on Bear River. The dispute arose over the delivery of logs in Crow Bay by the Thompson Lumber Company, who claimed to have delivered 40,000 pieces, but the count by the McBurney Lumber Company was only 30,000 pieces.—Norwood Register.

FIRST G. T. P. TRAIN DOMINION DAY

Vice-President Morse, Back From the West, Tells of Railroad's Progress.

FORTY MILES UNFINISHED

Montreal, April 3.—(Special).—Mr. F. W. Morse, vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific, returned to headquarters yesterday, after having completed as far as practicable at present, the arrangements for the work for the coming summer.

Dominion Day is the date now arrived at for the running of the first through train from Winnipeg to Saskatoon. There yet remain some forty miles unfinished between Portage La Prairie and Saskatoon and that will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

With regard to construction work in the mountain section Mr. Morse announced that tenders are now being invited for 179 miles west of Wolf Creek, which is almost 120 miles west of Edmonton. This will carry the line fifty miles west of Yellowhead Pass. This section which will involve some pretty heavy work in the form of rock cutting in the mountains will be divided into three sections of forty, sixty and seventy-nine miles respectively. The work will be given out in May and June.

An early start will be made by the Foley, Welsh and Stewart firm on the 123 miles west of Winnipeg from Edmonton to Wolf Creek and the 100 miles east of Prince Rupert given out to the same firm recently.

BABE WITH TWO TONGUES; IT IS A GIRL, OF COURSE

Malone, April 3.—The village of Chazy is interested in a freak of nature in the person of a four months-old baby, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Narrow. The mother of the child, while dressing it the other day, discovered that the baby has two well-developed tongues, one on top of the other, the under tongue being one-third smaller. The child seems to be perfectly healthy and does not appear to be inconvenienced by her superfluous tongue. It is reported that the parents are worried for fear the extra tongue may affect the child's vocal organs later on.

LIBERAL CONVENTION POSTPONED.

A few days ago it was provisionally announced that a convention to nominate a candidate in the Liberal interests to contest West Peterborough at the coming Provincial elections, would be held in Peterborough on Saturday, April 4. This date was fixed, conditional on being able to secure the presence of Hon. A. G. MacKay, leader of the Liberal Opposition, to address the gathering. As his numerous engagements prevented his being present on April 4, the convention is postponed to a later date, which will soon be announced.

EASILY EXPLAINED.

Mr. Bennet asked:

What amount of horse-power was paid for by the Otonabee Power Company of Peterborough in the last fiscal year?

Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways: The lease to the Otonabee Power Company of Peterborough was for the right to use all the surplus water, estimated at the time at 625 horse-power, and the amount paid during the last fiscal year of nine months was $635.

No doubt the object is an attempt to show that the Otonabee Power Company only pays $635 per year for 625 horse-power. Mr. Bennett's question refers to the amount paid as rental in the last fiscal year, and the Minister, as is the custom, categorically answers the question.

The apparent discrepancy is easily explained. Owing to the change of date, the last fiscal year included nine months only. The Otonabee Power Company is to pay, and does pay, to the Government $2 per horse-power for 625 horse-power, that is, $1,250 per year. In addition, the company has to pay the Government $14 per year ground rent, making a total of $1,264. Payment is made half-yearly. The sum of $635 was paid for the first six months of last fiscal year, but as the fiscal year was only nine months, the second half yearly payment did not appear in last year's returns. But it will appear in next year's payments, together with the full yearly rental for the present year. In other words, next year's returns will show a payment by the Otonabee Power Company of $1,896, being the six months' balance unrecorded in the short fiscal year, and the two half-year payments for the present fiscal year. The Otonabee Power Company pays all it owes to the Government, and it pays at the rate of $2 per horse-power for all the power it receives, as estimated by the superintending engineer, Mr. R. B. Rovers, at the time the company was given the lease. It may also be remarked that the Lakefield Portland Cement Company pays the same rate for the same quantity of power as the Otonabee Power Company.

The Review, doubtless, thought, or tried to think, that it scented "graft" in the matter of Mr. Bennett's question and the Minister's answer. It was as wide of the mark as it and many of its party contemporaries are in the wholesale and generally equally unfounded charges of "graft" they fling broadcast with no little discrimination and regardless for their being in any degree justified.

TO THE CREDIT OF THE GOVERNMENT.

The condition of affairs generally obtaining in the civil service at Ottawa is such as would not probably ever arise under a Conservative Government. The Liberal Government, not satisfied with conditions, which, by the way, had been the growth of years before they took office, took action which showed both courage and a desire to promote the public interests. The Government appointed a commission to thoroughly investigate the civil service system, as in force, and in so doing, did not select a commission of persons friendly to the Government, but one composed of capable men, without partizan sympathies, or if not so, unfriendly to the party in power, but well qualified for the work they undertook. It was by no means a whitewashing commission. In fact, one of the members, the chairman, Mr. Courtney, formerly Deputy Minister of Finance, appointed to that office by a Conservative Government, and retained, as were hundreds of other officials, by the Liberals, had never been associated with the Liberal party. His selection for the chairmanship of the commission meant that in the investigation he would conduct, the Government need look for no favours, as its action in this regard showed it was not doing. The object was to reveal the real conditions that existed, in order to establish a basis of reform—to repair defects in the machinery of public business. The commission found what it considered a looseness of system, especially in the department of Marine and Fisheries. It alleged, among other things, extravagance in the purchase of supplies, and hinted that officials, who, for the most part, were appointees of the preceding Conservative Government, had profited by the state of affairs. While, no doubt, the commissioners aimed to get at the truth, they fell short of their object in, at least, two cases where they claimed to discover official negligence, or worse. However, there were evidently faults disclosed, and the Minister in charge of the department, Hon. Mr. Brodeur, promptly ordered a thorough inquiry; and a Royal Commission has been decided upon to make a searching investigation, and Mr. Justice Cassels, Judge of the Exchequer Court, has been given full authority to thoroughly probe the affairs of the department, and, in making this announcement, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that "it is the intention of the Liberal Government to deal with this question and all the questions brought up by the report of the commission, as speedily as it is possible to do so."

It is to be noted that Mr. Brodeur, not satisfied with the clerical system in use for a generation in his department, had entered upon the work of improving his department by causing an overhauling of the system of accounting, and placing it upon a new basis.

The condition that obtains in the Department of Marine and Fisheries is such as, to a considerable degree, affects all the departments, and greatly complicates the efficiency of administration. A significant feature is that the department is officered almost entirely by appointees of the Conservative Government, who were retained and trusted by the present administration. These are the men against whom the report of the commission is most strongly directed. For years, in fact ever since the Liberal administration took office, it has had to contend with the partizan hostility of the Conservative officials which it retained and trusted. While the Government was averse to applying the spoils system, which Mr. Whitney adopted in Ontario, it has been punished for its generosity. The departmental offices have contained officials, not to speak of defective system, inherited from the preceding Conservative Government, who were hostile to the Liberal administration, and in their partizan zeal, were not above taking an attitude which would tend to embarrass the Government of the day. It comes to this, that if the civil service has worked inefficiently, the actual blame is to be traced to members of the Conservative party retained in office by a Liberal Government with, as results show, an injudicious generosity. Recognition of these conditions doubtless induced the Government to appoint a commission to investigate the civil service system, which showed its determination, at whatever cost of prestige, to reveal and remove conditions whose cause was largely due to the actions of officials of Conservative sympathies; and, more than that, the report of the commission revealing what was undesirable and to be expected under the circumstances, and affecting a particular department, a decision was promptly arrived at to procure an additional investigation by Royal Commission. The action the Government is distinctly to its credit, and the civil service commission, and the subsequent commission, are pledges to the public of its sincerity and honest desire to efficiently administer the public service.

THE PREMIER'S STATEMENT.

The matter of the conditions arising out of the report of the Civil Service Commission, especially as it affects the Department of Marine and Fisheries, has decided the Liberal Government to appoint a Royal Commission to conduct a supplementary investigation, Sir Wilfrid Laurier made the following statement in the House—:

"The House is aware that the report of the Commission made certain very grave statements, with regard to the honesty of officials in that department. The matter is of such a serious character that the Minister did not think it advisable for him to deal with that part of the report, but he has thought it advisable to recommend that a Royal Commission should be issued to deal with that part of the report of the Commissioners in order to have the state of facts which they say exists in the department properly investigated. It has pleased the administrator of the Govment to accede to this view, and to appoint as Commissioner Mr. Walter Cassels, Judge of the Exchequer Court.

"There is the broad question of civil service, reform, as it is generally understood. I understand that the Commissioners have made a general recommendation upon this point, though, so far as I am concerned, I must say that I have had no opportunity to read the report, except as I have seen it in the newspapers. All I have to say at this moment is that it is the intention of the Government to deal with this question, and all the questions brought up by the report of the Commission, as speedily as it is possible to do so."

LADY PASSES SUDDENLY AWAY

Sudden Demise of Mrs. McConkey—Heart Failure Cause of Death—Leaves a Large Family.

While sitting in a rocking chair, crocheting about five o'clock yesterday afternoon, Harriet Pearson, wife of the late Richard McConkey, of Smith, passed suddenly away at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. A. R. Nichols, 203 Dalhousie street. The deceased lady had not been in the best of health for some time, but during the last few weeks her condition had greatly improved. She had been sitting in the dining room nearly all afternoon talking with her daughter, Mrs. Nichols. About five o'clock Mrs. Nicholls spoke to her and receiving no answer looked up to find her mother sitting in the chair with her head thrown back. She became alarmed and sent for Dr. Gray, who found that the lady had died from heart failure.

Mrs. McConkey was 76 years of age and was one of the oldest and most highly esteemed residents of Smith. She was the daughter of the late Silas Pearson and lived in Smith all her life. The intelligence of her sad demise will be learned with deep regret by all who knew her. She was a prominent member of the Methodist church and took an active interest in the work. She came to Peterborough last fall to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. A. R. Nichols. She leaves behind her seven daughters, Mrs. Garnet Nicholls, Bobcaygeon; Mrs. Thomas Nicholls, Harvey; Mrs. Thomas Bell, of Selwyn; Mrs. A. R. Nichols, Mrs. Jos. Mellmoyle, Mrs. W. Galbraith and Mrs. Geo. Portsmouth, of Peterborough. Four sons, Austin, of Rochester; John C., of Smith; Silas and Herbert, of Peterborough.

The funeral will take place on Saturday at 2 o'clock from the residence of Mr. A. R. Nichols, 203 Dalhousie street, to Lakefield Cemetery.

IMFORMATION ABOUT A RELIABLE MEDICINE

We want the people of Paterborough to know that we believe the most valuable cod liver preparation—the best tonic reconstructor, health restorer and strength creator known to medicine to-day is Vinol.

Vinol is not a patent medicine as everything it contains is named on the label of every bottle. We guarantee Vinol contains beside tonic iron all of the medicinal, curative and body building elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods livers, but without a drop of the useless oil to clog the system, upset the stomach and retard its work.

Vinol is guaranteed by over five thousand leading druggists of the United States to create health and strength for old people, weak, sickly women and children, nursing mothers, and after a severe sickness, and for hacking coughs, chronic colds, bronchitis and throat and lung troubles.

FINE SPECIMEN OF GOOD HORSEFLESH

Mr. Bart Deyell Receives $300 for His Driver.

As nice a piece of horse flesh that has been turned out of the country was Mr. Bert Deyell's hackney, which he sold to Messrs. Morris and Brown. It was shipped by these men to Quebec to-day. Mr. Deyell, who lives in the Stewart Settlement, has taken great pains in training his horse, which, although only bred by him as a driver has a very pleasing high stepping action that will make a fine appearance on any driveway.

The price received for him is reported at $300, and it is generally believed that a far higher sum will be received in the metropolis of Lower Canada.

SPLENDID PRACTICE OF STAINER'S CRUCIFIXION

A splendid practice of Stainer's "Crucifixion," to be sung in St. John's Church on Good Friday next, was held last night by St. John's choir. About forty singers took part and an excellent rendering of the work may be looked for by all those interested in sacred music.

The next rehearsal will be on Sunday after Evensong in the church.

THE ENDING OF A LONG LOCAL LEGAL CASE

The following note from the legal column of the Toronto Globe of to-day will be of interest here:—

McWilliams vs. Dickson.—R. F. McWilliams (Peterborough) for plaintiff, moved for judgment on further directions. G. M. Watson, K.C., for defendant, contra. Judgment for plaintiff for $2,349 with costs of action to judgment and costs of reference as to all matters in which plaintiff succeeded and of this motion, and interest on $2,349 from date of order of Britton, J., 14th March, 1906.

This is the ending of the case which has occupied the courts for so long a time.

NATIONALIZING OF QUEEN'S

By Geo. D. Ferguson, Kingston.

The following open letter in reply to Rev. J. G. Potter on the Queen's University question has been received by the Examiner:

Dear Mr. Potter,—

In the British Whig of Tuesday appeared a report of an interview with you, in which you express yourself very strongly against any effort to the formal separation of Queen's University from the Church. The strong terms of the report are calculated to prejudice many who are ignorant of the circumstances. Indeed, you are yourself evidently not acquainted with the circumstances, and ought, therefore, to have abstained from expressing yourself so strongly.

With regard to any action which the trustees may take breaking faith with the Church, allow me to express a different opinion, and to ask whether the Church has really kept faith with the university? I was present at a meeting of Assembly when the Church showed an evident disposition to aid the university, and in the meetings of the Joint Committee this intention was still more strongly expressed, and it was on these assurances of support that the university appealed to the larger constituency in raising the sum proposed.

Out of the circle of Queen's own graduates, I know of only one who has in any way aided the canvass for the proposed addition to the university's endowment. My strong impression is that the portion that has been collected has been received, not from the Church adherents as Church adherents, but from graduates and old friends of Queen's, who have at different times contributed to meet her necessities. In fact, though the Assembly did endorse the application of the university for an increased endowment, it yet refused to make the endowment a scheme of the Church. Thus, the Church, which, at the union, disclaimed any responsibility of Queen's maintenance, has practically continued that disclaimer by its attitude to this day.

Further, instead of waiting till the demands of Queen's were fully met, Knox College is, under the auspices of the Church, seeking to raise some four hundred thousand dollars for the purpose of erecting new buildings, and the college in Montreal to raise fifty thousand dollars for increased endowment.

As to your allusion to the possible removal of the Theological Faculty, I may point out that under the Charter or Act of Incorporation, it is impossible to remove this Faculty or apply the endowment elsewhere.

As to the larger question of the separation of a university from the Church, I regard this as the inevitable result of the peculiar character of our civilization. I would remind you that the three great Scotch universities, as also St. Andrew's, were originally established by the Church, and for centuries continued in close connection with the established Church of Scotland, but of late this connection has been broken. The universities of Oxford and Cambridge were also great Church institutions, but have now passed largely under state control. The great University of Paris continued down to the time of the French Revolution entirely under the control of the Gallican Church. The same is true of the history of the several German universities, with one or two exceptions, as of Berlin, whose institution is of late date.

Over the Italian universities of Bologna and Padua, strange to say, the Church did not exercise control. Of all the universities of Modern Europe I believe the University of Rome alone remains under the government of the Church, though a movement has been begun for its separation. How far this movement has gone, I am not able to say.

Now, the proposed effort of Queen's would be quite in keeping with this universal movement, but in this case present circumstances have somewhat hastened the movement.

GEO. D. FERGUSON.

Railways Tied Up By The Big Snowstorms Of February

Labour Conditions During That Month — Transportation Brisk Toward the End.

DULLNESS IN BUILDING

The March issue of the Labour Gazette gives the following information about the February labour conditions in Peterborough, from the Government official correspondent, Ald. W J Johnston:—

The month of Feburary in Peterborough and district has been notable for snow storms and the tying-up of traffic and business on the railways and country roads. This has been a favourable circumstance for the unemployed. The railway companies had to shovel out all lines leading from the city two or three times, and the same conditions applied to the public streets. Employment was otherwise very dull with many men of all classes idle, and likely to remain so until the opening of spring, when it is expected matters will again become normal. Several men are still busy cutting stone at the armouries, and a few others are employed at the Collegiate Institute and Normal School. Other members of the building trade were quiet. During the latter part of the month transportation has been more brisk. Retail trade has been fair, considering the weather. Wages are practically unchanged and the labour market free of unrest.

Local Industries

Agriculture.—The agricultural industry was quiet.

Fishing.—Quietness was the rule.

Lumbering.—In the several camps activity prevailed.

Manufacturing.—In most of the industries wor kwas fairly active, but orders were not plentiful.

Mining.—Conditions were dull.

Other Industries.—The Peterborough Hamilton Agricultural Company was very active getting out agricultural implements for the coming season. The J J Turner & Sons were also very active. The several canoe shops were active.

Particular Trades

Building.—Dullness was general.

Metal, Engineering and Shipbuilding.—Iron moulders, iron workers and helpers, machinists and engineers were active in some shops. Linemen were active during the later part of the month, and electrical workers workers when weather permitted outdoor work. Jewellers also were active. Sheet metal workers had active employment in some shops, and the rest of the trades found conditions somewhat dull.

Woodworking.—Woodworkers, upholsterers, car builders and coopers were dull. Varnishers, polishers and pattern makers were active the latter at the Canadian General Electric plant.

Printing.—The trade has been fairly well employed although the month has been dull from a business standpoint.

Clothing.—Journeymen tailors, garment workers, and hat makers had good employemnt, and boot and shoe workers were active.

Food and Tobacco Preparation.—Activity was the rule.

Leather.—Activity prevailed in the saddlery and collar making branches, but was somewhat quiet in the harness branch.

Miscellaneous.—Clerks and stenographers were somewhat quiet, with other trades active.

Transport.—Railroaders were active removing snow and keeping lines open. Steamboatmen and ship workers were quiet, cabmen, carters and expressmen dull, and street railway men active.

Unskilled.—Inactivity was the rule.

District Notes

During the past month the many snow storms made the roads almost impassable, and a great deal of time was spent by the farmers in keeping them open. Only one good market was held during the month, when considerable hay, wood, straw and beef was offered. Business in general throughout the district was very dull. In some parts considerable wood-cutting is being done.

Campbellford.—A new industry has been secured, viz., a rolling mill. The Company was given 6 acres of land, exemption from taxes, 1000 h.p. at $10 per h.p., and an additional 500 h.p. at $12 per h.p., for 10 years. The Company agrees to build and equip a plant to cost $50,000 to manufacture sheet and bar steel, employing 100 hands for at least 11 months of each year, to be in operation on or before January 1, 1909.

Oshawa.—There were about 300 unemployed, and the authorities have already spent in the way of relief about $1,000 The municipality is providing all the civic work possible.

April A Momentous Month In History Of Many Nations

What the Philosophers and Soothsayers Have to Say About Its Lucky and Unlucky Days----Germany's Nuptial Month---Were You Born in the Showery Month?

April is a remarkably interesting month. It gets its name from the Latin "aperire," meaning "to open" as the buds begin to open at this season. It was the second month in the year of Romulus. Numa Pompilius made it the fourth month with twenty-nine days. Julius Cæsar afterward gave it its former thirty days.

April was called by the Anglo-Saxons Ostermonath, signifying prevalence of east winds.

The zodiacal sign for April is Taurus, the Bull, into which sign the sun moves on the nineteenth of the month. If born during this period you will be a profound thinker and interested in the things that bring culture. You will be very active and magnetic and fond of luxury. You will resent opposition, and will be intensely musical.

If your birthday occurs between the nineteenth and the thirtieth you will also be extremely fond of literature and the sciences. You will be magnanimous, rather emotional and impulsive, and often stubborn. Liable to extremes, and will sometimes find yourself trying to control a rather unmanageable temper. Your good judgment will be good and can be relied upon.

Birthstone the Diamond

The April birthstone is the diamond. It means purity. It is said to preserve peace and tranquility.

Here is a verse for the April girl: "She who from April dates her years, Diamonds shall wear, lest bitter tears Nor vain repentance flow. This stone Emblem of innocence is known."

April is, in Germany, the chosen marriage month, and if one of April's lucky days is chosen long and continued married happiness is promised. These lucky days are the second, fourth, twelfth, twentieth and twenty-second.

Marry in April

"Marry in April when you can,
Joy for maiden and for man.

Another prophet says:

Married 'neath April's changeful skies,
A checkered path before you lies."

This does not necessarily exclude happiness, however.

The seventh, eighth, tenth, sixteenth and twenty-first are to be avoided as wedding days.

The weather prophet tells us that:

"A cold April day the barn will fill," and

"When April blows his horn
Its good for hay and corn."

What Happened in April

Were you born on the first of April? William Harvey, discoverer of the circulation of the blood, was born on this day, in 1578. The first was also the birthday of Bismarck, the great German statesman, in 1815. This day began the Reign of Terror in France, in 1781. It also saw the adoption of a uniform 2-cent letter rate in Canada, in 1868. Were you born on the second? So was Bartholdi, the sculptor, in 1834. Nelson's victory at Copenhagen occurred on April 2, in 1801. The massacre at Frog Lake occurred on April 2, 1885.

Was the third your birthday? It was that of George Herbert, the poet, in 1593, and of Washington Irving in 1783. The fourth was the birthday of Prudhon, the artist, in 1758, and the population of Canada was announced as 4,324,810 on that day, 1881.

The British Preference

If the fifth was the date of your birth it was also that of Spohr, the composer, in 1784, and of Swinburne, the poet, in 1837. It was the day in 1897 when Hon. W S Fielding brought down his first budget announcing the British preference.

Volkmann, the composer, claimed the sixth, in 1815.

If you were born on the seventh so was Wordsworth, in 1770, and Hubani, the great tenor, in 1795. Hon. D'Arcy Mobee, M.P., was murdered at Ottawa on April 7, 1868. If on the eighth, the "Great Western" started on her first voyage from Bristol to New York on this day, in 1838.

Cardinal Taschereau died upon the 12th, 1898. The Civil War in the United States was begun on the thirteenth, in 1861. President Lincoln was shot on the fourteenth, in 1865; and the engagement at Fish Creek was fought in the Northwest Rebellion, 1885. It was on the fifteenth, in 1797, that Thiers, the French statesman, was born, and John Lothrop Motley, in 1814. Charles Peale, the artist, claimed the sixteenth, in 1741, and Sir John Franklin, the same day, in 1786.

Hon. Alexander MacKenzie died on the 17th, 1892.

April 19th was the date of Hon. Oliver Mowat's death in 1903, and of the great fire in Toronto in 1904.

Was the twentieth your birthday? It was that, too, of Napoleon III in 1808. Frobel was born on the twenty-first, in 1782. Reginald Heber, on the same day, in 1783. Thus, too, was the birthday of Taine, the French historian, in 1828. Kant, the German philosopher, claimed the twenty-second, in 1724.

Shakespeare's Death

Were you born on the twenty-third? So was Joseph Turner, the painter, in 1775. Shakespeare died on the twenty-third, in 1616; he day on which he was born.

If you were born on the twenty-fourth that was the date of the publication of the first American newspaper, the "Boston Newsletter," in 1704. It was also the date of Lord Strathcona's appointment as Lord High Commissioner for Canada, in 1896. Oliver Cromwell was born on the twenty-fifth, in 1599, and Tschaikowsky, in 1840. Hostilities commenced between the United States and Mexico on this day, in 1846. The riots in Montreal over the passage of the Rebellion Losses Bill and the burning of the Parliament Buildings occurred on the 25th, 1849.

The twenty-sixth is said to be the date upon which Shakespeare was baptized, in 1564. It was also David Hume's birthday, in 1711. It was the date of the $1,000,000 fire in Ottawa and Hull, in 1900, in which 7 lives were lost and 15,000 people rendered homeless.

The twenty-seventh is memorable as being the day on which Toronto (then York) surrendered to the Americans in 1813, and on which Sir Mackenzie Bowell resigned the Premiership in 1896. It was the birthday of Edward Gibbon, in 1737, of Samuel F B Morse, in 1791, and of Herbert Spencer, in 1820. United States President Monroe, founder of the Monroe Doctrine, was born on the twenty-eighth, in 1758.

The Yellow And Brown Peril Explained By Miss Roberts

Before the Woman's Art Association—Immigration Restrictions Must be Placed on Asiatics, She Says—China and Japan the Coming Great Powers of the World — Anglo-Saxons Should Unite.

AN ELOQUENT ADDRESS

Those who failed to attend the lecture given last night by Miss Roberts, the famous lecturer, for the Woman's Art Association, in St. John's School House, missed a rare treat which is not often to be had in this city. There was not a very large number of persons present, but those who did attend thoroughly enjoyed and profitted much by the inspiring and eloquent discourse. Mr. D. Hughes Charles occupied the chair and proceedings began with the singing of the National Anthem. In a few well chosen remarks he congratulated the Art Association on not having confined themselves to art alone, and after paying a tribute to the speaker of the evening whose past reputation he was familiar with, he introduced Miss Roberts, who received a warm welcome.

The subject for the address was, "Westward the Course of Empire Takes Its Way," and it dealt wholly with the yellow and brown peril, which the speaker thought was the most important problem of the 20th centurey. She proved very familiar with every phase of the question and covered the subject very thoroughly. She began her lecture by referring to the numerous magazines which were giving space to this great question. The great trouble which occurred in San Francisco a short time ago between the Japanese and the Americans, and which nearly terminated in war was referred to. A short time ago the Japs in Vancouver were set upon by the enraged whites of that city, and the trouble cost the Dominion Government $12,000 to compensate the losses of the Japanese. During the last month 500 Sikhs had gathered at their temple in Vancouver and made known their intentions to resist deportation, and of such was done they would take the matter up in India. A feelang is growing among the people of the west which spells exclusion. Chinese and Japanese are wanted on railways, in mines, and fisheries, because they are cheap and are also competent and willing workmen. The fruit growers in California are also very desirous of detaining the Japs and are raising a huge cry against exclusion. The labour unions of the west are against Asiatics, and feel that they will be forced out of employment if the immigration continues. In South Africa the same trouble has arisen. The new government has passed a law to the effect that Asiatics are to be excluded, and the Chinese coolies are being shipped back to their native country by the thousands, in spite of the appeals of the African mine owners to allow them to remain. The act also interfered with the citizenship of those who had come from British India, and these also would have to be excluded. A deputation of these people waited on Lord Elgin, Premier Botha and the secretary of the Transvaal, after which it was referred to the home government. Here was an important question. They saw that in Natal, whose legislation had been lax in such matters, had now more Asiatics than Europeans. The Imperial Government then decided to permit the Transvaal Government to do what they thought best. Then came a general unrest in India, and the news was cast through out the world that the people were in a critical condition—on the point of rebellion. The Transvaal then did away with one of the most objectionable clauses in the act, which humiliated the Hindoos. Canada, the speaker said, has also to pass restrictions against Asiatics. Unlimited immigration of these mysterious people will ruin white labour, and cause the suicide of the white race. In South Africa we have seen the European squeezed out of the country, while the Asiatic remained and prospered. The case was clear that restrictions were necessary, the speaker saidr but the trouble lies in keeping up the Oriental trade and holding the bounds of the Empire. The Dominion needed the trade of the east but it did not desire Oriental voters and they all wanted to vote. But Canada must consider the nation's strength to which she is throwing down the gauntlet. The speaker pointed out the greatness of China and Japan, and showed the tremendous and significant advancement thay had been making during the last few years in science and culture. Japan showed herself to be a great power during the past war, and she was at the present time preparing for war with the United States. A new spirit has been poured out upon them and their progress is miraculous. In a few years this country would place an army on the field of battle to the strength of 10,000,000 men—one of the largest armies of the world. The government had made education compulsory and as to the manufacturing position of China, it is believed she will be the greatest in the world. The speaker very ably brought forward her statements and clearly showed the danger which was overhanging the white race. The only remedy for the danger was the closer knitting together of the Anglo-Saxon race.

Upon the conclusion of the address it was moved by Mr. H. Burnham and seconded by Mr. Medd that a vote of thanks be tendered to the speaker, which was met with an enthusiastic outburst of applause.

During the evening a short musical programme was splendidly rendered by Mr. McIlmoyle and Miss Lundy.

Facts About Astronomy That Shonld Be Known By Everyone

Meeting of Royal Astronomical Society Last Night Was of a Specially Profitable Nature—General Discussions.

REV. DR. MARSH PRESENT

The meeting of the local branch of the Royal Astronomical Society held in the Y.W.C.A. last night was one of the most profitable and interesting that has been held. It was question night and the members took an active part in the discussions generally displaying an intimate knowledge with the work which Rev. Dr. Marsh has dealt with at former meetings.

The explanation of the northern lights was carefully considered and was illustrated by drawings made by Rev. Dr. Marsh. The aurora borealis as the lights are technically designated are purely magnetic currents believed by astronomers to be caused by magnetic disturbances. The details of the reason for the lights was minutely described. At those times when the aurora borealis is seen it has been observed that electric instruments are affected owing to the magnetic disturbances.

Meteors are believed to be thrown off from the sun. They have a solid head which in some cases has been found to weigh several tons. Besides the head there is a tail which extends for millions of miles behind the head. The tail is merely the solid matter disintegrated into atoms. Shooting stars are merely parts of a meteor's tail.

Regarding the question why do stars twinkle, especially in winter, it was explained that this is but an optical illusion, the eyes being out of focus owing to the distance from the earth. Another question was, how many miles are the lines of longitude apart? This depends upon one's situation on the earth. At the equator they are exactly one hour apart, but as we travel north or south the distance in miles becomes shorter owing to their converging, but the distance in time remains the same.

The reason for meteors falling most frequently in the night was carefully explained.

Dr. C. Milton Stratton, M. A., B. SC., F.R.C.P. and S., of Napanee, was received into the society on the nomination of Mr. H. R. Collier, seconded by Dr. Marsh.

LARGE CLASS ATTENDED BIBLE STUDY

About Thirty Present at Last Night's Meeting—Reception To-night.

The Intermediate Bible Study Club, which meet at the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday nights at 6.30 for supper and Bible study, under the leadership of Dr. J. E. Middleton, had last night the largest and most enjoyable gathering yet this winter. Nearly thirty were present. Before the supper and after the Bible class selections from a Victor talking machine, loaned from the United Agency Company, and operated by Mr. Rusc of the firm, added greatly to the pleasure of the members.

UNION CONCERT WAS WELL ATTENDED

Salvation Army Band and Songsters Heard to Advantage in Varied Programme.

WAS A FINANCIAL SUCCESS

The united musical festival which was given at the Salvation Army Barracks last night by members of the band and the songsters was one of the most successful affairs that has been given by the Army in some time. There was a fairly large attendance and the many numbers of the programme were fully appreciated.

Mr. Jos. Batten was a most acceptable chairman, and opened the evening with an address. The work of the band was particularly good, and from their numbers, the members of the band are now playing in grand form.

The programme was as follows:—
Opening Song.
Prayer.
March, "Tyneside"—Band.
Recitation.
Euphonium Solo, "Brightest and Best"—Bandsman W. Poorman.
Songsters.
Piano Duet—Mendel and Aileen Braund.
Selection, "Songs of Freedom" — Band.
Mandolin Solo—Miss Ethel Card.
Recitation.
Inst. Quartette.
Piano Solo—Miss Pearl Payton.
Songsters.
Cornet Solo, "Liberata" — Deputy Bandmaster Ford.
Violin Solo—Miss Jean Montgomery.

The first drill of the 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, for the season will be held next Tuesday night, as the following official announcement indicates:

Headquarters, Peterborough,
April 3rd, 1908.

No. 1—The regiment will parade at the drill hall Joe Tuesday, April 7, 1908, at 8 p.m., and each Tuesday evening hereafter until further orders.

E. B. CLEGG, Major,
Acting Adjutant.

WEARING NECKTIES MADE OF WOOD

That's What Peterborough Young Men Are Doing—Iron Neckties Next.

The firm of Laidlaw & Oles, Hunter street, have a novelty in neckties. They are certainly an innovation to Peterborough young men inasmuch as they are made entirely out of wood-fibre. They are tubular in shape and on account of the peculiar quality of their construction are made to wear and to keep their colour. The above mentioned firm have them in ten different shades and they certainly are catching the eyes of the young men. The ties were made in Toronto.

FRIENDLY BIBLE CLASS BANQUET

Will be Held in George Street Methodist School Room To-night.

The annual banquet of the Friendly Bible Class of the George Street Methodist Church is being held to-night in the Sunday school room, commencing at eight o'clock. This affair may be said to mark the close of a contest to increase the membership of the class. During the past two months 44 new members have been gained by the class, which now numbers 54. The contest was concluded last Sunday and Mr. Geo. Robertson, the leader of the class should be gratified with the work that has been attained.

The officials of the church have been invited to the banquet and a great list has been arranged. Mr. Will Pratt will act as chairman and an enjoyable time is anticipated.

DONTS FOR HUSBANDS

Don't argue with your wife. If you beat her you will lose your influence over her.

Don't be uxorious. Women never adore a man who is tied to an apron string.

Don't drive her out for the sake of business. She will like you better if she can get acquainted with you occasionally.

Don't burden her with monetary cares. A wife was never intended as a financial secretary.

Don't admit you made a mistake in marrying her. Nine hundred and ninety-nine men out of every 1,000 marry women that are too good for them.

Don't conceal from your wife the real burdens you bear. She will discover them herself and will take up doubly the load.

TO OPEN BICYCLE STORE TO-MORROW

Mr. Wm. Young to go into Business on George Street—Electric Goods Also

To-morrow, April 4, Mr. William Young will open a bicycle store at 432 George street, in connection with the Peterborough Amusement Company. Mr. Young will keep a bicycle livery, repair shop, as well as wheels for sale, and will also handle electric goods. He was formerly with F. J. R. McPherson.

POULTRY MEN AGAIN ASSEMBLE

Largely Attended Meeting Last Night—Wyandotte and Barred Rock Studied.

ADDRESS BY MR. CALLENDER

Last night's meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association was as usual well attended, and particularly well considering the unpleasant character of the weather. The chair was occupied by the Vice-President, Mr .Geo. Paxman. After the regular routine opening business had been concluded the White Wyandotte specimens were exhibited and studied. Mr. Harry Lush gave an exhaustive talk on these, his remarks being augmented by Mr. Callender.

Questions were asked by others present and a very profitable study was the result.

At the conclusion of this Mr. Callender who has had a large experience in connection with the work of Poultry Associations in the western portion of Ontario, gave an address. Mr. Callender among other things explained how the Woodstock Association gained prominence with only a few members. In Petrolea an Association with only 7 members had made a success. He pointed out a safe way for the holding of an exhibition which proved very interesting. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Mr .Callender.

The birds to be considered at the next meeting are the White Leghorn and Humburg.

SEND CONDOLENCE TO THE FAMILY

Of the Late Mr. James Louden—His Memory Honoured by Moulders.

The funeral of the late Mr. James Louden, held yesterday to the Little Lake Cemetery, was attended by about fifty members of the Moulders' Union, fifty employees of the Peter Hamilton Manufacturing Company, Limited, and a number of representatives of the I. O. F. From a distance a number of friends of the deceased was present, including Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Pogue, Hamilton; Mr. Jas. Pogue, Mrs. Ingram, Mrs. Smith, and Mr. Geo. Louden, of Fenelon Falls.

The funeral services at the house were conducted by Rev. Mr. Pogue, and at the grave by Rev. Mr. Keith. Among the floral tributes were wreaths from the Moulders' Union and from the I. O. F.

At a special meeting of the Moulders' Union held on Wednesday evening, the following resolution of condolence was carried unanimously:

Moved by Bro. John Robertson, seconded by Bro. D. Gleason.

Whereas, the Angel of Death in a short space of time has been again busy in our midst, and we are called upon to mourn the loss of our late Bro. James Louden, therefore, be it Resolved, that we the members of the Iron Moulders' Union, No. 191, I. M. U. of North America, desire to place on record and to express to the afflicted wife and relatives of our deceased brother our sincere and heartfelt sympathies in the great loss they have sustained by this dispensation of Divine Providence, by which they have been bereft of a loving husband and a kind friend. And we pray that our Heavenly Father will comfort and sustain them in this dark and trying hour with His divine love and grace.

Resolved, that we, the members of Union No. 191, deeply regret and record with sorrow the death of Bro. Louden, which is a distinct loss to the union. During a period of over twenty-five years he gave his faithful allegiance to its best interests.

Resolved, that the charter be draped in mourning for ninety days, and a copy of this resolution be sent to the family of our deceased brother, and also to the local papers.

JAMES WEYER, Secretary,
JOHN LONDERVILLE, President.

CONCLUSION OF MEN'S SERVICES

Large Attendance at the George Street Methodist Church Last Night.

The special services for men that have been conducted at the George Street Methodist Church since Monday evening, were concluded last night and were successful in bringing about the results for which the series was intended. There was an attendance of over one hundred men last night, and the services were featured by an earnestness and devotion that was pleasing evidence of what the four nights' meetings have done.

Rev. H. M. Manning preached the sermon, speaking on the Holy Ghost. Quite a nunmber of men decided to lead a new life for God and acknowledged a careleiness in the past.

On Sunday evening the service will be particularly for young men. The choir will be composed entirely of men and an after meeting will be held for those who wish to remain.

THE BANQUET WAS NOT HELD

Mr. V. Davey Was Called Away to Toronto Two Days Sooner Than Expected.

The banquet which was to have been tendered to Mr. V. Davy, manager of the T. Kinnear Company, of this city, by his many friends, on the eve of his departure for Toronto, was not held last night as arranged. Mr. Davy received a message to come to Toronto two days sooner than he expected and was therefore unable to attend the banquet.

THE WORK OF Y.M.C.A. DEBATERS

Their Clubs Has Done Much Good for its Members and Should be Encouraged.

With the closing banquet of the Y. M. C. A. Debating Club, the young men have dispersed, so to speak, until another winter season swings around again. This branch of the Y.M.C.A. has had a successful term, as in fact, it has always had, but the efforts of the members of the club should have been instrumental in securing a larger membership.

The following officers have kept the club progressing and doing good work: Mr. Wilfrid Shiner, president, Frank Simpson, with Messrs. B. A. Lillie, W. McLaren, C. Coleman, G. Armstrong and F. Ray. The services of Mr. J. E. Hodgson as critic have been of utmost value, and his assistance was instrumental to a great extent in the success of the meetings, and particularly the sessions of the mock parliament. This department proved interesting and profitable, and the members must have derived much benefit in following the proceedings.

When the club reorganizes, the members of the Y.M.C.A. should give it every encouragement, as in the end public speaking fits a man for business and public life like none of the other branches of the association.

Held a Meeting to Discuss Plans—Will Be Strong Again.

With the approach of spring, the officers of the various companies are making ready for the first drill. Captain McLean's Company No. 6 held a meeting the other evening, when a large number of the men assembled to discuss reorganization. The company will again be strong this year as usual, and will be ready to begin drill in the near future.

BELL RINGERS BEAT THE NORTHERNERS

Game Played Last Night on the Majestic Alleys.

The Bell Telephone Company's team defeated the Northern Electric in a game at the Majestic alleys by, a total score of 1610 to 1553. Cross of the Bell-ringers and Grey of the Northerns were high for the night, each getting very creditable scores. The teams:—

Bell Telephone—Cross, Deacon, Monson, D Leitch, H Leitch.

N. Electric—Gray, Mills, Hudson, Skibo, Cotsy.

The teams will meet again Monday night next, the losers to pay for a supper.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, April 3.—The market opened only moderately active, with price changes unimportant, but there soon developed considerable heaviness in the U.S. Steel issues and weakness in that department has been the feature of the day's trading. Business has been decidedly dull, and professionals and traders and a good many of the important interests are inclined to await the outcome of the Erie negotiations.

The floor element was inclined to take the bear side of the market but as efforts to dislodge long stock have been rather unsuccessful recently a good deal of caution was observed. The only real general movement took place around two o'clock when the definite statement was made that the Erie meeting would not come off to-day, and that no date had been set for the adjourned meeting. A further reduction in copper metal price was announced to-day on the local exchange. London did very little buying here to-day and the London market was very quiet. The strength in Soo common and Canadian Pacific indicates that London is more favourable to these issues than to those under the direction of our own magnates.

We look for a favourable Erie announcement during the next few days which will be the signal for a rather sharp uplift in prices. Meanwhile the market will remain quiet and professional.

TOLD A STORY

(Toronto Saturday Night.)

In a recent speech in the eastern townships of Quebec, Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux told a story which greatly pleased his farming audience. He was dealing with the development of the Canadian butter and cheese industry and told of a visit paid by Queen Alexandra to the Canadian pavilion at Dublin. Among the exhibits was some butter labelled "the best in the world."

Her Majesty, who, despite her long residence in England, has always kept a warm spot in her heart for her girlhood home, noticed the sign, and turning to Commissioner Hutchinson, said, "That must be a mistake. The best butter comes from Denmark."

Mr. Hutchinson replied with courtesy: "Pardon me, Your Majesty. The best queens come from Denmark, but the best butter comes from Canada."

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—Is it a part of the duty of License Inspector Stewart to season his official acts with a private grudge? I have reason to believe that the License Inspector, in giving to the press a list of applicants for licenses, deliberately, and as Mr. Stewart bore, Mr. Whitney would say, "with malice aforethough," gave a slurring and contemptible name to the hotel of one of the applicants for hotel licenses, to wit, "the Gold Dollar," which is not its proper name. If I understand the duties of a public official he should pocket his private grudges when discharging the duties of his office.

Yours truly,

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly allow me—to ask through the medium of your valuable paper if star chamber methods are being adopted by the Council committees, especially the Fire, Water and Light Committee. I understand that that body has had two meetings in the last couple of days at which it is said important business was discussed, and yet the reporters were asked not to say anything about what was going on. Surely the ratepayers of the city are entitled to know what the representatives they have elected are doing to merit the confidence that has been placed in them. Let us have public business transacted in a public manner.

Yours truly,

DULL LIGHTS IN VILLAGE OF HASTINGS

Examiner Special.

Hastings, April 3.—Some trouble is being experienced here with the large quantity of ice coming down from Rice Lake. The top of the side dam of the Fowld's Company broke away and also part of a pier. The lights here are somewhat dull on account of the small head caused by the high water below but nothing serious is anticipated.

THE MONTHLY MEETING WAS HELD LAST NIGHT

The monthly meeting of the Board of Managers of St. Andrew's church was held last night, when a very complimentary resolution was passed and sent to Mrs. R W F E Davidson, who has just completed a one-year term as soprano soloist with the choir. The resolution was an expression of the appreciation of her services by the congregation, and the managers entertain the hope that she will again be able to resume her duties in St. Andrew's.

CONVICTED MAN FIRED ON OFFICERS

THREE OTHERS ARE WOUNDED

Henry McDonald Creates Tragic Scene at Terre Haute, Ind. — Spectators and Jury Make Wild Stampede—Prisoner's Body Riddled With Bullets — Said to Have Been Helped by His Brother.

Terre Haute, Ind., April 3.—Found guilty of a charge of arson, Henry D. McDonald, in the Circuit Court room yesterday, shot and killed Chief of Detectives Wm. E. Dwyer, seriously wounded three other officers and a bystander. McDonald had been tried for dynamiting stores and a church in Sandford last year.

As soon as the jury reported its verdict McDonald jumped up, drew a revolver and fired at Prosecuting Attorney James A. Cooper, Jr., but missed, because Cooper tipped his chair over backwards. McDonald continued firing at the officers seated around the counsel table. Detective Dwyer fell dead at the third shot.

Policemen and deputy sheriffs in the court room drew revolvers and opened fire on McDonald, who returned the fire. Before the convicted man fell with half a dozen bullets in his body, he had shot Harvey V. Jones, the superintendent of police, in the side; Deputy Sheriff Ira Wellmann, in the chin; Sylvester Doyle, court bailiff, in the leg, and a bystander in the side.

The jurors jumped to their feet at the first shot. Judge J. T. Walker, one of the attorneys, tried to stop McDonald, but he only hindered the officers, who were afraid of hitting him when they shot at McDonald.

Judge Crane, who presided at the trial, ran to the railing of the jury box, and the spectators rushed out in confusion.

Persons in offices below the court room heard the shots and rushed towards the upper floor only to collide with the people leaving the court room. About 1,000 persons collected around the building in the few minutes, and the police had to be called to prevent the crowd from forcing its way into the court house.

Some of the spectators to the shooting said McDonald's brother also fired at the officers. The officers are looking for the brother.

McDonald was finally overwhelmed by the officers, his ammunition spent and his strength weakened by wounds and taken to a hospital. It is said that McDonald and the other wounded men will recover.

FOR OLD-AGE PENSIONS.

Labor Deputation Lay Requests Before Government.

Ottawa, April 3.—The National Trades and Labor Council of Canada, through its representative, interviewed Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux to present to them the resolutions passed at the annual convention in Glace Bay. Among their requests were the following:

1. The introduction of a system of old-age pensions.
2. The granting of a Government bounty on shipbuilding large enough to put the Canadian shipbuilding firms on a footing of equality with their foreign competitors.
3. A customs duty of 60 per cent. on vehicles and imported parts thereof.
4. The granting of Government shoe contract to contractors who use the national label.
5. The amendment of the Alien Labor Act to allow the Government to take preliminary proceedings under the act, and to assume the legal costs involved.
6. An increase of the poll tax on Asiatics from $500 to $1.000.

The deputation also asked for deep sea quays at Levis and a large drydock at Quebec.

TRAGIC SUICIDE.

New York, April 3.—Mary Green, aged 23, the daughter of a former sea captain, living in East Ninety-Fifth street, attired herself in all the finery she had planned to wear at her wedding at Easter time, and then committed suicide by gas asphyxiation yesterday.

She was engaged to marry William Edgington, an electrical engineer, and she seemed to be happy when her friends gave her a party on Tuesday evening.

While her brother was asleep in an adjoining room, she entered the bath tub, tied a rubber tube leading from the gas jet to her mouth and was dead when discovered. She left a note to her fiancee begging his forgiveness, but giving no reason for her suicide.

Fire at Smith's Falls.

Smith's Falls, April 3—Steele's planing mill was badly damaged by fire Wednesday night, although saved from destruction by the good work of the firemen.

The fire was discovered soon after it started a few minutes before midnight, but before the firemen could answer the call the flames had spread with rapidity over the whole upper part of the mill. It was literally drowned out, but not until the upper flat had been badly wrecked and a good deal of expensive machinery damaged.

The loss on the building, which is owned by Capt. Foster, is covered by insurance, but Steele & Co.'s loss will considerably exceed their insurance. The cause of the fire is a complete mystery.

Will Stop Passports.

Vancouver, April 3.—When the number of Japanese entitled to admission to Canada during any one year is reached, the Federal authorities have the assurance of the Japanese Government that the issue of passports for Canada will be stopped and there will consequently be no arrivals here during the remainder of the year.

BUDGET DEBATE COLLAPSES

Nobody Ready to Go on—Misunderstading With Whips—Mr. Brodeur Explains In Regard to the Suspended Officials — Advance to Quebec Bridge Co. — Finance Minister Corrects Mistake.

Ottawa, April 3.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier yesterday laid on the table a copy of an order-in-council appointing Justice Cassels a commissioner to investigate charges against the Department of Marine and Fisheries. The order cites one paragraph of the report of the Civil Service Commission, which asserts that in making purchases for the Department some one assists the trader to get better prices from the Government than he gets elsewhere. To enquire into this charge Judge Cassels is commissioned. That is all.

R. L. Borden enquired of the Prime Minister if Judge Cassels had accepted the duty of investigating the charges made by the Civil Service Commission against the Department of Marine and Fisheries. He also asked why three officers mentioned by the Minister had been suspended, having regard to the fact that no officer had been mentioned by the commission. It seemed to Mr. Borden that the report was a condemnation of the Department as a whole.

Mr. Brodeur replied that one of the officers was suspended some time ago. As to the others, J. F. Fraser and J. U. Gregory, the Minister had made some enquiries and found out orders given by himself had been disregarded by those officials.

"They were not suspended as a result of the report of the commission?" asked Mr. Borden.

It was the result, said Mr. Brodeur, of some enquiries made by himself since the report was brought down. He would bring down the papers.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said he had a letter from Judge Cassels, which he had not yet read.

Mr. Blain asked how many copies of the civil service report would be printed. There was a great demand for it.

This, replied Mr. Fielding, was under the control of the printing committee.

Mr. Borden asked when the third official, Owen, was suspended, and upon what grounds.

"On account of his private conduct," said Mr. Brodeur. "I wouldn't like to give the reasons."

Mr. Fielding corrected an answer he gave some days ago with regard to advances made by the bank on account of the Quebec bridge. In addition to the sum mentioned, there was an item of $155,000 advanced by the bank to the company, which went into construction of the bridge.

Mr. Speaker announced that a joint meeting of the House of Commons and Senate would be held at 11 o'clock to-day in the Senate Chamber, to discuss the Champlain tercentenary.

Mr. Graham informed Mr. Lalor that John Escott, deputy superintendent of the Welland Canal, at Dunnville, had not resigned.

The budget debate collapsed unexpectedly last night because of a misunderstanding between the whips of the two sides.

There was a long "waiting list," and it had been arranged that Sinclair of Nova Scotia would follow Martin of Prince Edward Island. When Martin sat down there was an awkward pause, and Deputy Speaker Marcil, put the motion to go into committee of ways and means. No one claimed the floor, and the deputy speaker put the motion.

The resolutions to rearrange the excise duties on tobacco were discussed in the House last night. Mr. Templeman, Minister of Inland Revenue, and Mr. Brodeur, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, explained to Mr. Bristol that the new duties would make small difference in the revenue, wages of cigarmakers would not be decreased and the price of cigars would not be increased.

Major Beattie (London) claimed that the new regulations would be hurtful to Canadian industry. He spoke for a large number of cigarmakers in London who opposed the single stamp for all brands of tobacco. Under the regulations it would be possible to put any brand of tobacco into cigars.

Mr. Clarke (Sussex) who favored the single stamp, said it was unfair for the Government to put the stamp of inferiority on cigars made of Canadian tobacco.

Fought and Disagreed.

Chicago, April 3.—A fight between jurymen in which a heavy oak chair was demolished, tables and other furniture dented and several men slightly injured, marked the jury's deliberations in the "Barney" Coffey Sunday saloon closing case in the Municipal Court.

Football Club Organized To Represent The Y. M. C. A.

Some Good Players Already Signed —Opposition to the Quakers In The City.

WILL NOT ENTER LEAGUE

About fifteen knights of the football field assembled at the Y.M.C.A. last night to talk over the formation of an Association Football Club in connection with that institution. Everyone present was in favour of the proposal and in the course of half an hour, the organizing of the club was decided upon, officers were elected and plans discussed by the future. There appears to be considerable interest taken among the football men of the "Y" and this spring will see a revival of the sport in which the Y.M.C.A. was once a past master. The petition circulated since the members meeting contained twenty-four names, and these by no means represent the soccer population. There is therefore no doubt that a good team can be procured.

The chair was occupied last night by Mr. C E Simpson and after several present had expressed their desire to see a football reinstated it was decided to have a club formed to be known as the "Y.M.C.A. Association Football Club."

The following officers were then elected:

Hon. President—J J Howden.
Hon. Vice-President — Vincent Eastwood.
President—E M Best.
Manager—Dick Baker.

The entrance fee to the Club was placed at 50c. After considering the possibilities for the future it was decided not to enter a team in the Midland League this year on account of the necessary extra expenses in organizing. The Y.M.C.A. team will, however, be well qualified as far as playing ability is concerned and the boys are looking forward to a game against the Quakers at the earliest opportunity.

Arrangements for grounds, football, etc., will be looked after by the Executive Committee.

BOYD AND WAREHAM HAD EASY WIN OVER PAIR TORONTO BOWLERS

Messrs. Hawley and Cusick, two well-known bowlers from the Liederkrantz Club of Toronto, visited Peterborough last night and played a matched game with Tommy Boyd and Bill Waram. The local trundlers had an easy time with the visitors, taking all three games from them and winning by a total majority of 151 pins. At that the local cracks were bowling below their usual standard. Boyd's score of 185 in the second game was high. In the first two games both the Peterborough men had better scores than the high mark for the visitors, and both totals were better, Waram being high with 527 and Boyd second with 494. The last game was closer, the pairs being tied, with Waram and Cusick with one frame to bowl, but the local man got a strike with his next ball and won the game.

The scores—

Peterborough—
Boyd	175	185	154	494
Waram	183	182	162	527
	338	367	316	1021
Liederkrantz—
Hawley	123	180	151	454
Cusick	152	102	159	413
	275	282	310	867

Majority for Peterborough — 154 pins.

HARTLEY WILL ATTEMPT THE HAMILTON TO TORONTO RUN

Dave Hartley, Peterborough, far-famed walking wonder, who is at present training for the pedestrian tournament to be held in the Brock street rink, beginning Easter Monday, will shortly branch out in a new role. He announced to the Examiner last night that this summer he will make an attempt to lower the record in the run from Hamilton to Toronto, made this winter by Claude Pearce, the Irish-Canadian sturdy plodder. Pearce covered the distance in a little over seven hours under disadvantageous weather and road conditions. Hartley is confident that he can travel the forty-five miles in six hours, an average of 7 1-2 miles an hour. He has done considerable running in his day, and in his jaunt to Bailieboro last year he jogged for most of the thirty-four mile trip. He says that running is less strenuous than walking and has no doubt of his ability to cover the forty-five miles journey upon which Tom Longboat broke down. It is an ambitious feat for a man of 55, but Dave has no doubt of his ability to accomplish the feat.

MIDLAND BASEBALL LEAGUE MAY HAVE SIX TEAMS THIS YEAR

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Baseball Club will be held on Tuesday night next at the Windsor Hotel, when officers for the season will be elected. The prospects before the club for the summer are of the brightest, and the strongest team that ever wore the Peterborough uniform will be placed in the field. Of course, the loss of Harry Burridge will be severely felt, but a good catcher will be secured in his place, and a speedy team will be in line when the season opens.

The prospects for a great season in the Midland League are excellent. In addition to Peterborough, Cobourg, Port Hope, Bowmanville and Oshawa, which will be in line again, there is every likelihood of Lindsay, being back in the fold again. The assistant secretary of the local club, while in Lindsay the other day, called upon several representative baseball men of the Scugog town and assured them of the support of the Peterborough club if they make an effort to get back into the league. Picton and Bloomfield, both of which towns were ball crazy last summer, will make application for admission to the Midland League this year. Just how their requests will be favoured by the league teams remains to be seen. The annual meeting of the league will be held in Port Hope two weeks from to-day.

THE WEST END CLUB IS READY

City League Champions Hold Their Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the West End Baseball Club, last year's Intermediate City League champions, was held last night in the Y. M. C. A., when there was a large number of players on hand. The following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Robt. Neill.
President—G. T. Hardwicke.
Secretary-Treasurer — W. Butcher.
Manager—John Oldham.
Captain—Jas. McNairn.
Team Committee—J. McNairn, W. Butcher, Gordon Long.
Delegates to City League—G. T. Hardwicke and Jas. McNairn.

The West Ends have plenty of material and will have no difficulty in placing a strong team in the field. They will wear uniforms of dark grey with red and black stockings.

FAST BASKETBALL GAME ON WEDNESDAY

Senior Team From Central Y. M. C. A. Toronto Coming Here.

The Toronto Y. M. C. A. (Central) Senior Basket Ball team will be here on Wednesday night next, April 8th. They are a very strong aggregation of players, but will have to go some when they meet the Peterborough team. A large number of spectators and lovers of basket ball are expected, so it will be advisable for them to procure their tickets early. The first row of seats will be reserved. The line-up of the Peterborough team will be given out on Monday.

WORK DEPENDS ON THE WEATHER

Construction of Armouries Will be Recommenced When Weather Is Fine

Mr. Geo. A. Proctor of Sarnia, contractor of the Peterborough Armouries, is in the city to-day in the interest of the construction work of the new building. He had hoped to recommence the brick work to-day, but the weather was too cold, and as a result it had to be delayed until the conditions have improved. Sand, lime and brick have been unloaded on the premises, and everything is in readiness for work. Part of the walls are already built, and the remaining portions will be rapidly pushed forward. While in the city to-day Mr. Proctor conferred with his architect, Mr. Blackwell, and will return home in the morning.

The stone trimmings have been cut, this work being done during the winter. Mr. Proctor could not definitely the exact number of men who would be employed in the work.

OBITUARY.

MARGARET HUSSEY

The funeral of Margaret Hussey, wife of Mr. W. A. Staunton, 20 Benson avenue, will be held from the family residence Saturday afternoon, April 4th, at 2.30 o'clock and proceed to St. John's Church, and thence to the Little Lake Cemetery. Mrs. Staunton was a daughter of the late Mr. Wm. Hussey, of Ops Township

MRS. CHARLES DELAIRE

The death occurred this morning at 2.30 o'clock at the Nicholls Hospital of a well known lady of this city in the person of Mrs. Charles Delaire. The intelligence of her sad demise will be learned with deep regret and sorrow by all who knew her. She had been suffering for some time from a complication of diseases and was sent to the hospital about two weeks ago. Her condition did not improve, and death finally ended her sufferings this morning.

The deceased lady was 38 years of age and was born in Napanee. She came to Peterborough some years ago and had since resided here.

She leaves behind her to mourn her loss besides her husband, five children, Olive, Roy, Ernest, Charles and Frank, all of this city.

The funeral will take place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the family residence, 260 Euclid avenue, to Little Lake Cemetery.

FARMER SELLS OUT FOR TENTH TIME

Mr. Wm. Middleton's Sale in Smith Brought Good Prices.

Mr. Wm. Middleton, who sold his farm and equipment a few days ago, holds an unique record in regard to the sale of his property. This was Mr. Wm. Middleton's tenth sale, and it was also Mr. John Haggart's tenth time to auction off Mr. Middleton's farm and stock. This last sale was well conducted, and the general report was that the prices received were well up in figures. This last sale was at Mr. Middleton's residence on the second line of Smith. After each sale in the past Mr. Middleton has always bought a new farm and stock, but in this instance it is understood he is moving into the city.

MANY OLD COUNTRYMEN GOING HOME

C. P. R. Trains for the East in Two Sections Yesterday.

It is a noticeable fact that there is quite a number of people travelling towards the Atlantic Coast to embark for the Old Country. Yesterday morning the C.P.R. 11.16 a.m. express was in two sections to accommodate those going to the ocean ports. To-day the train had another large number of passengers. Apparently these are some of the best of the Old Countrymen and many it is said intend to return again to Canada.

SERVANT GIRL WANTED TO DO GENERAL HOUSEWORK

More Applications From Farmers for Farm Help.

The Examiner yesterday received an application from a farmer wanting a farm labourer and if any of the gentlemen who desire to obtain work will call at this office his name and address will be given.

To-day there is an application for a servant girl to do housework at a contry farm house. The address will be given on application at the Examiner.

ART IN HOME-FURNISHINGS

Any lady who is contemplating the furnishing of a bed room, should not fail to see Richard Hall and Son's, Limited, large south window, where they have displayed the most beautiful showing of bed room carpets, rugs and draperies, that has ever been seen in Peterborough.

The window is most artistically arranged, and a more perfect harmony of analogy and contrasts would be impossible.

There's nothing more satisfying or restful in any room and especially in a bed room, than perfect colour blending. This firm is always willing to assist in planning the different colour schemes for their customers, and the are certainly artists in this respect.

RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION OF THE CURRENT YEAR IN THE CANADIAN WEST TO EXCEED ANY OF THE PAST

Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk Pacific, Canadian Northern and The Great Northern to Make Year Memorable One.

IMPORTANT ENTERPRISES

(Winnipeg Free Press.)

The current year will be marked by occurrences of more than ordinary interest in the matter of railway construction. Not only will the total mileage put under operation be large, but among the lines which will be completed will be several of much consequence. The direct line of the Canadian Pacific from Winnipeg to Edmonton will be finished, and will be opened for transportation, as will also the new main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific to the same city. The former will have, as a result of the year's operations, a double track on a portion of this through line to Edmonton, although the two tracks will be at some distance from one another, one being the old Northwestern line, running through Yorkton and Sheho to Lanigan, which will be the most direct route and the other being via the Pheasant Hills branch, the two uniting at Lanigan station. There will thus be afforded two new main lines between Winnipeg and Edmonton, with a partial double track on one of the two. To match this great development and to make provision for the rapidly increasing traffic, the double tracking of the Canadian Pacific from Winnipeg to Fort William will be brought to a successful termination.

Four powerful corporations will unite to make the year memorable in the railway construction work of the country, the Canadian Pacific, the Grand Trunk Pacific, the Canadian Northern and the Great Northern all sharing in the enterprise. The work of the latter company will, however, be confined to the completion of the work which is already in hand, and no new mileage will be constructed with the exception of that which is being carried forward in the far west.

The larger sums of money will be expended by the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk Pacific, both of which will be engaged in very important enterprises.

CANADIAN PACIFIC

In the undertakings of the former corporations are embraced from ten to a dozen separate contracts. To the east of the city work will be carried forward on the main line to Fort William, where the concluding work will be done on the double tracking. About one half of the track on this new line has been laid, and the rock work is pretty well complete. The total distance to be built between Winnipeg and the lake amounts to 418 miles, and the work remaining to be done consists chiefly in making the large fills along the line.

To the north of the city, the Stonewall branch will be extended through a timbered country, which will eventually become an important dairying and agricultural district. Twenty-four miles of track will be laid this year, and be brought into the city from the line next winter.

In southeastern Saskatchewan, the line from Wolseley to Reston will be completed, the distance remaining to be built up amounting to 28 miles. Farther west in southeastern Saskatchewan the line from Weyburn to Stoughton will be brought to completion. The distance across country between these two lines is 42 miles. The purpose of the company in connecting these two lines is to afford a means of getting the grain from the Soo line eastward to the city without sending it over the heavy grades, which are found on the line running east from Estevan. All the wheat from the Soo line will be sent by this new route to Winnipeg this autumn.

In Northern Saskatchewan

In Northern Saskatchewan work will be resumed on the Sheho extension and this line will be built into Lanigan. From Asquith west, the new line will be pushed on for a distance of two hundred miles, until connection is effected with the line running eastward from Wetaskiwin.

INTERESTING STORY OF TWO CIRCUSES ONCE IN PETERBORO'

The Bill Board in a recent issue contains an interesting story of the trip of the Dan Rice Show through Canada and also the John O'Brien Circus, both of which appeared in Peterborough. They were what was known in those days as "Overland" of "wagon shows." The John O'Brien show was under the title of "Barnum on Wheels," and came in over the Norwood road, showing on property at the east end of George street, near Little Lake. The Dan Rice Show came in by way of the "gravel road," from Port Hope and exhibited on the market square. The clipping is as follows:

Thirty years ago, or thereabouts, the great Dan Rice Shows made a trip through Canada, going in at Prescott, Ont., opposite Ogdensburg, N. Y., and back into the States at Detroit, Mich. And how well I remember it was my first circus. The show did not make our town, the city fathers would not let them in as the Jas. O'Brien Shows, who were in that country, small-potted the Rice Shows, so it was said. However, they went to a town nearby, called Aurora, on the Northern Railway, now known as the Grand Trunk line. How well I remember my first circus I had seen the dead walls covered with attractive pictures depicting the great possibilities and especially the great Dan Rice and his trained hippo. How well I remember gathering up old iron to sell to the town foundry to get enough money to carry me through the gala day, the one great day of a boy's life, his first circus. I can now see Dan Rice and his hippo. Dan leading the way from the menagerie into the big top, followed by his highness, the hippo, with four long ropes attached to his sack and eight husky canvasmen on each rope and a man behind jabbing him in the tega. He was guyed out for fair and could only go in one direction, straight ahead. After much trouble they got him into the ring, walked him around once, then Dan made him salute the audience by hammering on his lip with a ring stake until he knelt. He was then returned to his cage, still being guyed, but tighter than any big top in a Kansas cyclone. The people were satisfied and had seen the greatest advertised feature, the only trained hippo in existence. How well I remember the morning of the Dan Rice Circus. I, on my little suit of Irish linen, knee pants with a strip of brown tape down each leg, two dollars in my pocket, the result of my old iron sale, was a happy boy. Arriving at Atrorn, I saw the tents, parade, side show and then went into the real thing. When I had landed on the top tier of seats, I had just a one-dollar bill left.

Just bbefore the performance began, I noticed a candy stand near the connection. I went to it and asked the man behind for a sack of peanuts and gave him the dollar; he gave me a sack of nuts, a big barber pole stock of candy and five cents change, then said, "Johnnie, get back on the seats quick, the elephant might step on you." That night I rode home on the bare back of an old chestnut mare, sharing his back with another boy, who is now a prominent attorney in New York city. I made up my mind then to get even with someone for getting beat out of my money. Ten years later I joined the Great Van Amburg Shows, then under the direction of Hyatt Frost, and have been in the business ever since, but I never did get that dollar back in the way I lost it.

Board Of Works Got Through Much Business Last Night

Several Citizens Were on Hand With a Grievance And an Hour Was Spent in Hearing Them---Mr. Laplante Wanted Better Price for His Land.

The Board of Works Committee of the City Council had a busy session last night when a large amount of important business was taken up and disposed of. It was deputation night and the first hour was spent in listening to citizens who had a grievance or who wanted something done in the way of sewer or side walk work. There was a large number of communications on file and the Aldermen were glad when the session adjourned. There were present, Ald. Phelan, chairman; Mayor Rush, Ald. Elliott, Ald Morgan, Ald. Tovey and Ald. Bradburn.

Cellar Flooded

Mr. Campbell, who lives on Rubidge street waited on the Board to complain that his cellar was flooded because of a lack of proper drainage.

Street Commissioner Evans was present and explained the situation. It was decided to leave the matter to the chairman and Street Commissioner with a view of doing something to eliminate the trouble.

Mr. N T LaPlante was the next citizen to appear and his grievance was in connection with the price to be paid for his property used in the extension of George street. He pointed out that others owning property in the same neighbourhood received 20c. per foot for it. He was willing to take 18c. per foot or even take $1,200 which was $300 less than half what the others had received. He pointed out that Mayor Rush had given the right of way through his property for nothing.

The chairman promised that the matter would be looked into at once.

Mr. LaPlante had another grievance to air and entered a complaint against his assessment on the Hulmaine street sewer. "That great sewer," he remarked, "I don't think will ever be of any use."

The Board will also look into that matter.

Anothe Cellar Flooded

Mr. W Tremaine complained of the Downie street sewer. He states when the sewer was being laid it took out through a drain leading from the cellar in his residence, 614 Downie street, to the creek, and as a result the cellar was flooded. In answer to a question Mr. Tremaine remarked that there was no water works on the street and that therefore the sewer was of no use.

The Street Commissioner remarked that the foreman had stated he had not seen a drain there at all who she was putting in the sewer.

Sidewalk for School

Mr. W S Hobington was present and pointed out that there was no sidewalk on Aylmer street from Reynolds street to Lake street and the children and teachers going to the King Edward School had to walk through three or four inches of mud. He thought that a temporary sidewalk should be built.

Ald. Tovey moved, seconded by Ald. Pheland, that the City Engineer be instructed to take action in the matter at once.

That Harvey Street Sewer

Mr. Jas. Rose, Harvey street, wanted to know if there was any possibility of getting a sewer there on the northern part of the street. A petition had been sent in last year and had been blocked by a counter-petition. The Board of Health had inspected the conditions and stated that a sewer would be built.

Ald. Bradburn suggested Mr. Rose endeavouring to get another petition in favour of the sewer, but Mr. Rose said that that was impossible.

The Board was helpless in the matter and Mr. Rose was advised to try and get the assistance of the Board of Health in the matter.

Mr. Rose had another grievance to the effect that a sidewalk was needed there.

It was pointed out to him that the sidewalk was on the list of those ordered for last year, all of which were not completed and would be taken up the first thing this year.

On motion of Ald. Morgan, Board of Works Driver Matchett, was given two weeks holidays. Ald. Morgan also considered that Mr. Matchett's salary should be raised, but no action was taken in the matter last night.

It was not known whether or not the petition was sufficiently signed, and no action was taken.

New Water Cart

It was decided on motion of Ald. Tovey, seconded by Ald. Bradburn, that a new water cart be purchased from the Beaman Company of London, Ont., for $300. The wagon was recommended by the City Engineer.

Mr. Martin Leary applied for position of foreman on sewer construction. No action was taken in the matter for the present.

THE FACTS ARE PUBLISHED
Some Medical Journals are making a strenuous fight against the sale of medicines which contain opiates, claiming that people are sometimes led into contracting drug habits through their use. It is certainly only fair that people should be informed as to the nature of medicines which they take, and some of the highest class firms have adopted the plan of plainly printing the formula on the bottle or wrapper. Prominent among these is the King Palmetto Company. Theirs is a remedy which has proven its worth, and many former sufferers from Kidney and Liver and Bowel troubles bear willing testimony to its virtues. King Palmetto Compound is offered for exactly what it is, without any false pretenses, a perfect and scientific preparation that will cure constipation, purify the blood, invigorate the system and overcome any tendency to stomach, liver or kidney complaints. This covers a wide ground, as almost any trouble, except the germ diseases, will disappear if the blood is made pure and the stomach, liver and kidneys stimulated into healthy activity. In fact this will ward off the germ diseases, as germs cannot thrive in a perfectly healthy body. Send for free sample to the King Palmetto Company Bridgeburg, Ont. King Palmetto Compound is sold at $1.00 per bottle and is guaranteed by

Red Saunders

...By...
HENRY WALLACE PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY

AT the word he tossed it, and Miss Mattie caught it dexterously. Red had an exceedingly keen eye for some things, and he noticed the certainty of the action. He hated fumblers. "A person can do things right if they've got minds that work," was one of his pet sayings. "'Taint the muscles at all; it's in the head, and I like the kind of head that's in use all the time." Therefore this small affair made an impression on him.

"Why, you could be a baseball player," said he.

"I used to play with Joe when I was a girl," said Miss Mattie, smiling. "I always liked boys' play better than I did girls'. Joe taught me how to throw a ball too. He said he wouldn't play with me unless I learned not to 'scoop it,' girl fashion. I suppose you will be wanting breakfast." There was a hint of sarcasm in the doubt of the inquiry.

"That's what I do," said Red. "You must just hustle down and get things to boiling or I'll throw bricks through the windows. I've been up for the last two hours!"

"Why, I don't believe it!" said Miss Mattie.

"No more do I, but it seems like it," replied Red. "Don't you want the fire started? Come down and open up the house."

When Miss Mattie appeared at the door in he strode with an armful of wood, dropping it, many-fashion, crash, on the floor.

"Skip out of the way," said he. "I'll show you how to build a fire."

The early morning had been the most desolate time to Miss Mattie. As the day warmed up the feeling of loneliness vanished, perhaps to return at evening, but not then with the same absoluteness as when she walked about the kitchen to the echo of her own footsteps in the morning.

Now the slamming and the banging which accompanied Red's energetic actions rang in her ears most cheerily. She even found a relish in the smothered oath that heralded the thrust of a splinter in his finger. It was very wicked, but it was also very much alive.

Red arose and dusted off his knees. "Now we're off!" he said as the fire began to roar. "What's next?"

"If you'd grind the coffee, Will?" she suggested.

"Sure! Where's the hand-organ?"

He put the mill between his knees and converted the beans to powder to the tune of "Old Dog Tray" through his nose, which Miss Mattie found very amusing.

She measured out the coffee, one spoonful for each cup and one for the pot. Red watched her patiently, and when she had finished he threw in the rest of the contents of the mill drawer. "I like it fairly strong," said he in explanation.

"Now, Will!" protested Miss Mattie. "Look at you! That will be as bitter as bonesct!"

"Thin her up with milk and she'll be all right," replied Red.

"Well, such wasteful ways I never did see. Nobody'd think you were a day over fifteen."

"I'm not," said Red stoutly, "and," catching her chin in his hand and turning her face up toward him, "nobody'd put your score much higher than that neither if they trusted to their eyes this morning."

The compliment hit so tender a place that Miss Mattie lacked the resolution to tear it out; besides, it was so honest that it sounded much less like a compliment than a plain statement of fact. She bent hastily over the fire. "I'm glad I look young, Will," she said softly.

"So'm I!" he assented heartily. "What's the sense in being old, anyhow? I'm as limber and good for myself as ever I was in spite of my forty years."

"Nary joke—forty round trips from flying snow to roses since I hit land, Mattie—why, you were only a little girl when I left here—don't you remember? You and your folks came to see us the week before I left. I got a thrashing for taking you and Joe to the mill pond and helping you to get good and wet. The thrashing was one of the things that gave me a hankering for the west. Very liberal man with the hickory, father. Spare the clothes and spoil the skin was his motto. He used to make me strip to the waist—phee-hew! Even a light breeze rested heavy on my back when dad got through with me. Say, Mattie, perhaps I oughtn't to say so, now that he's gone, but I don't think that's the proper way to use a boy, do you?"

"No, I don't," said Miss Mattie. "Your father meant well, but his way was useless and cruel."

"I've forgiven him the whole sweep," said Red. "But, d—n me, if I had a boy I wouldn't club the life out of him; I'd try to reason with him first, anyhow. Makes a boy as ugly as anybody else to get the hide whaled off his back for nothing—once in a while he needs it. Boy that's got any life in him gets to be too much occasionally, and then a warming is healthful and nourishing. Lord, you'd think I was the father of my country to hear me talk, wouldn't you? If somebody'd write a book, 'What Red Saunders Don't Know About Raising Children' it would be full of valuable information. How's that breakfast coming on?"

"All ready—sit right down, Will."

"Go-ly!" cried Red, and incautiously flung himself upon one of the kitchen chairs, which collapsed instantly and dropped him to the floor.

"Mercy on us! Are you hurt?" cried Miss Mattie, rushing forward.

"Hurt?" said Red. "Try it! Just jump up in the air and sit on the floor where you are now, and see if you get hurt! Oh, no! I'm not hurt, but I'm astonished beyond measure, like the man that tickled the mule. I'll take my breakfast right here—shouldn't wonder a bit if the floor went back on me and landed me in the cellar. No, sir! I won't get up! Hand me the supplies. I know when I'm well off. If you want to eat breakfast with me, come sit on the floor. I'm not going to have my spine pushed through the top of my head twice in the same day."

"Will, you are the most ridiculous person I ever did see!" said Miss Mattie, and she laughed till she cried in sheer lightheartedness. "But there's a chair you can trust. Come on now."

"Well, if you'll take your solemn oath that this one has no mustache to deceive me," said Red doubtfully. "It looks husky. Well, I'll try it. Hooray! She didn't give an inch! This kind of reminds me of the time Jimmy Hendricks came back from town and walked off the edge of the bluff in the dark. It just happened that Old Scotty Ferguson's cabin was underneath him. Jim took most of the roof off with him as he went in. He sat awhile to figure out what was trumpe, having come 150 feet too fast to do much thinking. Then, 'Hello!' he yells. Old Scotty was a sleeper from way back, but this woke him up.

"'Hello!' says he. 'Was'er matter?'

"Jim saw he wasn't more than half awake yet, so he says, 'Why, I was up on the bluff there, Scotty, and, seeing it was such a short distance, I thought I'd drop in!'

"Jim couldn't wait for morning, and, though his leg was pretty badly sprained, he made the trip all the way round the trail and woke us up to tell us how he'd gone through Ferguson's roof and the old man asked him to make himself at home. Next morning there was Scotty out in front of his cabin, his thumbs in his vest holes, looking up.

"'What's the matter, Scotty?' says I.

"'Well, I wish you'd tell me what in the name of God went through that roof?' says he.

"I swallered a laugh crossways and put on a serious face. 'Must have been a rock,' says I.

"'Rock nothin'!' says he. 'If it had been a rock 'twould have stayed in the cabin, wouldn't it? Well, there ain't the first blasted thing of any shape nor description in there but the hole. You can go in and look for yourself.'

"It cost Scotty one case of rye to make us forget those circumstances."

"I should have thought the man would be killed, striking on the roof that way," said Miss Mattie.

"Oh, no! Roof was made of quaking asp saplings, just about strong enough to break his fall. Scotty was the sleeper, though! It wasn't hardly natural the way that man could pound his ear through thick and thin. He had quite a surprising time of it once. He'd been prospecting round the Ruby refractory ore district and he came out at Hank Cutter's sawmill just at sundown. Hank's place was full of gold rushers, so Old Scotty thought he'd sleep outdoors in peace and quiet. He discovered some big boxes that Hank was making for ore bins for the new mill, and, as the ground was kind of damp from a thunder shower they had that day he spreads his blanket inside the box and goes to sleep. Ore bins have to be smooth and dust tight, so it wasn't a bad shanty.

"Well, there came a jar and waked him up. The box was rolling a little and going along, going along forty mile an hour. Scotty lit a match and found he was in a kind of big tunnel, but the wall was flying by so fast he couldn't make out just what kind of a tunnel it was. Now, he'd gone to sleep in peace and quiet on a side hill, and to wake up and find himself boat riding in a tunnel was enough to surprise anybody. First he pinched himself to see if it was Hank's pie or cold fact; found it was a fact; then he lit another match and leaned over and looked at the black water underneath, but this made the box tip so it scart him, and he settled down in the bottom again. He didn't try to think. What was the use? No man living could have figured things out with the few facts Scotty had before him. All of a sudden the box made a rush and shot out into the air, and Scotty felt they were falling. 'God sakes!' he says to himself. 'What's next, I wonder?' Then they hit the water below with a kerflap that nearly telescoped Scotty and sent the spray flying. After that they went along smooth again. 'Well,' says Scotty, 'I don't know where I am, nor who I am, nor what's happened, nor who's it, nor nothing about this game. So far I ain't been hurt, though, and I might just as well lie down and get a little more rest.'

"It was broad daylight when he woke up again, and a man was looking into the box. 'Hello, pardner!' he says. 'I hope you've had a pleasant journey. Do you always travel this way?'

"Scotty raised up and found his craft was aground, high and dry—no water within a hundred feet of it. On one side was quite a little town.

"'Say,' says he, 'could I trouble you to tell me where I am, friend?'

"'You're at Placerville,' answers the other.

"'Placerville!' yells Scotty. 'And I went to sleep at Cutter's mill, sixty-five miles from here! What are you giving us, man?'

"'I'm putting it to you straight,' says the stranger. 'Take a look around you.'

"Scotty looked, and there was all kinds of wreckage, from a dead beef critter to a wheelbarrow.

"'What in nation's all this?' says he.

"'Washout,' says the man. 'Cloudburst up on the divide—worst we've ever had—your box is about high water mark—you see there was water enough for awhile—I reckon you're about the only thing that came through alive.'

"'Well, wouldn't that knock you?' says Scotty.

"While the rest of the folk at the mill was taking to the high ground for their lives, with the water roaring and tearing through the gulch, Scotty had peacefully gone off in his little boat down the creek and, instead of going over the rapids, where he'd have been done, for all his luck, the box ambles through the flume they was building for the new mill. Of course there was the jounce over the tail race, but that hadn't hurt him much, and after he rocked in the cradle of the deep until he got beached at Placerville.

"What in nation's all this?" says he.

"'Come along, friend,' says Scotty to the feller. 'You and me are going to have a little drink on this, it it is the last act.' And I reckon probably they made it two, for when Scotty got back again he was in a condition that made everybody believe that he'd only guessed at the story he told. But they found out afterward it was a solemn fact. Mattie, give us some more coffee."

Thus abruptly recalled to Fairfield, Miss Mattie started up.

"Well, Will, it does seem as if that was a dangerous country to live in," said she.

"Oh, not so awful," said Red. "Just as many people die here as they do there. This world's a dangerous place to live in wherever you strike it, Mattie."

"That's so," said she thoughtfully.

"And now," said Red, pushing back his chair, "it's time I got to work and left you to do the housework undisturbed."

"What are you going to do, Will?"

"First place, there's fences and things to be tinkered up, I see. I suppose a millionaire like me ought to hire those things done, but I'd have measles of the mind if I sat around doing nothing."

"I have been wanting to get the place in good order for some time," said Miss Mattie, "but what with the money I had to spend for this and that, and not being able to get Mr. Joyce to come in for a day's work when I wanted him, it's gone on until there is a good deal of wrack to it."

"We'll wrack it t'other way round in no time. Got any tools here?"

"Out in the barn is what's left of father's tools. People have borrowed 'em and forgot to return 'em, and they've rusted or been lost until I'm afraid there ain't many of 'em left."

"Well, I'll get along today somehow, and later on we'll stock up. Want any help around the house?"

"Thank you, no, Will."

"Then I'm off."

It was almost with a feeling of terror that Miss Mattie beheld him root up the fence. Her idea of repairing was to put in a picket here and there where it was most needed. Red's was to knock it all flat first and set it up in A1 condition afterward. So in two hours' time he straightened up and snapped the sweat from his brow, beholding the slain pickets prone on the grass with thorough satisfaction. Yet he felt tired, for the day was already hot with a moist and soaking seacoast heat, to which the plainsman was unaccustomed. A three-quarter grown boy passed by, lounging on the seat of a farm wagon.

"Hey!" hailed Red. The boy stopped and turned slowly around.

"Yes, sir," he answered courteously enough.

"Want a job?" said Red.

"Well, I dunno," replied the boy. He was much astonished at the appearance of his interrogator, and he was a cautious New England boy to boot.

"I calc'late if you cud fin' out anywhere 'twould be there," said he.

Red laughed. He had noticed the busy postmistress rushing out of her store to waylay any one likely to have information on any subject, a stream of questions proceeding from her through the door.

"Say, you got anything particular to do?"

"Can I buy stuff to make a fence with around here?"

"Yes, sir; Mr. Pettigrew's got all kinds of buildin' material at his store—two mile over yonder," pointing with the whip.

"You drive over there for me and get some—just like this here—pickets and posts and whatever you call them long pieces, and I'll make it right with you."

"Yes, sir. How much will I get?"

"Oh, tell him to fill the wagon up with it, and I'll send back what I don't want. Hustle, now, like a good boy; I want to get shut of this job; I liked it better before I begun."

When his Mercury had speeded on the journey at a faster gait than Red would have given him credit for the architect strode down to the blacksmith's shop. There was a larger crowd than usual around the forge, as the advent of the stranger had got into the wind, and the village Vulcan was a person who not only looked the whole world in the face, but no one of the maiden ladies of Fairfield could have excelled his interest in looking the whole world as much in the inside pocket as possible. The blacksmith was emphatically a man of gossip, as well as a hardworking, God fearing man.

"Say, there he comes now, Mr. Tuttle!" cried one of the loungers, and nudged the smith to look.

"Well, let him come!" retorted the smith testily, jamming a shoe in the fire with unnecessary force; as a matter of fact he was embarrassed. The loungers huddled together for moral support as the big cowman loomed through the doorway.

"Good morning, friends!" said he.

"For the sake of good fellowship I'll say 'yes' to that," responded Red, "but if you want my honest opinion on the subject it's d—n hot."

"'Tis that," assented the smith, and a silence followed.

"Say, who's your crack fence builder around here," asked Red—"the man that can make two pickets grow where only one grew before and do it so easy that it's a pleasure to sit and look at him?"

"Why, I've got a fence to build," exclaimed Red, "and now I want some help—want it so bad I'll produce to the extent of three a day and call it a day from now till 6 o'clock. Any takers here? Make your bets while the little ball rolls."

The loungers understood the general drift of this and pricked up their ears, as did the blacksmith. "Guess one of the boys will help you," said the latter.

"Well, who's it?" asked Red, glancing at the circle of faces. Three dollars a day was enormous wages in that part of the country. Nobody knew just what to say.

"Oh, well," cried Red, "let's everybody run! I reckon I can find something to do for the five of you. Are you with me?"

"Yes, sir," they said promptly.

"Can I borrow a hammer or so off you, old man?" questioned Red of the smith.

"Certainly, sir," returned the latter heartily. "Take what you want."

"Much obliged. And the gate hinges are out of whack. Miss Saunders' place, you know. Come over and take a squint at 'em in the near by and by, will you? May as well fix it up all at once. Come on, boys!"

It was thus that the greatest enterprise that Fairfield had seen in many a day was undertaken. Miss Mattie was simply astounded as the army bore down upon the house.

"Whatever in the world is Cousin Will doing?" said she, but resting strong in the faith that it was necessarily all right she was content to wait for dinner and an explanation. Not so the postmistress. The agonies of unrequited curiosity the worthy woman suffered that morning until she at last summoned up her resolution and asked the smith plump out and out what it all meant would have to be experienced to be appreciated. And the smith kept her hanging for awhile, too, saying to himself in justification that it wasn't right the way that old gal had to get into everybody's business. The smith was like some of the rest of us—he could see through a beam if it was in his own eye.

CHAPTER VI.

THERE was a great din of whacking and hammering that morning. Red worked like a horse now, that he had company. A sudden thought struck him, and he went into the house.

"Mattie," said he.

"Well, Will?"

"I see a use for the rest of that nice big roast of beef I smell in the oven—let's have all these fellers stay to dinner and give 'em one good feed. What do you say?"

"Why, I'd like to, Will, but I don't know—where'll I set them?"

"Couple of boards outside for a table—let them sit on boxes or something. Got plates and things enough?"

KELPION
STAINLESS 'ODINE OINTMENT
Does not color or burn, cures Rheumatism, Sprains, Bruises and large glands, applied by rubbing, at all Drug Stores, 25c.

"SPRING FEVER"
The need of a spring medicine seems to be universal. This is due to the fact that during the winter the blood becomes impure on account of the hearty food eaten. This causes that tired, weary, all-gone, don't-care-to-work feeling which is so prevalent at this time of year.
BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS
That Tired Feeling.
Mr. F. H. Leard, Saskatoon, Sask., writes:—"I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a blood builder and think it an excellent remedy. Everyone should take it in the spring to cure that tired feeling that comes to so many at this time of year."
Uses It Every Spring.
Mr. H. Langley, Hamilton, Ont. writes:—"I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a spring tonic, and I find it the best thing I can take. It builds me right up and I use it every spring. It is excellent for the blood."

VARICOCELE CURED
NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.
Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $18 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

MR. W. H. HULL,

Dear Sir:—I wish to thank you for the magnificent profits I received from you on the 2nd inst on Policy 19074 on my life, the dividend period having matured on the 1st inst.

To think that all I have paid the Company during the past twenty years was $442.00, and that my reserved cash profits for that period amount to $214.04, leaving the net cost of my Insurance of $1,000 during those years only $227.96, and that now I have a free paid-up policy of $1,000 still drawing profits EVERY FIVE YEARS hereafter, so long as I live, is a result that surprises me most agreeably and causes me to regret that I have not taken more Insurance twenty years ago.

However, as you know I am trying to redeem the past to the best of my ability and have applied for further Insurance on same plan with you.

Again thanking you and desiring to know the splendid results I received, and hoping it may assist some, at least, in making a wise selection when insuring, I wish your Company the patronage it deserves, and remain

Yours truly,
GEO. A. HAMLIN,
School Teacher, Norwood, Ont.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY'S OFFICERS

St. John's Church, Havelock, Annual Meeting---Personal Notes of Interest

Examiner Special.

Havelock, April 1.—Mr. Jack Moffatt, Parry Sound, is the guest of Mr. T. P. Lancaster.

Mr. Wm. Bryans spent Thursday with friends in Peterborough.

Mr. Alick Ross spent a couple of days with friends in Peterborough last week.

Mrs. Allan Jolland and family left on the midnight train Wednesday for Halifax, from which port she will sail on the C.P.R. steamer Victoria for her old home in England.

Mr. Wm. Hill, Winnipeg, is the guest of friends in town.

Mr. T. Pace of town has purchased the general store business of Mr. W. E. Young, Cordova, and takes possession this week. His many friends wish him success.

Mr. F. Squires was in Peterborough Tuesday on business.

Mr. David Vansickle has purchased the residence lately occupied by Mr. P. Cromar, on Mill Lane.

A number of local Oddfellows went to Peterborough Thursday afternoon where a large number of candidates was initiated into the mysteries of the order by the famous degree team of that city.

The Francis Greene Company will appear in the opera house on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights next week. This company was in Havelock last year and was greeted by a crowded house every night.

The Crystal Amusement Company which appeared in the opera house on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of this week proved to be first-class in every particular and was deserving of a crowded house every night.

Rev. D. Balfour of town took the services in the Methodist church on Sunday last. His sermons were based on the interest that should be taken in missions.

Mrs. W. Holcombe and Mrs. Clarke spent Wednesday with friends at Marmora.

The annual meeting of the Womans Auxiliary of St. John's Church was held in the rectory on Monday evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Pres.—Mrs. Caplan.
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. I. Barton.
Sec.—Mrs. Ed. Chapman.
Treas.—Mrs. T. Keene.
Supt.—Mrs. C. A. Grant.
Pres. of Junior Branch — Miss Isabel Caplan.

A large number was in attendance at the meeting and the report was very satisfactory. Mrs. Caplan and Mrs. Wilson were appointed delegates to the annual Provincial meeting to be held in Toronto in May.

Rev. Mr. Caplan went to Central Ontario Junction on Thursday where he took the Lenten services that evening.

Mr. R. Phillips was in Peterborough Wednesday on business.

SMITH COUNCIL TO MEET IN BRIDGENORTH

C. O. F. Had Successful Concert Recently —Other News.

Examiner Special.

Mr. R. Heard is fitting up the upper part of his storeroom. It is anticipated that Smith council is about to return to the village to hold its council meetings there and it will be suitable for the meeting and also to hold the municipal elections in, and any other meeting that might take place. The idea of Mr. Heard is a good one and the council cannot say there is no accommodation.

The C.O.F. of Bridgenorth has had an organizer, Mr. Keys, in the village for some time and about twelve new members have joined the order, and on Tuesday night the Foresters held an entertainment and social. The hall was crowded. Mr. J. Forsythe, Chief Ranger occupied the chair, and a very pleasant time was spent. The C.O.F. has a membership of 103.

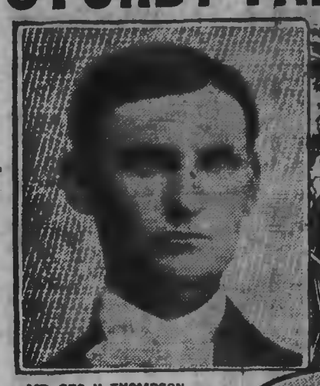
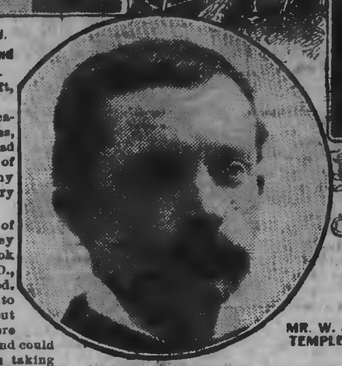
STURDY FARMERS KEEP OFF ALL CATARRHAL ILLS BY TAKING PE-RU-NA.

Pe-ru-na, a Most Reliable Remedy For All Climatic Ailments.

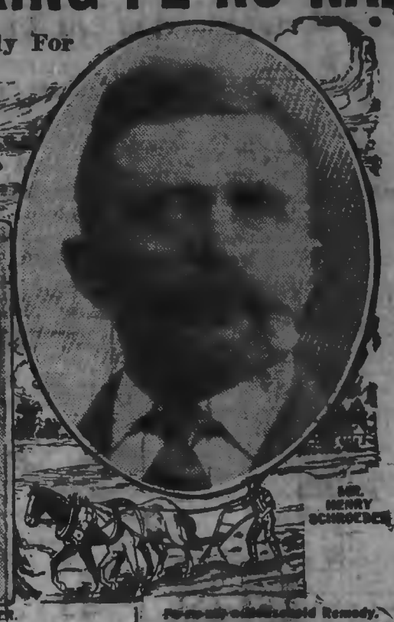


MR. GEO. H. THOMPSON.

MR. GUSTAV SCHMIDT.



MR. W. J. TEMPLE.



MR. HENRY SCHROEDER.

At Work On the Farm and Feeling Well All the Time.

Geo. H. Thompson, Craft, Miss., writes:

"I have been cured of catarrh by your medicines, Peruna and Manalin. I had been affected with catarrh of the stomach about all my life, and was taken bad every Spring and Summer.

"I used several kinds of patent medicines, but they did me no good. I then took a treatment under an M. D., which did me but little good. By this time I had come to where I could eat nothing but a little soup. I had severe pains, had lost in weight and could not do anything. I began taking your medicines, Peruna and Manalin. I then weighed 125 pounds, but after taking several bottles of Peruna and one bottle of Manalin, I weighed 160 pounds.

"I am now at work on the farm and feel well all of the time. I eat all I want to and my friends say that I look better than ever before. I will ever praise Peruna for its healing power."

Pe-ru-na Is a Systemic Remedy.

If Peruna proves efficient for catarrh in one place, it will be equally potent in any other place, because it is a systemic remedy.

The people generally are very much misinformed as to the nature of catarrh.

Catarrh is usually believed to be confined to the head, nose and throat. Lately we sometimes hear of catarrh of the stomach and catarrh of the bowels. Seldom if ever, do we hear of catarrh of any other organs.

It is not because these organs are not subject to catarrh, nor that catarrh of these organs is not a very common disease, but simply because it is not generally known that affections of these organs may be due to catarrh.

Climatic Ailments Overcome By Pe-ru-na.

Mr. W. J. Temple, R. F. D. 8, Delaware, Ohio, writes:

"I am a farmer and so necessarily must be exposed to all kinds of weather. About three years ago last winter, I was taken sick with bowel and stomach trouble.

"One doctor called it ulceration of the bowels, another called it colitis. Another doctor helped me temporarily.

"Then a druggist recommended Peruna and I followed his advice. I took altogether five bottles and I consider myself a well man.

"Before using Peruna, it was utterly impossible for me to do a day's work, but now I can do farm work without the least trouble or fatigue. I consider Peruna the best medicine and tonic on the market.

"I had not eaten a meal for five years without distress until I took Peruna. I have recommended it to several friends with good results."

A Letter Praising Pe-ru-na.

Mr. Gustav Schmidt, Spring Valley, Ill., writes:

"I had catarrh of the head and throat for over thirty years. It became worse every year. About three months ago I commenced to take Peruna and Manalin, and now I am entirely cured of that troublesome sickness. Your medicine is surely a blessing to mankind. You can truly say that you have not lived in vain, Doctor, and I thank you for the good you have done me. May you enjoy a long life to help suffering humanity."

DR. HARTMAN, THE FARMER.

Dr. S. B. Hartman, the inventor and original manufacturer of Peruna, is one of the best farmers in the Middle West.

His farm comprises several thousand acres of the best land in the State of Ohio, located near the City of Columbus.

As an importer of French Percheron and German Coach horses, the Doctor has not an equal in this country.

The fowl-raising department is a marvel of ingenuity and perfection; but, perhaps the dairy department is where the Doctor shows his greatest sense of order and sanitary science.

His milk cows, of the purest Jersey stock, have all been subjected to the tuberculin tests, and he gives to the City of Columbus a pure milk, certified by the Board of Health.

The milk stables, the milk men and the whole process of milking are absolutely faultless and clean.

He himself supervises the working details of every department.

He is a model of strength and vitality, and since Peruna is the only remedy he ever makes personal use of, his physical condition is a testimonial to the efficacy of Peruna of greater value than could be framed in words.

Dr. Hartman is one of the few doctors who take their own medicine and his splendid physique and strength in his old age are an eloquent argument for Peruna very difficult to gainsay.

Dr. Hartman, being a farmer himself, knows what the farmer needs and in speaking of Peruna to the farmer he speaks to his own kind of people.

Pe-ru-na For Bowel Trouble.

Mr. Stanly Bell, Ashley, Ohio, writes:

"I was afflicted with rheumatism so badly that it was painful for me to move. I took two or three bottles of Peruna when I began to feel better. It also gave me relief from bowel trouble."

MR. J. B. ALEXANDER.

A Necessity in the Home.

J. B. Alexander, publisher of the "Fruit and Floral Guide, a Magazine of Horticulture," published in Hartford City, Ind., says of Peruna:

"I was afflicted with catarrh of the throat and head for over ten years. I was treated by many physicians, but grew worse until I was seldom able to go out in cold weather.

"About one year ago I was advised to try Peruna, which I did, and I am now entirely well of the catarrh.

"Peruna is a necessity in our home. With the first symptoms of a cold we use it, and are never afflicted with catarrh.

"I advise all who are afflicted with catarrh to try Peruna. There is certainly nothing equal to it as a catarrh medicine."

71 Years Old and Able to Work.

Mr. John G. Hirdler, Garfield, Kas., writes:

"I was injured by a fall on the railroad and my entire nervous system was impaired by the same. The help of a physician was useless.

"I then tried Peruna and after using it for three months was entirely well. I am 71 years old and my work on the the railroad is hard and tedious, but I can work like a young man in all kinds of weather, heat, cold, rain, snow or storm alike."

Pe-ru-na—a Household Remedy.

Mr. Henry Schroeder, Raley, Mich., writes:

"I suffered for almost ten years with catarrh of the stomach and all doctoring was of no avail. I took nine bottles of Peruna and two of Manalin and am now entirely cured.

"I recommend the medicine to all who are afflicted with this disease. It is my household friend."

One of Dr. Hartman's Greatest Correspondents.

Mr. W. R. Callahan, proprietor of Big Hill Farm, and prominent fruit grower and stock raiser, Glenvar, Va., writes:

"I write to express my kindness toward you and your good medicine, Peruna.

"I had a very bad spell of sickness and could not eat anything at all. My head, stomach, in fact, my whole body ached, and it looked as though nothing would do me any good. I had almost given up.

"I decided to try a bottle of your Peruna and before I had taken half the bottle my appetite came to me and my head became all right. In fact, I was all right all over. Peruna cured me."

While Peruna is not confined to any one class of people, yet it is probably true that the farming class more than any other, rely upon Peruna for the prevention and cure of all climatic diseases.

TRAPPERS AT WORK IN OMEMEE

NEW BOAT LAUNCHED

Examiner Special

Omemee, April 1.—The roads are now almost impassable owing to so much snow in some places and none in other places.

The engagement is announced of Miss Jennie Kerr to Mr. Robt. Ruth. The wedding is to take place very shortly. Miss Kerr, the bride-elect is a daughter of our respected citizen, Wm. Kerr, of Emily.

Bugler Banks of Omemee will accompany the 45th Battalion to Quebec as Battalion bugler.

Capt. German has returned from the Toronto School of Military Instruction completing a three months' course; also Lieut. Fee. They are looking forward to an interesting military camp at Quebec.

Thos. Palmer has launched his new gasoline yacht, capable of holding eight persons, and is made to run very swiftly.

The trappers are starting out this week.

Our respected citizen, Geo. Fee, has undergone an operation for appendicitis, successfully performed by Drs Sutton and Snelgrove, of Omemee, and Dr. Cameron, of Peterborough. The patient is doing well.

Mr. Murphy, Peterborough District Agent for the McCormick Machinery Company, was here on a flying business trip, inspecting the agency here.

Mr. Lowes, of Peterborough, cattle buyer, made some large purchases here of the best class stock raised.

Danger in a Cold

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Not only pneumonia but also the infectious diseases such as diphtheria and scarlet fever start with a cold. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs of these diseases. Take our advice—cure your cold while you can.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

by its remarkable cures of colds has become a staple article of trade and commerce. It is prompt; it is effectual; it is reliable. Try it.

An Experiment With Manure

Spread It Directly Before Plowing, the Best Method.

From the Canadian Dairyman and Farming World.

One winter a few years ago I applied manure on top of the snow, and it proved a failure. Since then I have been applying it direct to the land, before plowing. I keep manure spreaders at work applying the manure, and another team plowing it under. I believe that the sooner manure is plowed down after being spread, the better. Manure as a fertilizer works upwards, while artificial fertilizers work down into the soil.

Spreading manure on top of the land entails a great waste of valuable ingredients. A few years ago I top-dressed a portion of a field of fall wheat. On the rest of the piece I applied the manure at the same rate, but plowed it down. When the wheat was being cut, it was possible to see just where the manure had been plowed under. There the best wheat was produced.

I spread manure on root and rape land right after seeding. I sow each year from 8 to 10 acres of hoed crop, and 5 to 10 acres of rape. I never sow rape and turnips in the same field. When I have more land in a field than what is required for turnips, I summer-fallow and sow to wheat, then seed down the first crop. We apply about 12 loads of manure to the acre for turnips, and eight for rape.

PROFIT IN RAISING BACON HOGS

A Good Investment for the Farmer—Showing Profits Derived.

HOW TO FEED HOGS

From the Canadian Dairyman and Farming World.

The hog has a great reputation as a consumer, hence cheap bulky food is most desirable. Mangels, skim milk, a little clover hay, form the basis of a healthful and cheap bulk ration in winter. In summer a wider range is available. Alfalfa is one of the most valuable green fodders the farmers can grow either, for cows or hogs. Our experience with this crop has been most satisfactory. We have cut alfalfa for green feed two different years, as early as May 10. With skim milk and alfalfa young hogs will grow with little or no meal. Clover, green corn, waste apples, etc., all work into the economical feeding of hogs. Last fall we made 10 days feed for over 25 hogs out of the small seeds that fell under the threshing machine. These were boiled and mixed with meal, and soon converted into pork.

The profit made from hogs varies with each season. We had one sow from which we sold $253.00 worth of pork in one year, (three litters.) One of our neighbors told us that he had sold enough from one sow, for pork purposes only, to build him a new barn costing over $1200. Just at present the pessimists have the floor, when the bacon question is discussed. The dairyman who is interested in production; however, on a permanent and sound basis, will find the hog ready to pay his way, and become one factor in connection with a well organized farm system.

No Cheese Factory At Indian River

Maker Decides That It Will be Too Expensive—He Goes to Ennismore.

Examiner Special:

Indian River, April 1.—The patrons of Indian River Cheese Factory will be sorry to learn that it will not be in operation for the coming season.

Mr. Rancier, the proprietor, could not see his way clear to pay the price the milk drawers were looking for, and therefore has closed the factory. Mr. Hogan, of Shearer Factory has purchased the vats and press from Mr. Rancier.

Mr. Rancier has given every satisfaction to the patrons of Indian River factory for the past five years and they are all no doubt sorry to hear of the closing. Mr. Rancier is engaged to make cheese for Messrs. Killen and Young, of Ennismore. Indian River's loss is Ennismore's gain.

BAPTISTS TO HOLD TALENT SALE

The Latest News Around Lakefield—Buckhorn Preacher Did Not Arrive.

INTERESTING PERSONALS

Examiner Special.

Lakefield, April 1.—A "talent" sale under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist Church will be held in the town hall on the afternoon and evening of Thursday, April 9. Fancy work and many useful articles will be offered for sale, children's cooking being a specialty. The sale will begin at 3 p.m., during which refreshments will be served.

Rev. C. W. Farney of Buckhorn, who was expected to preach at St. John Baptist Church on Friday evening last, was unable to keep his appointment owing to having contracted a very bad cold.

Mr. Daubus and family, who have been occupying Mr. Percy Strickland's house during the winter, returned to their summer residence in Douro on Saturday last.

Mrs. F. H. Darcy, who has been visiting friends in Toronto and Hamilton, returned home on Thursday last.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Davidson, who have been spending a week in Toronto, returned home on Thursday.

Mr. J. Archer, Campbellford, was in the village Thursday.

Mr. F. M. Dela Fosse, who has been spending the past week visiting with friends in Toronto, returned home on Tuesday.

The Ladies' Aid will hold a "pancake" social in the Methodist Church on Wednesday evening, April 1. The social commences at 6.30. During tea Mr. F. Richardson will give selections from his gramophone. The regular programme commences at 8 o'clock.

Miss Atwood returned on Wednesday last from Peterborough, where she was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Evans Atwood.

Rev. J. G. Waller, a returned missionary from Japan, gave a very interesting address in St. John Baptist Church on Monday evening. Mr. Waller, ever since his ordination seventeen years ago, has been working in Japan among the Japanese, and describes them as being a very kind and polite race of people. He speaks with much regret of the great scarcity of workers in the mission field, and pleads earnestly for more helpers, there being at the present time only six missionaries to work among more than eight million souls. Mr. Waller mentions the Women's Auxiliary as having been of great assistance to him in his work, and says that practical aid, such as theirs, appeals much more to the Japanese in the way of Christianizing them than it is possible to do by mere words. He concludes in asking our daily prayers for the extension of God's Kingdom among the heathen in the East.

THE SHORTHORN AS A MILK PRODUCER

Interesting Figures Showing the Value of This Breed for Beef and Milk.

MAKE THE COW PAY

From the Canadian Dairyman and Farming World.

The science of successful farming has arrived at that stage when it can be organized along lines similar to that of other business concerns. The secret of successful advancement in material things is production, with the utilization of all waste and by-products. To the diaryman, who is producing butter or cream for market, the hog offers the solution of his problem as to how to best utilize the bye-products. Generally speaking, the average dairy cow will give enough milk to support her own calf, and from two to three hogs, allowing also a small meal ration. The dairyman can thus produce bacon, and realize a profit, when others are saying "There is no money in hogs."

After a good dairy cow, the best investment for the dairyman is a good brood sow of a prolific strain. Because of the small amount of land required to keep hogs, much feed of great value to hogs, would otherwise be wasted, such as the milk of newly-calved cows, skim milk, butter milk, etc. Without hogs this would go to waste, because even where all the calves are raised, a surplus of milk should exist from good dairy cows.

The dairy farmer who sells his milk is selling the fertility of the land, unless he buys back protein (Nitrogen) in the form of bran, oil meal, etc. If fed to hogs on the farm the fertility can be increased and a profit made on the transaction. One more point in favor of the hog is the small amount of waste to the dressed carcass. Usually hogs dress about 70 per cent. as compared with beef from 50 to 62 per cent, thus converting their food into saleable meat instead of offal.

The milking qualities of Shorthorns can, no doubt, be improved, particularly in regard to certain families, or strains. This is not an undertaking, however, that may be rushed into by everybody, or great injury will be done the breed as beef producers. A great many individuals give as much milk as can reasonably be looked for in animals that have good feeding form, or that excel in thickness of flesh. It would scarcely be possible, however, to attain the same degree of perfection in milk production that the breed has reached as beef producers. In other words, Shorthorns stand at the very top as beef producers; they could not be bred to stand at the top as milk producers, without destroying their beefing qualities, though it is possible to have fairly good beefing qualities, and milk producing powers as well. Their great excellence is in, and will continue to be in, their power to produce a reasonable amount of milk, to cross on the native, or thin-fleshed cattle of any kind, and get an animal that will have a reasonable amount of thickness of flesh, and at the same time give a good return at the pail, if bred from a milking dam.

The milking Shorthorns of England, are, in many cases, bred very much to what is considered the dairy type. They are narrow in front, with considerable width, and depth, behind. They are not great milkers and beefers as well, but in some few cases both qualities might reasonably be claimed for them. Extreme milk production is not looked for in an English dairy herd, but rather a fair amount from each cow is required, together with a calf that will make a good bull, to head such a herd, or a first class steer, or a heifer, to mature for renewing the herd.

Ninety per cent. of the milk produced in the city of London, is taken from Shorthorn cows. At the same time these cows have produced the feeders to furnish the greater portion of the home-bred and home-fed beef for the same market.

It is something the same there as here. When a man wants to buy a bull to place at the head of his dairy herd, be it Shorthorn, or anything else, he limits himself to from £12 to £25, while those who are in need of bulls to head the herds kept for breeding beef animals, with no pretensions to extra dairy qualities, will pay anywhere from £100 up. Here, good bulls, with milking ancestors, can be sold with difficulty for from $50 to $100, while good bulls for the breeding of high-class feeding animals, are being sold every day for from $300 up, and this is not a good year. There must be a reason for this; perhaps it is to be found in the statement of an officer of the Dairyman's Association, "that the average dairy cow in Canada does not pay." If the average cow does not pay, then the whole of them are kept at a loss, or they lose money as a whole.

If there is not a great profit in money from dairying, it is poor business. There is a great loss in hard labor amounting, in most cases, to drudgery on the part of both the women and the men of the farm, not to say anything of the girls and boys being too often worked beyond their strength.

Every Farm Should Have A Name

The Practicability of Having a Distinctive Name.

From the Canadian Dairyman and Farming World.

There is more in having a name for the farm than the mere sentiment of the thing. What is more cumbersome than to designate a farm as the east half of lot 12, third concession, etc.? A name, such as "Maple Grove," would be much more attractive, and intelligible. Horses, cattle, sheep, pigs, and even poultry, are frequently given names, why not the farm on which these are raised? The products of a farm, with a distinctive name, if of the right quality, would command a commercial premium after a reputation had been established, and enable the farmer to use that name as a trade mark.

In the State of Missouri, legislation has been enacted to encourage the naming of farms. It provides that on the payment of a fee of $1 to the clerk of the county court, a farmer may secure a certificate setting forth the name and location of the farm, and the name of the owner, and that when such name is properly registered it cannot be used as a designation for any other farm in the same county. Similar legislation in Ontario or any other province would be beneficial. At any rate, it could not do any harm.

Pale, Weak, Tired Women Have a True and Worthy Friend

THAT FRIEND IS

A Friend that will quickly drive away that painfully tired feeling, that will make the weak and delicate system strong and robust, and turn the wan, pale cheek into the bloom of youth, health and vigor.

HERE IS AN INSTANCE:

I have to thank PSYCHINE for my present health. Two years ago I was going into a decline. I could hardly drag myself across the floor. I could not sweep the carpet. If I went for a drive I had to lie down when I came back; if I went for a mile or two on my wheel I was too weak to lift it through the gateway, and last time I came in from having a spin I dropped utterly helpless from fatigue. My father would give me no peace until I procured PSYCHINE, knowing it was excellent for decline or weakness. I must say the results are wonderful, and people remarked my improvement. Instead of a little, pale, hollow cheeked, listless, melancholy girl, I am to-day full of life, ready for a sleigh ride, a skating match, or an evening party with anyone, and a few months ago I could not struggle to church, 40 rods from my home. I have never had the slightest cause to fear any return of the disease.

ALL RUN DOWN

Weak---Nervous---Unstrung.

Thousands get run down and become invalids before they realize anything is wrong. By permitting low vitality to develop, the way is paved for fevers, pneumonia and diphtheria. To put off makes it all the harder to get well. The time to repair the system is right now, before the damage gets any worse. The remedy is Ferrozone; it revitalizes, renews, builds up vitality that outlasts old age.

FERROZONE is a genuine invigorator that banishes weakness, and instils surplus force and vigor into every organ of the body. Ferrozone sharpens the appetite, produces rich nutritious blood, and thereby contributes that sense of buoyancy that adds so enormously to one's pleasure and usefulness in life.

For all forms of debility, weakness, lack of blood or nerve tone, sleeplessness, tiredness and exhaustion, there is no medicine so vitalizing and potent as Ferrozone. Even one trial demonstrates its rapidly and certainty of action.

To restore the energy of youth, to get back your vital stamina and reserve force, there is positively no treatment so certain as Ferrozone. You have only to try Ferrozone to know the enormous benefit it invarjably brings to all in poor health.

FERROZONE

Miss Dorothy H. Leduc of Chester gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power:—"My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a caseiady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color, and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone, and I took one tablet after meals with wonderful results. Ferrozone brought back my complexion, and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Mrs. H. G. Wilder of Dexter says:—"My daughter was not very well last Winter, and lost her strength completely when the Spring came. I gave her Ferrozone, and am glad to say it did wonders. After six boxes were used my daughter was strong, and looked the picture of health."

Gave New Strength

FERROZONE

WARNING—Beware of any substitute for Ferrozone; it alone can cure you. Sold by all druggists and dealers in medicine, only in 50c boxes containing 50 chocolate-coated tablets. By mail to any address if price is forwarded to N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston, Ont., or Hartford, Conn., U.S.A.

Mr. H Reid, an old resident of our neighbourhood, is moving to 118 James street, Peterborough. Mr. Reid has the best wishes of all his friends in this vicinity.

Mr. W D Ruttle is engaged for the summer with the Cement Company at its works in Otonabee.

We welcome Miss Lizzie Perry back to our neighbourhood and hope she will succeed in her new undertaking.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. W Dickson is confined to the house with a severe cold. We hope he will soon be around again.

A MEDICINE FOR SPRING

Do Not Dose With Purgatives—A Tonic Is All People Need.

Not exactly sick—but not feeling quite well. That's the way most people feel in the Spring. Easily tired, appetite variable, sometimes headaches and a feeling of depression. Perhaps pimples or eruptions appear, or there may be twinges of rheumatism or neuralgia. Any of these indicate that the blood is out of order; that the indoor life of winter has left its mark upon you and may easily develop into more serious trouble. Don't dose yourself as many people foolishly do with purgatives in the hope that you can put your blood right. Purgatives gallop through the system and weaken instead of giving strength. What you need in spring is a tonic medicine that will make new, rich blood, build up the weakened nerves, and thus give you new health and strength. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the one medicine that can do this speedily, safely and surely. Every dose of this medicine makes new, rich, red blood, strengthens the appetite, clears the skin, and makes tired depressed men and women, bright, active and strong. Mr. Harry Huggins, Oshawa, Ont., says:—"I don't think there is anything equal to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a cure for nervousness, indigestion and a run down condition of the blood. For some time I was a great sufferer from these troubles. I tried several remedies but nothing helped me until I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Before taking them I felt like an old man, but by the time I had taken four boxes my strength had returned, my appetite improved, my nerves were steady and I was feeling a renewed man."

If you need a medicine this spring—and most people do—try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and see how speedily they will make you feel like a new person. Sold by all the medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

HE HAS DO DESIRE TO HURRY

But Premier Whitney Desires to Finish Session Early.

ELECTION DATE NOT FIXED

Statement In Legislature Yesterday—Senator Kerr Gets Retort Courteous—Redistribution of the Hurons—Adam Beck Attempts to Justify Power Commission—Prison Reform Proposals Discussed.

Toronto, April 3.—Hon. Mr. Whitney, the Prime Minister, will announce the date of the forthcoming provincial elections from his position in the House, if the date is determined before the Legislature prorogues. He made the announcement at the opening of the House yesterday, and followed it with a caustic reference to the reported comments of Senator J. K. Kerr, whom he characterized as "a running footman to the carriage of James Conmee," on the position of the Legislature on Provincial Rights. "I see," said Mr. Whitney, "that he has made ducks and drakes of my reputation as an authority on constitutional law. I am fully cognizant that my knowledge of constitutional law is infinitely less than the knowledge of unconstitutional practices possessed by the distinguished Senator."

Mr. C. M. Bowman (North Bruce) laid upon the table the minority report of the redistribution committee. "It dissents," he observed briefly, "from the report of the majority and recommends that the schedules attached be adopted."

Hon. Mr. Whitney observed that the action was irregular and out of order. The minority report should have been moved in committee. In the matter of redistribution, however, he was anxious that every reasonable suggestion should be heard, and accordingly asked that it be referred for full consideration to the committee of the whole House to whom the bill had been referred.

The report of the Liberal minority on the redistribution committee recommended the following arrangement of the Hurons:

North—East and West Wawanosh, Morris, Grey, Howick, Turnberry, and Wingham townships; Brussels, Wroxeter and Blythe villages.

The Liberals accepted the arrangement in Brant and York Counties, but recommended that the ridings in Middlesex, Essex, Toronto and Peterboro be left as they were. The same recommendation was made with reference to Brockville, Cardwell, Peel, Ottawa, Leeds and West Northumberland.

The redistribution of New Ontario, so as to afford increased representation was accepted.

"Lest there should be any misapprehension," said Hon. Mr. Whitney before the orders of the day were called, "I want to put to rest the rumor that we are rushing business in a hurry to get through and hold an election on May 28. Nothing is further from our thoughts. If the date of the election is determined before the House adjourns I shall take it upon myself to formally announce the date in the House. As soon as the date is determined by the Cabinet it will be made known to all at the same time. I am aware that in adopting this course we are establishing a precedent, but it will not be the first good precedent that has been created by this Government. I am aware that this course is not followed at Ottawa, but I trust good example will tell in time.

"In suggesting Tuesday for winding up the session I desired to cause the members to get at the work remaining. I have not recently been apprehensive of any member's health suffering from overwork."

Mr. Studholme—"Hear, hear."

"The municipalities," continued the Prime Minister, "were making arrangements for their bills, some of them after the middle of next week. I foresaw if someone did not wake up we would sit here till July 1. Outside of the redistribution measure there is not enough on the order paper to keep the House one busy day.

"One thing more," added Mr. Whitney, "I see that a certain Senator before the committee at Ottawa on the Ontario & Michigan Co. bill yesterday made ducks and drakes of my reputation as an authority on constitutional law. The Senator in question is one of peculiar proclivities and is known as J. K. Kerr. This gentleman objected to paying any attention to a resolution from this Legislature and said, as reported: 'I have yet to hear of Mr. Whitney proving an authority on Provincial Rights or anything else.'

"Of course, I deemed myself duly crushed," observed Mr. Whitney amid laughter. "But I shall endeavor to survive. This Senator is best known as the running footman to the carriage of James Conmee. (Laughter and applause.) He is the individual, the House will remember, who carried around the fake resignation to enable Mr. Conmee to keep the public in uncertainty as to whether or not he was a member of this House. Under the circumstances I realize that my knowledge of constitutional law is much less than the knowledge of unconstitutional practice possessed by this distinguished Senator." (Government applause.)

Mr. C. N. Smith (Sault) referring to the question of [illegible] the organization of the voters' lists in unorganized sections had only started two or three weeks ago. There was, he said, a rumor that the Government would not hold the elections in the newly-created constituencies until after the general election elsewhere.

Mr. Whitney replied that he was satisfied that the Government would act in a proper and desirable way in this, as in other matters.

In moving the second reading of the bill providing for the development of water power on Dog Lake, Hon. Adam Beck stated that it was part of the Government's policy to not only supply cheap power to the people of the Province of Ontario, but that the water powers of the province should be presented to the people.

"We hope to be able to-morrow to convince those people that our estimates are absolutely correct," continued Mr. Beck. He stated that details were being carefully worked out.

"We have $9 power instead of $12 power; we have 14-cent copper instead of 26-cent copper. Fortune is with us, the gods are with us and the blessing is with the men who are working on earnestly and honestly. The people of this province believe in this undertaking."

Mr. Beck stated that the estimates which would not be submitted would be final until tenders were received which would convince the Government that the policy could be carried out. The tenders would have to be endorsed by approved guarantee companies and the Government and municipalities secured against all liability.

Hon. Frank Cochrane pointed out that the proposition with reference to Dog Lake was to have a dam of much larger proportions than was formerly intended so that all interests would be served and a more valuable water-power below Dog Lake protected.

The evening sitting was devoted to a further discussion of Hon. Mr. Hanna's prison reform resolution.

BIG BLAZE IN LONDON.

London, April 3.—Fire last night destroyed the building and contents of the Hobbs Plate and Stained Glass Manufacturing Co., including the mirror plant of the Canada Furniture Co., and a portion of the stock of the Western Wire and Nail Works, in all of which companies T. Hobbs is largely interested.

The loss is estimated at $300,000, with insurance about $240,000.

The fire broke out at 6.20 p.m., apparently at the bottom of an elevator shaft, where a considerable quantity of straw is said to have been. The cause of the outbreak is not known. The building is situated near the Grand Trunk depot, and across from the Tecumseh House.

When the fire department reached the spot the flames were in full possession, and nothing could be done to save the building, which was of irregular construction from one to three storeys.

Falling bricks injured Firemen Ferguson and Haylock, but not seriously. Debris, which fell across the railway tracks, forced the Grand Trunk to send trains around by Port Stanley.

Safe Crackers Get $5,480.

Muskegee, Okla., April 3. Robbers blew open the safe of the Bank of Mounds, at Mounds, Okla., 50 miles west of here yesterday and obtained $5,480 in currency and silver and escaped. Posses are in pursuit.

A Serious Charge.

Brantford, April 3.—William Dyer, a colored man employed at local stables, is under arrest here, charged with criminal assault on Sadie Bedford, a 10-year-old colored girl, niece of the prisoner.

Bad Fire at Ingersoll.

Ingersoll, April 3.—The Manchester Cereal Co.'s factory was destroyed by fire here at 9.30 last night. The loss is about $28,000, of which $17,000 is on the building.

Evelyn's Case Monday.

New York, April 3.—The suit of Evelyn Thaw for the annulment of her marriage to Harry Thaw will come up in the Supreme Court on Monday next.

Fire at Marmora.

Marmora, April 3.—Gladney McDonnell's general store was burned down here yesterday morning.

Disposal Of Winter Garments

Proper Care Should be Exercised When Storing Them Away.

From the Canadian Dairyman and Farming World.

Moths are most active in April, May and June, so it is wisdom to clean and pack away all woolens and furs as soon as they are taken off for the season, before the moths have an opportunity to deposit their eggs. Never put soiled articles into the store room, or chest, for these busy little creatures are sure to find them fast. Garments that can not be washed, can be sponged or cleaned with gasoline. Furs or feathers are still more attractive than spiled spots, and are safest when tied up in cotton bags.

Suits, overcoats and cloaks should be closely inspected before they are hung away. Turn the pockets inside out to remove all dust and lint; whisk the garments vigorously, sponge out all spots, press neatly, then see that all buttons and loops are secure, so that the articles may be in perfect readiness for the wearer when needed in the fall. Use a patent hanger to keep them in shape, and cover with cotton bags made for the purpose, drawing the strings securely, so that no moths may find their way inside. Blankets, shawls and underwear are safe if put into cedar chests, but an ordinary trunk will do, if one of the many preventives for insects is placed inside.

See that all underwear and hosiery are neatly mended; that which is unfit for next season's use, may be cut up into cleaning cloths, mops, or otherwise disposed of, but should not be allowed to hang about, taking up valuable room, and inviting moths and Buffalo bugs. Woolen gowns that can not be washed, should be thoroughly aired, brushed, and all spots removed. It is better to fold these than hang them, especially the skirts, as they lose their shape when stretched upon hangers for a long time.

Be sure that the bottom of the skirts are cleaned and the binding repaired, before packing them away. Gowns that are to be made over for the next season, should be ripped, washed and pressed, ready for the shears. In this way one economizes bureau or chest room. Inspect the winter woolens, once or twice during the summer. It is a wise plan to hang them out in a strong wind at such times, as it keeps them sweet, and may remove the one pest that has settled in the folds. Buffalo bugs, especially, make rapid work, when once they begin their labors.

SPRING HAS BROKEN AT CLYDESDALE

Correspondent Writes of the People's Doings.

Examiner Special.

Clydesdale, March 30.—Spring has made its appearance again, which is not to be regretted by many who are looking forward to better times.

The roads are in a very poor condition.

Mr. Jas. Mahoney, the village merchant, has sold his property to Mr. Bart. Colin. Mr. Mahoney will be much missed by the public.

Mr. Maurice Hobbins is working at Mr. Thos. Mahoney's.

Mrs. Jas. Trotter, we are glad to say, is improving very rapidly.

Mr. Ed. Huffman was the guest of Mr. Walter Gerrard on Sunday last.

Mr. E. McGee and Miss N. Metcalfe were the guests of Miss Marion McPherson Sunday last.

Messrs. Fred Bullied, F. Rimington, J. Copley and L. Storey attended the Liberal convention at Norwood.

Mr. Ab. Henry is working at Mr. F. Bullied's.

Mr. Wm. Martin gave a small party last week.

Mrs. Allan Caldwell is visiting with friends in Peterborough.

The 17th of March was celebrated at Mr. Ed. Cooley's and there was an excellent time.

The crows have again put in an appearance, but few, if any, robins have been seen.

Mr. Will Eddy was the guest of Mr. Jas. Trotter on Sunday.

Mrs. M. Hobbins was the guest of Mr. Mick Cleary last Sunday.

Students on Strike.

New York, April 3.—The entire student body of New York University went on strike yesterday and refused to attend their recitations to voice a protest against the suspension of Alfred Young, president of the junior class.

Young's suspension was the result of the hazing of Henry Bloch, a freshman, who was ducked in the campus fountain Wednesday. Bloch has been unpopular and it is said that some of the students have asked his father to take him out of the university.

Standard Weight For Bread.

Toronto, April 3.—Ordinary bread must be a standard weight of one and a half pounds, according to the decision of the bread committee of the Legislature, which concluded its work yesterday.

Fancy loaves may be one and one and a quarter pounds, but must have a label showing the weight, baker, and the fact that it is fancy.

The inspection will be at the factory or bakery, and in the shop when the bread is sent out of town.

Croup

When a child wakes up in the middle of the night with a severe attack of croup as frequently happens, no time should be lost in experimenting with remedies of a doubtful value. Prompt action is often necessary to save life.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

has never been known to fail in any case and it has been in use for over one-third of a century. There is none better. It can be depended upon. Why experiment? It is pleasant to take and contains no harmful drug. Price, 25 cents; large size, 50 cents.

FATAL FIRE IN NEW YORK.

Three Dead In Tenement Blaze and Fifteen Injured.

New York, April 3.—Three persons were killed, 15 injured, some seriously, and the lives of nearly a hundred persons were endangered by fire in a five-storey tenement house at No. 44 Hester street, early yesterday. The dead are: Berel Weinstein, his wife Anna, and their one-year-old son. They were suffocated in their apartments on the fifth floor.

That more lives were not lost was largely due to the prompt action of three policemen, who seeing flames in the hall, rushed through the building and aroused 16 sleeping families. By that time the stairways were a mass of flames, and the only means of exit was by the fire escapes. In their attempt to escape scores of scantily-clad men, women and children became wedged in solid masses on the fire escapes. There they stood helpless, unable to extricate themselves from the crush, and blocking the way of those who had not yet succeeded in getting out of the building. This was the situation when the firemen arrived, and began to run up ladders to take down the panic-stricken fugitives. In the meantime the flames had been constantly spreading, and the terror among many at windows and on the fire escapes had passed the point of self-restraint. While firemen on ladders and others on the ground were calling out to them that there was no danger, and that help soon would reach them, they began, one by one, to jump from the windows. David Millar sprang from a fourth storey window and sustained injuries which probably will cause his death. Others who jumped from windows on the second and third floors have broken limbs and were internally injured.

Weinstein and his wife and baby were found lying dead in their home on the top floor of the building after the flames had been extinguished. Apparently they had been overcome by smoke while trying to reach the stairway. The property loss is small.

A DESPERATE OPERATION.

Man's Leg Amputated on Railway With Pocket-Knife.

St. Louis, April 3.—While pinioned under the wreckage following a collision between a freight and a Burlington passenger train at Spanish Lake, near here, yesterday, J. A. McKittrick suffered the amputation of his leg with a pocket-knife in order to avoid death from the scalding steam. Rev. R. C. Allen of Grove City performed the operation at the urgent request of the prisoner, who was later brought to a hospital here, where it is said he will recover. Four others were injured in the wreck.

McKittrick's left leg was caught under the demolished cars and scalding steam from the passenger locomotive enveloped him in a cloud. The prisoner pulled out his pocket-knife and handing it to Rev. Mr. Allen, who, with others, was trying to drag him free, commanded the minister to cut off the crushed leg and save him from being scalded to death.

Rev. Mr. Allen began cutting at the tendons, but the knife was dull, and McKittrick suffered intense agony.

"Throw it away and get an axe," he finally cried. However, Mr. Allen desperately continued, and in a few minutes had severed the tendons and McKittrick was carried into a car.

Mrs. Emma Renner, a trained nurse, who was a passenger, made a tourniquet of her veil, and staunched the flow of blood, and then gave McKittrick morphine and strychnine to ease the pain and stimulate the heart action, until he reached the hospital in St. Louis.

SAY THEY ARE SLAVES.

Hindu Publication Protests Against Bars to Immigration.

Vancouver, April 3.—The initial number of a free Hindustan publication, under the auspices of the local Hindus, has appeared. Its avowed object is to preach the doctrine of political, social and religious freedom. The first number deals largely with immigration bars to the Dominion.

"To-day our national life is at stake; British Government in India has already adopted all possible repressive measures to crush our national aspirations, and a new measure is going to be adopted which will lead our national life to stagnation. We are slaves in our country and have no voice in the government of our country. Far from having any representation of our own, we are treated worse than the cats and dogs of Englishmen in British colonies."

"We ask authorities of British Government to use discretion about our interests. Really the foundation of the British Empire is undermined on the very day when a legislative body unjustly supports measures owing to which natives of Hindustan cannot go freely to other parts of the Empire. We fear another act of injustice may bring news of an upheaval which will rend the Indian empire.

JUSTIFIES THE VERDICT.

Brampton, April 3.—Commutation of the sentence of death passed on John Tearse at Brampton will be applied for at once by his counsel. It is understood the crown authorities will support the application.

Tearse wept a good deal yesterday and complained that "them chaps had their minds made up before they went into the jury room."

While Tearse is the fifth person convicted in Peel County, none have been hanged.

R. B. Ashley, foreman of the jury, makes the following statement:

"We approached the consideration of the question with perfectly open minds anxious to do our sworn duty to the prisoner and to society. Every particle of evidence was weighed as carefully as we were able, without prejudice to the prisoner. From the moment the jury was called until a verdict was rendered no disparaging remarks were made about the prisoner. In fact, there was a strong feeling of sympathy for him, but we failed to be convinced that he was insane in the meaning of the law at the time the murder was committed."

NEWAYGO—CANADIAN NORTHERN QUEBEC RAILWAY

GRAND "NEWAYGO" LIMERICK

$3,650 GIVEN AWAY IN PRIZES

THE GREATEST LIMERICK EVER ATTEMPTED IN CANADA

In a comparatively short period we have spent some thousands of dollars in advertising Newaygo as a summer resort. In other words, we have made a present to the newspapers of this money in return for a certain amount of publicity. Our present scheme is devised with a view of securing still further publicity by sharing out a portion of our advertising fund to the public direct.

1st PRIZE Value $1,000

A beautiful 6-roomed cottage and lot, an ideal summer home, at "Newaygo," overlooking Lake St. Francis, among the Laurentians Mountains, the most popular resort within short distance of Montreal. A deed conveying this property to the prize-winner will be issued within ten days of completion of this competition.

2nd PRIZE—$100 in Gold
3rd PRIZE—$50 in Gold
and 100 Prizes of Value of $25 Each.

To be awarded by independent judges, with impartiality and strict adherence to every rule of fairness and justice for each competitor, every line being read and carefully considered.

Judges—MR. H. CARTIER, Mgr. Quebec Bank.
MR. C. S. MILLS, of The Montreal Daily Star.
MR. C. NEVILLE, Mgr. Laurentian Land Co.

The above prizes will be given to the competitors who, according to the decision of the judges, fill in the last line of the Limerick in the best way. No matter how small the number of entries received, the prizes will be paid in full.

To help competitors as much as possible, we give a list of a few of the words that rhyme.

Assign.	Dine	Interline	Pine	Sign
Brine,	Divine	Leonine	Porcupine	Spine
Combine	Enshrine	Line	Recline	Sunshine
Confine	Entwine	Moonshine	Repine	Superfine
Decline	Fine	Nine	Refine	Twine
Design	Incline	Outshine	Shine	Underline
			Shrine	Wine

Common sense is all that is required to fill in the line, and the uneducated person is just as likely to succeed as the university scholar, since all stand an equal chance of winning these prizes. Therefore, do not put off till to-morrow what you can do to-day, the first thought being frequently the best, and immediately that you think of a suitable line, send it to the address given below.

ALL YOU HAVE TO DO

Is to fill out, cut and forward the coupon, together with 10 cts. in silver or postal note to the Laurentian Land Co., Montreal Street Railway Building, Montreal, Que. The word "Limerick" must be written on the top of the left hand corner of the envelope.

ENTRY COUPON—No. 56

Here is the unfinished Limerick to which the last line should be added:

"Summer time at the sea shore for mine,"
But that's not in everyone's line,
If good health you would know,
To "Newaygo" you'll go.

Please find enclosed ten cents for entrance fee to "Newaygo" Limerick. I agree to accept the judges' decision as final and enter the competition on that distinct understanding.

Name .....

Address .....

No member of the firm or employe will be allowed to compete. Any number of solutions may be sent, written on plain paper, and accompanied by either separate postal notes or one for the whole amount. It is particularly desired that all solutions be sent in as early as possible, owing to the enormous amount of work entailed.

One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion;
One ounce Compound Salsatone;
Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla;
Mix, and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime, drinking plenty of water.

The above prescription has been found invaluable in the treatment of kidney, bladder and urinary troubles, and diseases arising therefrom, such as rheumatism, sciatica, lame back and lumbago, and we feel that the public are entitled to particulars concerning it.

A prominent physician states that the excellent results that have been obtained from the use of the mixture are due to its direct action upon the kidneys, assisting them in their work of filtering all poisonous waste matter and acids from the blood and expelling same in the urine, and at the same time restoring the kidneys to a healthy condition.

He further states that anyone suffering from afflictions of this nature will find it to be very beneficial, and suggests that it be given a trial.

WRIT AGAINST POWER COMPANY

DEFENCE HAS BEEN FILED

Examiner Special.

Havelock, April 3.—In 1903, the Havelock Electric Light Company was formed. Before this time the streets in Havelock were as dark as they could bbe and the shops and dwellings poorly lighted. The men that composed the first electric light company were Dr. Holdcroft, J. W. Bryans, A. Rose, Thos. Curtis and Wm. Mathesord. These men did not involve any one else in the company at first, but purchased the property with their own money. When stock was issued it was decided to give these five men two hundred shares of stock in payment for value of property purchased by them to start the company.

A writ twas issued in the High Court of Justice on Monday against Alex. Rose, Dr. Holdcroft and the Havelock Electric Light and Power Company, Limited, by Messrs. Thos. Bennett and Rich. P. Nolan, who claim on behalf of themselves and other stock holders of the defendant company, other than the individual ddefendants, that two hundred shares claimed by the individual defendants to have been issued to them or their assigns in or about the year 1904, and now held by the said individual defendants or their appointees, were so issued to them or their appointees when the directors of the company without value and without the proper sanction and approval of 'other shareholders of the company, and that the issue thereof should be annulled and the defendants be restrained from transferring or permitting the transfer by the individual defendants, of any such shares.

A defence to the above writ was entered on Tuesday by Messrs. Rose and Holdcroft and W Fairman, as the president of the company, and the case will probably come up for hearing at the Spring Assizes in Peterbborough.

Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck & Kerr of Peterborough, are solicitors for the plaintiff, and Hall, Medd & Davidson, of Peterborough, for the defendants.

The case arises from the dissatisfaction of a number of the shareholders in the local company, who claim that the two hundred shares alloted by the original five provisional directors of the company, Messrs. Rose, Holderoft, Mathison, Bryans and Curtis to themselves in payment for the site of the company's power plant at Burnt Dams, which they valued at $5,000, should be annuled and set aside as being far in excess of the proper amount of stock that should have been issued for such purpose.

Since the company was formed Dr. Holderoft has purchased Messrs. Bryans' and Curtiss' allotment of the two hundred shares issued and Rose has purchased Mr. Mathison's share.

The case, if it comes to an issue, will bbe intensely interesting to the large number of shareholders in town and to the friends of both plaintiff and defendants, as a large amount of the stock in question has been sold to other parties during the year.

The Rev. Charles Hutchinson, rector of Rayne, near Braintree, Essex, has arranged a series of smoking concerts for the entertainment of his parishioners, at which beer and tobacco are provided free for all men, and a popular musical programme is rendered. The concerts are given in the church schoolroom, and are attended practically by all the men in the village.

During the last few days a number of doubloons and other coins have been found washed up by the tide at Loe Bay, Cornwall. The coins are in a good state of preservation, and look as if they had just come from the Mint. They bear the date 1791. Hundreds of lads may daily be seen turning over the sand with shovels in order to find the golden pieces.

In Start Bay, Thomas Stone, an aged fisherman, of Beesands, near Dartmouth, Devonshire, was drowned the other day, within sight of his daughterr, who was watching his movements from the shore through a telescope. Stone's boat was caught by a sudden squall and sank almost immediately.

A remarkable piece of good fortune has come to a Clacton lady, who last summer purchased an old and dilapidated piano at a local sale. Failing to get any music out of the instrument, her son-in-law took it to pieces a few days ago, and found hidden among the wires notes to the value of overr £1,000.

Judgment was given for eightpence and costs at Bloomsbury county court the other day, when Mary Meade, a cook, who had called on a prospective mistress at Chelsea on the condition that her omnibus fare both ways was paid, sued for the amount of the fares.

The first British trawler sold to the Japanese, the Hene Castle, left Swansea Docks recently, with a crew of ten, bound for Nagasaki. She will make the entire journey on her own steam, and will take about three months on the voyage of 12,000 miles.

SCOTLAND

The Duke of Argyll has been searching in his family archives, and has been rewarded by some interesting finds. Among them are letters written by his great-grandmother, the brilliant Duchess of Argyll, whose maiden name was Elizabeth Gunning, and by Augusta, Duchess of Brunswick, sister of George III., Lady Derby, daughter of the Duchess of Brunswick, and many other well-known personages who had intimate knowledge of the political and social life of the 18th century, were constant correspondents of the Inveraray Castle circle, and their letters have been carefully preserved. The duke is now editing this correspondence, which ought to add another agreeable volume to the considerable library of 18th century memoirs that has come so rapidly from the publishing press.

While on the return voyage to Glasgow on his last trip, Mr. George Barton, purser of the Anchor liner Dalmatia, caught a flying fox or tropical fruit bat when in latitude 11 degrees north and longitude 62 degrees east. How the creature found its way so far from land is not known, but it is probable it may have stowed itself away while the vessel was at port and remained hidden away until the time it was captured by the purser. On the ship's arrival at Glasgow the animal was presented to the Scottish Zoo.

After walking for several days a boy named Pearson, belonging to Barrow, Lanes, has been taken in charge by the relieving officer of the Dunshaughlin guardians in Co. Meath. The boy, who is 13 years of age, in his story to the guardians said his father was out of work. He went out for a stroll, intending to return, but finding himself in Windermere he continued the journey to Liverpool. From there he took the boat to Dublin, paying 2s., to cross the channel. In Dublin he obtained a situation in a barber's shop, but while getting change for a sovereign for his master he was robbed of the money. He did not return to the shop, and tramping on found himself in the village of Clonee Co. Meath.

A remarkable theft has occurred near Kildysart, Co. Clare. A local cattle dealer purchased a cow at a recent fair, and drove it to a place called Grovraghan, to take it to an island on which he lived. As a very high wind was blowing, he had to leave the cow behind on a farm. When he returned three or four days later he found that the cow had been skinned. It is supposed that some person had killed and skinned the cow to sell the hide.

Cures the Kidneys and Makes Them Filter Poisons From the Blood

YOU MIX THIS YOURSELF

A leading health journal, in answering the question, "What is the best prescription to clean and purify the blood," prints in a recent issue the following:—Fluid Extract of Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

A well-known local druggist who is familiar with this prescription, states that it is harmless, being composed of simple ingredients, which can be obtained from any good prescription pharmacy.

It cleans the blood of all impurities and nourishes the blood. In just a few days the skin begins to clear of sores, boils and pimples. It puts vigour and energy into run-down, debilitated men and women. For many years Sarsaparilla alone has been considered a good blood medicine. But while it built up and made new blood, the impurities remained within and the good accomplished was only temporary. Sarsaparilla, however, when used in combination with Compound Kargon and Extract Dandelion works wonders. This combination puts the kidneys to work to filter and sift out the waste matter, uric acid and other impurities that cause disease. It makes new blood and relieves rheumatism and lame back and bladder troubles.

This prescription is better than the usual patent medicines, which are in the most part alcoholic concoctions. The ingredients cost but little and are easily mixed at home. Every man and woman here should make some up and try it if they feel their system requires a good blood medicine and tonic.

The Kargon to clean the kidneys and vitalise them so they can clean the blood, Sarsaparilla to make new rich blood, and Dandelion to tone the stomach, clean the liver and make it active and relieve constipation. Is the way the prescription acts, and so mildly and gently that one does not consider they are taking a medicine. No. 7.

SOME STATISTICS ON OATS

Choicest Seed Only Should be Procured —The Field They Should Be Grown On.

MOST PROFITABLE CROP

From the Canadian Dairyman and Farming World.

Very few are aware of the following facts:

"With the exception of the area "devoted to the production of hay "and pasture in Ontario, no other "crop is grown so extensively as "oats. The number of acres used "for the oat crop in 1900, was 2,- "398,834. The area has been increas- "ing gradually since that time, un- "til upwards of 2,700,000 acres are "used for the cultivation of the oat "crop in Ontario. This area is fully "three times as great as that used for "any other cereal grown in the pro- "vince."—Copied from the thirty-third annual report of the Ontario Agricultural College.

As such a large area of the country is sown with oats, the yield would be largely increased if more care was exercised in the selection of suitable seed. This same report shows that for the past five years some varieties of oats yield as high as 102 bushels to the acre, while others run as low as 56 bushels to the acre. Think of the benefit to our country, not only to the country, but also to the individual, if the yield of oats on this immense acreage were increased 50 per cent. It also usually follows that the larger the yield the better the sample of grain produced.

Oats in this country usually depend on the export demand for consumption of the surplus. Also large quantities of oats are used for the manufacture of oatmeal, not only for home consumption, but also for export; consequntly it is a question of great importance, and every precaution should be used when selecting seed oats to see that the oats are as free as possible from barley, wild oats and other foreign grain, as these latter grains materially affect the value of the oats when being marketed.

These who are on the lookout for seed oats should purchase only the choicest seed oats procurable. When sowing your oats do you select your best field? Stop and think what the results might be were you to sow your oats on the best field on the farm. Oats are the most profitable crop that can be grown by many farmers.

RESULTS OF PRUNING TREES

Good Crops Cannot be Grown Among Dense Limbs—Plenty of Space Needed.

TREES NEED PROPER SHAPE

From the Canadian Dairyman and Farming World.

Orchard pruning is done mostly in spring. This season is chosen, probably because of greater leisure before the land is fit to go on for seeding. Practical farmers must take advantage of the early spring.

In driving through the country, many orchards may be seen where no profitable crop can be grown, owing to the dense head of twisted, gnarled and dead limbs on the trees. These would defy the efforts of the best picker to make reasonable wages, even were he given the fruit for the picking. In such orchards, pruning is greatly needed. The farmer often decides to prune because of the better prices that he will secure for his fruit.

Having decided to prune, he hires a cheap pruner, who is handy with the saw and axe, or perhaps the farmer himself, and his hired man go to the orchard, slash right and left, and soon do a big job. Great branches are sawn off about a foot from the trunk, for it is thought that they might injure the tree too much if taken off closer. Down they come, slivering and pulling the bark off as they tear their way to the ground. No wonder that there are so many unsightly farmers' orchards, and that we hear the assertion that the orchard does not pay.

Look at another orchard pruned differently. The pruner thinks that all the twigs should be cut off to let in the light. This is very good, as far as it goes, but many of the blossom spurs are destroyed, and the trees tend to stretch their long, bare branches too far. Cutting large limbs off retards bearing for several years. Pruning should be done regularly for best results.

In many orchards, the land seems to be too valuable to furnish enough room for the trees to grow. Plenty of space should be given and the land should be kept well tilled. Prune to give the trees proper shape when bearing and to lessen the necessity for cutting off large limbs. Paint the wounds made by large branches. This reflects heat and light and prevents moisture from entering to rot the tree.

BETTER THAN SPANKING

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. 61, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child; the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

Winter in Lumber Camps.

Camp No. 7, where Mr. Power and I spent our first night in the woods, was typical of all the others—a small clearing and a group of rough loghouses on the borders of a frozen stream. First the habitation of the men, a building of considerable dimensions—some fifty feet square and calculated to house sixty men; then the stable, also of generous proportions; and finally a storehouse or two and a small office for the foreman and manager; all so buried and dishumulated under seven or eight feet of snow that only a door, an odd window or two, and a few superimposed logs here and there are visible.

It was dark when we arrived, the men were crowded about the great box-stove laughing and chatting, and the steaming bowls of pea-soup had just been placed on the long tables. Never shall I forget the delicious fragrance and savor of that wonderful soup. The boiled pork and bread which followed were equally welcome; and even the thin hot tea, flavored with molasses, seemed all that an epicure could ask. We cavilled not at battered tin mugs for the tea, nor at fingers for the pork, but filled ourselves and were thankful with the great thankfulness that comes only of ten hours in a temperature forty degrees below.

The story is told in London (Eng.) of how a question arose as to the cost of heating one of the Irish law courts. A consequential Treasury official was detailed from London to look into the matter.

When he introduced himself to the judge within whose jurisdiction the matter lay, the judge, who, by the way, frequently evinced a great scorn of red tape, smiled with suspicious blandness.

"Certainly," said his honor, "I will put you in communication with the person immediately in charge of that department."

Whereupon he scribbled a few words on a piece of paper and gave it to a messenger. In a short time an aged charwoman entered. The judge then arose and, as he left the room, said:

(From Busy Man's Magazine.)

Among archaeologists, antiquarians and even among the ordinary business men of to-day much interest is centred in the history and development of the past. From time to time, there have appeared in the columns of the newspapers, announcements from various centres that traces of the original Mound Builders have been discovered.

The history of mounds is an interesting one, has never failed to excite curiosity and to stimulate study. In an archaeological report for Ontario, Mr. David Boyle, referring to mounds, says: "There is apparently no more fascinating belief than that which attributes the construction of our American mounds to a semi-civilized and peacefully disposed race, which was ruthlessly exterminated by the savage Indian. It is a poetic belief. It affords material for homilies on man's inhumanity to man, and those who are fond of repeating the silly saying that history repeats itself, find here a new world parallel to numerous old world events. It gratifies the survivors among us who deplore the departure of the good old times, and affect to regard with deepest grief present-age degeneracy. It appeals to man's mythologic sense very powerfully; and it pleases people who are morbidly minded to picture to themselves the awful horrors that must have been inflicted on the poor, industrious and happy mound-builder whose reeking scalp was torn from his head by bloodthirsty human fiends, who also destroyed houses, farms and gardens, and drove away herds of domestic cattle.

It seems vain to explain that the mound-builders could not have had cattle, for they knew not how to temper copper, that in mechanical skill they were not superior to Indians as we know them, and that a similar statement may be made regarding them as tillers, that morally and socially they do not appear to have been a superior people, and that they did not possess at all an elevated kind of religion.

It is probable that the majority of those who entertain so much reverence for the mound-builders and corresponding regret for their disappearance will die in the faith, and, indeed, it seems a pity to deprive them of what yields so much comfort.

Even; however, some of those who agree that the mass of evidence favours acceptance of the view that Indians were the mound-builders, write and speak as if the mounds were constructed by the same tribe of Indians. There is no more reason to believe this than that all the mounds were built at the same time. Face to face, as we are, with facts accumulated mainly during the last half century, if, indeed, it would not be more correct to say during the last quarter, we conclude that American mound-makers were not of one nation, nor were they of one way of thinking, even in the construction of the tumuli.

The making of mounds, cairns and pyramids seems to be inseparable from human nature, embodying ideas of safety, strength, advantage, superiority, dignity, honour or worship, connected with the living or with the dead.

In the pyramids of Egypt we see the most marvellous examples of a proclivity which is typified in the children's game where one takes possession of a bank or sand heap, announcing that he is "king of the castle," and each of the other players is a "dirty rascal."

It is, perhaps, safe to affirm that the largest number of mounds has been made for burial purposes which were supposed to be the original motive in the construction of such earthworks, yet some of us are very much puzzled to account for the other very large number that do not appear to have had anything to do with human interments, and here, of course, are expected such as were most probably defensive entrenchments. But there are people who without much hesitation prate fluently about "beacon mounds," "sacrificial mounds," "temple mounds," "sacred mounds," and so on, as if by the book. There are only two kinds of tumuli respecting which it is sometimes possible to speak with assurance as to their purpose and one as to its appearance. The former are burial and fortification works, and the latter what is known as "effigy," respecting an animal of some kind, man, beast, or bird.

Otonabee Serpent Mound

The Busy Man's Magazine has much pleasure in presenting its readers with a picture of the Otonabee Serpent Mound, which is beautifully situated on Mosang's Point, near the mouth of the Indian River, on the north shore of Rice Lake, about ten miles east of Peterborough. This is the only mound of its character known in Canada, and has attracted widespread interest, not only from local residents, but from outside points. Mr. Boyle tells of a visit to this mound some years ago. He says the situation is one of the most commanding on the shore, the land rising with a sharp ascility to a height not less than seventy or eighty feet from the water. Mr. Boyle says, as a summer resort the situation is unsurpassed, and the laying out of a small park enclosing the Serpent Mound would add materially to the natural attraction. The interest that attaches to such work is of a general character. It extends even beyond the country in which they are found, and it would be shameful to either neglect them utterly or to let them remain in private hands. Unique as this Serpent Mound is, as far as the archaeology of Canada is concerned, there can be only one opinion with respect to its maintenance from disfigurement, and, perhaps, from demolition.

Mr. A F Hunter, M.A., in speaking of the widely-known Rice Lake Mound, says:—"I visited Serpent Mound at Mizang's Point in Otonabee Township. A brief inspection was sufficient to convince me that Mr. Boyle's identification was the true one. Its artificial origin is quite obvious, because the surface of the ground in the neighbourhood is regular and undisturbed by any glacial agency. Some questions might arise as to whether the zig-zag stretches which are equal in length were intended by the builders as the convolutions of a serpent ,or were the result of accumulations of burial. This question was soon answered satisfactorily. First, the head is broadened and the tail is narrowed and ends in a point. Second, the entire mound is easily seen to be homogenous, having all been made at one time, and therefore, not the growth of burials made at different times. So thadt every feature points to the conclusion that a serpent was the design intended to be formed. Fortunately, the mound is in a good state of preservation, and its chief features may be recognised without difficulty. The serpent appears to have been quite a common idea among the mound-building Indians. They often made use of the design in their ornaments, and there are several well-known effigy mounds. It should be added that one of the adjoining burial mounds is placed in front of the serpent so as to have the appearance of an egg, the usual accompaniment of the serpent in aboriginal representations of that animal. The serpent mound is 135 feet long. To one feature in connection with all the Rice Lake mound groups, attention is directed to the fact that they are at the important points on the watercourses. To the question who were the builders of these Rice Lake mounds ,Mr. Hunter says he can give no satisfactory answer. The only aboriginal occupants of this Province in historic times have been the Huron and Algonquin nations. If the mounds were the work of either, it is more probable that they were made by the pre-historic Algonquins amongst whom we may look for traces of the Mound-Builders, either as being direct descendants or as incorporating remnants of that lost race. In the Rice Lake region, I saw indubitable proof that there had lived in this Province aborigines who attempted construction of mounds having other shapes than the ordinary conical burial mounds or than earth-work fortifications.

As to the mound at Mizang's Point, Otonabee Township, taking the form of a serpent it seems that a phenomena of the lower civilization was the spectacle of a man worshipping a beast. For various motives, the inferior animals, says a well known authority, have become objects of veneration, ranking among the most important in the lower ranges of religion. Serpents held a prominent place in the religions of the world, as the incarnations, shrines or symbols of high deities. When it comes to be closely examined, the worship of the serpent does not seem so strange as it might, at first sight, appear. As was well remarked by an ancient author, the serpent alone of all animals, without legs or arms or any of the usual appliances for locomotion, still moves with singular celerity, and he might have added — grace, for no one who has watched a serpent slowly progressing over the ground with his head erect and his body following apparently without exertion, can fail to be struck with the peculiar beauty of the motion. There is no jerk, no reflex motion, as in all other animals, even fishes, but a continual progression in the most graceful curves. The general form, too, is full of elegance, and their colours varied, and sometimes very beautiful, and their eyes bright and piercing. Then, too, the serpent can exist for an indefinite time without food or apparent hunger. He periodically casts his skin, and as the ancients fabled, by that process renewed his youth. Add to this his longevity, which, though not so great as was often supposed, is still sufficient to make superstitions forget how long an individual may have been reverenced in order that they may ascribe to him immortality.

RAILWAY CONSTRUCTION IN CANADA FOR PAST YEAR

The completion of this line will afford the direct connection with the city of Edmonton. Grain from the northern portion of Saskatchewan will also be shipped over this line, instead of being forwarded over the longer route via the Pheasant Hills branch.

Steel will be laid on the line running west from Moose Jaw. During last season this line was completed to Texford, and it is the expectation of the company that this year an additional fifty miles will be completed. Grade revision work will be carried on between Swift Current and Medicine Hat, the work as far as Swift Current having been completed last year. West of the mountains the task of replacing the wooden bridges with steel structures will be undertaken. The piers and abutments of these structures will be of concrete, and when possible concrete arches will be built. Similar bridge work will be done on the old Columbia and Western line, in southern British Columbia, now a part of the Canadian Pacific system, all wooden bridges being replaced with steel and concrete. Work will be done on the great steel bridge at Lethbridge, which is to be one of the most important structures of its kind in the world.

CANADIAN NORTHERN

No announcement has as yet been made by the Canadian Northern regarding the work to be undertaken by that company this year. Even if no new contracts should be entered into, a large force of men would still be required to do the ballasting, surfacing, etc., which remains to be done on the new lines which were constructed last season, as well as on the older lines of the company which must be improved. The line from Brandon to Regina was completed in the autumn of last season, and is now being operated by the construction department, and ballasting operations will be carried forward on this line throughout the summer. A number of water tanks will be built, a few some bridge work remains to be done. The line into Russell was completed during the month of January, and this branch is also being operated by the construction department. Twenty-five miles of new track were laid, the road being extended from Rossburn, and on this, work will be continued this year. The plans of the company contemplate the extension of this line much farther to the northwest, and it is believed that work on the extension will be done this season.

The steel on the line to Hudson Bay will be carried forward some distance during the year. During 1907 the track was laid into Pas mission eighty-eight miles from Etteramit, and on this portion of the line the usual surfacing and blasting gangs will be employed. The work of track straightening is still to be done, which will occupy a force of men for a considerable time.

On several branches grading was done during 1907, but no steel laid, and this work will necessarily be done during the coming summer. A branch line from Saskatoon in the direction of Goose lake and the great tract of wheat bearing land in that vicinity was begun, and the grading was completed for a distance of twenty-five miles .This steel will be laid, and further construction work is regarded as a certainty during the coming summer. The company will also continue the work on the Dalmeny-Carlton branch. On this line the dump was built for 25 miles last year, and the steel will probably be laid during the summer of 1908. The further continuance of the line at the present time is considered very uncertain.

The line running to Oak Point on the east shore of Lake Manitoba, will be extended, according to the plans of the company. Fifteen miles were opened up for construction, and during last season the grading was done for about three miles. The company is pursuing an energetic policy in construction work on the west side of the lake. On the line running northwest track was laid last year, and there were seventeen miles under operation previously.

On the line from Regina to Prince Albert it will be necessary to do much work in the way of betterment. Last season a new dump was built in one place to a length of eight and one-half miles .This dump is now ready for the steel.

The entire new work of the C.N.R. during last season amounted to 270 miles, and it is possible that work to the same extent may be undertaken this year. In any case, there is an immense amount to be done on the way of betterments of existing tracks and the completion of the lines which were originated last year.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

On the Grand Trunk Pacific steel will be laid between Winnipeg and Portage for a distance of about forty-five miles, thus completing the line between these two points. The gap in the track will be between the present western terminus of the track in the Touchwood hills and the present eastern terminus of the portion of the line running east from Saskatoon will be closed, giving a connected line from Winnipeg to Saskatoon over which ballasting trains can be operated at once. All of this work will be done as soon as the season opens for earth work and very little time will be required for its completion . Large forces of men are now engaged in tracklaying west of the Touchwood hills.

From Saskatoon to Edmonton

Officials of the company state that there is no reason to doubt tha tbe line will be completed between Saskatoon and Edmonton during the current year. The great impediment in the way of its completion is the construction of the Battle river bridge. Were it not for this bridge there could be no doubt regarding the construction of the completed line, since one hundred and fifty days will lay all the track. Work on the Battle river bridge cannot, however, be well begun until the line of rail has reached that point from Saskatoon, a distance of two hundred and four miles. Three to four months will be required to complete the permanent bridge over the river. Should it appear that in view of the length of time required for the construction of the bridge there is danger that the line will not be complete into Edmonton this year, the track-laying machines will begin work from the Edmonton end and will push on the track-laying from the Clover Bar bridge eastward.

Edmonton and West

On the Grand Trunk Pacific west from Edmonton, the work will be done under the direction of Foley, Welsh and Stewart, contractors for the construction of the dump for a distance of one hundred and twenty-six miles. The same contractors will build the dump for a distance of six miles east from Edmonton to the big bridge at Clover Bar. Large forces of men will be engaged with the usual working in both direction from the city. On the Pacific coast, Foley, Welsh and Stewart will also probably be engaged in building the line from Prince Rupert to a point one hundred miles distant.

This section is an interesting one, owing to the fact that the largest portion of it is along the shor of the ocean and the shore of the Skeena river. Sixty miles of the line is of this nature, and vessels with supplies can reach the point of operation at any time. Much of the work done is heavy rock cutting along the shore of the ocean and the river, but it is expected that the work involved could be completed in a comparatively short time. The value of the contract is understood to be in the neighbourhood of $7,000,000.

East of the city J. D. McArthur will be engaged in the completion of his contract for the construction of two hundred and forty-seven miles of the National Transcontinental, and Foley Bros. and Larson will probably complete the construction of a line two hundred miles long, running from the head of the lakes in a northwesterly direction to the main line of the National Transcontinental. Almost 5,000 men are engaged in the work of the contract of J. D. McArthur at the present time and during the summer there will be about 10,000 engaged.

ON THE GREAT NORTHERN

On the Great Northern, construction and betterment work was carried on last season in Manitoba on the lines running from Neche, N.D., to Portage, from Walhalla to Mordon, and from St. John, N.D., to Brandon. No announcement has as yet been made regarding any new work to be undertaken by the company, it is understood, however, that a number of new lines will be built in this Province this year. The total mileage so far constructed amounts to one hundred and seventy-three miles, as follows: Neche to Portage, seventy-eight miles; Walhalla to Mordon, twenty-two miles; St. John to Brandon, seventy-three miles.

In the far west, the Great Northern is gradually extending its lines in Southern British Columbia, and is now operating a train to Keremeos. This line will be pushed westward along the banks of the Similkameen river this season, and the Canadian cities of the coast will without doubt be eventually reached by this route.

Dr. Browett's Ophthalmometers

In estimating the degree and kind of astigmatism, this eye instrument is most valuable and accurate. Dr. Browett has, during the past fifteen years, taught opticians the use of five different kinds of ophthalmometers, all of which were good instruments, but the one he now uses is conceded to be the most exact and the finest instrument made for the detection and estimation of astigmatism, and the measurements of the curvatures of the cornea of the eye. This and other instruments are used for many examinations daily at our office. We supply modern eye glasses at reasonable prices.

Story of the Death

Mr. Elgin Weaver Passed Away Same Day He Arrived From Camp. Residents In Chandos State He Was A Drinker—Wife Was Industrious

A Peterborough Man Who Has Been Nominated For Mayor Of Milwaukee City

Peterborough men are coming to the front in Uncle Sam's domains, as well as in Canada! Among these is Mr. Thomas J. Pringle, a former Peterborough resident and a cousin of Mr. James Swanson, East City, who has recently been nominated for mayor of Milwaukee on the Republican ticket. Mr. Swanson's son, James, is working for Mr. Pringle in that city. The Evening Wisconsin, of Milwaukee, of March 25th, contains an excellent cut of Mr. Pringle, in connection with the account of the nomination.

Thomas J. Pringle has been nominated for mayor on the Republican ticket by a plurality estimated at about 1,500 over John T. Kelly. Louis A. Dahlman was third in the race, polling less than half as many votes as Kelly.

Snow Plough Men Wanted An Increase This Year But The Board Could Not See It At All

At last night's meeting of the Board of Works a petition was read from the men who had the contract for snow-loving, asking for an increase on the amount of their contracts this year owing to the severity of the weather and the high price of feed. The Board lost no time in turning down the request.

Ald. Bradburn pointed out that to do so would be to treat very unfairly the others who had tendered and whose figures might have been just as low as an increase would make the prices of those who had received the contract, and the other aldermen agreed.

The petition was as follows:

Gentlemen,—We, the contractors for snow-plowing during the past season, found that owing to the very high cost of horse feed, we have not been able to earn even a fair wage for our maintenance, and do beg to ask that you will take into your generous consideration our request for a small increase in the amount of our several contracts.

We make this request, believing you will see the fairness of it, and that your favourable consideration and decision accordingly will have the approval of the ratepayers generally, whom we have tried to serve to the best of our several abilities.

Signed,—

S. Harper, Robt. Nicholls, Edgar Chard, Luke Moloney, R. Revoy, Tim. Coughlin.

The Commission Recommends A Flagman For Reid St. Crossing

The Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada has made recommendations in several of the matters that were heard before it at its recent sittings in this city, and these were explained by the City Solicitor at last night's meeting of the Board of Works.

In the first place the Commissioners have decided to recommend that the city's request for permission to cross the G. T. R. tracks with the extension of George street, is to be granted, the city and company each to pay one-half of the cost of the crossing, while the question of protection is left in abeyance for the present. The recommendation is considered satisfactory by the Board of Works.

This is not, however, true for the case of protection for the G. T. R.'s crossing at Reid street, in which the Commissioners have recommended that a flagman be stationed there daily between the hours of 6 a.m. and 7 p.m., the company to pay two-thirds of the cost and the city the remainder. The Commissioners think the city should pay part of the cost because of the fact that the William Hamilton Company has erected buildings close to the track since the line was laid, thus increasing the danger.

The subject of paying part of the cost was discussed by the Board, and it was decided to have the City Solicitor write the Commissioners protesting against the city having to pay anything for protection at that point.

Orders have not been issued by the Commissioners in the matter.

Romaine Street Sewer Is On Its Bad Behaviour Again

That white elephant, the Romaine street sewer, is on its bad behaviour again, and Street Commissioner Evans has been at work the last few days endeavouring to clear it of the quicksand which has made its way into the pipes. The matter came up at the meeting of the Board of Works last night, and the chairman and members were decidedly pessimistic as to the future of that famous piece of work. Ald. Phelan expressed the opinion that it would never operate properly and the suggestion was made that a new sewer be built south on Aylmer street.

The trouble is that the people who have property along the sewer have been assessed for it and the debentures were sold yesterday. The sewer will have to be paid for, even if it will never be of any use, as some of the members fear.

No action was taken in the matter last night.

The Board Of Works Will Spend More Money On Roads This Year

The policy to be followed by the Board of Works this year, as announced last night by Chairman Phelan, and endorsed by the other members of the Board, is to do only the sidewalk and sewer work that is absolutely needed, and to spend the appropriation on the roads. It is felt by the aldermen that the money can be better expended in improving the streets than in any other way, and this will be carried out.

At last night's meeting the City Engineer's report, giving a list of the sidewalk and sewer work left over from last year, and the special work to be done this year, including the rebuilding of several bridges over the creek was read and discussed, but no action will be taken until the Board makes its annual tour of inspection, which will take place in a short time.

City Solicitor's Salary Is Increased To Extent Of $200

Commencing April 1st of this year the salary of Mr. E H D Hall, City Solicitor, will be $900 per annum, an increase of $200 over the remuneration he has hitherto received. This was decided upon at a meeting of the Finance Committee held yesterday afternoon and the recommendation is made in view of the increase in the amount of work which has to be done by Mr. Hall in the city's interests. The recommendation will probably go through without discussion at Monday night's meeting of the council.

There were present at yesterday's meeting Ald. Morrow, chairman, Mayor Rush, Ald. Phelan, Neill and Bradburn.

The chairmen stated that arrangements were being made with Wood, Grundy & Co., to take the balance of debentures at par without any commission and this was agreed to by the committee.

No action for the present will be taken in the application of Chief Rezel for a telephone in P. J. Meagher's residence.

WEAVER INQUEST OPENS WEDNESDAY

Circumstances Surrounding The Death of W. Elgin Weaver in Chandos—Was a Heavy Drinker at Times — Death Certificate Freely Granted.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Apsley, April 4.—On Wednesday evening at 7.30 o'clock the inquest into the cause of the death of W. Elgin Weaver, whose body was exhumed last week to undergo an investigation into a murder charge, will be resumed. Residents in this vicinity are taking a particular interest in the proceedings inasmuch as the deceased man once resided in this community.

Seven or eight years ago Elgin Weaver moved from Stirling, Ont., to Chandos. He married a Miss Cameron, who resided east of here, and four children were born to them, who, after his death, were taken in charge by his relatives. For a time he lived at Lansdwade, nine miles east of Apsley, and worked as a carpenter, or a stone mason. Three or four years ago he moved on to a farm about four miles from Apsley, where he was residing at the time of his death.

Expelled From Orange Order

He was a hard drinker, when he could get the means to indulge, and was expelled from the Orange Order on that account three years ago. His wife was said to be a hard-working young woman and had a difficult time to provide for herself and young family. Weaver had been working in a lumber camp near his home, and came home a few days before his death, complaining of not being well. On the day of his death Mrs. Weaver came to the village and asked the doctor to go out to see him.

Died That Night

The doctor refused, but gave her a bottle of medicine for him. He died the same night and the body was taken to Stirling for burial.

The doctor here warned Weaver more than once that if he did not change his ways he might die at any moment, so he was not surprised when he heard of his sudden death, and had no hesitation in giving the death certificate after making some inquiries. Later on, after the couple had left here, stories got afloat of foul play, and the result is the present inquiry.

Mr. Darragh, with whom Mrs. W ver left a short time after her husband's death, came to Chandos from Marmora.

A copy of the prescription given to Mrs. Weaver by the doctor is now in the hands of the coroner, but no trace of the bottle could be found after his death to determine whether or not it had been tampered with.

Detective Miller of Toronto has been in this district making investigations, but it is not expected here that they will be acted upon unless the examination of the stomach in Toronto shows that it contained a considerable amount of poison.

Four Otter Seen On Lovesick Lake

Mr. John Johnston, Antrim street witnessed an unusual sight from the shore of Lovesick Lake yesterday. Looking out on the ice he saw four otter peacefully frisking about undisturbed by fears of trap or gun. Mr. Johnston was back to that district on a few days trip and returned last night. With the Canadian fur bearing animals rapidly disappearing it is a rare thing to hear of otter being seen as were these two pair on Lovesick Lake.

Barn Destroyed By Rapid Blaze In City's Centre

Belonged To Mr. John Gibbs And Was Located On McDonel Street—Firemen Made Quick Run.

ATTRACTED A BIG CROWD

Fire broke out last night about 8.30 o'clock in a barn on McDonel street, belonging to Mr. John Gibbs, a fireman—the local liveryman. The fire caused considerable excitement in that vicinity and a large crowd gathered. The alarm was sent in shortly after the fire began, and the brigade was soon on the scene. When the firemen arrived the barn was enveloped in flames and the reflection could be seen all over the city. The barn was surrounded by several sheds and most of the houses in the vicinity were constructed of clapboard. It was feared that these buildings would soon go, but the firemen kept one section playing on the adjoining buildings, while another was played on the fire. The brigade worked for over an hour before they quenched the flames, and then the barn was almost totally destroyed.

When the fire began there were two buggies and a sleigh, a horse and dog, all the property of Mr. Gibbs, which were brought out safely. In the conflagration several bales of hay were destroyed and several sets of harness.

It is believed that the barn was insured, but the extent of the loss is not yet known.

Needle Imbedded In Woman's Right Hand While Washing Clothes

Mrs. Hiram Thrall of Norwood Met With Painful Accident And Required X-Ray Examination.

A SUCCESSFUL OPERATION

Mrs. Hiram Thrall of Norwood while washing clothes at her home last Tuesday had a needle pierce her right hand and imbed itself in the flesh. Every effort was made to locate it, but all to no purpose, the wound becoming daily more painful. Finally she decided to come to Peterborough and arrived on the noon train yesterday.

At the Nicholls Hospital a successful X-ray examination made by Dr. Carmichael and the needle located. The hand was operated on and the elusive piece of steel was dislodged. Mrs. Thrall was able to return home on the local last night relieved of her pain, and with care, the wound should soon be healed.

Str. Empress Is Reported To Have Been Sold

According to a rumour in the city to-day the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association have purchased the steamer Empress from the Trent Valley Navigation Company. It is not learned just what the Association intends to do with the steamer but they will likely run it to make early morning trips such as were advocated last year.

MR. R. GIBBS IN HIS NEW PREMESIS

Mr. R. Gibbs, the local liveryman who bought Bruce Lee's barn last week is now ready for business. The barn is fully equipped and Mr. Gibbs has made several repairs, placing the barn in first class condition. The Chambers' street barn will in future be used as a boarding stable.

More Canines Fall A Prey To The Poisoners

The dog poisoners are still at large and every morning some family wakes up to find their pet canine lying dead in the back yard or on the front lawn. This is a most contemptible and cowardly action of the part of those who are doing it and should be stopped. The police have been notified several times but they seem to be at bay and unable to arrest the culprit.

An Educated Tramp Who Might Have Attained An Enviable Place In France

A young married couple who reside on Water street had the pleasure of meeting and dining with a youthful but educated tramp of 26 years, who, if his story is true, might have some day been and may be yet, one of the leading men of the French Republic. He called at the residence in question and the young wife who had had very little experience in feeding tramps asked him to return when her husband was in, which he did. He was brought into the kitchen and was made to sit down to the table. He was very tall and broad, dark complexion and after he had washed himself and fixed his hair he presented the appearance of a gentleman despite his ragged attire. The young couple were amazed at his appearance and were still more surprised when they saw the way he behaved at the table which gave evidence that he had been well brought up. The gentleman tramp kept up a brilliant conversation during the meal and his many stories of adventure added greatly to the meal. In his conversation could be noticed a slight French accent but no questions were asked.

After the meal was over and while the young wife was clearing the table, the husband took the tramp into the back yard and asked him to clean it up. He went to work and in a short time it presented a very neat appearance. The tramp then turned to his host and told him who he was. He said he was 26 years of age and was born in France of a noble family. His father was a member of the House of Deputies and his mother was one of the society leaders of gay Paris. He had been at school until he was twenty-two and ran away to escape serving in the French Army. He claimed to be a Socialist and to belong to the army was against his principles. He thought his father should not be a salaried officer of the people and gave innumerable other reasons in favour of the Socialistic platform. Coming to Canada he went west to the coal mines. He was forced out of work and was making his way to Quebec to work in the asbestos mines. One of the questions he asked has host before he left was, "Why should I miss coal for the people and be without it myself." He had a few other absurd ideas lying loose and says that if ever he returns to France he will become a strong Socialistic agitator.

Boiler Explosion At The Nicholls Hospital With Damage To Surroundings

One of the boilers in the basement of the Nicholls Hospital exploded yesterday afternoon with a very loud report and considerably damaged the furnace and pipes nearby. Timbers near at hand were wrenched but no damage was done the floor although it was considered rather wonderful that it should have escaped.

The cause of the explosion is unknown. It is believed that it was not from cold water flowing into the boiler and from the inexplosible nature of the affair the opinion was expressed that it might have been from an explosive getting mixed with the coal.

As a proof of the force of the explosion the boiler was crushed and broken, pipes were rent asunder and twisted the furnace was badly damaged and the force was felt throughout the building. Water flooded the boiler room and it was fortunate that no one was present at the time. One of those who saw the place afterwards said that two window frames were blown out of the boiler room twenty-five feet across the lawn and not one pane of glass was broken. On the other hand the door of the greenhouse being open was slammed by the explosion and some 20 lights of glass broken.

Mr. F R J MacPherson installed a new boiler last night, connecting it with the rest of the heating system. The furnace will have to be repaired and the work was continued to-day.

How Early Delivery Of Mail IS Impeded By Business Men

Coming down to work before eight o'clock one morning this week a reporter casually noticed a postman man trying to open the door of one of the places of business on George street. His efforts were unavailing and as there was no slot or box the postman had to take his merchant's mail back to the post office. This circumstance was rather strange and on a little investigation of the postman's progress throughout the business section it was found that more than a dozen places of business were closed and no provision having been made for the reception of the mail it had to go back to the office to await a later trip.

How do our progressive merchants and business men explain this? Instead of encouraging the authorities to establish an early mail delivery they are presenting a serious obstacle. If all the closed stores were without mail slots the early business delivery would be practically useless. The merchants are anxious to get their mail and to get it early but when the postman has to carry the mail back to the post office the system is blocked to a certain extent. It is a matter therefore of not only personal service but of public interest that the stores be either open for the postman or at least that proper provision be made for the reception of the mail.

Peterborough Light and Power Co. Installing New Water Wheels

The Peterborough Light and Power Company are installing a set of four new water wheels of 2,100 horse power in their new power house at the foot of London street. The wheels will be built by the James Leffel Company, of Springfield, Ohio, who have an international reputation in this work. The two large generators, which are now in the old power house at the foot of Murray street, are going to be taken out and moved to the new power house, there to be operated by the set of new water wheels now being installed. A Lombard governor will be installed to regulate the wheels and a new switch board will be placed in the building to control the extra load.

To accomplish this it will be necessary to raise the raceway between the two power houses and raise the bridge in front of the old power house, over which will be placed a concrete deck instead of the wooden one which now exists.

When the work on the new power house is completed an increase of from 8,000 to 10,000 horse power will be realized.

The old power house will control the street lighting system only. A few years ago the company offered to place in a new street lighting system for the city on certain terms. The question has not yet been decided upon and Mr. J. H. Larmonth wrote the city the other day to the effect that they would continue under the old street lighting system until the contract expired.

Otonabee Township Seems To Be Located In Banana Belt

Mr. Isaac Harper, Otonabee, in the Stewart settlement, this morning filed an exhibit at the Examiner office, which goes far to justify a claim on the part of the township of being in the banana belt. This evidence consisted of several green pea pines some of them sixteen inches in length and one bearing a fully developed blossom, white as the snow in which it pushed its bloom. These vines were dug out of the snow alongside a fence where there are still four-feet drifts. The vines grew among the wheat which was sown on ground occupied by peas. Mr. Harper said he could have pulled an armful of pea vines of similar length to those shown. There seems to be no doubt that the peas, which began growing last autumn, grew steadily during the winter under their thick covering of snow.

IMMIGRATION AND PROGRESS.

There are those who make loud complaints of the undesirable element that makes its presence conspicuous by acts of lawlessness and violence. Of course, this condition is regrettable, but it seems to be inseparable from an influx of immigration; and to a country like Canada, with its immense possible development yet to be accomplished, population, a practical synonym for immigration, is a sine qua non of progress and growth. As has been pointed out, every new settler planted in the Northwest, or in the unoccupied regions of this or any other Province, creates demands upon every commercial and industrial resource of Ontario or the older Provinces. The wants of a single household are the wants, in miniature, of those of the nation. Every new household or homestead must have furniture, clothing, farm implements, etc., and the extent to which these individual wants are multiplied represents the extent of the call upon the resources, industrial and commercial, of Ontario and the older Provinces. Therefore, the degree to which the Liberal Government of Canada promotes immigration and settlement of unoccupied regions becomes the measure of national development. There are those who decry immigration, and there are local and other demagogues who pander to popular sentiment by harping upon a few undesirables as an argument against immigration. Of course, it is admitted that the immigration which filters into the country should be strained as carefully as possible and the lees rejected; but, even if a few undesirables get into the country, that is no reason why the mass of good material should be refused. It only needs a few figures to show how important the relation immigration and its cognate condition, homestead entries, bear to all-round national growth. In 1896 the number of immigrants arriving at the ports of Montreal and St. John's, who declared their intention of settling in Canada, was 25,478, a decrease of 310 from the preceding year. For only the nine months ending March 31, 1907, the number of arrivals was 124,167, and for the preceding year, 189,064. The number of homestead entries bears an important relation to these figures. The year the Conservatives came into office, in 1879, the homestead entries were 4,068. In their last year in office they had declined to 1,857, which means that after eighteen years of Conservative administration, or—in relation to peopling the great West — maladministration—the ratio of building up the country decreased nearly one-third. The figures of homestead entries began to increase at once when the Liberal Government came into office, till in 1906 they totalled 41,869, about twenty-five times greater than in the last year of Conservative rule. Could the success of Liberal administration be more strikingly demonstrated Think for a moment, what demands on the aggregate have been made upon the industry and commerce of Ontario by the creation of thousands of new homes—demands for building and furnishing homes, supplying implements, furniture, clothing and an infinite variety of manufactured articles. And this could not have been accomplished without immigration. What Canada needs to become great, is population, and the chief source must be immigration, and, as far as possible, that should be of the best, as it has been overwhelmingly in the past, chiefly British and American. Little Canadians who indiscriminately decry immigration for demagogic purposes would soon, if their way prevailed, make a Little Canada, instead of the great nation it promises to be.

UNPATRIOTIC TOMFOOLERY.

The following is commended to those interested in literary curiosities and the exhibition of local patriotism. Read it:—

Local conditions are not promising. Whereas last year there was a really immense amount of work in hand, this spring there is scarcely any. It will mean a great set-back to the city and to the country round about. The same conditions prevail everywhere. Since there is no money to be put in circulation there is no possibility of expansion. There is also no such thing as standing still. Like a car on a down-grade, business must either go ahead or go back. Life depends on the circulation of the blood which in turn depends upon the heart and that upon the nerve or vital force which is the original impulse given to the machine. The original impulse given to the machinery of state by the N.P., was just what was required. But the heart has become degenerate. The blood is dried up or tied up and the organs are degenerating. The individual goes back. The body politic decays. Such unhappily is our present condition. Until the banks release enough cash to promote circulation and, this they cannot do, we are in the grip or chill of death. There is no effect without a cause. The cause of our condition is not far to seek.

What is it? What does it mean? Why is it written? It is an article appearing in the Review, disparaging the city where it gets its living; where it gets its advertising and other patronage which permits it to exist. It means that such jeremiads and doleful dirges, even if half justified—which they are not—have a baleful effect upon the business of the town. The most enterprising of our merchants, men who advertise in the Review and pay good prices for their advertising, find that such unjustifiable reflections upon the conditions of the city injure business, and to this degree the Review is guilty of destroying to the extent of its circulation, the value of the advertising which these merchants carry upon its pages. This what it does; what it means is that it injures the credit of the town and spreads abroad false ideas of local conditions. It means that the Review by such articles shows that its local patriotism is at a low ebb and that it thinks more of making a political point than of helping and upholding the constituency by whom it lives and this explains why it is done. The editor of the Review happens to be the Conservative candidate for the Commons for West Peterborough. He wishes to make it appear that the country is in the throes of disaster and collapse, and that this falsely asserted condition is due to the government he opposes. He is, therefore, willing, and attempts, to sacrifice the credit of Peterborough and of the country to promote his own petit interests. Such an article as that quoted above is only a sample of similar ones daily appearing which are as little creditable to the literary reputation of the candidate-editor of the Review as they are to his public spirit and patriotism. Artemus Ward was willing to sacrifice all his relations on the altar of his country in a recent war. So the candidate-editor of the Review is willing to sacrifice the interests of Peterborough and its good name and that of the country in the promotion of his personal interests in the political line. It is not surprising that the article referred to was written and printed on All Fools Day, a very appropriate day on which to write and print articles of that character, which are the last word in unpatriotic tomfoolery and a travesty upon the decent and intelligent discussion of public issues, such as should determine the outcome of parliamentary elections.

A PERIOD OF WONDERFUL PROGRESS.

(London Advertiser.)

The official trade statistics of Canada for the past eleven years furnish an interesting study. In every department there has been but one story to tell. Canadian imports, exports, and, thanks to the preferential tariff, trade with the Mother Country, have advanced by leaps and bounds. Railway traffic has increased almost 300 per cent. So, too, as regards discounts and deposits in savings and chartered banks — the record is one of phenomenal progress.

In 1896, when the present Government assumed power, Canada's total imports amounted to $118,011,508. For the twelve-month period ended June 30 last the imports amounted to $359,793,278. Our total exports in 1896 were $121,013,852; last year they totalled $258,171,674. The total trade of the country in the earlier period was therefore $239,025,360, as compared with $617,964,952 to-day.

Equally significant is the showing as to our trade with Great Britain. In 1896 our total trade with the Mother Country amounted to $95,542,446, of which $32,824,505 represented imports for home consumption, and $62,717,941 exports, the produce of Canada, and not including coin or bullion. Our total trade with Great Britain last year reached the impressive figure of $208,745,193, $88,901,819 imports, and $119,843,374 exports.

Scarcely less marked has been Canada's railway development during the past eleven years. In 1896 there were 16,270 miles of railway in operation, and the total number of tons carried was 24,266,825. Last years the mileage had grown to 22,452, and the tons carried to 68,866,133.

During the Laurier regime the expansion of business generally has been most marked, in Canada, evidence of which is furnished by the monthly statements of discounts of the chartered banks. In 1896 discounts amounted to $224,507,301; last year they had increased to $633,970,696.

Further proof of the general prosperity is afforded by the savings of the people. In 1896 there was on deposit in the savings banks of Canada, including post-office and Government savings banks, $61,259,151, and in chartered banks, $183,769,942, or a total of $245,029,143; last year the total was $679,724,118, $90,264,229 of which was in savings banks, and $589,459,889 in chartered banks.

In one particular, however, a decrease is shown, but it is a welcome one. In the eleven-year period there has been a decided falling-off in business failures. The total liabilities of failures in Canada in 1896 amounted to $16,320,460; in 1906-7 they had fallen to $11,691,397, and that, too, in face of an increase of about 300 per cent. in trade.

With the immense expansion of trade there has been a corresponding increase in revenue. In 1896 Canada's gross revenue was, in round figures, $76,000,000; in 1906 it was $90,000,000, or considerably more than double. To that increase all the leading public services have contributed. Customs revenue has jumped from $19,000,000 in 1896 to $45,000,000 in 1906 (the former being collected at a cost of $4.47 for each hundred dollars, as compared with $3.85 per hundred for the latter); excise, from $8,000,000 (collected at a cost of 6 per cent.), to $14,000,000 (collection cost 4 per cent.); post-office from $3,000,000 to $6,800,000; yielding a surplus of over $1,000,000 in place of deficits we were accustomed to under Conservative rule; Government railway and canals from $3,000,000 to over $8,000,000, while the revenue from Dominion land sales increased tenfold.

The remarkable development has necessarily been attended with increased expenditures, but the money has been wisely expended, the result being to vastly improve the national equipment. Better protection has been given the fisheries and there has been great improvement in agricultural organization. A wise immigration policy has had the effect of bringing in hundreds of thousands of settlers to take up homes in the fruitful West. Our coasts are being thoroughly equipped with lighthouse and other protection services, and the great rivers with the most modern aids to navigation. Our ports are regularly visited by ships of the highest class, which carry our most perishable products without loss. Increased expenditure on the mounted police and militia has been the means of extending the reign of the law to vaster areas, and enabled us to undertake military responsibilities on two oceans and all over the Dominion in harmony with the growing national spirit. Last, but by no means least, the Government has been enabled to pay, out of current revenue, for great public works in all parts of the country, including wharves, post-offices and other buildings, instead of going into debt for them, as was the custom under the preceding administration. An idea of the advance in the country's equipment may be gained when it is stated that between July 1, 1896, and March 31, 1907, there was spent on lighthouse and coast service, ocean and river service, and other public works, which are all for development, $150,528,000, the net debt in the same period being increased by only $85,174,000, as compared with an expenditure on the same services between 1886 and 1896 of $65,202,000, and an increase to the net public debt of $35,238,000.

DRUGGING CHILDREN A SOURCE OF DANGER

When you give your child a so-called "soothing" medicine you are not curing its sickness. You are merely drugging it into temporary insensibility. Soothing medicines contain opiates and an overdose may kill the child. When you give the little one Baby's Own Tablets you have the guarantee of a government analyst that this medicine is safe. And you have the word of thousands of grateful mothers that this medicine will promptly cure all the minor ailments of childhood. Mrs. L. W. Smith, St. Giles, Que., says, "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my little girl for constipation and other troubles and have found them the best medicine I have ever used." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co, Brockville, Ont.

Editor Post Card Column:

Sir,—Allow me space in your valuable paper, to correct a statement made in the police court on Thursday of last week, as regards Stanley McCabe being in the reformatory. It is an untruth, as he has not even stood in the witness box to give evidence before. I have had charge of him since he was nine years old, the time of his father's death, and as for the stealing affair last Thursday, he did not steal the things as was shown in court, but was with the boys on several occasions, which made him plead guilty, a fact I much regret. Thanking you for your kindness, I remain

Yours truly,
ONE OF STANLEY'S FRIENDS.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—"Subscriber" made timely suggestion. East City and southwest section are both suffering for such accommodation, and it was discussed on the street to-day to use a large bus, leaving the post office corner going south and east alternately. The man who supplies a necessity is sure to succeed. This is one for certain.

WHEN THE SUN CROSSED THE EQUATOR

Dr. Marsh's Calculations Substantiated By Government Astronomer.

At the meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society, held at the Y. M. C. A. on Thursday night, Rev. Dr. Marsh answered satisfactorily the Examiner's query relative to when the sun crossed the equator. His calculations showed that the sun crossed the equator 7 hours 27 minutes after noon on March 20th. The Examiner has in its possession the figures worked out by the Government astronomer at the Toronto observatory, sustaining Dr. (Marsh's figures.

HORSE WAS STRUCK BY STREET CAR

Owing to the prompt action of Joseph Thomas, 95 Elm street, the conductor of Jackson Park car No. 14, the horse belonging to Mr. F. J. Drake was saved from serious injury last night.

The car was going east on Charlotte street at twenty minutes to six o'clock and the horse and dray were standing in front of the White House. As the car approached George street and was passing the hotel the horse, which was without a driver, turned suhddenly and started to cross the tracks in front of the oncoming car.

Conductor Thomas quickly applied the brakes, and, although the car struck the horse as it reached the middle of the track, it was stopped within a few feet. The horse was practically uninjured and the dray merely suffered a broken shaft.

DOES YOUR SCALP ITCH?

Are Your Hairs Dropping one by one?

If your scalp itches you are doubtless suffering from dandruff. The dandruff germ is digging up your scalp in little flakes, called dandruff, and sapping the life of the hair bulb. No hair preparation that is a mere hair stimulant and tonic will cure dandruff, because it won't kill the germ that causes the trouble. Newbro's Herpicide is the latest scientific discovery, and it will kill the dandruff germ. Destroy the cause, and you remove the effect; kill the dandruff germ and you will have no more dandruff, falling hair or baldness. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes —50 cents and $1. Mellormid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

LORD ROSEBERY TELLS WHAT THE UNION JACK STANDS FOR

In Edinburgh recently, Lord Rosebery took the principal part in an interesting ceremony, of which the Edinburgh Branch of the Victoria League were the promoters. This was the presentation of Union Jacks to 53 scholars representing Board, Episcopal, Roman Catholic and normal and day industrial schools in Edinburgh.

Lord Rosebery, who was received with loud cheering, began his address by explaining to the children what the Union Jack, which he unfurled, represented. "How do we come to have the St. Andrew's cross in Scotland?" he proceeded then to ask. "In old days," he said, "the countries of Europe all liked to have a saint under whose special protection they placed themselves, and somewhere between 700 and 800, learned people tell us, Scotland chose St. Andrew. Why they chose St. Andrew I cannot tell you. He was a fisherman, and, perhaps, the great fishing industry of Scotland made them want a fisherman as their saint. Anyhow, they took St. Andrew, and I rather think that Russia took St. Andrew too—we shall never come to blows with Russia on that point—and somewhere in the south of Italy, where he has got moored by some mysterious process, I have seen the tomb of St. Andrew. Now that you all know the mechanism of the flag what does that flag stand for? Of course, it stands for the United Kingdom and the British Empire. But if the United Kingdom was like some kingdoms, and if the British Empire was like some empires we should not take the trouble to give you that flag to-day. It is because, as we think, it stands for justice, good government, liberality and Christianity that we honour that flag. It has spread all over the world. The British Empire is a greater Empire at this moment, not merely than has existed in the world before, but greater than has ever been dreamt of in the world before. And so we knew, wherever we saw this flag flying—even in Egypt, which has been misgoverned for countless centuries—we knew that we should find liberty, justice, good government and equal dealing between man and man.

Unity Must Stay

"That, then, is the flag means to all the world outside. There are few people who hate Great Britain so much as not to know that that flag stands for what I say it does throughout the world; but for us—you children, and all of us—it stands for a great deal more. What do you feel about that flag? In the first place we know this that under no circumstances whatever must its unity ever be disturbed. It must never cease to be the Union Jack.

"There is another point we must remember about this flag. It is not a thing simply to hang up and look at, and to treat as a symbol of justice and good government and all that I have been saying; to watch languidly from an easy chair and say what it is a very interesting object on the school house; it waves very nicely in the wind, but it has very little to do with you and me. Why; it has everything to do with you and men. You boys may have to fight for it some day. Some of you may become soldiers, but even if you don't, some of you may join the new Territorial Army—when you understand what it is. But, whether you are soldiers or not, you may be invaded—God grant that it be not so—and then every one of you, whether soldiers or not, would have to do something to defend your country.

Citizens of the Empire

Last, it represents to you a great honour and a great privilege. It reminds you that you are citizens of no mean city, but citizens of the greatest Empire, as I have said, that the world has ever seen. You know what an inspiration is, though that is a longer word than I wanted to use. It is something that seems to come from above, higher and better than yourselves, that tends to make you higher and better than you usually are. And I want you, when you see this flag waving on your school, to let it be an inspiration to you. If any of you should at any time be tempted, as we all are tempted to do something mean or base, or vile or cowardly, look at that flag and forbear.

OFFICERS ELECTED TO TAKE IN CHARGE THE WALKING CONTEST

At a meeting of the committee in charge of the pedestrian tournament to be held in Brock street rink this month, held last night in the Oriental Hotel, officers were elected and arrangements made for what promises to be the biggest sporting event ever held in this city. The following officers were elected:

Hon. Pres.—Mayor Rush.
Pres.—R. J. Munro.
1st Vice-Pres.—Fred A. Clarke.
2nd Vice-Pres.—W. E. Wasson.
Sec.—A. C. Yokoune.
Treas.—C. G. Graham.

Executive Committee—W S Davidson, W E Hillhouse, H Snow, Archie Moore, W H Robertson, E M Best, R M. Glover, J B Hay.

Referee-in-Chief—E S Clarry.
1st Assistant—F C Dobbin.
2nd Assistant—A M Regan.
Judges — R J Munro and R H Fortye.
Official Timer—Frank Clarke.
Official Announcer—A Moore.
Press Representatives—F D Craig, A C Yokoune, J Lumsden.

It was decided that the walk would be a straight heel-and-toe walk, the contestants to be set back one lap every time they break away from the legitimate walk. There will be five prizes, fifty per cent. of the total receipts to be divided among the first five in the proportions of 25 per cent., 15 per cent., 6 per cent. and 4 per cent. The contestants must walk at least 162 miles in the 36 hours. The time-table will be as follows:

Monday, April 20 — 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.
Tuesday, April 21 — 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.
Wednesday, April 22—1 p.m. to 11 p.m.
Thursday, April 23—7 p.m. to 11 p.m.
Friday, April 24 — 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.
Saturday, April 25—1 p.m. to 11 p.m.

The band will render a four-hour concert every evening during the contest.

ANOTHER TORONTO MAN WILL START IN BIG WALKING MATCH

The enntries for the big walking race now number eighteen, and indications point to a very big field. Another Toronto walker is the latest entry and in forwarding his name to Mr. George Stevens, he writes as follows:

Dear Sir,—I have to thank you for yours of yesterday's date and note what you say therein. I now take pleasure in forwarding my name to you as a contestant in the walking race, in order that you may enter me. Thanking you in anticipation, I remain

Yours faithfully,
W. F. GRANT, Toronto.

Jas. A. Graham, the Buffalo crack pedestrian, writes Mr. Stevens, as follows:

Friend George,—You may look for me about the 8th or 9th. I have some work that I had to do before I start and I may stop on my way. I suppose there will be some fast walkers in the race. Well, I will do my best, but I am not fast.

Yours, etc.,
JAS. A. GRAHAM,
Buffalo, N. Y.

TEAM NO. 6 CHAMPIONS OF THE CITY

Defeated No. 4 Last Night by the Score of 13 to 8.

Before about 150 spectators, Team 6 defeated Team No. 4 last night in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium by a score o 13 points to 8. It was the final game in the League in which eight teams have competed and many hard fought and interesting games have been played. The game last night reflects great credit on Captain G Martin who managed his team with great skill. At half time the score stood 5 points to 3 in favour of No. 4, but during the second half No. 6 pulled together and scored four baskets. The teams were as follows:

No. Six.		No. Four Centre.
Sutherland		Turner
	Defence.
Martin		Sisson
McCarroll		Rankin
	Forwards
White		Darling

Referee—J M Laing.
Scorer—R Best.
Timekeeper—E A Frowde.

INTEREST IN BASKETBALL GAME NEXT WEDNESDAY

Toronto Team Coming—One of Best in That City.

Word was received from Toronto yesterday that the would bring down their senior team to play here on Wednesday night, April 8th. They are a strong team and should make a most interesting game with the Peterborough Y. M. C. A. first team. The local team have been practising faithfully and are showing excellent form. It is to be hoped that all lovers of the game will turn out and support the local team. The Peterborough team will be as follows: Sutherland, Best, Cressman, R. Best and L. Dobson

INDIANS HAVE BEGUN TO TRAP

Muskrats' Numbers will be Depleted During the Next Month

Mr. Fred Simpson of Hiawatha was in the city to-day and stated in a conversation that the Indians have begun to set their traps. However, the weather has been too cold, and the marshy places continue to freeze up at night, and thus the traps are rendered useless. The Hiawatha men will be out in even larger numbers than last year and a good season is expected. They come up the Otonabee as far as Hale's Bridge and know all the select trapping spots to the mouth of the river at Rice Lake. The muskrat is the little animal that will be harassed on every hand and in occasional coon will also be captured.

Mr. Simpson says the ice on the lake is still intact and one can drive all over it.

DR. POOLE NOW ON HIS WAY HOME

Word has been received from Dr. Poole, V. S., who left Peterborough last September to study in the old country, that he sailed on Friday, April 3rd, on the Empress of Britain for home. The doctor is expected in the city about April 15th, to be ready for the re-commencement of the spring trade. He has been studying in the best schools of the old country the diseases of horses and the most modern treatment.

PERMITS NOT MUCH IN DEMAND

Only Five Have Been Issued During the Past Week—All for Repairs.

So far no building permits of any account have been issued at the city clerk's office. During the past week only five have been issued and these are for repairs, a fact which does not indicate a very busy building season. Permits have been taken out by the Bradburn estate for alterations to E. A. Dutton's store on Georg street, to cost $600; by J. T. Brand for a frame stable at 719 George street, to cost $650; by J. P. Mathoral for a $5 porch at 890 George street; by Mrs. H. Pratt, for a shed on Simcoe street, to cost $50 and Ed. Courtney, kitchen, Concession street, to cost $40.

THE FISHER INCIDENT.

Question Involves Sovereignty of North China and Manchuria.

St. Petersburg, April 4.—Russia and several other powers are awaiting with extreme interest the announcement of the attitude of the State Department at Washington regarding the Fisher incident, as this issue affects not only the administration of Harbin and Chailar, by Russia, but the entire question of the sovereignty of north China and south Manchuria.

Fred D. Fisher, the American consul at Harbin, has consistently refused to recognize, or admit that he should have anything to do with the Russian administration of this territory and he has been firm in his assumption that he was accredited solely to China, furthermore he has supported the protests of China against the establishment by Russia of municipalities in the railroad zone at Harbin and Chailar independent of the Chinese Government and his attitude in this matter prompted Russia to seek an explanation of this course at Washington.

It was learned here yesterday that the German consul at Harbin had aided with Mr. Fisher against the demands of the Russian authorities and that the French consul there acquiesced in the Russian demands. It is believed here that the real reasons behind the protest of China and the support given this protest by the American and German consuls is to be found less in objections to a change in the form of Russian administration of Harbin than in the apprehension aroused by the aggressive and far-reaching policy of Japan in southern Manchuria. This fear resulted in a determination to challenge the anomolous Russo-Japanese position in a province nominally Chinese at every opportunity.

The Russian measures are regarded as relatively of local importance, where as the pretensions of Japan to the right to use the Chinese railroads for mail carrying purposes, without reference to the Chinese postal system, as put forward in the postal convention that was proposed to China early in January, involve a direct infringement of Chinese sovereignty.

Went Postcards Destroyed.

Hamilton, April 4.—The Canadian Club officers are up in arms because some of the stationery stores are selling picture postcards showing the Hamilton City Hall with the stars and stripes floating from the flagpole. They have called on Mayor Stewart to order the cards destroyed. They say this was done when cards showing old glory floating over the Toronto Armories were circulated.

Frost Injures Grain.

Orangeville, April 4.—The thaw of a few days ago has left the hills in the adjoining townships of Mono and Caledon bare, and the sudden hard freeze up after the thaw will have a damaging effect on the wheat and rye crops, which are largely grown in those townships, as well as the new clover crop. Considerable of the latter is either nipped off or turned out at the roots.

Sentenced to Death.

Little Valley, N.Y., April 4.—Salvator Randazzo, convicted of the murder of Petro Randazzo at West Salamanca, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Emery to be executed at Auburn in the week beginning May 11. He will be taken to Auburn on Saturday. Silvia Berrato, indicted for the same crime, was yesterday found not guilty.

More Room for Buffaloes.

London, April 4.—(C. A. P.)—Mr. Trotter told Glasgow Trades Council there was more room in Canada for buffaloes than bricklayers. Work is available for experienced agriculturists, but artisans only swell the surplus population.

TO USE 3500 BARRELS OF CEMENT

It is estimated that the city will use at least 3,500 barrels of cement this year, and if the proposed diversion of the creek in the north end of the city is carried out, the amount will be increased to the extent of 500 more barrels. These figures were submitted to the Board of Works by Street Commissioner Evans last night, and it was decided, on motion of Ald. Morgan and Elliott, to advertise for tenders for the supply needed.

It was also decided to advertise for street watering. The City Engineer will be instructed to do this, and the Board will ask, in order to save time, for authority to award the contracts. It is probable a team will be hired by the day to help in the street watering in the central district. The suggestion was made by the Street Commission and regarded with favour by the members of the Board.

VIOLIN PUPILS GAVE A RECITAL

Interesting Demonstration of the Success of Miss Adamson's Teaching.

A large and appreciative audience gathered in the Conservatory of Music Hall last night, when the violin pupils of Miss Lina Drechsler Adamson, of the Conservatory staff, assisted by Mrs. S. Dickson Hall, soprano, gave a splendid recital. The programme was a most enjoyable one and the work of the pupils was a revelation to the audience, testifying in a high degree of the excellence of Miss Adamson's teaching ability. All the violin solos were played with a consistency of technique and accuracy of touch that made the numbers most enjoyable, while the two quartette selections were most artistically executed.

Mrs. Hall's clear, sweet soprano voice was heard to the greatest advantage in her two solo numbers, which were received with much applause by the audience.

Following was the programme:

Violin solo—"Melody," Rubinstein; Miss Robina Cumming.

Song—Selected; Mrs. Dickson Hall.

Violin solo—"Madrigal," Simonetti; Miss Edwina Palmer.

Violin solo—"Berceuse," from Jocelyn, Godard; Miss Evelyn Dorris.

Song—Selected; Mrs. Dickson Hall.

Violin solo—"Martha," Singalee; Miss Eva Irwin.

An Interesting Essay On Building Of Character

Last evening the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S. added another to its long list of Literary entertainments when an unusually interesting programme consisting of a very instructive essay on "Character Building" by Miss Mahoney and a bright musical programme by some of the Society's local artists, was presented to the enthusiastic assembly present.

The subject of last evening's essay was of a particularly interesting nature and held the interested attention of the large audience present.

Character building was first defined as the fostering and developing of noble qualities and the suppressing and eliminating of evil tendencies. It is the training that makes us prompt at duty's call, which makes us love the true, the beautiful, the good. It shows us that the highest virtue of all is victory over ourselves, and that every thing good costs self-denial.

The qualities of the sucessful character builder were then very ably dealt with. The material which the character builder works in is not brick nor stone but the God-given faculties of his creatures. The influence of the individual on those with whom he is constantly in contact is boundless. We are always making character, both our own and others by the emotions we cherish by the desires we indulge in, and by the actions to which we respond. A good character says the sage, is a precious thing and the work of making it is the noblest labour on earth. Among the traits which go to make up a beautiful disposition may be mentioned kindness, unselfishness and happiness.

The manner of the building up of a character was then shown to be most important. Perhaps there is no duty which we so underrate as the duty of being happy and consequently of making others happy. As a plant surrounded by pure air, beautiful sunlight and congenial soil is able to defy the very weeds which at first threatened its existence, so human beings supplied with congenial surroundings develop into beautiful characters. Little every day acts of kindness are powerful incentives to happiness. The encouraging word to a friend, the smile that gladdens, the cheerful word at home are seemingly little things, but they make our lives broader, our sympathies deeper and our minds better. The reason why so few of us do much good is because we set too small value on those little things. "Do a kindness to someone every day" should be our motto, and then we will be perfectly happy.

The value of adversities as a strong means of building character was shown to have no equal. Failure often leads a person to success by arousing his latent energy, by awakening powers which were sleeping. The adverse breath of criticism should be to us only what the blast of the storm wind is to the eagle—a force to lift him higher. Strong character like the palm tree seems to thrive best when abused. People who have stood up bravely under great misfortune for years are often unable to bear prosperity. Difficulties call out great qualities and make greatness possible. Few knew Lincoln until the great weight of war showed his character. A century of peace would never have produced a Bismarck. How often one sees a young person develop astounding ability and build up a noble character after the death of a parent or some other calamity. Even the prison has roused the slumbering fire in many a noble mind. Sir Walter Raleigh wrote the history of the world during his imprisonment of thirteen years. For twenty years Dante worked in exile and even under sentence of death. "Adversity is a severe instructor," says Edmund Burke, set over us by One who knows us better than we know ourselves. Our antagonist is our helper. Our conflict with difficulty makes us acquainted with our object and compels us to consider it in all its relations.

Nature is a great character builder continued the essayist. She will chip and pound us remorselessly to bring out our possibilities. She will strip us of wealth, humble our pride, humiliate our ambition, let us down from the ladder of fame, discipline us in a thousand ways if she can develop a little character. Everything must give way to that. Wealth is nothing. Position is nothing. Fame is nothing.

Manhood and womanhood are everything.

Many examples of beautiful character who have transformed worldly minded people into a people of gentleness and piety were cited. Among those mentioned was St. Margaret, Queen of Scotland, who by her noble character, made her kingdom a paradise. All hearts yielded to the influence of her goodness and her own life was like a reservoir of living waters in a thirsty land, for many generations after her day. One lesson above all others she was trained to practice from childhood—to be forgetful of self and mindful of making everyone around her happy. This was the secret of her beautiful life.

In concluding, the writer showed how patriotism, music, poetry and history were powerful incentives in the formation of character.

This excellent essay was intensely interesting throughout and reflected much credit upon the young lady who prepared it.

As a pleasing preliminary to this very able essay, a musical programme of rare merit was introduced by Miss Daisy O'Heron, who occupied the chair for the evening.

The following was the musical programme presented:—

Instrumental Duet—Misses Leahy and Pierce.

Vocal Solo—Mr. J. Mercier

Instrumental Solo—Miss Irene Clancy

The accompanist of the evening was Mr. H. Theobald.

The last meeting of the Society this season will be held on Thursday, April 9th, when brief essays will be read by Misses A. Holland, E. Connor and A. Coughlin.

PETERBOROUGH GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB

STUNNING SPRING HATS

At From $5.00 to $10.00

ANY WOMAN who wants a becoming, smart and exclusive Hat at a very small price will be delighted with our new and beautiful styles at from $5.00 to $10.00.

THESE ARE FRESH from our own workroom, and our talented milliners have exerted themselves to see just how much of beauty and worth they could crowd into Hats for selling at these popular prices.

SOME OF THEM are splendid copies of high-priced Parisian and New York Models—others are original designs by our own milliners, and there's not one of them which is not a very remarkable value.

THE VARIETY INCLUDES the "College Girl" Sailor, "Il Trovatore" Turban, "Ethel Barrymore" Sailor, and dozens of other styles in all the favored shapes, sizes and colors, variously trimmed with spring-like flowers and foliage, feathers, ribbons, etc., in smart, new effects.

WE CHEERFULLY INVITE YOU to compare them with Hats which others consider good value at from $3.00 to $5.00 more, knowing that such a comparison will impress you with the extraordinary nature of the value.

IN JUSTICE TO YOURSELF, don't buy a Hat until you have seen our assortment, in which you will find (along with the many stylish creations for ladies) an assortment of smart Hats for the young girls, that our millinery artists have every reason to be proud of, and you will think so too, when you see the Hats.

Large Assembly Room For The New Collegiate Institute

ASSEMBLY ROOM A FEATURE

The new Collegiate Institute building when completed should be the pride of those who have for so long wished to see its erection. Exteriorally it will be one of the finest edifices in the city, and the Board of Education is sparing nothing to make it thoroughly modern in the interior arrangement and equipment.

The work was begun in the early part of last summer by the contractors Messrs. Langford and Sheehy, and by rapid construction the roof was on when winter came. During the past months the inside work has been steadily progressing and is now well under way. There still remains considerable to be done, but this should be accomplished before the fall term begins.

In the basement are situated the physical and chemical laboratories, an instrument room besides the boiler room, workshop, coal room, etc., and the lavatories. The labratories for the chemical and physical classes will be a great improvement upon the accommodation in this respect in the old building.

The Rooms

On the ground floor there are fi spacious class rooms, library, two cloak rooms for the girls and boys respectively, and also the principal's room. On the first floor there are six class rooms, two cloak rooms, two rooms for the lady and gentleman teachers and a wide corridor.

The second floor may be said to be the assembly hall, although there is a class room, another room and two retiring rooms off the stage. This floor will be a surprise and a delight to the citizens, especially those who have more than a passing interest in the affairs of the Collegiate Institute.

The plans were prepared by Mr. J. E. Belcher, who made careful provision for all the requirements which the special committee of the Board of Education pointed out.

In connection with the assembly hall the stage is a special feature and accomodation has been made for a large gathering of persons.

The intention of the Board of Education in regard to a gymnasium is that the girls may use the assembly hall for their exercises, and, it is learned, a request will be made to have the boys use the gymnasium of the armouries.

Seven Sewers Were Built Last Season On Streets Where There Is No Water

Last year the Board of Works recommended and the Council authorized the construction of sewers on streets where as yet no water mains are laid and where the sewers are as useless as a gasoline launch in the midst of the Sahara desert. This fact was revealed last night at the meeting of the Board of Works, when Chairman Phelan, who had made inquiries, read a report from the City Engineer in reference to the matter. It showed that sewers have been built on Division street, Patterson street, Jackson avenue, Hart avenue, Downie street, Smith street, and Reid street north, on none of which streets are there any water mains. The sewers are of no use whatever, and yet the people along these streets have to pay for them.

This year's Board of Works should endeavour to avoid such a ridiculous policy as that.

Diary Throws Light Upon The Market In City's Early Days

Mr. Edward Green Has Kept a Record for Nearly Forty Years—Although There Was No Shelter From the Weather Market Was Much Larger.

CIRCUSES WERE HELD THERE

Mr. Edward Green, Water street, one of the oldest residents of Peterborough is one of those individuals who believe in and make a practice of keeping a diary and as he has been doing so for a period of nearly forty years it can readily be seen that a glance through the pages should reveal some interesting information concerning the history of Peterborough in the early seventies. Particularly is this true in connection with the early conditions of the market. Mr. Green for many years acted as market clerk for the town and naturally his diary and accounts books contain much that is of interest.

An Examiner reporter who called at his home yesterday was allowed the privilege of examining his records, which extend from 1871 until the present day. On his diary Mr. Green has paid particular attention to the weather and the conditions every day can be found, so that he has a complete account of the weather for the past 37 years.

Flourishing Market

The market in those days was evidently a more flourishing and prosperous one that it is at present, for it is seen that Mr. Green paid $1505 in one year in the seventies for the privilege of collecting tolls, an amount that was near $500 more than Mr. McIlmoyle paid for the same privilege last year. Despite the fact that there was no shelter from the weather the market was larger then than it is now; so large in fact that it took sometimes three and four men to collect the tolls on a Saturday. There was no market building then with a warm room in which the farmers' wives could sit with their butter, eggs and poultry during the cold or wet weather On the other hand they were forced to remain in the open air, the only shelter being a verandah and as this was on the north side of the building, it could be imagined that their lot was not as enviable as those of the present generation. The accommodation, or rather the lack of accommodation, was however, no detriment to the market for the crowds on Saturday were larger than they are now, people driving to Peterborough from places many miles distant.

The Amount of Tolls

The diary shows that Mr. Green collected tolls on 263 days in 1871, 286 days in 1872 and 281 days in 1873, figures which show that the market was generally in use much more than it is at the present time. The statement of receipts for different months in the year is interesting. For instance for the one month of November, 1872, $246.80 was taken in in tolls, and in June of the same year, $118.65 was the amount at the collections, and the total for the other months were between the two figures. $28 or $30 would be taken in on Saturday, though the amount of course would depend considerably on the weather.

The market clerk's revenue was increased by other means and was not all derived from strictly market business. All the circuses which came to town gave their show on the market square and the clerk came in for the money received for the granting of that privilege. The market also was frequently used by evangelists and preachers who used to address large audiences there, although of course, the market clerk was not a financial gainer by such meetings.

Outside of its connection with the market Mr. Green's diary or rather diaries; for he has one for each year throw some interesting light upon events in Peterborough's history. For instance there are entries such as these: "Hot times electioneering today," and "Great talk of protesting election." Show that people paid the same or even more attenting to politics in those days than they do now. Another item of interest refers to the funeral of Chief of Police Johnston, which was attended by over 200 rigs, the officers of the corporation and the band attending in a body.

Space will not permit of quoting at any length from Mr. Green's memoirs which would however make very interesting reading.

Full Quart Drink Of Maple Syrup; The Loser Had To Pay

This morning on the market the absorption capicity of a young man for sweets was amply demonstrated. A party of young fellows went about tasting the several samples offered for sale. This resulted in a wager, one young man offering to buy a quart of maple syrup if the other would drink it. The wager was accepted and won, for the young man drank the whole quantity at one pull—a genuine Tracian draught—in presence of the amused spectators. Developments have not sufficiently advanced to know whether the Apocalyptic experience in regard to the "little book" was repeated.

Fresh tea is all-important. Ten weeks after being picked in the tea gardens of the Island of Ceylan (the finest tea-producing country in the world) "Salada" reaches you. The flavour of tea consists in an essential oil, which deteriorates rapidly with age. In order to preserve the delicious flavour of "Salada" Tea it is packed in sealed lead packets (never sold in bulk,) guaranteeing you a superior tea, in flavour, quality, purity and economy in use. 14

IN ONE DOOR AND OUT THE OTHER A PIG LEADS CHASE

A laughable incident occurred at the C.P.R. station last night where the cattle are loaded in the cars. A shipper had a number of pigs which they were driving up a passage into a car. Both side doors were open and the first pig walked in one side and out the other, jumping a distance of five feet or more. It ran along the track towards George street and was barely prevented from reaching the Otonabee.

MR. ISAAC FIFE, OTONABEE, SELLS FARM FOR $14,000

An important sale of farm property has been recently put through by the real estate firm of A Brown & Co, Water street, involving in the neighbourhood of $14,000.00. Mr. Isaac Fife, one of Otonabee's most well known farmers has disposed of his property for this sum to a Peterborough business man and intends to move into the city to reside. He has purchased the residence of Mr. T M Caldwell, Stewart street, for $3,500, this transaction being conducted by the firm of C Blewett & Co.

THERE ARE ALWAYS TWO SIDES TO EVERY STORY

Editor Post-card Column.

Dear Sir,—There are usually two sides to every story. This is often found to be the case respecting the poisoning of dogs. I have just had two fine chickens killed by dogs, and I know of several others in this locality who have suffered similarly. While I don't believe much in poisoning dogs, still I think owners should see that their canines do no damage. Besides this trouble, their unnecessary barking keeps invalids on edge who are trying to snatch a few hours' sleep.

JUDGE CASSELS WILL CONSENT

Government Are Desirous of the Fullest Investigation.

SIR WILFRID'S STATEMENT

Prime Minister Scatters Mr. Borden's Arguments In Regard to Civil Service Commission—Ministerial Responsibility Has Been Fully Accepted — Conditions Under Which Judge Accepts.

Ottawa, April 4.—R. L. Borden precipitated a discussion yesterday afternoon on the appointment of a new commission to continue the probe into the Marine Department. He advanced three main arguments, namely:

That the Civil Service Commission should be asked to continue its work.

That the scope of the new commission should not be restricted to the charges specified in the order-in-council against the Marine Department.

That the Government must accept the doctrine of Ministerial responsibility individually and collectively for the delinquencies of its officials.

The Prime Minister, in reply, met these contentions thus: The Civil Service Commission considers it has exhausted its powers when it made its report, and has not come back for authority to go on; and that, while admitting the principle of Ministerial responsibility, such responsibility ended when the conditions claimed of were remedied.

Also, the First Minister indicated the conditions upon which Justice Cassels will accept the commission. Judge Cassels, it seems, will accept no remuneration beyond his salary as judge, and he insists that a temporary Exchequer Court judge must be appointed while he is away on other duties.

On orders of the day being called, R. L. Borden asked the Prime Minister if he had had any opportunity of reading the letter of Justice Cassels.

The Prime Minister replied that he had received a letter declaring in substance that he would only assume the duties for which he was appointed on two conditions:

First, that there should be no extra remuneration, and that the work should not interfere with his duties as judge. Sir Wilfrid would bring the correspondence down on Monday.

Then Mr. Borden moved an adjournment to discuss a matter of urgent public import. He complained first of the delay in laying the printed report of the Civil Service Commission before the House, since the document could not possibly be half as voluminous as Hansard, which was delivered to members next day.

It had been assumed by gentlemen opposite that the report of the commission concerned only one of the Departments. Mr. Borden did not accede to that principle. It seemed that a serious attempt was being made to dissociate the Government and the Minister in charge of one of the Departments from any responsibility for the condition of things disclosed by the civil service report.

When any Department of the Government was concerned in any charges it was the political head of the Department that was concerned.

That was an axiom so plain that it was surprising that it had escaped the notice of the Government.

So far as the appointment of Justice Cassels was concerned, Mr. Borden would say that if the Government had to go outside the gentlemen who had already made the investigation there was not one but would conclude that the Government had made a wise selection. Admitting that, what was the reason that the Government should go beyond the gentlemen appointed by themselves to appoint another gentleman?

Mr. Borden further asked why the limits of the investigation should be restricted to so very narrow a compass.

In this matter they were taking the same course as two years ago when the Prime Minister moved for an enquiry as to whether the capacity of the Arctic was sufficient to enable a cargo to be placed on board.

Mr. Borden said he moved an amendment to widen the scope so as to conduct an investigation into the affairs of the Department of Marine. This suggestion was characterized by the Prime Minister as "froth and wild talk." He did not know whether the report of the Civil Service Commission would be considered froth and wild talk.

Mr. Borden concluded by enquiring why the Government had selected for investigation one Department out of several involved in the report of the commission.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier complained that the leader of the Opposition had not seen fit to give him notice of his intention to discuss the question. Had he known that the matter was to be brought up he would have fortified himself with authorities to controvert Mr. Borden's arguments. There were two questions before the House. The first was as to the extent of responsibility of the administration for conditions said to exist in one of the Departments according to the report of the Civil Service Commission.

In conclusion Sir Wilfrid said:

"It does not matter to us upon whom the blow may fall, but in the discharge of the duty which we owe the people of this country, we want the whole truth. We will have the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

Mr. Haggart pointed out that when some years ago an officer in his Department was found to have conspired with an outsider to defraud the Treasury, he at once suspended every officer suspected in connection with the affair. He said the principals were sent for trial at the Criminal Courts. But here was the Government appointing a royal commission. For what purpose? To find out the offenders. And why was the Marine and Fisheries singled out, as if it were the only Department assailed by the Civil Service Commission report?

R. L. Borden, closing the debate, observed when in a tight place Sir Wilfrid always resorted to the complaint of discourtesy. At a previous sitting Sir Wilfrid himself, in laying the order-in-council upon the table, spoke upon it as no one else could, and he must have anticipated a discussion when the members should be seized of its contents.

Hamilton Radial Bill Passed.

Ottawa, April 4.—Beginning on Monday Government orders will have precedence after questions on every day.

The Commoners were summoned yesterday afternoon to the Senate side, where the administrator, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, assented to a number of bills.

Two thousand copies of the civil Service Commission report will be printed, Senator Ellis announced yesterday afternoon.

Labor Protest Against Present Methods of Immigration.

Kingston, April 4.—There was a large attendance at Labor Hall Thursday night when the following resolution in respect to immigration was passed by a unanimous vote:

"That this Trades and Labor Council condemn the system now in operation inducing wholesale immigration through the Salvation Army and other agencies to this country.

"That the secretary of the council write to the Premiers of the Federal and Provincial Governments protesting against any further grant being made to agents as bonuses. That we have no objection to the religious work carried on by the Salvation Army, but when they engage in the work of inducing immigrants to come to Canada, as a business enterprise, we enter an emphatic protest against this phrase of their work, especially as the money of the people of this country is being used for this purpose.

"A system of immigration is a hardship to toilers of Canada in forcing keener competition among our mechanics and laborers, in an already overcrowded market. In many instances an inferior and criminal class are brought to our shores and are a burden and a menace to our country."

STAMPEDE OF CATTLE.

Peoria, Ill., April 4.—Fire which started at the mill of Corning & Co.'s distillery early yesterday morning was still raging at 9.30 o'clock yesterday morning, and indications were that the entire plant, including two immense bonded warehouses, elevator, cattle yards, and storehouses, would be entirely wiped out. The damage so far is placed at between $750,000 and $1,000,000.

The firemen appeared unable to control the blaze, and devoted their efforts chiefly to saving property in the immediate vicinity.

Several explosions occurred, endangering the lives of the firemen. Soon after the fire started 50,000 gallons of spirits in the still plant were consumed, the result of an explosion in the warehouse.

Shortly after the first explosion 3,000 head of cattle stampeded and ran at large in the railroad yards.

BURGLARS WERE FOILED.

Winnipeg, April 4.—Leo Callaghan, accountant for Nicholson & Bain, manufacturers' agents, was shot on Thursday night by burglars who were attempting to rob the premises of the company.

Two men entered the warehouse and attempted to gain access to the vault. By the exercise of the greatest bravery, Callaghan closed and locked the vault doors, although he was fired at while doing so.

A second shot struck him in the foot. The burglars got away with only a few cents, which they took from the pocket of Callaghan's coat.

Denies the Charge.

Chatham, April 4.—Charged with wilfully setting the Joy Club at Mitchell's Bay on fire and thus causing it to be destroyed, Cephore Cedar of Dover Township was yesterday afternoon arraigned in the County Criminal Court, where he denied the charge. He was remanded.

Since the recent fire detectives and constables have worked hard. Cedar is a French youth of about 20 years, and requires an interpreter.

Robbed Jewelry Store.

Hagersville, April 4.—Some time early yesterday morning B. K. Griffith's jewelry store was entered and about $1,500 worth of valuable watches, rings, pins, etc., stolen.

On entering the shop yesterday morning, Mr. Griffith found everything strewn about the cases, and a large hole broken in one of his plate-glass front windows.

THE REDISTRIBUTION BILL

Whitney Explains—Liberal Leader's Amendment—Changes Should Stand Over Till After Next Census—A Four Million Dollars Loan—To Be Raised In England — Reports on Continuation Classes.

Toronto, April 4.—The curtain raiser to the debate upon the redistribution bill occurred in the Legislature yesterday when Hon. Mr. MacKay brought in an amendment suggesting that all changes be left over until the census of 1910.

Hon. Mr. Whitney moved the House into committee on the redistribution bill. The original intention had been, he said, for a general redistribution, but on going into the matter in detail it was found that the census was so old and inaccurate now as to be an unsafe guide. Referring to the work of the committee, the Prime Minister said that no suggestions had been forthcoming from the Opposition members on the committee. The only objections taken had been in relation to Middlesex, Huron and Toronto, and these he was prepared to justify. The division of Huron, as could be seen by reference to the map, was a geographical and proper one. In the absence of the member for West Middlesex (Mr. Duncan C. Ross) he would not discuss Middlesex. In reference to Toronto, its population was considerably over 300,000 and it was not fair to ask Toronto to be represented by Cabinet Ministers who were not elected by the people of Toronto and forego, on that account, the increased representation to which the city was entitled.

In the committee the member for Ottawa (Mr. May) challenged the increase for Toronto and the division of Ottawa. Ottawa, Mr. Whitney put in, would soon be entitled to increased representation.

Some years ago, Mr. Whitney continued, a voting arrangement was made by the then Government with a view to securing a successful candidate from their own party.

Mr. Whitney then explained the system for Toronto. Each of the four present ridings would elect two members. Each riding will have two separate and distinct seats for which members will be chosen on separate ballots. In each riding there will be a member A and a member B. There will be two separate nominations for each riding and separate ballots. A dozen men may be nominated for seat "A" in, say South Toronto, and a dozen men for seat "B." There will be two nominations in each riding and two separate ballots. "We may call the seats A and B," said Mr. Whitney.

Hon. Mr. MacKay moved the adjournment of the debate, submitting the following amendment:

"That the Speaker do not now leave the chair, but it be resolved that in the opinion of this House, in view of the fact that another redistribution of seats will naturally follow the decennial census of 1910, it is not desirable at present to make any change in the basis of representation except as to New Ontario which should have additional representation."

The House went into committee on Hon. Mr. Matheson's resolution to raise $4,000,000 on the credit of the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

In response to Hon. Mr. Harcourt's enquiry the Treasurer said that $12,000,000 had been expended on the T. & N. O. Railway, which was $3,000,000 more than had been borrowed. It would take over $1,000,000 of the proposed loan to finish the construction of the railway. "The remaining $3,000,000," observed the Minister, "will be available for other purposes." He proposed to get the money in England.

"I do not propose to ear-mark the money any further than the wording of the bill," declared the Treasurer when pressed as to its disposition. "It will be utilized for such purposes as may be required."

Mr. C. N. Smith (Sault) advocated the spending of the sum in the construction of the Manitoba and North Shore Railway and a line from Sudbury to Cobalt.

Hon. Dr. Pyne presented the reports on the Continuation Classes inspection and the agricultural departments in High Schools.

Hon. Mr. Monteith introduced an "act to prevent fraud in the manufacture of cheese and butter." Its objects are to give power to inspectors appointed by the Government to go on to the farms of persons supplying milk to cheese and butter factories and take and test samples so that by comparison with the milk delivered at a cheese or butter factory it may be more definitely determined whether the milk has been skimmed or watered. It is further designed to extend the provisions of the act to the supply of milk for cities, towns and villages. It will permit the appointment by the Government of qualified inspectors who shall investigate city and town milk, take samples of milk on the producers' farms, in transit to the city or town dealer, on the premises of the city dealer, or while being delivered to customers. The intention is to see that the milk as produced by the cow shall reach the consumer without watering or skimming. The Minister made a practical application. The city of Toronto would desire to have an inspector of city milk appointed under this act. The Minister of Agriculture would by order-in-council make the appointment, and the inspector would have the power conferred by the act. The city would pay for the services of the inspector whose business it would be to enforce the act, which has been found to work well in the case of creameries and cheese factories. The use of preservatives in milk is forbidden unless the milk so treated is publicly advertised to that effect.

BOWIN'S STRANGE DEFENCE.

Says Mrs. Welch Was Seen Alive Day After Murder.

Detroit, Mich., April 4.—Mrs. Cornelia Welch was alive on Saturday, Jan. 4, the day after Percy Bowin confessed to having murdered her.

That is Bowin's defence to the charge of murder upon which he is now being tried. In support of the theory, four witnesses swore positively yesterday afternoon that they saw Mrs. Welch on Saturday, when, according to the theory of the prosecution, she was dead at that time.

Martin V. Brown, who conducts an engraving and stationery establishment at 82 East Congress street, two doors from Mrs. Welch's place, declared unequivocally that he saw Mrs. Welch walking past shortly after 11 o'clock on the forenoon of Saturday, Jan. 4. His wife and daughter, Mattie, also testified that they saw Mrs. Welch in the afternoon of that day. John L. Elliott, driver of a beer wagon, said that he talked to Mrs. Welch at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, fifteen hours after Percy Bowin confessed to having killed her. His daughter Mattie said that between 1 and 2 o'clock of the same afternoon she saw Mrs. Welch walk past going east with her two dogs following her.

Must Give Up Formula.

London, April 4.—The magistrate of the Bow street Police Court yesterday issued an order to the bank in this city which holds the envelope alleged to contain Henry Lemoynes' formula for the manufacture of diamonds, to surrender this document to the French authorities demanding it.

Lemoyne is under arrest in Paris charged with obtaining money under false pretences from Sir Julius Charles Wernher of the De Beer Mining Co. The original demand for the envelope in question was made March 23, since which time the Bow street magistrate has consulted with the Home Office and as a result issued the order of yesterday.

Counsel for the bank brusquely declined to obey the order. The magistrate admitted that he had not the power to compel obedience, but he intimated that the matter would be taken before a higher authority.

Fell Fifty-Two Feet.

Parry Sound, April 4.—George Hillman, an employe of the Canada Foundry Co., engaged in the bridge erection work across the Pickerel River, fell off the bridge and dropped a distance of 52 feet.

His companions expected that he would be killed instantly, but, strange to say, he escaped without any very serious injury. The wrist of one arm was broken and dislocated, the other wrist being sprained and one finger broken, two ribs were badly broken and the back considerably bruised.

The injured man was brought to town was met by Dr. Biehn and taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where his injuries were attended to. He is doing very well.

Again the Deadly Bomb.

New York, April 4.—By the explosion of a bomb in a hallway of a five-storey tenement house in East 12th street, three men were injured, though not fatally, 15 Italian families were thrown into a panic and the walls, ceilings and flooring of the house were wrecked.

Cashier Arrested.

New York, April 4.—Daniel R. Delaney of Brooklyn, cashier of the banking firm of Henry E. Coe & Co., of Wall street, this city, was arrested at Mountaindale, this state, yesterday. He is charged with taking $28,000 of the firm's funds.

Slashed Threat and Died.

Carman, Man., April 4.—A. E. Pike, an Englishman, who attempted to commit suicide by slashing his throat with a razor, died in the hospital yesterday. Pike had become demented and while in the custody of a constable committed the rash act.

Why Obed Smith Protested.

London, April 4.—(C. A. P.)—The correspondence between the Church Army and Obed Smith is published, wherein the former protests against Smith refusing to pass immigrants sent to Toronto as a distributing centre for Ontario, rejecting forty-five to fifty immigrants submitted.

Replying, Smith upholds his action, pointing out that there are now one hundred employment agents in Ontario for the purpose of obviating the influx to large cities of people who claim they are going on the land.

Stamps Were Insured.

New York, April 4.—The first news of the finding by wreckers of a quantity of Newfoundland postage stamps lost from the wreck of the steamer Sylvia, on Cuttyhunk Island, on the Massachusetts coast, was received by the American Bank Note Co., which printed the stamps, in news despatches published yesterday.

At the office of the company it was said that the value of the stamps, which were fully insured, would not reach $100,000.

Thirty-Six British Seamen Went Down to Death.

CRUISER WRECKS DESTROYER

Disastrous Collision Off Isle of Wight —Victims Dressed In Heavy Oilskins —Commander Among the Drowned—Vessels Were Manoeuvring In the Dark — Those Who Escaped Are Mostly Stokers.

Portsmouth, Eng., April 4.—Thirty-six men, including Lieut. Middleton, the commander of the torpedo boat destroyer Tiger, lost their lives in the collision off the Isle of Wight Thursday night between that vessel and the British cruiser Berwick.

The vessels belong to the Portsmouth division of the British home fleet and were engaged in night manoeuvres in the Channel while on their way to Portland.

The night was dark and the Berwick was steaming slowly. When the destroyer attempted to cross the big cruiser's bow she was caught amidships and cut in half with knife-like precision, sinking almost immediately.

The deck crew, who were dressed in heavy oilskins and boots, went down with the vessel, not having time to free themselves from the heavy encumbrances. Most of the twenty-two men rescued were engineers and stokers who, having light clothing, were able to keep themselves afloat until boats from other ships picked them up.

The collision occurred at 8.15 o'clock at night. The ships were manoeuvering without lights. It is believed that several of the men were killed by the impact. Tugs were despatched to the scene of the disaster at daylight, and divers will make an attempt to recover the bodies of the drowned men.

The smaller naval vessels were in the midst of an attack on their bigger consorts when the disaster occurred. The entire fleet was under masked lights and in the absolute darkness the Tiger was suddenly struck square amidships by the Berwick. The sharp stem of this vessel cut the destroyer in two as if she had been made of paper. The forward half sank instantaneously, and the sea became dotted with struggling men. Most of them, however, sank before help could reach them.

The warships in the immediate vicinity quickly had their boats overboard and the scene of the tragedy was brilliantly illuminated by a concentration of searchlights. The after portion of the Tiger floated long enough to enable those on board to seize lifeboats. They threw themselves into the water and were able to keep afloat until picked up.

Lieut. William E. Middleton was on the bridge at the time of the disaster and went down with the forepart of the ship. The Tiger had a complement of 80 men and was of 400 tons.

A stoker rescued from the Tiger gave a vivid account of the accident. "The Berwick flew up out of the blackness and seemed to fall on us," said this man. "The noise of the impact was not great, but in a few seconds we were ripped in halves. The forward half of the Tiger reared up like a frightened horse and then sank beneath the waves. The engineer lieutenant, who was in the engine room in the afterpart, shouted, "All hands on deck!' but owing to the hissing of the steam and the noise of the engines, many could not hear him. When we did realise what had happened we made frantic efforts to get on deck. The water was pouring down into the hold in great torrents and it was all we could do to make our way against it. Everything happened with startling suddenness. A minute or two after the collision we were drifting past the Berwick in the full glare of the searchlights. The next thing I remember is being dragged into one of the rescuing boats, in a semi-conscious condition."

The Berwick was one of the four cruisers that visited Quebec with the Prince of Battenburg's squadron two years ago.

Long Dog Sledge Trip.

New York, April 4.—When seven Alaskan dogs, drawing an Alaskan sledge on wheels trotted into City Hall park late Thursday, their driver, Elf A. Smith, completed probably the longest dog sledge trip on record and won a wager, said to be for $10,000 of nearly three years' standing.

Smith is a minister and formerly Government mail driver in Alaska. When he stepped in to visit Mayor McClellan he had completed, he said, a trip entirely by land, from Nome, finishing it in a month less than two years and a half.

Smiths' regularity in making his mail trips through the wilds and snows of Alaska with dogs as a motive power resulted finally in a wager being made that he could make a trip with his outfit to New York from Nome in two and one-half years.

Talk of Church Union.

London, April 4.—(C. A. P.)—Important proposals with a view to the union of the Presbyterian and English churches of Australia will be submitted to the Lambeth conference, and subsequently further considered in Australia. The Archbishop of Melbourne hopes the movement may result in very startling consequences.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTION CONTEST

FIRST SERIES IN WEEKLY COMPETITION PUBLISHED TODAY—THEY MUST BE ANSWERED EVERY WEEK IN THE YEAR.

C.M.B.A. RECEIVE HOLY COMMUNION IN A BODY AT ST. PETER'S — ANNIVERSARY OF CHARLOTTE STREET SUNDAY SCHOOL — REV. JOHN GARBUTT OF BELLEVILLE HERE.

MANY have been making inquiries about the questions bearing on the International Sunday School Lessons, the first series of which is today presented to Examiner readers. Each contestant in this Bible Study Club must answer each of the written questions for fifty-two consecutive weeks, commencing Sunday, April 5, 1908, and the answers must all be in the possession of the Examiner by April 19, 1909. Each question of each of the fifty-two series must be answered separately and the paper written on one side only. No answer must exceed two hundred words in length, and may be less. It will be a convenience if the students will write their names on letter paper, size about 8 1-2 by 11 inches. The questions must be delivered or mailed to the Examiner office, where they will be collected at the close of the contest and forwarded to the headquarters of The International Newspaper Bible Study Club for independent examination by competent examiners. The Sunday school lesson and questions are as follows:

Verse 1 — What did Jesus mean by the "Sheepfold?" (See Acts xx: 28).

What conditions are necessary today to join the various branches of the Christian church?

What is the only condition which Jesus requires for joining the church, or entering into the Christian sheepfold?

How does the one who is a member of the church, having entered it in "some other way" than the Jesus way, resemble "a thief and a robber?"

Verses 2-5 — How and when did Jesus join God's church on earth?

When, and from whom, did Jesus receive His appointment as the shepherd of the church?

What are the demonstrated qualifications which Jesus has for being the chief shepherd of the flock, called the church?

How does Jesus speak to His followers, other than through the church and the Bible? (See John xiv; 26.)

Is the "voice" (verses 4, 5) in which the Holy Spirit speaks, so clear that a real disciple of Jesus cannot misunderstand it?

Is there any danger that some other "voice" may be taken for that of the Holy Spirit of Jesus?

Verse 6 — Is it necessarily a sign or lack of spirituality, or real good sense, when a person does not understand any of the parables of Jesus?

Verses 7-9—Does the word "door" in these verses have the same meaning as in verse 2?

In what sense is Jesus the "door" into God's spiritual church? (See Eph. ii: 18.)

What class of men are they before and during the ministry of Jesus, or since, that He called "thieves and robbers?"

What motives prompt those religious teachers who put themselves before" Jesus, or that oppose His teaching?

Verse 10—Are there to-day professedly religious persons who plan to hurt people, and not to do them good?

Are there religious teachers yet, whose object is "to steal and to kill and to destroy?" If so, specify.

Verses 11-15—Will every true under shepherd give his life for the sheep, as Jesus did, should that be necessary?

Verse 16—Does "other sheep". . . not of this fold" refer to every other religion in the world, or what is the limit of the reference?

(This question is to be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Verses 17-18—What is the noblest characteristic of every good man, beginning with Jesus?

BIBLE CLASS HELD BANQUET

In Class Room of George Street Methodist Church Last Night—Splendid Toast List.

OVER SIXTY WERE PRESENT

Mr. George Robertson, the leader of the Friendly Bible Class of the George Street Methodist Sunday School, entertained about sixty of the members to a banquet in the class room. The dainty spread which had been so tastefully arranged was heartily enjoyed by all present. Mr. Pratt, the president of the class, occupied the chair.

During the evening the following posed by the chairman and the class responded by singing the National Anthem.

"Our Country" was proposed by Mr. H. McGill and Messrs. D. W. Dumble and B. F. Ackerman responded.

"Our Church," was proposed by Mr. Wallace Armstrong and responded to by Rev. E. A. Pearson and Mr. A. W. Cressman.

"Our Sunday School" was proposed by G. Ingham and responded to by Dr. Middleton and Mr. J. J. Hartley.

"Our Class" was proposed by Mr. Harry Cressman and responded to by Messrs. Walter Metheral and E. Daly.

"The Ladies" was proposed by Mr. Max Dabbin and was responded to by Mr. McCann.

Duhring the evening the following programme was splendidly rendered:

Solo—Mr. Wright.
Solo—Mr. Mallory.
Instrumental solo—Mr. C. Ackerman.
Quartette—Messrs. Pickard, Mallory, Gray and Miles.

Before the banquet broke up a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the ladies of Mr. McCann's class who waited on table.

AN EVANGELIST FROM ENGLAND TO PETERBOROUGH

Douglas Russell, an evangelist from England, with a world-famed reputation, has been invited by the Gospel Hall to come to Peterborough and his visit will be made next Saturday, April 11th. Thirty-five years ago he was here and many now residing here, it is said, are converts due to his work at that time. He is now in Hamilton and on his way to Belleville will remain here for one week. From Belleville he goes to New York and from there home to England.

Mr. Russel is a hymn writer and to-morrow evening at the Gospel Hall Mr. G. W. Mulligan will sing one of his hymns.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL TO HOLD ANNIVERSARY AT CHARLOTTE STREET

The Sunday School of Charlotte Street Methodist Church will hold their anniversary to-morrow. The scholars of the school will take their places in the body of the church, where a special service will be held. Rev. J. Garbutt, of Bowmanville, will give an anniversary address in the morning and will also speak in the afternoon and night. Special music has been prepared and there should be a large attendance.

Young Men And Old Need The Gospel In Lumber Camps

Rev. Mr. Munt Describes the Vastness of the Work of Visiting the Camps and the Need of More Help.

A MOST WORTHY CAUSE

The missionary work in the Ontario lumber camps was dealt with in an impressive manner by Rev. Mr. Munt in a lecture in St. Andrew's Sunday school room. He is the missionary supported by the W. C. T. U. to carry on this phase of the missionary work and the great need of more missionaries to advance the work.

According to Mr. Munt there are 30,000 men engaged in lumbering in Ontario, and 40,000 more in the railway and mining work. Mr. Munt has had under his charge the counties of Haliburton, Peterborough, Parry Sound, Muskoka and East Nipissing. Mr. Munt gave a strong address on the great need of men to preach the Gospel to those men who are isolated in the back country among conditions that are very demoralizing. Not only the men, but there are boys who work in the camps, and the prevailing spirit is one of ungodliness and irreligion.

Mr. Munt mentioned the extreme difficulty which one man experiences in his endeavour to cover this large district. In fact, it is practically impossible in one season, and at least the visits are altogether too infrequent. Mr. Munt, by many stories of camp life, made a strong plea for assistance in promoting the work. In all his trips he never had been treated on any occasion with disrespect. The men are glad to see his coming, as they have evidenced in their earnestness in the meetings which he conducts. The foreman also assist Mr. Munt and his reception among the lumbermen is one of the most encouraging features of his duties.

One week is spent in each camp, with evening meetings and Sunday services. The men greet with pleasure the bags which the women of the churches send to them. They contain necessaries which the camp is not well provided with.

At the conclusion of his address Rev. Mr. Munt was tendered a vote of thanks, on motion of Mr. H. winch and Rev. J. J. Wright. Any persons wishing to send contributions may send their communications to Mrs. E. D. Lewis, the president of the local branch of the W. C. T. U.

RECEPTION TO THE MEMBERS BY YOUNG PEOPLE

Another very successful reception was held at the Y.M.C.A. last night by one of the young people's societies of this city. This time the Murray street B.Y.P.U. rendered a most enjoyable programme, consisting of the following numbers, Rev. Mr. Webb making a most entertaining chairman:

Chairman's Address.
Piano duet—"Processional March"—Misses Quinn and Walker.
Vocal solo—"Driving a Bargain"—Miss Nellie Pilling.
Reading—Tennyson's "Revenge" — Mr. Geo. Martin.
Piano duet—"Over Hill and Vale"—Miss Hope Miller and Mr. Bruce Quinn.
Recitation—"Changing Colours" — Annie Hardill.
Humourous Reading — "A Country School"—Mr. W. Garbutt.
Vocal solo—"Song of Smashing" — Miss Clara Kidd.
Reading — "Schoolboys' Strike' — Miss Browett.
Piano duet—Misses Elcombe.

The programme committee consisted Misses Hardwicke and Martin and Messrs. Hooker and Garbutt, and the committee in charge of the refreshments was Misses Webber, Stanley, Parrin, Barnard, Garbutt and Hardwicke, assisted by Messrs. Ellis, Laing, Shiner, Hardwicke and Garbutt.

After the programme the audience adjourned to the gymnasium and witnessed a fast and interesting basketball match, after which refreshments were served to over a hundred.

THE ANNIVERSARY OF KNOX CHURCH ON SUNDAY NEXT

A week from to-morrow the congregation of Knox Church will celebrate their first anniversary. The event if looked forward to with deep interest by the members and full preparations are now being made. In the afternoon a mass meeting for men will be held in the Sunday school at 4.15. A male choir and a large orchestra have been engaged for the meeting. Rev. W. D. Reid, B.D., of Montreal, will speak to the men; topic, "The Second ." The reverend gentleman is an able speaker and it is hoped that a large number will hear him.

On Monday evening a festival will be held in the school house and everything will be done in Scotch style. Rev. W. D. Reid will give a lecture on his trip through Scotland, which promises to be very interesting. The music of the evening will be supplied by several pipers and this novel feature should prove very interesting.

HONOURED BY BOARD OF TRADE

WITH A TESTIMONIAL

The following from the Moon, Melfort, Sask., relates to Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Jarvis, formerly well known and greatly valued residents of Peterborough. Mr. Jarvis was formerly of the Bank of Commerce here.

At a special meeting of the Melfort Board of Trade held on Monday night, the 23rd inst., Mr. Jarvis, manager of the Bank of Commerce, who has been transferred to the branch at Humboldt and leaves shortly, was presented with a testimonial and a gold locket from the Board of Trade and citizens of Melfort, as a token of their esteem. The testimonial was read by Mr. Rutledge, president of the Board and was as follows:

To E. R. Jarvis, Esq., Melfort, Sask.

Dear Sir,—This is being probably one of the last occasions on which we will meet you in a public way we take the opportunity of stating how very much your services as a citizen of the Town of Melfort have been appreciated. As manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce since its commencement here you have made hosts of friends, not only for yourself, but for the great banking institution which you represent, while your services as president of the Board of Trade last year were of great benefit to the town and district in all the offices you have filled, your work has been so well done that it will be extremely hard to find a successor. While we regret exceedingly your loss from amongst us we congratulate you on a well deserved promotion and trust that it will be only the first of many.

We have much pleasure in presenting you with a small testimonial in token of our esteem and hope that on occasional glance at it will in the future revive memories of the many friends you have left behind you in Melfort.

JAMES RUTLEDGE,
President Melfort Board of Trade.
March 23rd, 1908.

Mr. Jarvis, in a very fitting reply, thanked the Board for their gift and testimonial, and stated that he would always have pleasant memories of our town and of the people he had met here. On sitting down he was given an ovation and "He a Jolly Good Fellow," was heartily sung by all present. After this speeches were made by several members, Mayor Johnston leading off, among the speakers being Mr. Whitehouse, the new manager of the Bank of Commerce.

The proceedings were brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," all of the members joining hands.

There was a large attendance.

The same issue contains the following:

At a meeting of the Ladies' Hospital Aid held on Saturday, the 21st inst., at the residence of Mrs. A. E. Wild, Mrs. Jarvis, who has taken a leading part in the labours of the aid, was presented with two pieces of cut glass as a memento of her services.

MRS. W. A. STAUNTON LAID TO REST

Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's Church Attended in a Body.

The funeral of the late Margaret Hussey, wife of Mr. W. A. Staunton, 20 Benson avenue, was held this afternoon from the family residence to St. John's church and thence to the Little Lake cemetery. The pall-bearers were her four sons, William, Clarence, Ernest and Harvey, and Messrs. S. Touchbourne and T. W. Wood. The Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's church attended the funeral in a body.

Her son, Wilfrid, of Santa Barbara, Cal., did not arrive in time to see the remains laid to rest.

The sons surviving are Thomas of Orillia, William of Port Arthur, Wilfrid, Santa Barbara, Cal.; Ernest, city; Clarence, St. Paul, Minn., and Harvey, city. The daughters are Mrs. T. W. Wood, Orillia; Margaret, Sadie and Maude, at home, and also an adopted daughter, Florence.

BANK DIRECTORS ARE LIABLE

AN IMPORTANT JUDGMENT

The following despatch from Halifax referring to the judgment in connection with the liability of the directors of the defunct Yarmouth Bank will be of interest here: The full bench of the Nova Scotia Supreme Court on Saturday gave a unanimous decision that the directors of the defunct Bank of Yarmouth are personally liable to the shareholders for a portion, at least, of the losses by the failure of the bank, and an order was granted that they make restitution. This decision comes by the granting of an appeal made by the shareholders from a judgment of Mr. Justice Townsend that the directors were not thus responsible. The decision is that the directors must repay to the liquidator, who is acting for shareholders and creditors, the amount of the last dividend, and also the amount of the loss by the Redding account since August, 1904, with interest at five per cent. on both. The paid-up capital of the bank was $300,000, and the dividend of 5 per cent., therefore amounts to $15,000. The loss by the Reddings since the date mentioned has not yet been figured out exactly, but it is probably enough to make the total sum payable by the directors as much as $30,000 or perhaps more.

The Bank of Yarmouth failed more than two years ago, its downfall having been caused largely by this Redding account, which involved hundreds of thousands. The decision is important, as making directors liable for negligence in management, and holding that it cannot be shouldered on the manager if it be proved that by proper supervision on their part defalcations could be made known and stopped. Mr. Justice Meagher delivered the judgment of the Court in accordance with this view. It was concurred in by Mr. Justice Laurence, with the exception that the opinion of the latter judge was that the directors are not liable to pay the dividend. Mr. Justice Russell concurred with Judge Meagher, but was of the opinion that the directors should be held liable for losses commencing at a still earlier date. Mr. Justice Longley's judgment arrived at the same result as Judge Meagher's, whose judgment becomes the decision of the court as a whole. The liquidator represents everybody interested in the assets, creditors and shareholders alike.

Under the double liability, creditors have been paid off, and the liquidator is now winding up in the interest of the shareholders. This decision, in a measure, is to recoup the shareholders for mismanagement of the directors.

It is probable that an appeal will be taken to the Supreme Court of Canada. The president of the Bank of Yarmouth was Senator John Bovell.

ARGENTINE OATS FOR PETERBOROUGH MILLS

Also 25,000 Bushels to go to New York —A High Price.

The Daily Trade Bulletin of Chicago of April 3, says:—A cargo of Argentine oats has been bought by the American Cereal Company for its Ontario Mills and 25,000 bushels have been bought to go to New York, the latter at 52c., duty paid in New York.

WAS FOUND DRUNK ON SIMCOE STREET

Young Man Arrested by P. C. Newhall This Afternoon.

A young man was found intoxicated this afternoon on the steps of the Exodior Fruit Cleaning Company's premises, Simcoe street, by P. C. Newhall. He had been lying there for some time and a large crowd was watching the unfortunate man. The officer had great difficulty in getting him to the police station, and when the prisoner was lodged in the cell he became very abusive.

SCHOOL BOY STRUCK BY ENGINE OF G.P.R. EXPRESS AND HURLED UNDER PASSING FREIGHT TRAIN

News was received in the city yesterday of the tragic death of Stanley E. Hoover, eldest son of Alpheus Hoover, of Green River, who was struck by the early morning C. P. R. express at Locust Hill.

He had spent Saturday night at the station and about six o'clock boarded an east bound freight to carry him part of the way home. When it began to get up speed for some reason he jumped off and in doing so stumbled onto the next track just in front of the west bound express. The engine hurled him back under the freight train, and, it is said, was horribly mangled.

Studied Telegraphy

Young Hoover was a student at the Markham High School and was greatly interested in the study of telegraphy. For this reason he spent much of his time around the station. On Saturday evening he left the station, presumably for home, and finding that the other members of the family had retired, returned to the station to spend the night.

He was only fifteen years of age but was far advanced in his studies owing to his natural talents and ability. It is learned that he has distant relatives in the city.

VICTORIA COUNTY WOMAN SEEKING DIVORCE IN CHICAGO

Mrs. Bowins Says It Is Too Expensive in Canada—Her Husband Born in Victoria, Too.

SEPARATED SIX YEARS

A despatch from Chicago to Toronto on Saturday, referring to a native of Victoria County seeking a divorce, says:

Mrs. Ada Bowins, a young woman of Toronto, Canada, is making inquiries here as to the possibilities for obtaining a divorce from her husband, who is also a Canadian. The woman's inquiries are made especially respecting the cost of the proceedings as she has found out it would be too expensive for her to get one through the Canadian Senate at Ottawa.

Mrs. Bowins was seen by a Toronto reporter and she explained that her reason for inquiring as to a divorce in Chicago was because she found out the proceedings were too expensive in Canada. She had consulted a city lawyer who thought the cost would be in the neighbourhood of $450, which she is in no position to pay. She therefore gave up all boughtt of getting any relief here, so she directed her attention to the laws of Chicago. Mrs. Bowins, who is twenty-eight years of age, has been married for twelve years, and has four children who are at present with their grandparents. Her husband has been separated from her for the past six years, during which he has spent several terms in prison, his first conviction being for cattle stealing. Mrs. Bowins and her husband are both natives of Victoria County, Ontario. Mrs. Bowins is at present employed as a waitress. Her husband, who is said to be an uncle of Percy Bowins, now on trial at Detroit on a charge of murder and who is at present believed to be in Kansas City, will, it is understood, not oppose the application for divorce should one be made.

Had To WAlk Seven Miles To Their Home After Marketing

While Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sage and wife, of Smith, who live on the homestead formerly owned by Mr. G W Fitzgerald, were driving home their horse was stricken with ataxia, a form of paralysis and they had to walk the rest of the seven miles. The horse was overcome on Water street, between Lawson and Dublin streets and was taken into Mr. P. Grady's stable. Dr. Johnston was called and treated the horse and yesterday Mr. Sage was able to take his horse home recovered from its temporary paralysis.

At the time the affair happened he was much alarmed about the animal as he valued it at $160 and was offered that sum for it a short time ago.

The walk to their home in Smith was by no means a pleasureable one as it was dark when they resumed their way and the highway was very bad for walking.

Relief Restaurant To Close Owing To Scarcity Of Funds

It is likely that the soup kitchen, which has been conducted by the Children's Aid Society in the south end of the city, will be closed this week, not from a lack of people requiring assistance but rather from a paucity of funds. Since the first of the year the relief restaurant has been open daily dispensing from 68 to 75 meals per day. In addition to soup, meat and bread have been given out and a large number of people have been dependent upon this restaurant for sustenance. The funds available for the purpose, however, are gone and the society is reluctantly compelled to close the place, although they realize in so doing a hardship will be conferred upon families, the heads of which have not yet been able to secure employment.

EMPRESS AND MANITA ARE REPORTED SOLD

So Says Lindsay Despatch—To Some Peterborough Syndicate.

The Lindsay Post says:—The steamers Empress and Manita were sold yesterday by the Trent Valley Navigation Company to a Peterborough syndicate. It is the intention of the purchasers to place both steamers on the route between Peterborough and Mooney Lake. The sale was effected through Mr. R H Rogers, ex-Superintendent of the Trent Valley Canal. The steamer Manita will be greatly relished by the Sturgeon Point cottagers. She is a fast and steady craft, and her officers were always courteous and obliging.

PAID A LONG STANDING FINE IN COURT TO-DAY

Cavan Man Fined Last November—Was Unable to Get into the City Until To-day.

After an absence of nearly six months, Edward Shields who was fined $2.00 at the beginning of last November in the police court for being drunk came back to pay his fine to-day. He has had steady employment in Cavan and has been unable to get away. He wrote the Court a letter asking him to hold over the fine until he arrived in the city. He produced a wad of bills of all denominations and produced the necessary amount. Shields said he was going to spend a few days in the hospital before going back to Cavan.

ACTIVITY IN BUILDING IN THE COUNTRY

Gentleman Connected With Business States His Experience.

A prominent gentleman connected with building operations, speaking this morning said that there are evidences which point to the fact that there will be unusual activity in building among the farmers. During the winter they have drawn lumber and hardware and even now there are numerous houses under way. In some cases it is an entirely new house, in others it is simply applying brick veneer to those that were left unfinished.

This activity promises to be rather general throughout the country and should affect the city buildings, putting new life into the prospects.

PARTICULARS OF THE MAY INSTITUTE

Special Reference Made in the Churches Yesterday.

In the various city churches yesterday the coming missionary institute was fully dealt with and explained. The dates chosen for meetings are May 4, 5 and 6.

A little circular tells in a few words all about the institute. It is a convention for awakening missionary enthusiasm in the churches, and for studying in a practical manner how to organize and conduct missionary work. Those holding it are the missionary boards of all the churches in a far-reaching propaganda of missionary education. Churches, missionaries and young people's organizations within a radius of sixty miles of Peterborough are expected to send delegates. Pastors, presidents of societies or other officials, and members of churches and societies are free to attend as delegates, and the sessions will be open to the general public.

Among the speakers and leaders who will attend the convention are the following: Rev. T E E Shore B.D.; Rev. J G Brown, M.D.; Rev. Canon Tucker, LL.D.; Rev. J C Speight Mason, M. D.; Rev. P P McK... D. D.; Rev. A E Armstrong M.A.; Rev. A C Millman, Rev. J. ... Bruce.

There will be many delegates in the city, and the citizens are expected to show the hospitality which has marked past occasions of this kind.

LIBERAL CONVENTION.

A convention, to take the form of a mass meeting of the members and supporters of the Liberal party in West Peterborough, will be held in the Grand Opera House on Wednesday, April 15, at 2 o'clock p.m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate in the Liberal interests to contest the representation of West Peterborough in the Provincial Legislature at the forthcoming general elections. Hon. A. G. MacKay, Provincial Liberal leader, will be present and deliver an address upon questions of Provincial interest. It is desirable that there be present a large gathering of the members and supporters of the Liberal party, to the end that the gathering may be representative of every part of the riding. Mr. MacKay has promised to be present, and those who attend will be treated to an eloquent and informing address on Provincial public questions.

THE BETTER WAY.

The decision of the Board of Works not to put all their financial eggs into one basket is a wise one. We have, if this decision is acted upon, reason to expect an improvement of the city highways. These have been neglected in favour of pavements and sewers. The Board has decided that this year there will be no considerable amount of pavement construction undertaken, except in cases of necessity, or to carry out unavoidable obligations incurred by last year's Council. Last year there was considerable injudicious, if not reckless, expenditure of money, especially on sewers. It is difficult to see how the construction of sewers on seven streets not served by water can be defended. Such work is practically useless, and the money spent might better have been spent on our highways. The decision of the Board to give greater attention to the latter is a wise one. We have, on the whole, and apart from some atrocious levels and lines, splendid pavements, but there the cause for congratulation ends. The highways do not correspond. It is to be hoped that the Board will get itself together and adopt some systematic way of dealing with our highways. It is to be also hoped that each member will procure some work on road-making, which Mr. A. W. Campbell, Provincial Commissioner of Highways, will willingly furnish, and saturate his mind with the cardinal principles of road-making. It would not be at all a bad idea to call Mr. Campbell into council. It is a part of his duty to look after such matters in the interests of municipalities. He is a man of wide experience, expert knowledge, and with a national enthusiasm in the matter of good roads. As soon as the season opens, might not the Board of Works bring Mr. Campbell to Peterborough, have him look over our streets generally, and cooperate with the Board in devising some system which will prevent the waste of money and the undesirable results that come from unsystematic, hap-hazard and patch-work practices in dealing with our city highways? He could give valuable suggestions, he could suggest feasible plans of how to do it to replace the practice of how not to do it. If, however, the Board does not see fit to take expert advice, which would be of value in the matter of principle, as well as detail, it would be well to remember two cardinal principles of proper road-making—thorough drainage, an incident in another primary principle, good foundation, as the bottom plank of permanent roadways. With this should be conjoined the principle of keeping highways in good repair, once they are well made. In the past, the City Council has constructed what it considered a good article of street at a considerable cost. This has been also considered its whole duty. Then the sidered its whole duty. There the responsibility ended; the street was left severely alone. When defects developed they were permitted to continue going on from bad to worse, till the roadway has been ruined. And this, when a very little attention to needed repairs would have kept the roadway in good condition indefinitely, and the people would have had a good return for their money. That is, however, not the only element in the destruction of good highways. There has been an almost overt, so to speak, indifference to surface drainage. Good streets have been allowed to be saturated with water, a potent element in their destruction, when, in the majority of cases, a few hours' work in proving surface drainage would have provided good drainage, and added years to the life of the road. It is to be hoped that, as the Board of Works have taken a good initial step in deciding to give greater attention to our highways, they will follow it up intelligently by advertising a good system, whose absence in the past has resulted in not only great waste of the ratepayers' money, but has given us execrable streets for vehicular purposes. Let them adopt the better way.

THE PRINCIPLE PREVENTS.

The application of the snow ploughing contractors for an increase of pay, on account of the unusually heavy snow fall of last winter in natural, and but for the establishment of a bad precedent and the violation of a sound principle, might be regarded favourably. The snow fall last winter was the greatest in years, and it is not rash to say that never in recent years has the work of its removal been better attended to and with more satisfactory results—a credit both to the chairman of the Board, Ald. Phelan and the contractors. The contractors, as well as the citizens at large, have had more snow than they bargained for with the weather man. The price the contractors tendered for was doubtless ample for a normal snow fall, but they consider it too small for the mountains of snow they had to deal with. They should, however, remember that for the first part of the winter they had a holiday, there being an absence of snow till well on in January. However, they had it hard enough and but for the undesirable principle of post mortem revision of contracts and the establishment of an equally undesirable precedent their request for a bonus could re regarded as reasonable. But to apply this generally to municipal and private contracts would unjoint business altogether and lead to no end of trouble.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The London Times, dealing editorially with another article by Dr. Shadwell on "Industrial Canada," says that though Canada has had to face many problems, Canadians have shown a dignity and sense of responsibility in their deliberations and decisions which is in keeping with their commercial stability and worthy of the envy of much older nations.

The promptness with which the Ottawa Government has appointed Judge Cassels, who cannot be suspected of any particular leanings toward the Liberal party, to investigate the charges which have been made reflecting on the Marine and Fisheries Department, is, says the Brantford Expositor, most gratifying, and indicates the intention of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to insist on strict rectitude in the various branches of the public service. It is to be hoped that as a result there will be perfected such a system of purchasing supplies for the Government service as to put an end to favouritism and grafting of every description.

Our evening contemporary should call a halt in its crusade of detraction of Peterborough and Canada to note how other cities resent the role of the civic slanderer. Nelson, British Columbia, is in a great fever of protest against a minister who has been saying uncomplimentary things about the town. The press and people declare that the statements are libellous. While there may be conditions in every community not as desirable as they might be, there is such a thing as discretion in the way of dealing with them. They should not be exaggerated, spread abroad and published, without any good results and only for the purpose of promoting personal or party profit.

Rabid party journals are wont to declare that the contractors on the Grand Trunk Pacific are guilty of practices, and of permitting conditions, which are destructive to the health and life of the workmen employed. This is done to give a black eye to the Government and the Transcontinental. As prima facie evidence that these strictures are not justified, the departmental engineer of the railway has invited the most effective investigation possible. He has invited the press, irrespective of political affiliations, to send representatives over the route to study the conditions of the camps, in order to satisfy the public that everything possible is being done to protect the lives and insure the comfort of the labourers. This would reveal the truth or falsity—the latter most probably, of the statements made. There can't be much wrong where there is nothing to conceal. If the conditions were anything like what is asserted, the keen nose of the newspaper investigator would not be invited to insert itself.

THE PROVINCIAL CAMPAIGN.

Ottawa Free Press.

The Liberals of the Province of Ontario have no reason to be ashamed of the result of the present legislative session. They have an admirable leader in Hon. A. G. MacKay, a man whose attention to his business as leader of the party is such that all private interests are put aside. It was a difficult position which Mr. MacKay was called upon to fill upon the retirement of Hon. G. P. Graham last fall, but that he had made good is the general opinion of all who have followed the proceedings of the Ontario Legislature this year.

We here in Ottawa, accustomed to the national issues which are fought out in the House of Commons, are inclined perhaps, naturally by the mere matter of environment, to disregard the proceedings of the Legislature. No greater mistake could be made. The Legislature is an institution which affects us all, perhaps to a greater extent than does the work of the Dominion Parliament; and it is, therefore, the duty of every citizen of Eastern Ontario to give at least a portion of his political thought to the proceedings in Queen's Park.

The news columns of the Free Press have told its readers of the determination of a small band of Liberals in the Legislature to do what lies in their power to prevent the gigantic gerrymander which the Whitney Government contemplates, and which seems impossible to prevent. This is one of the issues which will have to be decided within the next two months between the Whitney Government and the electors of the province. That a party which secured power upon the claim of fair play to all sections should attempt to perpetrate such an outrage as is contained in the "Redistribution bill" now before the Legislature, ought in itself to be sufficient reason to convert all fair-minded men to a consideration of the policy which Hon. A. G. MacKay offers to the province.

Let us see what that policy is:

Economy in the public expenditure, instead of the alarming increase which has taken place under the Whitney regime in the past three years.

Civil service reform and the abolition of the spoils system as practised by Messrs. Hanna and Cochrane especially.

A clear and explicit policy upon the electric power question, not a continuance of the petty quibbling between Mr. Beck and the municipalities of Western Ontario, but a policy which will ensure to the whole of the province, and not merely to a favoured section, the benefits which ought to be secured to the people from our magnificent water-powers.

Majority rule in the matter of the control of the liquor traffic and not a game in which the dice are loaded in favour of the liquor dealers.

Fair play for the farmers by securing a larger amount of the expenditure of the moneys of the province on the country districts and less upon the favoured lawyers of the cities; and,

Above all, a policy which will ensure the advance of Ontario to the northward, following up the courageous policy of Hon. G. W. Ross. The Government railway, a creation of the Liberal party (although now an adopted child of the Conservatives), should be extended without delay to the shores of James Bay in order that Ontario may obtain the benefits of her geographic position in the struggle which is imminent for the trade of the north.

THE REASON

Why J. C. Brady Continues to Recommend Vinol.

First: Because it is not a patent medicine and it contains besides tonic iron all of the medicinal curative elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but without a drop of oil to nauseate and upset the stomach and retard its work; therefore, wherever old-fashioned cod liver oil or emulsions will do good, Vinol will do far more good.

Second; Because Vinol acts first upon the stomach, creates a healthy appetite, strengthens and tones up the digestive organs, purifies and enriches the blood, and, in a natural manner restores health and strength.

Third: Because Vinol contains no injurious drugs to react upon the system; every ingredient being named on the label, a patient knows exactly what he is taking.

Fourth: Because we never sold anything in our store that gave such universal satisfaction for old people, weak, sickly women and children' nursing mothers, and to build up the system after a severe sickness, and for relieving hacking coughs, chronic colds, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles.

A PONTYPOOL MAN IN COURT

Charged With Being Drunk on Saturday —Must Get Out of the City.

George Mailley, of Pontypool, was the only prisoner in the box at the police court this morning and was charged with being drunk in a public place on Saturday. He pleaded guilty to the charge and said he had just come to Peterborough to spend the afternoon and had got drunk.

His Worship allowed him to go if he would get out of the city at once.

Canadas Development For The Next Ten Years

Opinion of an Eminent United States Financial Authority—Not Jealous of Our Heritage.

BUYING LAND IN CANADA

Montreal, April 4. — (Special.) — "The probability is that the development throughout Western Canada during the next ten years will exceed that of any other country in the world's history," is not the statement of an optimistic Canadian from the banks of the Saskatchewan, but that of Leslie M. Shaw of New York, ex-Secretary of the Treasury under McKinley and Roosevelt, and considered one of the ablest financiers of the United States, who is now in the city on private business, and who spoke at the Windsor in the most interesting manner of matters political and financial in both the Dominion and the Republic.

Mr. Shaw, being twice Governor of the State of Iowa, understands the conditions in the West, and he declared here that it would be almost impossible to overestimate the future growth of the Canadian Provinces west of the great lakes.

"We are not at all jealous of your wonderful heritage. On the contrary, we rejoice at your splendid development and the stability of your institutions. In the early days of the United States, we were generous to the promoter and railway builder, and we obtained good results, and this country is following in our footsteps, and the same success will be yours. Our railway companies sold a good deal of their land at from three to five dollars an acre, and now the owners are selling the same land at from fifty to seventy-five dollars and buying more up in Canada at from ten to fifteen dollars."

Bright Outlook For Early Seeding In The Northwest

Crops Will be Planted a Month Earlier This Season—Larger Area Will be Under Cultivation.

GROUND WELL PREPARED

A despatch from Winnipeg to the Calgary Herald says that at the present time indications point to an early spring throughout the Canadian West, with prospects of the crop being got into the ground in good shape during April as against last year's seeding during the last half of May. This gain of a month will mean a great deal for it means harvest about August 10 or 15.

This statement was made by S. P. Clark, secretary of the Northern Elevator Company, who for twenty-five years has been intimately connected with the Western grain business, and whose opinion is formed after a trip through the country and on reports from the company's agents throughout the West.

He went on to say that an early spring will mean a big acreage under crop, the conditions last season resulting in an unusual amount of summer fallowing and autumn plowing. There is very little snow on the ground, and farmers should be able to get on to the land exceptionally early.

STORY OF FLOGGING TO DEATH

Alleged Terrible Brutality in the Japanese Army.

WHOLE REGIMENT DESERTED

Sentry Thought They Were Going on Manoeuvres — Men Returned Next Day—Serious Charge Against Officers—Youth Suspended From Ceiling and Flayed With Wire Rope—Died From Injuries.

Tokio, April 6.—A somewhat remarkable incident, probably unprecedented in this country, occurred recently, when thirty-two soldiers belonging to the First Infantry Regiment of the First Tokio Division, deserted in a body.

At 9.30 at night the men, in company formation, left the barracks by the rear gate. The sentry made no attempt to prevent them, because he thought that they were going out for night manoeuvres. In due course the regimental authorities instituted a search for the missing men, but without effect.

At 6 o'clock the following evening the men returned to their quarters during a heavy downpour of rain and sleet. Soon after leaving the barracks, the deserters sent a letter to Major Fukuda, commander of the second battalion, requesting an interview, which was accorded. The major very gently reprimanded them for their misconduct, and led them back to their barracks, the deserters following him quite meekly. They were there placed under arrest and an enquiry was instituted.

It is understood the men were dissatisfied with their treatment at the hands of a lieutenant, who had lately been subjecting them to an unusually severe course of physical training, on the ground that they were the poorest men in the regiment.

During the past six months the native papers have from time to time given publicity to instances of brutality, for the most part in the army, the offenders usually being petty officers and the victims junior privates. One of the worst cases was at Yokosuka, where a young private was suspended from the ceiling, a towel stuffed down his throat to stifle his cries, and a terrible flogging administered with wire rope.

The man died from his injuries. The petty officers were sentenced to a few years' imprisonment.

Bomb In Sultan's Harem.

Paris, April 6.—A despatch from Constantinople to The Matin says that a bomb was found in the harem quarters of the palace on Saturday.

Many of the women and eunuchs have disappeared.

Cambridge Wins.

Putney, April 6.—For the third year in succession Cambridge won the varsity boat race on Saturday, defeating Oxford by 2 1-2 lengths. The light blues fully justified the confidence reposed in them by the riverside experts and led the procession from start to finish.

Killed by Express Train.

Locust Hill, April 6.—Stanley E. Hoover, eldest son of Alpheus Hoover of Green River, was struck and instantly killed by the C.P.R. express from the east in the freight yards here yesterday. Young Hoover, who was a student at the Markham High School, was greatly interested in the study of telegraphy, and spent much of his spare time around the station. On Saturday evening he left the station presumably for home, and finding that the other members of the family had retired, returned to the station to spend the night. About 6 o'clock he left the office for home, boarding an eastbound freight, on which he rode some distance down the track.

For some reason he jumped off the freight just as the westbound express dashed past. He was thrown under the wheels. He was 15 years of age.

Fell Off High Bridge.

St. Thomas, April 6.—Walter Dawson White, aged 26, formerly a fireman on the Michigan Central Railway, was instantly killed at 5.30 on Saturday afternoon by falling from the Wabash bridge over Kettle Creek here. White had been to the Wabash yards looking for work, and in order to take a short cut to his boarding-house had occasion to cross the bridge. Before he could do so a train came along, and he stepped to one side, and either fell or was knocked off the structure, falling about fifty feet and breaking his neck. White was married, his wife being in Broughton, England, from which place he came last year. His wife was to have joined him here next month.

Theatre Under Ban.

Quebec, April 6.—A circular letter issued by Archbishop Begin was read in every Catholic Church in the city yesterday, placing the Auditorium Theatre under the ban of the church, and forbidding Catholics from attending that place of amusement.

The cause of the ban was the performance given Friday and Saturday of "La Tosca" by the Paul Cazeneuve French Dramatic Co. of the Theatre Nationale of Montreal.

A Revolver Accident.

Vancouver, April 6.—On Saturday night E. Dyson Currier, a guest at the Badminton Hotel, was examining a Colt automatic revolver and accidentally shot himself, being wounded painfully but not dangerously. The bullet passed through the side of the mouth, emerging near the right ear. Currier came from Ottawa and had been in Vancouver two years.

Traveled In Male Attire.

Reading, Pa., April 6.—Jennie Van Vliek of Kingston, N.Y., and Edward Major were arrested by the police here yesterday, the woman disguised in male attire. Major is wanted by the authorities of Saugerites, N.Y., on the charge of horse stealing. Not until the pair fell into the hands of the police was the woman's sex revealed. She said she had been traveling in disguise for several weeks, saying she and her companion found this a more convenient and cheaper manner to travel.

An Alderman Fined.

Victoria, April 6.—Judge Irving, in the Supreme Court awarded $1,000 against Ald. Meston, for having sat at the aldermanic board during 1907 when he was not properly qualified.

Ald. Meston was the head of the local "Reformers" in the council, and was re-elected this year, when suit was brought against him, asking damages.

Dead Letter Record.

Washington, April 6.—Of 1,053,692 pieces of mail matter received in the dead letter office during March, more than 600,000 were returned to the senders — breaking all records for this division.

LAWSON'S LATEST LEMON

Offered 700,000 Shares Yukon Mining Stock for Sale at $5—Heavy Loses Sustained by Buyers.

A GENERAL DEPRESSION

Examiner Special.

New York, April 6.—Once again, and for the steenth time, the great American public, and incidentally not a few of our European cousins, have been handed a large and juicy specimen of the genus citrus by Thomas W Lawson, of Boston. Only a week has elapsed since speculators and investors were thrown into a perfect frenzy by reason of the seemingly alluring offfer which the redoubtable "Tuffy Tom" made to them through page advertisements in the newspapers of a certain mining stock which was to be offered to the public and which was to prove one of the greatest money makers of the age.

In response to those flim, flamboyant advertisements, brokers on the New York Stock Exchange and the Consolidated Stock Exchange, as also on the local and Boston Curb markets, to say nothing of banks and bankers, were flooded with orders to purchase the stock of the Yukon Gold Mining Company, of which Lawson offered for public sale 700,000 shares, of the par value of $5 each. On his assurances that this stock would eventually sell at prices far in excess of its par value the public went fairly wild in its efforts td get aboard, and the result was one of the most exciting, not to say disgraceful, scenes that have ever been enacted on the Broad street Curb Market, or anywhere else.

Just a week agao to-day trading in this stock was begun, and through the enormous public demand (estimated to have reached 3,000,000 shares, or more than four times the offer) and manipulation on the part of Lawson's brokers, the stock immediately jumped from its opening figure of $5.50 a share to $8 a share, with transactions on the New York Curb Market alone aggregating fully 400,000 shares. The balance of the offering, it was reported, after the close of that day, had been disposed of in Boston and elsewhere. As it was stated by Lawson himself that he had secured the option on the 700,000 shares offered at $5 a share, and as it is calculated that the entire lot brought an average figure of fully $7 a share, it is perfectly clear that the Boston operator cleaned up on this deal something in excess of a cool million dollars, outside of what his advertising campaign cost him—a good two hours work.

The stock of the Yukon Gold Company at the present writing is selling at and under its par value, $5, so that already those who were carried away by the tactics of Lawson have sustained heavy losses through their confidence in him. Worse than this, however, the episode has had a decided influence on the general stock market, and during the past week not only have dealing on both the New York Stock Exchange and the Consolidated Stock Exchange decreased considerably, but there has also been quite a substantial decline in prices.

MORE ROOM FOR THE NIAGARA CAMP

Dominion Government Has About Completed the Purchase of Block Of Property.

Negotiations have been practically completed by Dominion Government agents, says the Toronto Star, for the purchase of three hundred acres on the south shore of Lake Ontario, near the mouth of the Niagara River, for military training purposes. The property to be acquired is about half a mile west of historic Niagara, and Mississauga Commons, where troops have camped yearly, in peace and in war, for more than a century. It is understood that the Government's intention is to use both these properties in connection with the annual militia camps of the Western Ontario command. Niagara Commons and Carling Heights (London) have long been inadequate for modern training. The former is about two hundred acres in extent and the latter considerably less than that. The purchase of more property near Niagara will obviate the necessity for the desertion of the old campground—a prospect which has been the bane of the Niagara-on-the-Lake people and sundry historical societies for years. For the town the old Commons would not be so profitable, and for the societies they would not seem so sacred, if the annual militia camps were not held there.

CHINAMEN WERE SENT BACK

Taken Off Train by Trainmaster—Sent Back to Buffalo.

St. Thomas, April 4.—On the arrival of No. 23 in the city to-day Trainmaster Cowley of the M.C.R., took Kow Lee and two companions, Ching How and Wan Lung, all Chinamen, off the train and will send them back from wherever they came and make them continue their journey on United States territory. They were on their way from New York to San Francisco via the Canadian division of the New York Central. Owing to exclusion laws, however, they would not be allowed to pass from one country into another, and consequently would not be admitted into the United States again at Detroit. Therefore, they were detained here until the arrival of No. 36, when they were sent back to Buffalo and compelled to resume their journey over the Lake Shore division of the New York Central lines.

SPEED OF RAILWAY TRAIN IN ONE SECOND

Goes Fast When One Stops to Make the Calculation.

How far does a railway train travel in a second? This was a question asked of a well-known railway man, and he explained that, of course, the distance depended on the speed of the train per hour. He figured that a railway tram going 30 miles an hour travelled 44 feet in one second; one going 40 miles an hour travels 58 2-3 feet, and one going 60 miles an hour leaps 88 feet in one second, or 29 1-3 yards. Fast travelling when you come to think!

The Examiner was shown a sovereign scale on Saturday evening which is at least 75 years of age. It is a little balance, with a flat bar on one end containing two round holes in which a sovereign and a half sovereign might be placed to determine whether or not they balance with a weight on the opposite end. The holes were exactly the size of the coins, so that no mistake regarding counterfeit money could be made, and at the same time one could discover easily whether they had been clipped.

The little balance was brought from England in 1831 by the late William Martin, of Otonabee. The case, which is as old as the balance, has braved well the changes made by Father Time, and not considering a hole in the end, it is almost as serviceable as at the day it left the factory.

MR. M. HOWARD EXTENDS THANKS TO MANY FRIENDS

To Hiawatha Gun Club and to the Boys of the Little Windsor for Kindnesses

Mr. Maiden Howard of Hiawatha desires to extend to his friends in the Hiawatha Gun Club his heartfelt thanks for the respect and kindness shown him and his family in the death of his beloved son, the late Benjamin Howard.

He also wishes to extend his thanks to the boys of the Little Windsor for the wreath they sent. This kindness was much appreciated by Mr. Howard and the bereaved family during a time of trial.

Special Sermons To The Sunday School Scholars

Delivered by Rev. Garbutt of Bowmanville—Anniversary Services at the Charlotte Street Methodist Church.

ADVICE TO YOUNG PEOPLE

The Sunday school anniversary services at Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday were both interesting and instructive. Rev. J. Garbutt of Bowmanville was present and gave addresses at three services. The scholars took the leading part in the singing of the praises, and the choir yesterday was composed of young boys and girls. They had prepared special music and rendered several sacred choruses in a faultless manner.

At the morning service the church was crowded and some were unable to obtain seats. The scholars occupied the centre rows of seats and walked into the church in a body.

Rev. Mr. Garbutt seems to possess the happy faculty of keeping children interested, and yesterday morning told a simple gospel story that certainly must have appealed to every scholar, and also to the adult persons present. He did not choose a text, but by means of a compass he illustrated a voyage of a ship and gave to his hearers many lessons. Just as the sailor is guided by the needle in a compass, so are our lives guided by our consciences. If the needle does not point in the right direction the ship will experience difficulty. It will likely encounter rocks and probably be shipwrecked. The sailor is entirely expendent on the correct working of the compass. A vessel has many hardships before it finally reaches its harbour.

The speaker said the same difficulties have to be contended by every boy and girl. How often it is that a young fellow starts out with his consciences guiding him aright, and then influences come into his life and he is dragged down deep in sin. His conscience becomes hardened, and the wrongs he commits do not bother him. He falls easily a victim to temptation. He is not true to himself, and Mr. Garbutt urged the boys and girls, above all things, to be true to themselves and their Saviour Jesus Christ.

A compass is set to the north star, and, said the speaker, the life of every Christian should be set to the Star of Bethlehem. He is the true Saviour Who is always the same. He never changes. He is always ready to receive and hear everyone.

In conclusion, the reverend gentleman said there had been so many shipwrecks in the lives of young people because they had not kept their consciences true. If we are guided by our consciences we will all meet in God's great harbour.

In the afternoon Rev. Mr. Garbutt addressed a mass meeting in the Sunday school, and again preached in the evening especially to young people.

THE RELIGION OF THE YOUNG MEN

Instructive Sermon Delivered by Rev. E. A. Pearson on This Important Subject.

AN ENTIRE MALE CHOIR

"Let no man despise they youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity." I Timothy, 4; 12.

"The religion of the young man" was the subject of Rev. E A Pearson's sermon at the George street Methodist church last night and was a fitting close to the meetings which were held last week. The choir was composed entirely of men and the service pertained particularly to the welfare of the young men.

The young men of to-day will to-morrow be the fathers of the country. They will have the making of the laws, they will conduct all business transactions and the affairs of the country will fall into their hands. The religion of the young men is, therefore, Mr. Pearson said, one of the most important questions of the day. The future of our homes, of our business of our national life depends upon their thoughts and religion. Men do not apparently think seriously of religion as they do of their other every day affairs seeming to have the opinion that religion is purely optional.

This is absolutely wrong Rev. Mr. Pearson stated for religion is necessary. Man is a religious being and must have some form of religion. The characteristics which the average young man looks for in his religion are that it be real, practical and noble. The speaker pointed out how the religion of Christ appeals to young men in these three respects, emphasizing its reality, its practicability and its nobility of which Christ Himself was the perfection. The Christian is not merely an idea but an ideal person. God should be worshipped as our Lord and Master and be a part of our every day life.

C.M.B.A. AT CHURCH IN A BODY

Received Holy Communion at St. Peter's Cathedral Yesterday.

The members of the C.M.B.A. attended St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning in a body and received communion at the eight o'clock mass. There was a large number of the members of the society present occupying pews in the centre of the church. Mr. Frank Fairen acted as Marshall.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor celebrated the mass and afterwards referred to the manner in which the various Catholic Societies were displaying the proper spirit by regularly attending communion. In this way they not only fulfilled their duties but present a most edifying example to the whole congregation. Next Sunday the Catholic Order of Foresters will attend in a body.

GET YOUR DOG LICENSE AT ONCE

Chief Roszel Warns the Dog Owners Of This City.

The dog owners of this city must get their dog licenses before the first of May or they will be brought before Magistrate Dumble and fined. Chief Roszel wishes to warn the citizens in time so that there will be no excuse at the end of the month for any dog not wearing a 1908 tag. Many of the residents are a little afraid of investing in a license for fear that the dog poisoners will do away with the canine.

BOARD OF MANAGERS MAKE AN ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The above is recognized by the Board as characteristic of the interest evidenced heretofore by Mr. Stratton in public institutions.

POST LENTEN SOCIAL ARRANGED

Benefit Basket Social by St. Peter's T. A. S. on Easter Monday Night.

A basket social has been arranged for Easter Monday night to be held in St. Peter's T.A.S. hall. It will partake of a benefit and as it is for a particularly good purpose the At Home Committee expect a most successful affair. The ladies are being assisted by the men and the social should be a pleasurable post-lenten event.

HE SPOKE TO MEN ON CONFESSION

Large Number Hear the Rev. Robert Pogue at the Y. M. C. A.

Rev. Mr. Pogue spoke at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon to men on "Confessing Christ." There was a very large attendance and the deepest interest taken. The speaker showed that faith and confession went hand in hand, and it should be the instinct of every true Christian to confess Christ, Who had done so much for them. Yet, he said, there were some real objections. One of these was fear of ostentation. Many a Christian felt he was trying to make a show of himself by confessing Christ. This was clearly shown to be a mistake. It is not ourselves we should think and talk about, but Christ. Another objection was fear of dishonouring the name of Christ, and the speaker said many a so-called Christian was a shameful representation of Christ, but that we were speaking of Christ, and not ourselves. He also spoke of where to confess Christ, viz., before men. It was a manly thing to do, and the result was that the faith would grow and he would get great joy in confessing. Mr. Pogue then made an appeal for those who had never confessed Christ to do so then, and four young men made the decision and confessed Christ as their Saviour.

Next Sunday, Mr. Douglas Russell, an evangelist who will be conducting services in the city the following week, will speak.

STUNNING SPRING HATS

At From $5.00 to $10.00

ANY WOMAN who wants a becoming, smart and exclusive Hat at a very small price will be delighted with our new and beautiful styles at from $5.00 to $10.00.

THESE ARE FRESH from our own workroom, and our talented milliners have exerted themselves to see just how much of beauty and worth they could crowd into Hats for selling at these popular prices.

SOME OF THEM are splendid copies of high-priced Parisian and New York Models—others are original designs by our own milliners, and there's not one of them which is not a very remarkable value.

THE VARIETY INCLUDES the "College Girl" Sailor, "Il Trovatore" Turban, "Ethel Barrymore" Sailor, and dozens of other styles in all the favored shapes, sizes and colors, variously trimmed with spring-like flowers and foliage, feathers, ribbons, etc., in smart, new effects.

WE CHEERFULLY INVITE YOU to compare them with Hats which others consider good value at from $3.00 to $5.00 more, knowing that such a comparison will impress you with the extraordinary nature of the value.

IN JUSTICE TO YOURSELF, don't buy a Hat until you have seen our assortment, in which you will find (along with the many stylish creations for ladies) an assortment of smart Hats for the young girls, that our millinery artists have every reason to be proud of, and you will think so too, when you see the Hats.

THE STORE THAT NEVER DISAPPOINTS

New Swiss Muslins---New Designs

Those Sheer Fabrics so Much Admired

Every woman has a choice of fabrics for her Summer Gowns—some like one kind and some another, but where is the woman who does not go in raptures, over the dainty exquisite patterns of the Swiss Muslins. This year especially has seen innovations never thought of before in the Swiss woven patterns—such exclusive designs that you cannot draw on your imagination to conceive. The patterns are many and varied, included in which are the following:—All sizes of spots from the dainty Hail Stone to the very large Coin Spot, Coin Spots in a square giving a very conventional but pretty effect, then the large Plaid effect formed by small Conventional Floral designs is most striking and the Allover Embroidery idea is carried out to a marked degree in beautiful Spray Scroll and Conventional Leaf designs. You will find the Shadow Ring, the Moulded Diamond and Nail Head effects in these goods very new and odd, also the Bow Knot and Fern combination have been admired by many and perhaps the most uncommon pattern of the lot is the Wreath Fern. All these new effects areiexclusive to us as well as being our own import, bought direct from the largest Swiss manufacturer on the continent. For the Summer Gown not another make of goods is so well adapted as these airy white muslins—fine texture, sheer finish, exclusive neat patterns and extraordinary washing qualities are the chief features that claim the attention of the summer buyer. These Swiss Muslins have been known for generations and every year makes them more popular than ever, there is no Muslin that gives the wear and general satisfaction that they do. Our range is the finest we have ever shown and comprises different grades from 25 cents to 85 cents per yard, in widths from 30 to 33 inches.

Do You Pay $3.50 for Your Shoes?

Yes! You do and possibly more too—We hear you say "We can't get good shoes for less, if they are good leather, they have no style, no we can't get decent shoes for less than 3.50." Hold on! You are mistaken, you CAN get just as good shoes—just the same quality and just the same style as you are paying 3.50 for, at Cressman's for 2.50. We sell the same shoes exactly—we give you as large an assortment to choose from as you are used to getting and for One Dollar Less. The sum and substance of it is we specialize 2.50 Shoes. Ask to see our range of Women's 2.50 shoes at the 2nd floor shoe section. GREAT ARRAY OF HORSES PROMISED

For Toronto Exhibition Beginning April 29th—Buying in New York.

The fourteenth Canadian Horse Show to be held in the St. Lawrence Arena, Toronto, on April 29, 30, May 1 and 2, promises to outshine in numbers and quality of horses all its predecessors. In spite of the financial depression there will never have been so many high class horses brought together. In Canada, horses of show ring calibre are so scarce, or else held so high, that several leading Toronto gentlemen had recourse to the New York market, and purchases have been made there recently by Mr. H. C. Cox and Mr. J. J. Dixon with the sole purpose of securing ribbon winners for the Toronto Show. A very notable saddle horse which has swept the ring in New York will be shown in "May Morning," formerly the property of the late J. W. Harriman. This mare was bought in New York by Miss Eva Booth, the head of the Salvation Army in America, who is an ardent horsewoman and depends largely for her health on equestrian exercise. A condition of the sale made by the vendor was that the mare should be exhibited at Toronto. Among the other leading exhibitors are Hon. Adam and Mrs. Beck, London, who have ten new hunters; A. Yeagher, Simcoe; Dr. R. E. Webster, Ottawa; Langdon Wilks, Galt; Gordon J. Henderson, Hamilton; Dr. S. H. McCoy, St. Catharines; Aemilius Jarvis, Dr. W. A. Young, Geo. W. Beardmore, Crow & Murray, George Pepper Toronto. There will be reduced rates on all railways.

WEDDING OF WELL KNOWN OFFICER

Staff Captain Kerr—Had Charge of the Local Corps in 1898.

One of the features of the public reception to be tendered Commissioner Coombs in Massey Hall, when he returns from England will be a welding; Staff Captain Kerr, who has charge of the Winnipeg Hospital and Lieut.-Col. Rees, the provincial officer of Newfoundland, being the principals. Staff Captain Kerr had charge of the Peterborough corps in 1898, and will be well remembered by the citizens of Peterborough.

LEAGUE OF MERCY HOLD MEETING

New Work Will be Assigned and Badges Distributed.

The League of Mercy of the Salvation Army will hold their quarterly meeting in the Barracks this afternoon. Staff Captain Goodwin will have charge of the meeting and the new members will be presented with their badges. The work will be rearranged this afternoon and the women will be placed for the next quarter. There are twelve members of this corps and they look after the hospitals, jails and the poor people of this city in general.

MR. JACK PRIMEAU GOES TO LINDSAY

Accepts a Position With Messrs. Lang and Maher in New Store

Mr. Jack Primeau, who recently returned from Winnipeg, has accepted a position with Messrs. Lang & Maher, and will assist Mr. Maher in their new Lindsay branch. Mr. Primeau begins work to-morrow. He has had an extensive experience, first learning the business with Mr. A. W. Cressman. His taste as a window dresser will serve him in good stead and he should make good in the Lindsay store.

BIBLE CLASS SECRETARY PRESENTED WITH BRUSHES

Mr. Durham Collins, who has been secretary of St. Paul's Young Men's Bible Class, and who leaves shortly for the Canadian West, has been presented with a pair of handsome brushes by the members of the class.

ADDRESS TO BOYS AT THE CRYSTAL

Given by Mr. Statten of Toronto—What Four-Square Boys Are.

Yesterday afternoon the Boys' Club of the Y. M. C. A. held a meeting for boys over fourteen, in the Crystal. The speakers were Mr. Taylor Statten, secretary of Boys' Club, of Toronto Central Y. M. C. A., with two of his co-workers, Mr. Sanderson and Mr. Lawson.

Mr. Statten strongly urged each boy to be four square—physically, mentally, socially and spiritually—referring them to Jesus Christ as the ideal type. After his address Mr. Sanderson and Mr. Lawson each spoke briefly giving some of their experiences in dealing with problems they had encountered.

Before closing several boys expressed a desire to take an advance step by adopting higher ideals or in more active service for Christ.

THE SALVATION ARMY SERVICES

Well Attended—Ex-Adjutant and Mrs. Osborn Address Afternoon Meeting

The services at the Salvation Army Barracks yesterday were conducted by the local officers, Staff-Capt. Goodwin and Captain Maisy. All were well attended and in the evening one person came forward. At the afternoon service Ex-Adjutant and Mrs. Osborne, late of England, gave addresses. Mr. Osborne was forced to resign his commission in England owing to ill helth and the doctor ordered him to come to Canada. While in England he held several important commissions and it is hoped that he will soon be able to resume the work again in Canada.

The Salvation Army Band have arranged to hold several practices between now and Easter Sunday and are preparing a special programme of music. They are looking forward with much pleasure to the visit of the Temple Band from Toronto and a grand musical festival is in store for the citizens of this city. The officers are contemplating a "Sunrise March" on Easter Sunday morning.

They propose to have both bands out in full and also to have a full attendance of the corps. The idea is creating a great deal of interest among the members of the corps and in all probability it will be a great success.

OBITUARY

MRS. RICHARD MONAHAN

The death occurred yesterday morning at 10.30 o'clock of Nora Cronin, fourth daughter of Mr. John Cronin, and wife of Mr. Richard Monahan at the family residence on Concession street. With her husband she returned from Brockville about a month ago being ill at the time and gradually became worse until yesterday when death claimed her.

The late Mrs. Monahan was 30 years of age and was born in Peterborough. She was married 5 months ago and went with her husband to Brockville. She is mourned by her father, Mr. John Cronin, her husband, one brother, Mr. Thomas Cronin, of Elm street and four sisters, Mrs. Michael Cadigan, Mrs. Michael Egan, of this city and Katherine and Mary Jane at home.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock from the family residence Concession street, to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to St. Peter's Cemetery.

JAMES FOLEY

At the residence of his daughter, Mrs. John F. McCarthy, 305 Reid street, at 1.30 o'clock this morning Mr. James Foley, one of the oldest and most highly esteemed residents of Indian River, passed away. He was well known throughout the city and his sad demise will be learned with deep regret. He had been suffering for some time with stomach trouble and came here a few weeks ago to visit his daughter, hoping to improve his health. His condition gradually grew worse and death finally ended his sufferings this morning.

He was 76 years of age and born in Wexford, Ireland. He came to Canada at the age of twenty-one and settled at Indian River where he has remained all his life. He followed the occupation of farmer, but did not take any part in municipal life. He was a Roman Catholic in religion and in politics was a staunch Liberal. He leaves behind him to mourn his loss four daughters, Mrs. James Collins, of Otonabee; Mrs. John F. McCarthy, of Peterborough; Mrs. James Boland, of Asphodel, and Ada at home and one son, James, also at home.

The remains will be conveyed to the family residence lot 32, concession 1, Otonabee, at noon to-day and the funeral will take place on Wednesday morning to St. Joseph's Cemetery, Douro.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, April 6.—The market was quite active at the opening and most stocks were higher. The main influence was the Erie development, and there was a much stronger tone to the market for Erie notes and bonds, though considerable weakness attended the trading in the common and first preferred stock, due to selling on the theory that the good news was out.

There was considerable reaction in the market generally in the early trading, but traders who put out short stock found little offering when they attempted to cover later in the day, with the result that in the afternoon the whole market grew firm, and some of the leaders were a point or so above Saturday's close.

The fact that the market grew dull when quotations were on the up-trend was taken as a bearish indication and prices worked off rather easily in the last hour, particularly influenced by a very weak tone in American Smelting.

The London market was strong but not particularly active and foreign houses bought about 20,000 shares. We rather expect to see the market continue to exhibit a reactionary tendency, but would buy good stocks on any quick drives and accept moderate profits.

MAMMOTH SPECIES OF THE BEAN FAMILY

Mr. M. Houedry Receives Small Bag for Experimental Planting

The "Soville" bean is perhaps the mammoth of this family. It is a Spanish bean, and Mr. Maurice Houedry has received a little sack of these choice beans from his father in Dol de Bretagne, France, to experiment with them to learn whether they will grow in our climate. The plant has a very thick stalk and the bean pods grow out from it instead of on small stems. The pods when ripe average between seven and eight inches in length and the beans are of surprising size.

Mr. Houedry's stock of peas is being rapidly distributed among the farmers with whom he does business. He has had in his warehouse sixty-five different varieties of fancy peas, and has now ten sacks of different species of beans. His business this year will undoubtedly surpass that of any other year, and the farmers, except in cases too distant, drive to the warehouse for their allotments.

RIOT WAS RAISED AT ELECTIONS

Polling In Portugal For New Chamber of Deputies.

TROOPS WERE CALLED OUT

Fired on Crowd, Killing and Wounding Several—Clubs and Stones Freely Used — Editors Threatened by Anarchists—Voting Carried on In Churches—The King Confines Himself to the Palace.

Lisbon, April 6.—The Monarchists are confident that the influence of the Government machinery on the governors and prefects throughout the country will insure a strong Monarchist majority in the elections of members of the new Chamber of Deputies to-day. They have determined to limit the Republican deputies to 12. A total of 146 deputies are to be chosen. The Republicans, however, claim victory also.

The efforts of the secret police in investigating the tragedy of Feb. 1, when King Carlos and the crown prince were shot down, have developed apparently conclusive evidence that the death of former Premier Franco was decreed by a secret Republican society, in spite of the protests of the Republican leaders. The editors of the newspapers who insist that the accomplices of Buiss, the man who killed the king, be brought to justice, are receiving letters threatening them with death.

King Manuel has left the Necessidades Palace only once since the assassination of his father and brother; this was when he drove in a closed carriage to the Ajuda Palace to visit his grandmother, Queen Maria Pia.

The elections which were conducted peaceably with the exception of minor disorders in some of the disaffected districts, were followed by serious rioting, which was only put down by most vigorous action on the part of the police and the troops.

The rioting broke out in different parts of the city, as though by a pre-concerted plan. Troops, which had been patrolling, and others that had been held in reserve, were immediately ordered into action and they repeatedly charged the mobs that in places filled the streets, but without effect. The rioters used clubs, stones and whatever other weapons was at hand, and finally the troops were obliged to fire upon them, killing and wounding a number of them.

At a late hour most of the Republican voters had gone to their homes, but bands of youths continued to demonstrate before the churches. They confined their disorders, however, to shouting.

With the exception of minor disorders at Anjos and Alcantara, the elections passed off quietly throughout the country, so far as present advices indicate. In this city slight disturbances occurred during the day in certain sections, owing to the numbers of electors who suspected that unfair methods were being adopted.

Up to midnight counting had not commenced in many of the districts. Strong police guards were assigned to watch the urns throughout the night. No ontoward incident is reported from Oporto.

The ballot boxes, according to the traditional custom, were installed in the churches.

Socialists at Central Park.

New York, April 6.—Without semblance of disorder and under the surveillance of scores of police and detectives, 1,500 persons took part in a meeting of the Socialist party in Grand Central Palace Saturday to discuss the attitude of the authorities and to let it be known that the Socialists were not in sympathy with the act of the bomb-throwers.

The police had warned the speakers against violent utterances and the speeches were mild.

Resolutions were passed denouncing the city officials for failing to give work to the unemployed and for withholding permission for the meeting in Union Square.

Banker Fatally Hurt.

Santa Barbara, Cal., April 6.—Edward R. Spaulding, a banker of Buffalo, N.Y., who spends his winters at Santa Barbara, where he has extensive business interests, was thrown from his buggy on Saturday and sustained concussion of the brain and other injuries, which may result fatally.

CHALLENGED HIS ENEMY.

Local Option Election May Lead to a Duel Being Fought.

Uniontown, Pa., April 6.—William M. Likins, proprietor of The People's Tribune, the prohibition organ of this county, lodged information yesterday before Justice John Boyle, charging George Titlow, proprietor of the Hotel Titlow of this place, with challenging him to fight a duel. Titlow is one of the prominent citizens of Uniontown; so is Likins. This episode is a development of the hot campaign now being waged in this county for the nomination of candidates for the Legislature who, when elected, will vote on a local option law. It also has a sharper personal aspect.

At a recent banquet to some friends in his hotel Mr. Titlow made a speech in which he said he wished to be regarded as a business man more than as a hotel or saloonkeeper.

In last week's issue of The People's Tribune Likins made Titlow's remarks the text of an editorial article in which he declared that what Titlow had said amounted to an expression of shame over being engaged in the business of selling liquor. Some other scarifying things were printed about Titlow in connection with his accumulation of money through selling whisky that was rather calculated to rasp his feelings.

That this rasping was done is proved by Titlow visiting Likins Saturday night in his office and personally challenging him to a duel with rifles at 25 paces. Likins was given until Thursday of next week to decide whether to fight or flunk. In case of the latter, Titlow engaged to post him as a coward. Likins says Titlow named the weapons and distance and appeared to wish to arrange for all details except the funeral.

Titlow weighs 250 pounds and is a crack shot. Likin weighs about 130 and says his only experience with a rifle was acquired by occasional hunting trips when he lived in Kentucky.

BOWIN MAY ESCAPE.

Detroit, April 6.—Unless something unforeseen turns up, Percy Bowin, who is on trial on the charge of murdering Catherine Welch last January, will know his fate by Tuesday night.

Bowin was on the witness-stand in his own defence all day, and until late Saturday night. He told practically the same story on the stand that he told in his alleged confession to Chief of Detectives McDonnell and other police officers, except that he now declares that he did not kill Mother Welch. He says she wanted him to go out of the city with her and gave him $14 in cash and her diamond earrings to purchase a suit of clothes and pay his expenses to another town.

Assistant Prosecutor Grose will cross-examine Bowin to-day, and if he does not break down but sticks to his present story he stands a good chance to escape punishment. Grose will go after Bowin hammer and tongs and make every effort to break down his story.

The defence has produced several witnesses that have testified that they saw Mother Welch alive and talked to her 18 hours after the police say Bowin confessed that he had killed her.

Yankee Consul Woke 'Em Up.

Pekin, April 6.—There has come a sudden realization of, and awakening to, the possibilities of the political position of the United States in the matter of Russia and Japan, and the sovereignty of Manchuria.

Russia and Japan, it is declared here, are of the opinion that China never would have been aware of the strength of her diplomatic position in Manchuria, and especially at Harbin, where Japan supports Russia, had it not been for the interference of the consular representative of the United States.

Bound For Devil's Island.

Montreal, April 6.—Kid McManus, wanted in France to answer to a charge of having been implicated in the robbing of $12,000 in cash and checks from a vault in the office of the American Express Co., in Paris, in 1901, will have to fight against extradition. This was decided Saturday.

It will probably mean a life sentence on Devil's Island. Both his accomplices in the express robbery were sent there, though one of them, Eddie Guerin, an Englishman, escaped.

Find Stolen Bust.

Rome, April 6.—After a diligent search the police have succeeded in finding the bronze bust of Pope Clement VIII., which was stolen from the Villa Aldobrandini on March 20. The thieves gained access to the villa by breaking a window. The bust, which weighs fully 500 pounds, was found by the police, buried about half a mile from the villa. It was the evident intention of the thieves to keep it in concealment until an opportunity should be afforded to ship abroad.

Two Lynchings.

Mobile, Ala., April 6.—Walter Clay, a negro who was serving time at the stockade of the Hand Lumber Co. for manslaughter, late Saturday afternoon criminally assaulted Mrs. John White, aged 20 years, and was lynched by a mob of twenty-five men outside the limits of Bay Minette Saturday night.

Wesson, Miss., April 6.—John Burr, a negro, was lynched yesterday near here by about 500 men for the murder of a 12-year-old white boy.

CAMPBELL BANNERMAN RESIGNS

British Premier, Yielding to Ill-Health, Gives Up Office.

SITUATION UNPRECEDENTED

King Edward Still Abroad—Asquith Summoned to Meet His Majesty at Biarritz—Premier's Long Political Career—Ministry Resigns Too—No Official Statement In Regard to Cabinet Changes.

London, April 6.—It was officially announced last night that the King has accepted the resignation of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the British Premier.

Sir Henry's condition remains unchanged, according to the physicians' bulletin posted yesterday. The King, in telegraphing his acceptance of the Premier's resignation, conveyed an expression of his regret and esteem with best wishes for Sir Henry's recovery.

No further official announcement with regard to Cabinet changes has been made, but the King has summoned Herbert H. Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and the latter will start for Biarritz, where the King is sojourning, probably this afternoon.

The Chancellor, who has been acting Premier in place of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, called a meeting of the Cabinet yesterday morning to submit the Premier's resignation and discuss the course of business.

The resignation of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the first Liberal Prime Minister of England, since Lord Rosebery gave up office in 1895.

SIR H. CAMPBELL-BANNERMAN.

has its dramatic phase, for as he passes from the stage the mixed forces which he held together as a party appear also to be approaching the end of political power.

The Bannerman Government, it has been stated, combined too many factions, and too many fads, all the elements of opposition to Conservatism and of discontent united to make common cause against the old Government, and when joined together in an administration, a working team of Home Rulers, Laborites, Socialists, Liberals, Imperialists and Little Englanders was found nigh impossible.

But it speaks much for Bannerman's leadership that this disintegration of his party has gone on so much more swiftly since the attack of heart trouble, which occurred last fall in Bristol, where he had gone to make a political speech, removed him from the possibility of active leadership.

Sir Henry was not only the leader of the House of Commons, but also its father, for he represented Stirling without interruption ever since he entered the House in 1868 at the age of 32. Throughout his political life he has been a consistent and staunch advocate of radicalism, and his political faith has never wavered. He did not derive his politics from his family, however, for his father, Sir James Campbell, a prosperous glass merchant, was one of the most devoted adherents of the "Tory party in Scotland," while his brother sat for years in the House of Commons on the Conservative side. When he first stood as a Liberal candidate for Stirling, young Campbell was twitted with his allegiance to the other side, but he retorted that loyalty to their political faith ran in the family, and that as his father was consistent in his Toryism, he would be consistent in his Liberalism.

He had a varied experience in Government, holding the positions of Financial Secretary to the War Office twice, Secretary to the Admiralty, twice Secretary of State for War and for a brief time, in 1884-5, Chief Secretary for Ireland. At that trying period the Irish members were devoting all their efforts to making that office almost untenable, but Mr. Bannerman (he assumed the name of his maternal uncle Bannerman under a will and acquired his title in 1895), met all their attacks with unfailing good will and ready wit.

He came more prominently before the public eye when he took office as Secretary for War in Gladstone's last Government. His great administrative feat was to persuade the Duke of Cambridge to resign the position of commander-in-chief of the army. The duke was extremely reluctant to retire, but he yielded to the War Minister's tactful pressure and resigned. Four hours after the formalities had been completed and the necessary documents signed, the Liberal Government was defeated on the cordite vote and resigned. The duke then wished to retract his decision, but it was too late.

A long period of depression for the Liberals followed, and when Sir William Vernon Harcourt resigned the leadership of the party by a unanimous vote of the party, Bannerman was chosen, in February, 1899, to be its leader.

Although so long anticipated, the actual announcement of the Premier's resignation had not been looked for some days yet, and comes somewhat as a surprise to the country. Sir Henry's condition had shown some improvement recently and his resignation was not due to any sudden impairment of his physical condition. On the contrary, among his friends, his resignation is regarded rather as a good sign that the doctors are now more hopeful of his recovery when relieved from the anxieties of office.

To-day had been fixed for Mr. Asquith to move in the House of Commons the second reading of the licensing bill, the measure that is regarded as the most dangerous of all the Government bills to the Ministry's tenure of office. Under the changed conditions, this debate will be postponed until after Easter, and an adjournment of Parliament moved to enable the Chancellor to proceed to Biarrits to kiss hands on his appointment as Premier and submit his proposals for the reconstruction of the Cabinet.

It may be inferred that no more contentious business will come before the House of Commons until the new Ministers are appointed.

LASHES FOR FOOTPADS.

Severe Sentences Dealt Out to Offenders In England.

London, April 6.—For some time past there has been quite an epidemic of crime over almost the whole United Kingdom. The judges of assize would seem to be becoming alive none too soon to the seriousness of the situation and as to how much rests upon them to suppress, if possible, a reappearance of the robber who lies in ambush for an unsuspecting victim and have begun to blend stern sentences of imprisonment with the administration of the cat o' ninetails.

The largest cases this week were at the Glamorgan assizes, where Justice Lawrence has been ordering the cat more than has been done for years. He has sentenced a footpad to seven years' penal servitude with twelve lashes, two to five years' penal servitude, each with twelve lashes, twelve months' hard labor with twelve lashes, nine months' hard labor with twelve lashes.

The Humanitarian League is up in arms. It denies that the cat has done more than anything else to suppress robbery with violence. In London, however, there are judges and others who say that garrotting was stamped out in London and the corner man annihilated in Liverpool by the lash.

ASK FOR REPRIEVE.

Ottawa, April 6.—Application was made Saturday by T. C. Robinette, K.C., to the Minister of Justice for a commutation of the death sentence pronounced upon John D. Tearse to a life imprisonment.

A copy of the evidence taken at the trial accompanied the application, and it is said that Hon. Mr. Aylesworth always weighs very carefully every word of the evidence before making his report to the Governor-General. The Minister of Justice will ask for a report from Chief Justice Meredith, and also an opinion from Crown Counsel Blackstock.

Accompanying the solicitation is a complete history of the convicted man, procured from England by Drs. Bruce Smith, C. K. Clarke and Chief Coroner Arthur Jukes Johnson.

Considering the fact that the whole trend of evidence pointed to Tearse's insanity, little doubt is felt by the defence counsel as to a commutation of sentence being secured.

Policemen In a Battle.

New York, April 6.—Police Sergeant James C. Nerney, attached to the seventh inspection district and temporarily detailed to the staff of Deputy Commissioner Bugher, shot and probably fatally wounded Policeman John Bresnahan of the West Forty-Seventh street station, Saturday afternoon at Ninth avenue and Fiftieth street.

Both policemen were in civilian's clothes, but off duty, and neither knew the other was an officer. Bresnahan had a black-jack in his hand at the time and was in pursuit of another man. Nerney started to arrest him, when he was struck by the black-jack. He then fired the shot that took effect in Bresnahan's abdomen.

St. Catharines, April 6.—Traffic on the westbound track of the Grand Trunk Railway was blocked for a couple of hours yesterday afternoon by a slight smashup. About half-past two o'clock two engines attached to some empty coal cars whizzed past the local station. Half-way between here and Jordan three cars left the track and piled up. Word was sent to Niagara Falls and the auxiliary was quickly on the scene and replaced the cars on the rails. No one was hurt.

Fell Sixty Feet.

Belleville, April 6.—Cephais Johnson, 35 years of age, an employe of the Lehigh Cement Co.'s works, fell off a scaffold 60 feet high to the ground. His injuries consist of a fractured thigh, smashed knee-cap, injured arm and shoulder, scalp wounds and internal injuries.

Joseph Webb of Trenton was knocked down and run over by a car near the coal chutes while shunting and was killed.

Evelyn Charges Libel.

New York, April 6.—Charging that James B. Regan, proprietor of the Hotel Knickerbocker, damaged her reputation by saying he had requested her and E. R. Thomas, with whom she was at supper in the grill room in that hotel early on Tuesday morning, to leave the place, Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw Saturday brought suit for libel against Mr. Regan, asking damages of $50,000.

Believes He Was Murdered.

Detroit, April 6.—The family of Samuel Weir, the Detroit man whose body was found in False Creek, near Vancouver, and whose death was supposed to be due to suicide, believe that he was murdered.

Stole Key From Czar's Tomb.

St. Petersburg, April 6.—Robbers entered the cathedral of the Petropavlovak fortress, which contains the tombs of the Russian Emperors, and stole the enormous key of the Gueorgueoak fortress in Poland, which was placed as a trophy on the tomb of Constantine, the son of Paul the first.

Annual Meeting Of The Midland Football League

Officers Were Elected on Saturday----Prospects Are Bright For a Most Snccessful Season---Five Teams Were Represented at the Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Midland Football League was held on Saturday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A., and, although the attendance was not large there was a note of enthusiasm in the gathering that speaks well for a successful season. As far as a forecast can be made so early in the season, the league of 1908 should be a most successful organization, although indications are not favourable for a senior series. In fact, unless more than two teams enter there will be no senior series at all, but there will be strong intermediate and junior groups. Among the clubs which are expected to have teams in either one or both, are Norwood, Warkworth, Hastings, Keene, Campbellford, Omemee, Peterborough Quakers, Cobourg and Bowmanville, and it is likely that there will be others in line before the season opens.

President W. L. McIlroy, of Peterborough, occupied the chair and there were present Messrs. J. E. Sullivan, (secretary treasurer; J. L. Mowat, Warkworth; Fred Roberts and A. McKinty, Norwood; Ray Best, Peterborough Quakers; and C. Brooke, Marsland, representing the Hastings club by proxy.

After the minutes of the last annual meeting had been read and confirmed Secretary-treasurer Sullivan read his report for the year, which indicated that the league is in a very flourishing condition, with a balance of $2.50 on the right side of the ledger. There were two teams in the senior series, six in the intermediate and two in the junior last year. The Peterborough Quakers won the senior and intermediate championships, while the junior honours went to Bowmanville.

A letter was read from Dr. J. C. Devitt, of Bowmanville, approving of the Midland League remaining in affiliation with the Ontario Association Football League.

Hon. President—Hon. J. R. Stratton, Peterborough.

Hon. Vice-President — Dr. Burnham, Peterborough.

President—W. L. McIlroy, Peterborough.

1st Vice-President—J. L. Mowat, Warkworth.

2nd Vice-President—Fred Doherty, Norwood.

Secretary-Treasurer — Fred D. Craig, Peterborough.

Dr. Devitt, of Bowmanville, was appointed as the representative of the league at the annual meeting of the Ontario Football Association League, which will be held in Toronto on Easter Monday.

Mr. J. L. Mowat, president of the Warkworth Club, inquired about the $5 protest fee, which his club had deposited on protesting against the Quakers last year. He wanted to know if this was forfeited to the league, and also complained against the way in which the protest had been handled. He complained that a meeting of the executive had not been held to deal with the matter. Secretary Sullivan explained that it was too expensive to call a meeting of the executive, and the matter had been settled by calling up the members on the long distance telephone.

Mr. Mowat also wanted to be sure that the league was an amateur one and was assured by the president that it was affiliated with the O. A. F. L. and therefore under the supervision of the C. A. A. U.

Mr. Mowat objected to the clause in the constitution which gives the executive power at any time to change any rules they may see fit. He was of the opinion that such matters should be dealt with at the annual meeting, and also that a fixed date should be set upon which to hold the annual meeting. No action was taken in the matter.

It was decided that an intermediate player might play one senior game without affecting his intermediate standing and the same rule will apply to juniors who may play in one intermediate game.

It was decided that all entries must be in the hands of the secretary not later than Saturday, April 25th, upon which date a meeting will be held in the Y. M. C. A. for the purpose of drawing up the different schedules.

Before the meeting adjourned a vote of thanks was passed the retiring secretary, Mr. J. E. Sullivan, for his services, on motion of Mr. Doherty, seconded by Mr. Mowat.

President McIlroy's services were also recognized by a vote of thanks, on motion of Mr. Marsland, seconded by Mr. Sullivan.

FOUR-HOUR GRIND IS TO TAKE PLACE ON THE P. B. C. ALLEYS

A four hour bowling grind for teams of two men. This is one of the novel features planned for an early date at the Peterborough Bowling Club and though the suggestion was only made last night several well known bowlers have already entered. Plans are yet in an embryo state, but in the main the proposal is to start the teams some evening at 7 o'clock sharp on alleys previously decided by a draw. Every half hour a stop will be made to again draw for alleys but aside from these short delays the bowlers will be hard at it for the entire four hours.

The original suggestion was to accept entries only from the old bowlers, but a number of the younger devotees of the game have asked that it be made a handicap event and if this suggestion is acted upon a committee of leading bowlers will be formed to arrange the handicaps, which will be sealed and opened only when the contest is over.

The date for the contest has not yet been decided upon but the contest, for which valuable prizes will be given, will be held within a very short time. The winners will be decided by the total number of pins knocked down during the evening.

Two teams from the General Electric works have arranged a match for next Wednesday evening and alleys will be reserved for the match.

There were again some very high scores made on Friday, McIlroy getting top figure with 230. Cairnes, Hemstead, Giroux, Gutterson, Boyd and several other experts were right after the high mark during the evening, Hemstead displaying particularly good form. He had that wonderfully speedy ball of his under splendid control and was creating havoc among the pins all evening. Hemstead probably throws as speedy a ball as any bowler in Canada and if he ever develops a hook—well it will be all day with several Canadian records.

Y.M.C.A. HARRIERS WILL NOT TAKE PART IN CARNIVAL THIS WEEK

The officers of the Y.M.C.A. Harriers' Club regret very much that none of their men are in shape to take part in the athletic carnival to be held in Toronto the last days of this week. The management of this meet wanted both Fred Simpson and Ernie Wilson, but owing to the backward weather they have not been able to get in shape and could not do justice to themselves this week.

Ernie Wilson has just commenced training, and on Friday night, his first run, he negotiated a mile on the Y.M.C.A. track, 32 laps to the mile, in 5.40. Trainer Dick Baker wishes the rest of the men to get out and try to beat that mark this week. He will be at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday and Thursday nights before 8 o'clock to time any of the runners who wish to make a trial.

It is not likely any of the local runners will be seen in action this season before the Olympic trials in Toronto in June, with the exception of the spring meet under the auspices of the local club.

TURF CLUB MEETING TO-MORROW

Bright Prospects for the Coming Season —Big Meet for August

The Peterborough Turf Club will meet to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock at the Grand Hotel. The prospects for the coming summer never appeared brighter. The club is arranging for a big meet in August and several matinees during the summer. George Powell, the famous Orillia horseman, will have a string of speedy ones here as will also Wm. Leith, of Millbrook, who is well known to local turfmen.

Dr. Johnston is the president of the club and Mr. Chas. Nixon, the secretary.

The Greatest of All Spring Tonics

For Removing Winter Impurities
For Curing That Tired Feeling
For Driving Out Disease Germs
For Building Up the System
For Giving New Life and Energy
For Making the Weak Strong
For Making the Sick Well

AN AFFLICTED FAMILY

About a year ago our entire family were taken down with la grippe, one after another. The disease left us all in a very miserable, weak, and run down state, and hardly able to crawl about. We had this great weakness for weeks. We decided we must have some good reliable tonic to build us up. We had heard and read for ourselves of the wonderful effects produced by PSYCHINE, and came to the conclusion that it was just what we needed. We began using it, and it seemed wonderful the results that came, and so quickly too. In a very short while we were as well as ever, and have kept so ever since. We believe it to be the best medicine ever offered the public, and shall strongly recommend it at all times."

PSYCHINE

Every person requires a tonic after the severities of a Canadian Winter. Sluggish, impure blood, the after effects of la grippe, colds, chills, strong foods, etc., leave the system peculiarly susceptible to the development of disease. This should be remedied and the system built up and fortified by using PSYCHINE, absolutely the best of all remedies for this purpose. At all Druggists, 50c and $1.00, or DR. T. A. ERIE, PA., INDIAN ENTERS THE PEDESTRIAN TOURNAMENT

The big six-day walking race which begins here two weeks from to-day is presenting a more cosmopolitan aspect every day. Already entries have been received from Englishmen, Irishmen, Scotchmen, Canadians, Americans, Indians, negroes, and now comes one from an Italian. The native from the Sunny South, whose name is Tony O'Loeslein, lives in Erie, Pa., and claims the six-day walking championship of the world. He writes Mr. Stevens as follows:

Your mail just received. I have been out of the city, but will now be home for a while. I see that Mr. David Hartley will walk all comers from April 20 to April 25, at Brock street rink. I would like to meet him in a 12 hours a day or 24 hours, or six-day race, if arrangements can be made. Please let me know the terms. I am ready to meet him on any reasonable terms for the championship of the world, which I hold at present for six days, 24 hours a day. I am sorry I was not able to answer your mail sooner.

TOMMY BOYD IS HIGH FOR CIGARS

Rolled a Score of 237 on Saturday Afternoon—Bowling Dope.

Tommy Boyd looks good for the weekly box of cigars donated for the best single score at the Peterborough Bowling Club's alleys. On Saturday he hit the wood to the tune of 237 pins, the second highest score to date on the alleys, only 17 pins behind his own record of 254. McIlroy was high until Saturday afternoon with a score of 230, supplanting Frost, who had held the lead from Wednesday with 225. Boyd came along on Saturday afternoon, and in his first game boosted the mark up to 237, where it will probably remain until Wednesday night, although at the clip at which the bowlers are moving just now, high scores are being made regularly, a 200 score being the rule, and not the exception, with the cracks.

A local five-man team may visit Toronto this week to play a game with some of the Queen City experts.

SOME POINTS FOR THE BOWLERS

Don't try to learn in a day.

Don't grip the ball too tight.

Don't loft the ball.

Don't play the side ball until you have mastered the centre delivery.

Don't deliver the ball with the right foot in front.

Don't step on or over the foul line.

Don't think that you can change the course of the ball after it has left your hand.

Don't blame the boys every time you get a split. They will spot any pin you call their attention to.

Don't throw away a "spare" because you think you were entitled to a "strike."

Don't think the other fellow has all the luck; plug away, things will change.

Don't use any unnecessary motions.

GOOD OFFERS FOR HAZEL BELLE

Dr. Johnston However Could Not Hear Of It At Those Sums.

Dr. Johnston has had several good offers for his fast little mare "Hazel Belle" during the latter part of last week. Two of them were as good as $400, and another $450. They were, however, not up to what the doctor considered they should be, and there was consequently nothing doing.

Y.M.C.A. GYMNASIUM NOTICES

Basketball Practice--Meeting to Organize Baseball Team.

Every man in the Senior Gym Class is urged to turn out every class night from now until exhibition, which takes place on April 23rd.

The first and second teams will practice to-night at 9.30 o'clock, and all the men are requested to be on hand. This will be the last practice before the great game with Toronto on Wednesday night.

The plan of the gymnasium is now on sale. The first 112 seats are reserved at 25 cents, general admission 15 cents. Secure your seats early. Plan can be seen at any time at the secretary's office.

An organization meeting will be held in the Y. M. C. A. parlours tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock sharp, of the Y. Baseball Club. Officers will be elected and everything pertaining to the club will be discussed. All members interested in baseball are asked to be present. The committee in charge are Chris Graham, E. A. Frowde and Ernie Best.

CAME THIRTEEN MILES IN QUICK TIME

The Warsaw walker, Chas. Stenner, is one to be reckoned with in the coming pedestrian tournament. He left his employer's farm, 13 miles from the city, this morning, and arrived at the Munro House 2 3-4 hours later, the first four miles of the journey occupying only three-quarters of an hour. The roads were very rough owing to the quantity of snow. Mr. Stenner called at the Examiner office on his arrival, none the worse of his little jaunt. He returned home again this afternoon in the same manner.

Stenner served seven years in the English army, so that he had a good training to become a fast and steady walker.

BROOKS WILL BE HERE TO-NIGHT

Former Australian Champion Will Finish His Training Here.

The first of the outside men who will take part in the six-day walking race, beginning two weeks from to-day, will arrive to-night in the person of S. L. Brooks of Toronto, who will be the guest of the New Oxford Hotel while in the city. Brooks is the man who won many big races in New Zealand and Australia, and who is so confident of beating David Hartley that he is said to be willing to bet 2 to 1 that he will beat the local crack. Brooks is 61 years of age, but is in good shape now, and with two more weeks in which to train, will be a dangerous competitor.

WANT A GAME WITH THE QUAKERS GOOD FRIDAY

Brittanias Desire to Come—Meeting on Wednesday Night.

Secretary Ray P Best, of the Quakers, has received a communication from the Brittania Football Club, Toronto, asking for a game here on Good Friday. The Brittania's want half their expenses.

A meeting has been called for 7 o'clock on Wednesday night at the Y. M.C.A. to discuss the offer.

Fresh tea is all-important. Ten weeks after being picked in the tea gardens of the Island of Ceylon (the finest tea-producing country in the world) "Salada" reaches you. The flavour of tea consists in an essential oil, which deteriorates rapidly with age. In order to preserve the delicious flavour of "Salada" Tea it is packed in sealed lead packets (never sold in bulk,) guaranteeing you a superior tea, in flavour, quality, purity and economy in use. 14

DAVEY HARTLEY IS IN FINE SHAPE

Local Crack is Working Out at the Y.M.C.A. Every Day.

The man who beats David Hartley in the big walking match, beginning Easter Monday, will have to break some records in the pedestrian line. The local champion is working out every day in the Y. M. C. A. and is displaying amazing form and endurance. He promises to be in the pink of condition when the race opens, as trainer Dick Baker of the Y. M. C. A. Harriers, has him in charge and is working faithfully with him. It will be Hartley against all comers and although there is a most formidable field in sight the local walker will not back up any.

NERVOUS?

Perhaps Sleepless, too!

You'll be a total wreck pretty soon, life will no longer be a pleasure. Just think of the days and nights of misery you must spend if not cured!

Won't you use Ferrozone? It's a nerve strengthener that really does cure. It acts through the blood. First, Ferrozone brings appetite—you eat plenty. This fills the blood with nourishment for the inner nerve cells.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

Pat McDonough has been heard from at last. Pat, who is in Fort William, has received offers from Hamilton and Orillia. Billy Marshall, with Beaverton last year is also wanted by Hamilton, while McLean and Backus, who played with Peterborough last season, have received offers from New Westminster. All these players are with Pat McDonough in Fort William.—Toronto Star.

WILL HOLD STREET SERVICES

Street services under the direction of the Ministerial Association will be an innovation in Peterborough. They were decided upon at the meeting of the association this morning and will be begun next week. Although not yet finally arranged, it is probable these services will be held at the noon hour.

There was a large attendance of the city clergy at the meeting, including Rev. Mr. Burns of Lakefield, Revs. Mr. Coon, Mr. Steuernagel, Mr. Brace, Mr. O'Hara, Dr. Langfeldt, Canon Davidson, Mr. Potter, Mr. Pogue, Mr. Pearson, Mr. Webb, Mr. Manning and Mr. Keith.

Rev. Mr. Steuernagel was introduced and welcomed as a member.

It was decided to hold a farewell gathering of the ministers and their wives on the 23rd of this month, in honour of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Brace and Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Manning.

The missionary institute to be held in Peterborough on May 4, 5 and 6 was ratified, and it was unanimously decided to give the support of the churches.

The question of street preaching was introduced, and it was decided to hold services next week, probably during the noon hour, and a committee was appointed to make the necessary arrangements.

The appointments for the hospital for the present month are as follows: Rev. Mr. Pogue, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, Rev. Mr. Coon and Rev. Mr. Pearson.

An interesting paper was read by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt on "Faust." In view of the late hour, it was decided to meet some evening to consider the paper and the remainder of the work.

The meeting adjourned.

This special sale lasts only from April 9 to April 20, further particulars of which may be seen from the newspaper advertisements and posters.

ANNIVERSARY OF KNOX CHURCH

Things of Interest Which Have Been Determined by the Management.

The Session and Board of Managers of Knox church held a meeting last night at which the anniversary services were again considered. Rev. W D Reid on Monday night next will give an address on "A Trip Through Scotland," as part of a programme which gives promise of exceptional merit. The lecture will be illuminated with special stereoptican views. Arrangements are being made to procure a lantern, and the seating capacity will be increased by 150 new chairs which have been ordered from Mr. D. Belleghem.

The programme also includes old-time Highlander music, which should be interesting.

Owing to the expense the anniversary is entailing the management of the church appeals to the people for a munificent offering, which may be given in the ordinary envelopes or in open collection next Sunday.

The tickets for the concert on Monday have been distributed among the members of the church, who are rapidly disposing of them. The lecture promises to be one of the most successful affairs in the history of Knox church.

HAD A PLEASANT TIME LAST NIGHT

The Pill Pounders were last evening pleasantly entertained by the Misses Overend, Lock street, when the members of the club took advantage of the occasion to present Mr. Gordon Fitzgerald with a handsome tie pin prior to his departure for Port Arthur. An address was read by Mr. Ralph Quinn and the presentation made by Mr. W. Huston. Mr. Fitzgerald leaves to-morrow for the Lake Superior town.

There is no mistaking the superiority of a tea that in sixteen years has built up a market in almost every part of the North American continent that has had the enormous increases in sales, year after year, until over 18,000,000 packages was the immense output for 1907. This continental endorsement of "Salada" Tea proves conclusively their right in offering it to the public as the most delicious and healthful tea in the world. 17

MANIAC MONTREAL BOOKSELLER CREATES A WILD SCENE IN A BOARDING HOUSE WITH RIFLE

One Policeman Shot Dead and Two Others Injured---Uses Gun With Deadly Effect---Smoke and Water Failed To Dislodge Him---Was Finally Shot.

Examiner Specials

Montreal, April 7.—For five hours yesterday afternoon and evening, John Smith, a book agent, 60 years old, kept a large posse of the Montreal police force and a detachment of the fire department at bay, killing one constable, wounding another and Chief Detective Carpenter before he was finally shot during a fusilade which a large number of police poured in on the house.

All the while a crowd numbering several thousand surrounded the house and witnessed the most strenuous effort to make an arrest in the history of the Montreal force.

The trouble began late yesterday afternoon when Constables Focault and Shea were sent to 3 Mance street with a warrant for the arrest of Smith obtained by his landlady, Mrs. Pritchard. Focault attempted to enter the house first and was met by Smith armed with a rifle. Without a word of warning Smith fired at Focault, the bullet striking his forehead and glancing off. Shea was immediately behind and when Focault fell, he bravely rushed in. Once more Smith fired, the bullet piercing Shea's heart.

Assistance was summoned. By the time it arrived Smith had barricaded the windows of the house, appearing every now and then at one of them armed with the rifle. Orders were given to capture him alive and this the police at first attempted to do by smoking him out.

This means proving ineffectual, a couple of hose wagons were summoned from a nearby fire station. Streams were turned on from both front and rear and a volume of water poured into the place. When this was done Smith once more appeared at a window and leveled his rifle at those standing in front. Again he fired, and this time Chief Detective Carpenter fell, shot through the hand and hip.

When Carpenter fell, the police, urged on by the demands of the crowd, disregarded the order to take Smith alive, and the revolvers of fifty men began blazing away. After a few moments the firing was stopped. Smith gave no sign of life, and the police finally decided to rush the place. This they did, meeting no opposition. Smith was found lying on his bed, and submitted to arrest without further resistance.

During the fusilade of the police he had been hit in three places, the chin, breast and arm. None of the wounds appear to be mortal. He was conscious and appeared sane. He was taken to the hospital and a guard placed over him.

Smith is a well-known figure around town, having been engaged in selling books for years. About himself he was reticent. It is believed that he comes from the Southern States and that Smith is not his right name. His habits were generally good, but recently he has been drinking heavily and it was a threat to kill his landlady that led to her taking out the warrant.

The five-hour battle between a squad of Montreal police and a book agent, John Smith, who resisted arrest, has more than a passing local interest. Mr. Wm. Morris, of Morris & Brown, cattle dealers, was in Montreal yesterday and was up the outskirts of the crowd that watched the police and firemen, who finally succeeded in taking Smith alive. However, not until one man was killed and three injured. One of the latter was Chief Detective Carpenter, who was shot in the hand and hip. He is a warm friend of Chief Rossel.

SEWED UP KNIFE WOUND IN YOUNG ATHLETE'S HEART IN INTERVALS BETWEEN BEATS

IDENTIFIES ONE OF THE MEN

The New York World of yesterday says: With a knife wound in his heart that was every minute bringing him nearer death, Robert Inglis, a young athlete of Yonkers, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in that city and within fifteen minutes was on the operating table, where the surgeons opened his breast, lifted out the heart, put three stitches in it, and replaced the organ. A few hours later the patient was able to talk and the physicians said his recovery was possible, although his condition was still considered extremely critical with the chances against him.

Between Heart Beats

Inglis received his wound following a wordy altercation with three strangers on the street. The hospital happened to be nearby and the injured man was hurried to it. The stitches had to be taken when the heart was distended or between beats, as had they been taken when the organ was contracted they would have been torn away when the heart swelled again with blood. Removal of a portion of two ribs on the left side was necessary before the heart could be taken out. The stitches were made with catgut. Inglis when he recovered consciousness identified Powel Formisky, whom the police had arrested, as the man who assaulted him.

SAW ROCK WHERE BRIGHAM YOUNG PREACHED FIRST

From a four and a half months' tour through the picturesque western States, Mr. and Mrs. John Shea, of Douro, returned last night. Mr. Shea, when seen by the Examiner this morning, spoke in very complimentary terms of his visit to the Pacific coast, where he visited his brothers, sister-in-law and a sister. He spent a couple on months in Santa Rosa, the base of which is washed by the tides of the ocean and where perpetual summer reigns, where snow, except on the lofty peaks of the mountains, is unknown.

Among the finest of sights he met with in his travels were the blooming prune and orange trees; flower gardens occupying thirty acres of land and hay matured in the fields in the month of March.

Mr. Shea's brother, Mr. Cornelius Shea, who learned the blacksmith trade in Lakefield and who is now a prominent financial man in Santa Rosa, was visited. He is and has been for twenty-five years vice-president of the Santa Rosa Savings Bank and has dealt extensively in cattle, having made numerous purchases from Brigham Young, the famous chief of Salt Lake City.

On their return home Mr. and Mrs. Shea came by way of that city and saw the Castle Rock where Brigham Young preached his first sermon to a Mormon following. On the opposite side of the mountain is the Devil's Slide, which Mr. Shea also had the pleasure of witnessing. This is the famous slope where his satanic majesty is supposed by some to have slid down for amusement in the ages of the past.

Mr. and Mrs. Shea have been very much pleased with their journey across the continent. They left the Pacific coast on Tuesday morning of last week at eight o'clock and arrived here last evening.

Concert Party Wish To Give Entertainments In The Parks

If the Property Committee see fit to accede to the request of the Peterborough Concert Party, local people on amusement bent will find plenty of entertainment during the coming season. At the meeting of the Council last night the following letter was read:—

Gentlemen:—I have been asked to approach you on behalf of the Peterborough Concert Party, which is information and practically complete, regarding some concerts. The idea was this, to give evening concerts in one or other of the parks in the city three times a week during the coming summer.

We have in the party some of the best vocal and instrumental talent the city, and would, I think, provide long felt want. What we would require is that you grant us the use of the band stand which at present stands idle five nights out of the week, and we would make a small charge for seats, with the privilege of collecting from those who prefer to stand. We would have complete change of programme weekly, and the entertainments would be entirely free from vulgarity.

Yours sincerely,
GEO. E. CHANDLER,

THROWING STONES AT A DOG

Said It Stole Bones From His Hen House and Chased Chickens—Case Dismissed.

WAS DRUNK IN COURT

A young boy appeared in court this morning on a charge of throwing stones on Sunday last. When called before His Worship the lad began to cry and said he had thrown the stones at a dog that was always running after him. He said that one day the dog went into his hen-house, stole some liver and chased the chickens.

Mr. Yeat, an East City resident, who laid the complaint, said he was out getting some water on Sunday, and saw the boy throwing stones at the dog, which was in the front yard. He said the boy in court was not the only one, but that several boys in the vicinity were also tormenting the dog.

The man arrested yesterday by P. C. Newhall appeared in court this morning and pleaded guilty. He said he had not been in court for three years and promised not to come back. He was allowed to go.

FORMER LOCAL LAWYER DIED AT BROCKVILLE

Brockville, April 7.—Mr. Edward Mahon, of Ottawa, formerly one of the leading lawyers of Eastern Ontario, and one time practising law in Peterborough, died at the asylum here on Saturday of Bright's disease.

Mr. Mahon, after passing his examinations, opened an office in Peterborough over the then dry goods store of Mr. Thos. Kelly. He was a brilliant and bright young lawyer and had many friends in the city. Subsequently he opened an office in Ottawa, where he practised law until his affliction overtook him about two years ago.

TALK AND BUSINESS.

When the Examiner was advocating the selection of Mr. Rush as Mayor, one of the contentions in his favour was that under his presiding business would be done on business principles and without unnecessary talk. Last night the City Council got through a big batch of business and were able to adjourn and reach home at an hour consistent with respectable citizenship. The Council, by abstaining from irrelevant talk, thereby leaves itself free to do business without the distraction, caused by prosy talks, and avoids an evil which devours the usefulness of our parliamentary bodies, and represents not only waste of time and money, but distraction from the real business of parliament. There is an immense deal of time wasted in talk by civic and legislative bodies, as well as in business negotiations. Business men often feel that a caller at a business office will persist in talking and talking, and spending as much time over a trifling matter as a business man would do in buying a steamship or a railway. Beyond a reasonable and necessary limit, talk is an obstruction to business, and our city fathers do well to eschew it beyond what is absolutely necessary.

NOT ALL HARMONY.

It would be seen that all is not harmony—at least below the surface—among the Conservatives of East Peterborough. There are signs of mutiny over the manner in which the recent Conservative Convention at Norwood was manipulated, to exclude men justly entitled to a fair show from a nomination and who it is claimed would have been chosen had a square deal been given at the convention. Notwithstanding the assurance of our esteemed evening contemporary, the Review, the dissatisfaction was not a mere tempest in a teapot, that is past and gone. It is stated on good authority that conferences of the successful and unsuccessful candidates for the candidature at the Norwood Convention, have been recently held in Peterborough, with the result that the calling of a convention to properly, regularly and honestly nominate a candidate was insisted upon in no uncertain terms, and practically decided upon. That this is the correct and true state of affairs would be no surprise, for some of the gentlemen mentioned and their friends evidently feel that they are not getting fair treatment, especially in view of their long residence in the county, and their claims to consideration arising out of faithful work for their party in the past. Mr. Smithson is a gentleman of standing and influence in his community, with a good record of party service, and his friends feel that the treatment he received was not worthy treatment. The friends of Mr. Andrews, of Asphodel, and elsewhere feel very sore over the fact that he was practically jookeyed out of the nomination by sharp practices. Mr. Moore has a considerable record of faithful service to his party, and his friends felt and still feel that the plucky fight he put up against Mr. Anderson entitled him and still entitles him to another innings. What seems to be resented by these gentlemen is that their life-long services to their native county in the Conservative ranks entitled them to greater consideration of their claims, than being pushed aside to make way for a comparatively new comer from another part of the Province—and being pushed aside, too by underhand methods—knocked out by a blow below the belt. The friends of the various gentlemen who aspired as candidates, though now greatly dissatisfied with the way things had been done, would be satisfied to abide by the decision of a properly constituted and properly conducted convention, but are not inclined to support a candidate who was pitchforked into the nomination in the manner alleged to have been done at the late Conservative Convention. A similar spirit of discontent is said to be felt over some official appointment, say the selection of a license inspector, not long since from Northumberland County, appointed through influence exercised from the neighbouring county.

NO ASSISTED IMMIGRATION.

The undesirables who filter into Canada with the mass of desirable immigrants are reasonably objected to, but it is unreasonable to hold the Dominion Government responsible. In yesterday's Globe appeared a statement from Mr. W. D. Scott, Superintendent of Immigration, which furnishes valuable information on this point. The influx of undesirables has been attributed to Government assistance. There is no immigration assisted by the Government, and this objectionable class comes without assistance. It is shown that in the United States, where a practical tax is imposed upon undesirable incomers—the exaction of an actual cash payment—they continue to go in. The policy of the Canadian Government is to encourage only proper classes of immigrants, those seeking employment as farm labourers or on railway construction work, or female domestic servants. "Assisted immigration," says the Superintendent, "is no part of the immigration policy of the Dominion Government," and no money has been spent directly or indirectly, except in one instance, to help immigrants to come to Canada. The undesirables come without encouragement, as mentioned in the case of the United States, where, out of the millions of immigrants going into that country, over forty-five per cent. consist of the class considered by Canada to be undesirable, in spite of a required cash payment, strict exclusion laws and rigid medical examination. It is, in view of the facts, quite unfair to blame the Canadian Government for the presence of undesirables, who, by the way, form a very small proportion of the large influx of new citizens, comprising the general class of emigrants. We want population to build up Canada, and it seems inevitable that, with the large number of good immigrants and prospective good citizens of Canada, there should steal in a small proportion who are not good citizens and show little promise to become good citizens.

WITH THE BLINDS DOWN.

There is crookedness in this Cobalt Lake business. That is why the Whitney Government have succeeded in hiding the suspicious operations from the light of day, and even with the Premier's denial of an intention to hold the elections in May, they may be hurried through while the Province is still in ignorance. When the courts threatened revelations, the Government forced through a statute unconstitutionally deciding the issue, and declaring that one party to the litigation had no claim. When the Public Accounts Committee promised similar revelations there came a most sensitive ruling to to the effect that no matter bearing on anything before a court could be so much as mentioned. This showed the desperate nature of the Government's case, for a ruling so absurd would make it possible to surpass any inquiry by the simple device of issuing a writ. This device failed after a few days' success, through the deciding of the action used as a means of suppression. That action grew out of a claim to Cobalt Lake arising through an application previous to that which established the Florence Company's claim and caused the litigation unconstitutionally decided by the Government.

Mr. H. Dreany applied to Recorder Smith to have a Cobalt Lake claim recorded on June 6, 1905. A certificate was refused on the ground that the Recorder was acting under instructions from Toronto. This is hard on the pretence of no Toronto interference regarding the recording of claims. On July 17 a similar application was made, and Mr. Dreany was taken into the office by the back door, the blinds were drawn, the lamp lit, and the application made out and recorded. Mr. Dreany had taken in as a partner Mr. Lamarche, who retired to make a seat for Hon. Mr. Cochrane, Minister of Mines. Whatever scheme was involved in this, it seems to have fallen through owing to the development of another more extensive. Mr. Dreany unsuccessfully sued Mr. Lamarche and another partner for a large amount, claiming that they had failed to carry out a promise.

At first the public were inclined to hold the charitable view that there was nothing worse than stupidity and inexperience in the manipulations of Cobalt Lake. The lake was withdrawn. Then the whole township was withdrawn. Then the township, which includes the lake, was opened. Maps were issued, some showing the lake open and some showing it closed. The Government refused to allow litigants to photograph these maps. The Deputy Minister issued a statement saying the lake was always closed since it had been withdrawn by the previous Government. After this, a ruling by Hon. Mr. Cochrane was discovered, overriding the Deputy's ruling and instructing the Recorder to receive claims for Cobalt Lake. In the Public Accounts Committee suppression to and away beyond the strictest rules of evidence was imposed by the Government's majority. No reference was allowed to Mr. Dreany's partners. But sufficient was disclosed to make it clear that under the whole entanglement there was something infinitely worse than stupidity. A vast sum was involved and weakness yielded. The public should know more of this before putting this northern heritage in the same hands for another term. —Globe.

MR. AYLESWORTH ON THE ATTACK

Denounces Tactics of the Opposition—Defends Mr. Brodeur.

NOMINATION IN NEWMARKET

Newmarket, April 6.—"Practically the whole Opposition in the House of Commons in Ontario," Their course of conduct is dominated by the Tory party on Ontario. It is inspired by the unfortunate success that they have met with in this province as the result of just such despicable tactics.

"The Ottawa Opposition takes its inspiration from the temporary success of their tactics in the Provincial field, and from the Tory organs in Toronto, which teem and reek with slander, falsehood and vile attack.

"This is their stock in trade, their mental fodder. They live in the atmosphere of all that is false, vituperative and slanderous.

"The temporary success of the Whitney Government, attending that kind of warfare, was a most unfortunate thing for this province. And they are trying to repeat it at Ottawa.

"It behooves the Reformers of Ontario to see that they endure it no longer. They must do their utmost to win the victory for Liberalism, both in the Province and the Dominion. And I look forward to both with confidence and hope.

"The latest development of the whirl of scandal and attack is based on the report of the Civil Service Commission.

"The Commission jumped to conclusions. In the two particular transactions they mentioned as illustrative of their allegations Mr. Brodeur has been able to show that in each the Commission was entirely wrong.

"Mr. Brodeur's Department is largely manned by Tory appointees that have remained in office. He has been obliged to work with a staff appointed by the former Conservative Government, and not friendly politically to the present Government and the Minister in charge.

"Mr. Brodeur has selected Mr. Justice Cassels to find out who the guilty parties — if any — are; to separate the sheep from the goats. And the Tory goats who deserve dismissal should have it meted out to them."

Dear Sir: — I wish to thank you for the magnificent profits I received from you on the 2nd inst on Policy 20074 on my life, the dividend period having matured on the 1st inst.

To think that all I have paid the Company during the past twenty years was $442.00, and that my reserved cash profits for that period amount to $214.04, leaving the net cost of my Insurance of $1,000 during those years only $227.96, and that now I have a free paid-up policy of $1,000 still drawing profits EVERY FIVE YEARS hereafter, as long as I live, is a result that surprises me most agreeably and causes me to regret that I have not taken more Insurance twenty years ago.

However, as you know I am trying to redeem the past to the best of my ability and have applied for further Insurance on same plan with you.

Again thanking you and desiring to know the splendid results I received, and hoping it may assist some, at least, in making a wise selection when insuring, I wish your Company the patronage it deserves, and remain

Yours truly,

A Boon to the Bilious

Are you compelled to deny yourself many wholesome foods because you think they make you bilious? Do you know that your condition is more to blame than the foods? Your liver and stomach need attention more than the diet. When you find yourself suffering with a bilious attack, take and all annoying symptoms will soon disappear. They settle the stomach, regulate the liver and exercise the bowels. Their good effects are felt immediately.

Beecham's Pills mingle with the contents of the stomach and make easy work of digestion. The nourishing properties of the food are then readily assimilated and the residue carried off without irritating the intestines or clogging the bowels.

Beecham's Pills should be taken whenever there is sick headache, furred tongue, constipation, sallow skin or any symptoms that indicate an inactive liver.

Council Did Large Amount Of Business In Short Time

Many Communications and Reports Dealt With Last Night---Nine By-laws Received Their Second Readings And Were Passed---Reports From Nearly All the Committees.

The City Council got away with a large amount of business in good time last night. A large batch of communications was disposed of, several deputations heard, reports were read from nearly all the standing committees and nine by-laws were given their several readings and passed, and yet it was only 10.15 when council adjourned. The most business was the consideration of the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, recommending the reorganization of the Fire brigade, which is treated at length in and other column.

There were present Mayor Rush, Ald. Johnston, Elliott, Morgan, Buller, Bradburn, Gillespie, Turner, McIntyre, Morrow and Phelan.

Communications

The following communications were dealt with:

From Wm. Langford, chairman Court of Revision, recommending refunds to Mrs. E. Manning 54c., John Carroll $2.32; Stephen Carroll, $1.31; A. E. Lucas, $1, provided he makes a statutory declaration that he was a householder during the whole of the year 1907, and also that Wm. Davidson be refunded $25, which he paid for sewer connection on McDonel street.

From Roger, Bennet & Goodwill in regard to a claim of $5 made by Dr. McClelland in regard to his connection with the inquest into the cause of the death of Mrs. Howell.—Finance Committee.

From E. R. Stocker, 46 Lafayette avenue, complaining that plumbing work in Peterborough is being fixed contrary to the city plumbing bylaw and offering to give proof of the same.—Property Committee.

From John Corkery, secretary of the Public Library, inquiring as to what actions, if any, have been taken by the council regarding the procuring of a building for the public library.—Property Committee.

From Mrs. Martha Reid, claiming $100 from the city, as part of the price of a house and lot on Wesley street, bought from her for the extension of Aylmer street. Her letter stated that Mr. McKee had informed her that she would get another $100 in addition to the $1,650 paid her, in view of the increase in price of property in that neighbourhood.—Property Committee.

Total amount on roll...	$136,873 25
By total amount deposited...	125,460 74

Adding interest to (Nov. 1st...	96 66
Balance...	6,456 98
Remitted by Court of Revision...	2,000 00
Balance...	4,456 98
Add interest after Nov. 1st	393 65
Balance...	4,850 63

From W. H. Moore, on behalf of Andrew Graham, grocer, claiming $150 from the city as recompense for damages sustained by water from Aylmer street.—Legal Committee.

From the Peterborough Lumber Company, asking the consent of the council to use Maria street for the purpose of piling wood and offering to pay a nominal rental of $10.—Property Committee.

From C. S. Eby, organizing secretary of the Ontario Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, asking the co-operation of the council in the matter.

From S. J. Stubbs, secretary-treasurer Teachers' Institute, asking that the city grant to that body should be paid.—Finance Committee.

From T. H. Hooper, asking that the money be paid for an eating house license last year be allowed to go as payment for the same this year, as last year's license was used for one month only.—Finance Committee.

From Sam. Stewart, asking permission to connect a house on Bethune street with the sewer on Aylmer street.

From James Bertram, New York, stating that if the city agrees by resolution of the council to maintain a free public library at a cost of not less than $2,500 per year and provides a suitable site for the building Mr. Carnegie will be glad to give $25,000 to erect a free public library building for Peterborough.—Property Committee.

From W. H. Moore, on behalf of William D. Morris, claiming the sum of $125 from the city as recompense for damages sustained to his horse and sleigh by a runaway accident on Lock street, which, he complains, was caused by piles of snow on the street.—Legal Committee.

From M. H. Spensely, as follows: As I have seen that the present sanitary inspector has been appointed market clerk, I beg to apply for the position of sanitary inspector.—Property Committee.

From the secretary of the Board of Health, inclosing a resolution from that body as follows: That the city council be again requested to provide an isolation hospital in which contagious diseases can be treated, as there is now no place in which such cases can be isolated for treatment. —Referred to Committee of Whole Council, who will hold a joint meeting with the Board of Health in regard to the matter.

A letter from Dr. Scott in regard to a man who is very ill of tuberculosis and whom, Dr. Scott thought, should be placed in the Toronto Hospital for Consumptives, was read and on motion of Ald. Morrow and Phelan was referred to the Property and Health Committees with power to act.

E. R. Stocker, appeared before the council in regard to his letter in connection with alleged violation of the plumbing by-law. It was decided that Mr. Stocker should meet the Property Committee and explain the matter.

Granolithic Pavements

The Board of Works recommended among other things that notice be given of the intention of the council to undertake the construction of a granolithic sidewalk on the following streets or parts of streets in the city, as local improvements under section 678 of the Municipal Act, the annual special assessments therefor to be twenty, namely:

Reid street, west side, from King street to Sherbrooke street.

Concession street, east side, from Douro street to Carlisle avenue.

Legislation Committee

Your special committee appointed to look after the legislation asked for by the city, beg leave to report that they, with members of the manufacturers committee attended the Private Bills Committee of the Ontario Legislature in support of the bill and that it was passed by that committee as drafted with the exception of one clause in the part referring to the Peterborough City Trust, which authorized the Council to require the City Trust to purchase land and hold it for such purposes as the Council direct, which clause was struck out. The other sections, providing for the election of aldermen for two years, one half retiring each year; in regard to the Waterworks Contingent Fund; in regard to the appointment and powers of the Peterborough City Trust; authorizing the purchasing of the land opposite the King Edward School for a park; confirming the By-laws in regard to the Colonial Weaving Co., the Auburn Woollen Co. and the Peter Hamilton Co.; confirming a By-law fixing a charge for the use of sewers; authorizing a By-law to loan $30,000 and give other concessions to secure the continuation of the business of the William Hamilton Manufacturing Co. and to confirm a number of money By-laws; were all passed by the committee.

Property Committee

The Property Committee, per Ald. Bradburn, reported and recommended as follows:—

1—That a tender from the Higgins Hardware Co. to place the fire escape on the band hall for $55 be accepted.

2—That the Plumbing Inspector be required to issue a certificate to the plumber when he has passed work, and that the chairman procure a book of certificates for that purpose.

3—That a flag fifteen feet long be purchased from A. Kingcote for the city building.

4—That the chairman be authorized to procure the supplies required for the market and also to arrange for such assistance that may be needed and that the City Treasurer be authorized to pay the assistants on the certificate of the chairman of the committee.

5—That the offer of T. Williams to furnish the same refuse ground as last year on the same terms be accepted.

By-laws Passed

The following By-laws were passed:

By-law No. 1378, a by-law to provide for the issuing of debentures to pay for the building of certain granolithic sidewalks.

By-law No. 1379, a by-law to provide for borrowing of money for the issue of debentures for the building of certain sewers.

By-law No. 1380, a by-law to provide for the borrowing of money for the issue of debentures secured by local special rates to pay for granolithic sidewalks.

By-law No. 1381, a by-law to provide for the borrowing of money for the issuing of debentures secured by local special rates for the construction of certain sewers.

By-law No. 1382, a by-law to authorize the issue of debentures for $6000 to pay for the cost of permanent street crossings.

By-law No. 1383, a by-law to provide for the watering of additional streets.

By-law No. 1384, a by-law to amend By-law No. 1279, doing away with the position of Sanitary Inspector.

By-law No. 1385, a by-law appointing Geo Ball Market Clerk of the City at a salary of $750.

By-law No. 1386, a by-law to authorize the execution of an agreement with Thos. Williams to provide for a refuse ground for the city.

Ald. Morgan moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre that the Peterborough Radial Railway Co. be asked to make an agreement to have their cars stop when approaching an intersecting street, instead of crossing the street and stopping as they do now on the other side. Carried.

Mr. Larmouth, manager of the Radial Railway Co., was present and said that there was a difficulty in this proposal inasmuch as an order had been or would shortly be issued by the Railway Board forbidding people from boarding a car from the front and if the car stopped when approaching a street passengers would have to walk the length of the car in the mud to get on at the rear.

Ald. Bradburn moved seconded by Ald. Gillespie that the matter of having the Great North West Telegraph Company remove its poles from George street, be left in the hands of the Board of Works to deal with at once. Carried.

The Council adjourned at 10.15 o'clock.

MAGISTRATE PRAISES ZAM-BUK

Magistrate Beaumont, of 202 Marquette street, Montreal, writes: "For many years I was troubled with a serious eruption of the skin. This was not only unsightly, but it was at times very painful. I first tried various household remedies, but these proved altogether useless. I then took medical advice. Not one, but several doctors in turn were consulted, but I was unable to get any permanent relief. Some time back I noticed a report from a Justice of the Peace (Magistrate Perry, J.P. for B. C.) who had been cured of a chronic skin disease by Zam-Buk, and I determined to give this balm a trial. After a thoroughly fair test I can say I am delighted with it. I have the best of reasons for this conclusion; because, while everything else I tried — salves, embrocations, washes, soaps, and doctors' preparations—failed absolutely to relieve my pain and rid me of my trouble, three boxes of Zam-Buk worked a complete cure. In my opinion, this balm should be ever more widely known than it is, and I hope that my experience will lead other sufferers who are in despair to try this herbal healer, Zam-Buk."

For healing eczema, running sores, cuts, bruises, burns, boils, eruptions, itch, chapped hands and diseases of the skin, Zam-Buk is without equal. All druggists and stores sell it; 50c box, or postpaid from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

DEPUTATION REGARDING WHARFS

From Lakefield and Young's Point—Passed Through City Last Night

A deputation from Lakefield passed through the city last night on their way to Ottawa to interview the Government respecting wharves. They would like to have the steamer wharf repaired, and one built at the Block road, opposite the cement works. They also want the former transferred from the Public Works Department to the Department of Railways and Canals.

The deputation consists of Reeve Moore, Councillor Bygott, representing the council; Messrs. John Hull, E. A. Tanner and W. M. Graham of the Board of Trade, and Capt. Frank Young, Young's Point.

City's Fire Brigade Is To Be Made Permanent Organization

Recommendation From the Fire, Water and Light Committee to That Effect Was Adopted by the Council Last Night--Ald. Morgan and Elliott Opposed It.

TO BE ONLY SIX CALL MEN

"That a fire brigade be organized, to consist of a permanent chief, assistant chief, engineer, two drivers, three permanent firemen and six call men, to take effect on July 1 next." This laconic clause in the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, read at the meeting of the Council last night, indicates that Peterborough is putting on city clothes along another line. The clause was passed almost unopposed by the Council, and its passing marks the close of the volunteer fire brigade which has done so much for Peterborough in the past fifty years. The brigade, from July 1 next, will be a paid one, and all but six of the men will reside at the firehall.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee has had the matter in hand for some time. Its coming was hastened, it is said, by a demand from the firemen that their salaries be increased by $50 each, which would make a difference in the total salary of the brigade. According to the figures given by Ald. Johnston, the chairman of the committee, last night, it would be cheaper to pay a permanent brigade, than it would be to grant the increase asked for by the present firemen. The personnel of the new brigade is an unknown quantity as yet. The matter will be dealt with by the Fire, Water and Light Committee, whose first move will be to strike a schedule of wages for the different positions and then to advertise for applications. Before taking any further action, however, the matter must come before the Council again.

Ald. Johnston's report was as follows:

Your Fire, Water and Light Committee recommends as follows:

1—That the Peterborough Light and Power Company be instructed to place an incandescent lamp at the corner of Bethune and Hunter streets.

2—That the Peterborough Light and Power Company be instructed to place an arc lamp on James street, near the Grand Trunk Railway Company's right-of-way, and that the order for three incandescent lamps on this street be rescinded.

3—That a fire brigade be organized to consist of a permanent chief, assistant chief, engineer, two drivers, three permanent firemen and six call men, to take effect on July 1 next.

Ald. Elliott thought clause three was a little premature. Peterborough already had a fire brigade second to none in the Province. The men were right on duty all the time and did most creditable work, and he was not in favour of making any changes. Chief Rutherford had been in harness for forty years and was still of the greatest service. "Until the men we have get shaky," he concluded, "we had better keep what we have."

Ald. Morgan also objected to the clause. He wanted to know how much the brigade under the new arrangement would cost the city. He had figured it out that it would amount to $7,000 yearly, made up as follows: Chief, $1,000; assistant chief, $800; engineer, $700; two drivers, $1,050; three permanent men, $600 each, or $1,800, and six call men, $200 each, or $1,200. The present brigade, which he thought was equal to the best, cost the city about $2,456, and he was very sorry to see a change made.

Ald. Johnston explained that the members of the brigade has asked for an increase of $50 per man, amounting to $850 in all, and the committee had decided to look at the matter in a broad light. The total amount paid in salaries to the brigade now was $5,540, and the increase asked for would bring the sum up to $6,390. Under the new scheme the brigade would cost $6,000, made up as follows: Chief, $1,000; assistant chief, $800; engineer, $600; two drivers, $525 each, or $1,050 in all; three permanent men, $450 each, or $1,350, and six call men at $200 each, or $1,200. He had no fault to find with the present brigade. It was one the city should feel proud of, but under the new arrangement there would be eight men permanently at the firehall, instead of five, as at present. He was not forcing the matter on the Council, but simply presented the report of the committee.

The adoption of the report had been moved by Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Butler, and Ald. Morgan moved in amendment, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that the clause in regard to the fire brigade be struck out.

The amendment was lost, only the mover and seconder voting for it.

The matter of arranging the details was left in the hands of the Fire, Water and Light Committee to report back to the Council, on motion of Ald. Bradburn, seconded by Ald. Elliott.

SONS OF SCOTLAND MEET TO-NIGHT

Many to be Initiated—Social Evening Will Follow.

A special meeting of the Sons of Scotland Clan Alpine Camp No. 36 will be held to-night in the L.O.L. hall, Simcoe street, at 8 o'clock. The organizer, Mr. Grieve, expects about 20 new members. After the initiation a social evening will be spent. All young Scotsmen are invited. The organizer is now in touch with Lakefield and Havelock.

Sir,—If it is not degrading to the great science of astronomy, in the interest of which the meeting was held, with your permission I will revert to some statements contained in a report of the last meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society, held on Thursday evening, April 2nd, which appeared in the Review of the following day; and were reiterated in Saturday's issue of the same and also in the Examiner. In the first place the Rev. Dr. Marsh caused an item to appear in the Review of March 19th, saying that the sun would be on the equinoctal at 9.27 p. m., March 20th. Following this on the 25th in a letter to the Review, I pointed out that these figures did not agree with those given in the Handbook of the Society, on page 63—Astronomical phenomena for March, opposite the 20th day, i. e. 7hrs. 27min. after midnight on the 20th or 27min. after 7 o'clock a. m., as we would say. Now, this book is in the hands of each member of the Royal Astronomical Society and can easily be referred to, as well as the letter in question.

In the items mentioned, it will be seen, that there are three different times given by the worthy president of the society, as the time of the Vernal Equinox. Then, at the meeting on Thursday evening the reverend doctor, answering the letter, which had been put in as a question, showed, both by figures on the blackboard, and by a letter from Mr. Blake, assistant astronomer in Toronto (which letter was handed to me to read) that my figures were correct and that there had been a mistake in the first item. However, he failed to explain why the sun crossed the line on the 20th instead of the 21st, as is generally the case. I am certain that one-third of the vast audience, i. e., a gentleman from the country and two others who accompanied me, will bear me out in these statements.

One pole rides high
One sinks beneath the main;
Seeks the dark night
And Pluto's dusky reign.

and thus the stars in the immediate vicinity of the pole are in perpetual apposition—he said nothing whatever and never mentioned meteors.

Now, Mr. Editor, when I went to school in Douro, I was taught that the "Solar Apex" lay in R. A. 258 degrees 23min. N. P. D. 55 degrees 33min, near a star in the constellation Hercules, at the bifurcation of the Galaxy or Milky Way; but lately I have come to think that possibly it has been moved down to a point near Springville, and there we must look for the centre of the universe.

Hoping these figures will be sufficient, and thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain

Yours sincerely,
S. W. LOWRY.

City Solicitor's Salary Will Not Be Changed This Year

The City Solicitor will have to do without the increase of $200 in his salary recommended by the Finance Committee. At the meeting of the Council last night the recommendation of the committee was turned down by a vote of the Council, and his salary will therefore be $700, the same as last year.

Ald. Morrow read the report of the Finance Committee, the second clause of which read, "that the salary of the City Solicitor be $900 per annum from April 1, 1908."

There was strong objection to the clause at once from non-members of the Finance Committee.

Ald. Morgan moved, in amendment, that the clause be struck out. He questioned whether the City Solicitor's services were worth $900 to the city. He did not think the members of the Council should make good fellows of themselves with the people's money.

Ald. McIntyre seconded the motion. He said that if no application had come from the City Solicitor the Council should not make an increase.

Ald. Johnston expressed himself as not being in favour of the increase, as did Ald. Bullar.

Ald. Phelan and Morrow spoke in favour of the clause, but the amendment was carried on the following vote:

Yeas — Ald. Johnston, Elliott, Morgan, Bullar, Turner, McIntyre.

Nays — Ald. Bradburn, Gillespie, Morrow, Phelan.

The report, as amended, was carried as follows:

Fair Directors Urge Purchase Of The Exhibition Grounds

A large grant to the Exhibition and the purchase of the Exhibition grounds by the city were the two things strongly urged upon the City Council last night by a deputation from the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition, which waited upon the aldermen last night. The deputation strongly advocated the buying of the Exhibition grounds, emphatically declaring it was a good business proposition.

Mr. Leary, in asking for the grant, said the prize list was largely increased this year, while the special attractions would cost more, so that an increase in the grant would be appreciated. Last year they had begun with a deficit of $136, and in spite of the fact that it rained on the last day, there was a surplus of $96.71. The grant in former years was $400; this year they would like a larger grant, he said in making the Fair one of the best in the Province.

Mr. Leary strongly advocated the purchase of the Exhibition grounds, which, he thought, was a good investment, as the ground would be available not only for fair purposes, but for sports. The directors hoped to be able in a short time to spend money on the grounds and buildings, and they couldn't do it if the grounds were leased.

Mr. Vance said he had been connected with the Peterborough Agricultural Society for about eighteen years, and had advocated the purchase of the grounds eighteen years ago. He still thought it a good investment for the city. The speak told of the successful experience which Millbrook had had along this line, and how it had been assisted by the council of Cavan.

Mr. Turner also spoke strongly in favour of buying the Exhibition grounds at once, because their value would rise year by year. The grounds could be made a credit to the city. This year, with a liberal grant from the Council the Fair would be a grand success, and he was sure the Council would be glad to see that brought about.

Dr. Johnston and Mr. Collins also spoke in favour of the request of the deputation. The latter said there was no reason why Peterborough should not have the best Fair between Ottawa and Toronto. He instanced the help the city of Toronto gave to the Toronto National Exhibition, saying that the municipality gave a liberal grant to their fair because it was thought to be a good business proposition.

The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

The Charlotte Street Sunday School Anniversary Concert

Had a Splendid Programme of Outside and Local Talent—Miss Pearl O'Neil of Toronto Gave Several Numbers.

LARGE AUDIENCE PRESENT

The Sunday School of Charlotte Street Methodist Church held their annual concert in the lecture room last night. The concert was a great success and the seating capacity both of the gallery and lower floor was taxed to its utmost, and several persons were compelled to stand throughout the entertainment. The evening was opened with prayer by the pastor and the concert followed. Those in charge of the affair deserve great credit to the excellent programme they had arranged, which was composed of local and outside talent. Miss Pearl O'Neil, of Toronto, proved herself to be a charming entertainer, as every one of her numbers were encored. Miss O'Neil is a capital impersonator and the audience greatly enjoyed her Irish selections. Her humour is original and on one occasion she told of some very amusing experiences she has had. The opening duet by the Misses Campbell and Clarry, was very well rendered. Mr. John Burns appeared in Highland costume and sang several Scotch songs, which were well received and heartily applauded. Miss Greta Le Bar, a favourite among local audiences, showed remarkable talent in her selections. The violin selection by Miss K. Wallis was very well received and she was forced to repeat. Miss Clara Belleghem, one of Peterborough's favourite sopranos, was also among the appreciated entertainers, her solo "A May Morning," being splendidly rendered.

The programme was as follows:

Piano duet, overture—"Poet and Peasant," Suppe, Misses Campbell and Clarry.

Solo—"The Star o' Robbie Burns," Mr. John Burns.

Solo—"I am a Little Flower Girl," Miss Greta Le Barr.

Recitation—Selected, Miss Pearl O'Neil.

Recitation — "His Sweetheart," Cape—Miss Pearl O'Neil.

Solo—"When the Rye comes Hame," Mr. John Burns.

Solo—"A May Morning," Denza—Miss Clara Belleghem.

Recitation—"The Teddy Bear," Miss Pearl O'Neil.

Solo—"Annie Laurie," Mr. John Burns.

God Save the King.

Peterborough Must Have More Accommodation For Sewage

Peterborough is face to face with an over taxed sewer system, and steps will have to be taken at once to do something to improve the condition of affairs. At last night's meeting of the City Council Ald. Phelan read the following self-explanatory letter from the City Engineer:—

Ald. Phelan, Chairman of the Board of Works:

Dear Sir—I beg to draw your attention to the necessity for an increased outfall for the sewerage system. The present trunk sewer which is egg-shaped, in section 3 feet x 2 feet, and mostly on a very flat grade, discharges into the river at the foot of Lock street, where the outlet is contracted in size to a 20 inch steel pipe, which decreases the capacity very considerably. At Rink street a fifteen inch pipe from Park street enters the trunk sewer. Into this fifteen inch pipe are connected twelve inch pipes on Park, Reid, Rubidge, Stewart and Aylmer streets.

When the water is high in the river as at present, the trunk sewer is below the level of the river as far north as Lansdowne street, against which head all the water and sewage has to find an outlet line with the large quantity of water flowing into the sewers at this season of the year the trunk sewer becomes gorged and cannot discharge as quickly as it is entering.

Since the first outfall was constructed the system has grown from a small affair to more than its capacity and it is now imperative that some action should be taken to provide increased outlet, in doing which consideration should be given in providing for the next 20 or 25 years and also to provide for storm water. In the meantime some measure of relief could be had by laying several overflow pipes into the river at the most favourable points, such as corner of King and Water streets, and Dalhousie and George, and Lake and Crescent streets. These overflows should be controlled by gate valves.

The most practicable route for new trunk sewer outfall will be by Park street from Rink street to the river providing for the filteration beds and for which the soil in that vicinity being sandy is most suitable.

Yours faithfully,

T. A. S. HAY,
City Engineer.

On motion of Ald. Morrow, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, the matter of securing additional sewage accommodation was referred to the Board of Works to report back to the Council.

EYEBALL CUT WITH PIECE OF STEEL

Painful Injury Received by Mr. N. A. Howard Moore Yesterday.

Mr. N. A. Howard-Moore, 341 Downie street, a C. G. E employee, met with a very painful accident yesterday while at work. A piece of steel flew up from the article he was working with and struck him in the eye ball. It was badly lacerated and Mr. Moore will be off work for two or three weeks at least. He was attended by Dr. Young. It is not believed that he will lose the sight of the eye, but it will be impaired.

TRIO OF CATTLE DROP THROUGH THE ICE

About 2.30 o'clock this afternoon three cows had a narrow escape from drowning in Little Lake. They ran out about twenty yards from the shore to get a drink and while standing there they went through the ice. Several men were attracted by the bawling of the cows and came to the rescue. The first two were pulled from the cold waters very easily, but considerable difficulty was experienced in getting out the third.

The animals belonged to Mr. Gilbert Thompson, who was driving them to the slaughter house.

EXPOSE WHITNEY'S METHODS

Shows How Government Has Departed From All British Precedent—Liberals Not Fairly Treated — Will Continue the Fight—Supplementary Estimates Brought Down —$100,000 for Tercentenary.

Toronto, April 7.—Practically all day was given to the redistribution debate in the Legislature yesterday. The debate was adjourned by A. Hislop, and the House will meet at 11 this morning. The supplementary estimates were brought down, and a number of bills advanced a stage at the early session.

At the 3 o'clock sitting Hon. A. G. MacKay took up the debate on his amendment to the redistribution bill motion to go into committee. He began by combating the argument advanced by Premier Whitney that he was only putting things right after the redistribution of 25 years ago. Whatever may have been done then at the last election a Conservative majority of 40 or 45 had been returned on the Liberal arrangement of constituencies. That, he believed, effectively disposed of this argument. In England the redistribution had been carried out by the joint action of both parties, and the delimitation had been arranged by an independent commission.

Mr. MacKay had expected after the Conservative declarations in the last election that there would in future elections be one man one vote and one man in one constituency. The Toronto proposal quite upset the Conservative promises.

In 1898 the Conservatives had considered 60 members sufficient for the province. The redistribution was then intended to be immediately after a census, when the figures were fresh and represented actual conditions. The principles of the proposals then made were that redistribution was not to be made by the Government, not by the dominant party, and the delimitation was to be carried out by three high court judges. Premier Whitney had been false to British precedent and false to his own proposals.

W. K. McNaught considered it self-evident that whatever was proposed would be objected to by the Opposition. He showed that Toronto by its population, having one-eighth of the whole province, was entitled to 12 members, and even with two votes for eight members, each elector was only having a fraction of a vote as compared with the rural constituencies.

Sam Clarke (Northumberland) considered that the personal weight of the Toronto members was sufficient without adding to the number of representatives. Toronto was not so large as his own riding. Not a single gain for Liberals had resulted from all the changes, but eight or ten Conservatives would be benefited.

E. W. Rathbun said that generally speaking he did not think there was any objection in the province to the increased membership in Northern Ontario, but with regard to the doubling up in Toronto he believed the county members would object. He used his discretion as he had been permitted and supported the Government when he could, but this was one occasion on which, politics apart, he must oppose them.

W. H. Hoyle examined the Opposition arguments in detail, and pointed out the inconsistencies of the plans advanced with the practice of the Liberal party when in office. He was frequently interrupted by Sam Clarke (Northumberland), who frequently mistakes rudeness for humor, and who was finally called to order by the Speaker.

The Opposition intend to move another amendment before going into committee on the redistribution bill. Several amendments will be moved in committee, and again on the third reading.

The supplementary estimates were brought down in the Legislature yesterday evening just before the six o'clock recess. The total amount is $407,330.64. This, with the $7,501,876.67 of the main estimates, constitutes an expenditure for the year of $7,909,206.31, or very little short of $8,000,000.

The item that will probably attract most attention is the patriotic grant of $100,000 to the preservation of the Plains of Abraham, which is put down as a "Grant to National Battlefields Park and Monuments at Quebec." The Dominion has given $350,000, and the sum from Ontario is that suggested by the national committee.

The expenses of elections are put down at $90,000, and while this makes surety sure of the fact it throws no further light on the date.

The other miscellaneous items are $5,000 to the Provincial Museum for the purchase of antiquities, and $500 for the South African Monument, London.

The Provincial Board of Health gets $3,000 for the tuberculosis campaign. For the annual meeting of the International Association of Factories Inspectors, $50 is allowed. This is included in civil government, which totals $7,892. Legislation is responsible for $2,342.

Administration of justice requires an additional $5,500, education claims $19,605 extra. Of this $1,200 goes to the Macdonald Consolidated School, Guelph; $1,000 to the principal of Ontario Normal College for special services; $3,600 to departmental masters in normal schools; $2,400 educational to agricultural training in high schools; $2,000 for the technical education plans at Hamilton, and $5,000 for technical education at Sault Ste. Marie.

Agriculture gets $40,752. Of this $20,000 goes for the Ontario Veterinary College, $10,000 for the museum and goodwill, and $10,000 for the staff, rental and contingencies. A special grant of $5,000 for forestry work is made.

Under public buildings $10,000 appears for an assembly hall at Brockville, $20,000 for the purchase of lands for a new central prison, $7,000 or $8,000 for the Ontario Agricultural College—in all $43,969.

Public works account for $13,509 and colonization roads for $21,432.

Fire ranging, forest ranging and other forest and survey charges require $46,758, extra.

BRITISH HOUSE ADJOURNS.

No Further Business to Be Done Pending Cabinet Changes.

London, April 7.—The House of Commons was crowded yesterday afternoon, when Mr. Asquith rose to make his anticipated statement on the political crisis. The Premier-elect was greeted with hearty cheers as he began to speak.

"Since the House rose on Friday," said Mr. Asquith, "the King has been pleased to accept the resignation of the Prime Minister, and the Government now is without a head. This is not the occasion when it would be possible or appropriate to do justice to the great qualities of our revered and trusted chief, or to enlarge upon his long and splendid services to the state. For the moment I will not trust myself to do more than to say that in the annals of our history there is no man who, after long years spent in the thick of public contention, has ever laid down the highest offices under the crown more universally and deservedly beloved. There is not a single man in any quarter of this House who does not feel that this is a personal loss."

Mr. Asquith went on to state that it was clear public business could not proceed effectively at this time, and he proposed that the House adjourn until April 14, when, after the transaction of formal business, it would re-adjourn for the Easter recess. His proposal was adopted.

Mr. Asquith left for Biarritz last night to confer with King Edward.

POWER FROM THE FALLS.

London, April 7.—The Foreign Office recently received drafts of treaties having as their object the settlement of questions pending between the United States and Canada.

These treaties were considered satisfactory, with the exception of a few minor points, which were referred back to Ottawa, and it was fully expected that a complete agreement was about to result.

The news cabled from the United States, however, of which the Foreign Office has unofficial advices, that a deadlock exists over the disposition of power from Niagara Falls, came as a surprise to the officials.

Negotiations for the submission of the Atlantic fisheries disputes to arbitration have not advanced to any great extent. Newfoundland has been slow in replying to the points which have been referred to that Government, and in addition, Great Britain does not find it easy to reconcile the views of the Newfoundland and the Dominion of Canada in preparing the case. Already there is talk of the necessity of renewing the modus vivendi.

ALLEGED PIANO FRAUD.

Orangeville, April 7.—Robert F. Dawson, a piano agent here, was arrested for obtaining two hundred and seventy-five dollars, and two organs by fraud and misrepresentation, from Mrs. Robert E. Welbourne and her daughter, Miss Bertha Duke.

It appears Dawson purchased an upright piano from W. H. Lyman, Synder & Co., manufacturers, Berlin, on March 13, 1906, giving a lien note therefore for $145. In September, 1906, he sold the instrument to the complainants, promising them a piano stool. The prisoner did not pay the piano company, who, on being requested to furnish the stool, sent bailiffs to repossess the instrument under the lien note.

Mrs. Welbourne, greatly annoyed, swore out a warrant against Dawson, who was arrested, appearing before Police Magistrate Pattullo yesterday. The lien note was produced, and evidence of the sale given and the piano fully identified.

The magistrate intimated that a strong case had been made out, and admitted the prisoner to bail in bonds of $1,000.

Brooks And Graham Arrive In City For The Big Walk

Welsh and Australian Champion, Who is 61 Years of Age, Says That He Will Beat Them All—Has a Great Record And Is In The Best of Shape.

LOOKS "FIT" AND FRESH

Two of the world famous walkers who will start in the six day pedestrian tournament in the Brock street rink week after next, have arrived in the city, in the persons of S. L. Brooks, the former Welsh and Australian champion, now living in Toronto, and Jas. G. Graham, of Buffalo, N. Y., the well known American walker. The two will finish their training here and look to be in the pink of condition.

The sporting editor of the Examiner had the pleasure of a long chat with Mr. Brooks, who, although 61 years of age and the father of eighteen children, looks as "fit" and fresh as a man of thirty-five and is bubbling over with vigourous good spirits. He has a merry chuckle that is good to hear and is about an excellent an example of the beneficial effects of athletic exercise as has been seen around here in a long time.

"But are you going to come out on the race?" he was asked.

"I am going to win," he replied emphatically, "unless they move faster than I have seen them do since I arrived in this country. They will have to make better time than they did in Kansas City or than David Hartley made in Toronto if they want to beat me, although I would prefer a ten hour per day walk. It would be a great joke on those young fellows if I went out and showed them up, wouldn't it?" he asked with his characteristic chuckle.

Tell you something about my record? Well, I was born at Laughraun, Carmarthenshire, Wales, on December 6th, 1846. I made my first appearance in the walking game in 1864, when I won a mile, two mile and five mile walking races. In 1869 I went to Australia and won a dozen walks of from two to fifteen miles. I was champion bicycle rider of Victoria in 1870 and next year went back to Wales where I was champion runner and walker up to 1874, when I left home again, this time going to Dunedin, New Zealand, where I won many walks. My most notable feats were to cover 70 miles in 12 hours and 117 miles in 24 hours against all competitors. My last race was in 1888, and I came to Canada three years ago, since when I have been endeavouring without result to get on a race. I have issued challenges which were not taken up and until the present I have been unable to arrange a race."

Mr. Brooks, who will be the guest of the New Oxford Hotel, while in the city, will do from ten to twenty miles per day.

QUESTION OF RE-ORGANIZING THE GUILD LEAGUE DISCUSSED

Will the Guild Baseball League be rejuvenated during the coming summer? This question was asked a few days ago by one of the men who played in the league when it was at its best a few years ago and after a little investigation it seems possible that there may be something doing again this year.

The games not only were of deep interest among the guilds represented, but the whole city watched them, and for several seasons the closing contests attracted large crowds. The result was, from a baseball standpoint, that quite a number of good players were developed, but when the league disbanded most of them quit the game. From the viewpoint of the churches and guilds a great deal of good was accomplished, and for these reasons it would seem advisable that the league be re-organized. There is a relation between religion and sport and a young man playing with his guild team will derive benefits which the ordinary teams do not afford.

The churches which could easily place a team in the Guild League are Charlotte Street Methodist, George Street Methodist, St. Andrew's, St. John's and St. Paul's, St. Luke's, Park Street Baptist, All Saints' Knox and Murray Street Baptist should also be able to each get a nine together. Divided into groups these teams could produce a good article of ball and the palmy guild evenings be brought back again. The guilds or young men's clubs, which ever the case may be, should look into the matter and call a meeting soon in order that if the idea is feasible a schedule could be arranged for the early part of the season.

LINE-UP FOR PETERBORO' BALL TEAM FOR THE SEASON ANNOUNCED

Manager Johnston, of the Peterborough Baseball Club has announced the line-up of his Midland League team for the season, and if it is as strong on the field as it is on paper—well, the other league teams had better look out for trouble from the drop of the hat. The local manager has corralled about the pick of the amateur ball players, and the team that will wear the blue and white of Peterborough this year will be about the strongest that has never represented this city.

Beginning with the pitchers, Manager Johnston has secured Clements, who pitched the last two games for Peterborough last year, and Patterson, the clever twirler of the St. Mary's team of Toronto. Both are right-handers, with plenty of speed, good control, a puzzling assortment of benders, and, above all, their heads are on right. Clements made a very favourable impression on the fans last season, and Patterson comes here highly recommended and with a most creditable record behind him.

As for the infield—what do you think of a quartette composed of Lawson, Anderson, McDermid and Cheatham?

Dave Lawson, who was seen here with the Arctics last year, will hold down first base. Lawson is as neat a fielder has has been seen in this city, digging them out of the ground and pulling down wide and high thrown in clever fashion, while he has an excellent throwing arm. In addition, he is a reliable, consistent batter.

Fred Anderson needs no introduction to local fans, who have not forgotten the way the big fellow cavorted around Riverside Park last summer. He is a very speedy fielder, covering acres of ground around second base and cutting off scores of hits by sensational work. He is a hard hitter with a good eye.

"Micky" McDermid of the Royal Canadians, Toronto, will likely be seen at shortstop. He has a great reputation as a speedy infielder with a splendid whip, while he stings the pill consistently with the willow.

"Red" Cheatham, who played shortstop last year, will likely be shifted over to the difficult corner. His clever fielding has not been forgotten by the fans, and he should have no difficulty in playing third to the King's taste.

Frank (Fritz) O'Brien, formerly of the Alerts, and last year with Charlotte, N.Y., will be seen in the outfield. He is a clever fielder with a good pair of hands and a great wing, while he will bring splendid batting strength to the team. O'Brien arrived last night and looks fit and well.

Corney Burns will not go to Edmonton, as was expected, but will be found in the outfield. The boys will be glad to learn that he is not shaking the dust of Peterborough off his feet, as his removal would mean the loss of a grand hitter, whose timely batting has won many a game for Peterborough.

The other outfield position has not been decided. Murphy, who was expected to be here, has gone to Columbus to join Jack Toft's Cotton States League team, but a good man will be secured in his place.

The loss of Catcher Harry Burridge will be felt. The clever backstop will leave on Thursday to join the Youngstown team, and by his going a great catcher is lost to the Petes. Manager Johnston has, however, secured a man who should prove a good substitute in the person of Dalzel, of the Royal Oaks, Toronto, who is a reliable catcher with a good wind, and who can bat some, too.

In addition to these men, there is a possibility of Jimmy O'Hearne, the ex-ark St. Mary's man, wearing a Peterborough uniform this year, so that it will be seen that the nine will be composed of top-notchers.

The annual meeting of the club will be held to-night at the Windsor Hotel, when officers for the season will be elected.

Danger in a Cold

Because you have contracted ordinary colds and recovered from them without treatment of any kind, do not for a moment imagine that colds are not dangerous. Not only pneumonia, but also the infectious diseases such as diphtheria and scarlet fever start with a cold. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the germs of these diseases. Take our advice—cure your cold while you can.

That Tired Feeling

Mr. F. H. Leard, Saskatoon, Sask., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a blood builder and think it is an excellent remedy. Everyone should take it in the spring to cure that tired feeling that comes to so many at this time of the year."

The Best Spring Medicine

Indigestion in Spring

Miss B. Bradley, Hamilton Ont., writes: "Last spring I used three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters, as I had indigestion and very thin blood, I tried everything before taking the B.B.B. which I think is an excellent spring tonic."

CRICKETERS TO MEET TO ORGANIZE

Meeting Called for To-morrow Night at Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock.

All men and boys interested in the re-organization of the Peterborough Cricket Club for 1908 are urgently requested to be present to-morrow night at a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at eight o'clock. This year there promises to be more cricket played in Peterborough than for many seasons in the past and the promoters are desirous that a large number attend. Owing to a mistake in the date a notice was made last Wednesday for a meeting. It should have read Wednesday evening, April 8th.

Organization Meeting at the Y. M. C. A. To-night.

A meeting of all those interested in baseball will be held this evening in the Y. M. C. A. parlours at seven o'clock. A club will be organized and officers elected and other matters of importance will come up. The following men who have signed for baseball are requested to be on hand. R. S. Anderson, J. P. Porter, E. Forson, F. Cressman, J. N. Barber, Ingham, A. N. Stabler, N. Darling, W. A. Armstrong, R. Robertson, D. White, G. Martin, E. Bruss, K. Simpson, S. Wade, N. Libby, H. W. Cook, H. Cameron, W. E. Thornton, J. Sanderson, F. H. Dawson, Ashton Lillie, D. H. Downie, Rankin, S. Anderson, J. Harstone. The committee in charge are Chris Graham, E. Best and E. A. Frowde.

If We Could Look at the Heart of a Pale-Faced Person!

Few people ever stop to consider what pallor to the countenance means. In the first place it indicates an absence from the blood of the rich, red, life-giving elements so requisite to health; and in the second place it indicates a weakened heart action. These two things act and re-act. If we could look at the heart of one of these pale-faced people, we would see it flabby, weak and pallid. No wonder they are easily tired, get out of breath quickly, have palpitation, are nervous and downhearted. Their muscles are poor, their stomach disordered, and their lives are seldom free from misery.

Let them take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills; there is no remedy to equal them for making pale faces rosy, weak hearts and shaky nerves strong, flabby muscles firm, and infusing new hope and ambition into life.

Mr. W. J. Churchill, Lombardy, Ont., writes: "I was troubled for three years with a weak heart and nervousness. I could not sleep and ever so little food would distress me. I also had faint and dizzy spells, and doctored with three doctors but was growing worse. After taking three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I feel as well as ever I did. They are the best pills on earth."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Music and Drama

MA'S NEW HUSBAND

One enthusiastic newspaper critic, who saw "Ma's New Husband" this season, pronounced it, "the Napoleon of laugh-makers." This was candid of the critic, but it was purely the natural outcome of his experience and satisfaction in having a really enjoyable time. A good laughing spell means a saving of doctor's bills, and "Ma's New Husband," affords amusement that invigorates with the vital warmth of a series of sun baths.

This jungling, joyous musical farce will be the attraction at the Grand next Saturday matinee and night.—Every thing is new—the book, lyrics and music. The song hits number nearly a score, all by George Fletcher and Managers Scott and Raynor have been forced to curtail the numerous encores, so as to confine performances to regulation time.

For the proper information of theatre goers it is promised in advance that the general tone of "Ma's New Husband" is thoroughly clean and mirthful. The performance appeals to everyone who seeks divertisement, and of a character that not only lifts the shadow of home and business cares, but removes the faintest fear of an aftermath of conscience smiting.

"Ma's New Husband" has a well constructed plot that holds the interest until the fall of the last curtain. Herbert Short, an actor out of a job, and Marta Longfellow, a widow, are engaged to be married. He has had hard luck on the road and she has had worse in her experience, as mistress of a New York boarding house. The happy day is postponed until fortune smiles or the "ghost" walks. At the most trying time in her financial straps, Martia receives an invitation from a wealthy cousin in Chicago to take charge of his household. That household is comprised of himself and a maid of all work he being, a bachelor and a former admirer of Mrs. Longfellow. He now hopes to win her for his wife, and has made a will in her favour.

Mrs. Longfellow has a son, Willie, and being unwilling to leave her affianced husband penniless in New York, it is planned that Herbert Short shall accompany her to Chicago and share her cousin's hospitality, in the role of Willie Longfellow. The plan leads to series of involved and mirthful situations that never fail to keep the audience in a roar. In end, Short cleverly reveals himself to his host and the other guests and succeeds in gaining the goodwill of the former to such a point that a new will is drawn up in favour of Mrs. Longfellow and her new husband. Plan opens to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

ALBERT CROWTER ASSAULTED

By a Local Liveryman for Breaking Wheel of Hired Conveyance.

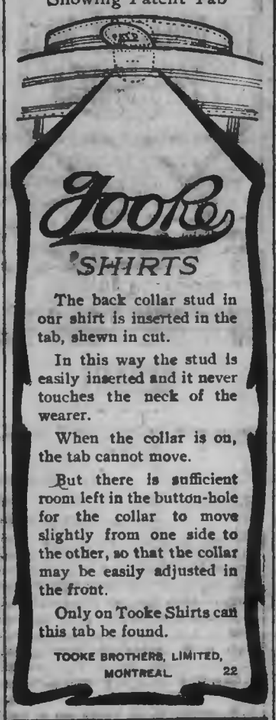
THE DEFENDANT WAS FINED

Because he had broken one of the wheels of a conveyance he had hired from a local liveryman was the reason that Albert Crouter attributed to his left optic being of a dusky hue. He swore out an information against the liveryman a few days ago on a charge of assault. He did not appear this morning, but pleaded guilty through the chief and was fined $5 or costs, or ten days in jail.

Crouter said he had been doing some work and had hired a cart from this man. A few nights ago he brought it back and was going to pay for it. He stood quietly by the door for a while and then the liverymah came up and began a quarrel about the broken wheel, which ended in him getting a blow on the eye. Crouter's eye was badly swollen and he could hardly see out of it.

His Worship said that the defendant should not have taken the law in his own hands and imposed a fine of $5 and costs, amounting to $8.05.

Showing Patent Tab



The back collar stud in our shirt is inserted in the tab, shewn in cut.

In this way the stud is easily inserted and it never touches the neck of the wearer.

When the collar is on, the tab cannot move.

But there is sufficient room left in the button-hole for the collar to move slightly from one side to the other, so that the collar may be easily adjusted in the front.

Only on Tooke Shirts can this tab be found.

"GOD SAVE THE KING"

Dr. Browett's Ophthalmometers

In estimating the degree and kind of astigmatism, this eye instrument is most valuable and accurate. Dr. Browett has, during the past fifteen years, taught opticians the use of five different kinds of ophthalmometers, all of which were good instruments, but the one he now uses is conceded to be the most exact and the finest instrument made for the detection and estimation of astigmatism, and the measurements of the curvatures of the cornea of the eye. This and other instruments are used for many examinations daily at our office. We supply modern eye glasses at reasonable prices.

MR. O. MILBURN BUYS A BUSINESS

Has Purchased the Stock of Mr. C. E. Frost, Jeweller—Well Known in Peterborough.

EXCELLENT QUALIFICATIONS

Mr. Oliver Millburn of Toronto has purchased the jewellery business and stock of Mr. C. E. Frost and in future will manage the Frost jewellery store on George street. Mr. Milburn is well known in Peterborough, having for some time been a watchmaker and engraver in the W. A. Sanderson store. After leaving Peterborough he went to Chicago, where he took a course in optics, and since that time he has been with the Culverhouse Optical Company, Toronto.

Mr. Milburn has been connected with the watchmaking business for a number of years. He studied first at the Horological Institute in Toronto, which is considered one of the best on the continent. At the Landis School of Engraving in Detroit he studied engraving, and also attended the Northern Illinois College of Opthalmology of Chicago, so that he has a wide knowledge along the different lines in the jewellery and optical business.

He has numerous friends in the city who will be pleased to learn of his intention to locate here and who will wish him the success his energies call for.

PEDDLED RUGS WITHOUT A LICENSE

Was Employed by the Metropolitan Co of Toronto—Presented City Clerk With Rug.

Geo. Billings, an agent for the Metropolitan Company, Toronto, and who has been in the city the past few days selling rugs, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Chief Rossel for peddling without a license. The young man went to the City Clerk and asked about the peddler's bylaw. Mr. Armstrong advised him to take out a license which would cost $30. Billings did not have the price of a license, but before leaving the clerk's office he presented Mr. Armstrong with a handsome rug. He also offered the Chief a rug, but he declined, saying he could not take it. When he went back to the station again Billings telephoned to his employer in Toronto, but he was out, and stated that he would not do anything in the matter until he heard from him.

A special court was held during the afternoon and his Worship adjourned the case for a week. The magistrate explained that goods made in Canada could be sold by the manufacturer or his agents without a license.

CURE FOR LOVE FROM AN EXPERIENCED ONE

A young lady has handed the Examiner the following receipe as a cure for love: Take 12 oz. of dislike, 1 lb. of resolution, 2 grs. of commonsense, 2 oz. of experience, 1 large sprig of time and 3 quarts of cooling water of consideration.

Set these over the gentle fire of love, sweeten with the sugar of forgetfulness, skim it with the spoon of melancholy, put it in the bottom of your heart, cork it with the cork of a clear conscience, let it remain and you will quickly find ease and be restored to your senses again. These things can be had at the apothecary at the home of understanding, next door to reason, on Prudent street in the village of Contentment.

CRICKET MEETING IS CALLED FOR TO-NIGHT

Any Person Interested Requested to be in Attendance.

Those interested in the organization of the Peterborough Cricket Club for this season are requested to be present at a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. to-night. As has been mentioned before there is excellent material in the city for a good cricket team and the prospects for the year are considered very bright.

SAFE CRACKERS NEAR ST. KITTS FIRE ON CITIZENS IN ATTEMPT TO ROB BANK OF $3000 CASH

Reminded St. David's Folk of the Times of Jesse James---- Were Interrupied in the Early Morning---Plucky Officials Put to Flight----Robbers Escape In Stolen Buggies.

Examiner Special.

St. Catharines, April 8.—At St. David's, a village nine miles from here, a sensational bank robbery occurred early yesterday morning, when four desperate men dynamited the vaults of the Imperial Bank. The explosion failed to open the inner door and $3,000 cash inside was saved.

The noise of blowing open the vault awoke the town and the robbers held off the populace with revolvers while they worked at the vault.

It appears that a number of strange men arrived in St. David's Monday evening, apparently intending to spend the night there. They were seen walking the streets until midnight. Around that time they went to Doyle's residence and stole a couple of horses, which they hitched to two buggies and then drove over to the blacksmith shop. Here they procured tools with which they pried open the front door of the Imperial Bank, seemingly not caring whether they were seen or not. On gaining access to the place two of the robbers remained on guard with revolvers, while the other two blew open the vault.

The first explosion blew off the big iron door. The noise of the explosion was heard by Charles Hamilton, one of the bank clerks, who lives at Doyle's and he ran up the street to see what was happening. Unfortunately he had left his revolver in the bank, but with a pluck seldom displayed, the young man, when he saw the state of affairs, made his way to the rear of the bank building, where, under cover of the trees, he opened fire at the robbers on guard with stones and bricks. The robbers returned the fire with their guns and sent shot after shot at the dauntless clerk, who, as he shied his missiles, yelled lustily for help.

Presently the residents began to emerge from their houses, awakened by the firing.

They had come for the money and intended to get it, even if they had to stand the whole town off. The appearance of the robbers in the doorway of the bank was sufficient to make the boldest among the villagers wary and they kept pretty well under cover. Meanwhile the two robbers inside the bank worked feverishly at the vault, which contained about $3,000. It was ascertained afterwards that the inside steel door stubbornly withstood the attack of the explosives used.

The robbers lit another fuse while about half the village was held off by the two determined sentries, and tried to get the little door opened. About this time a young man of Homer, Arthur Goring, drove into town and was amazed at the wild west appearance of things around the bank. One of the robbers on guard walked up to the buggy and, using his revolver threateningly, ordered Goring to get out of town as fast as he could drive.

"I didn't wait for any money," said Goring. "I just simply went."

The increasing numbers of the populace finally frightened the robbers, and when the second explosion failed to break open the door they decided to quit. With drawn revolvers the robbers came out of the bank and jumped in the waiting buggies. While one drove the others covered the villagers with their guns and the horses were put to a gallop. The robbers disappeared in the direction of Niagara Falls. The wires were soon put in operation and the police were notified in every direction.

Chief of Police Parnell here had a talk over the telephone with St. David's very shortly after the robbery and immediately put his men on watch.

Examination of the vault in the bank afterwards revealed the fact that the second explosion had so loosened the inner door that it could hardly be pulled out without the aid of a tool.

Large Family Of Immigrants Arrive Penniless In The City

The Salvation Army barracks was visited last night about ten o'clock by a party of nine immigrants, a father, mother and seven children. They crowded into the west entrance and listened to the strains of the band, which was playing below. Staff Captain Goodwin saw the group and after asking them some questions found out that they were looking for the immigration office. The Staff Captain tried to get the officer on the 'phone, but was unable to do so. She called up the police station, the Children's Shelter and the different charitable institutions of the city, but was unable to secure the party lodging for the night. The band had by this time finished their practice and the Staff Captain sent some of them to the immigration office. He had been expecting the party to arrive on the C. P. R., but instead they travelled G. T. R. and he missed them. He sent the bandsmen around to the different hotels to secure lodging for the party for the night but most of the hotels were full.

It was then up to the Salvation Army to do something, so the Staff Captain, with the help of the soldiers made nine impromptu beds on the floor of the basement where the newcomers spent the night.

The officer had a place for them in Keene and they left this morning to see the city before leaving on the two o'clock train for their new home. They started off along Simcoe street, but the sidewalk was so slippery that they changed their minds and went to the station to await the arrival of the train.

The family are without funds and are very poorly clad. The father had been out of work in England for some time and borrowed the money to come to Canada. A house has been secured for them in Keene and a position for the husband on the adjoining farm, while endeavours are also being made to secure places for the family in the village. The family are very happy and are looking forward to becoming some day prosperous and respectable citizens of Canada.

Eight Hours Per Day For The Union Bricklayers And Masons

Beginning with May 1st the bricklayers and masons of the city who belong to the union will work only 8 hours per day. This was decided at the regular meeting of the Bricklayers' and Masons' Union, No. 17, last night. This decision was also arrived at during the recent convention in Detroit.

The new measure for an 8 hour working day will come into force on May 1st, the hours being from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. The wages will remain the same as in 1907. The president, Mr. A. H. Webb, was in the chair and the members of the union seemed to be unanimous in the change in the working day.

$40 IN CONSCIENCE MONEY

Mr. T. H. Hooper Receives That Amount From Unknown Person.

CANNOT ACCOUNT FOR IT

To get forty dollars from an unknown source with no explanation is an experience that does not happen every day, and Mr. T. H. Hooper, the well-known confectioner, who has been placed in that position, is at a loss to understand the affair. This morning he received a letter from Toronto, addressed "T. H. Hooper, confectioner, George street, Peterborough," containing two twenty-dollar bills with the note, "This money just belongs to you, so say nothing and keep it." Mr. Hooper cannot account for the receipt of it, but it is evidently "conscience" money of some kind.

WILL CELEBRATE TWELFTH ON MONDAY, JULY 13

Toronto Orangemen Expected Here on That Date—Proposal for District Lodge.

The Twelfth of July being on Sunday this year, the usual Orange celebration will be held in Peterborough on Monday, July 13th. A celebration will be held in Toronto on July 11th and it is expected that a number of Orangemen from the Queen City will be able to take part here. There is a movement under way to have a district formed in Peterborough and in that case there will be a celebration here each year.

CHANGES IN BLACKLIST LAW

The License Inspector Publishes La... That Affects the Man Listed.

License Inspector Stewart has received a proclamation regarding several changes in the Liquor Act. The order to those inebriates who are placed on the black list. Formerly when a man was so intoxicated he was not liable to penalty if he obtained liquor, but the hotelkeeper was. The change in the law affects the one who has been blacklisted, and it is desirable that everyone know the law so there will be no excuse of ignorance if it is broken.

"7—If a person, served with a blacklist notice by himself or by any other person, shall within twelve months after service of such notice purchase or procure or attempt to purchase or procure liquor, or be found with liquor in his possession, or under the influence of liquor, or be found loitering or loitering in any place where liquor is sold or dispensed, he shall incur a penalty of not less than $... or more than $20, or imprisonment for one month.

Section 125a is condensed as follows:

Every person who has been served with a black list notice may upon prosecution under the Liquor Act be compelled to divulge the name of any person from whom he has obtained liquor during the period for which such notice was in force, and the place where and date when the liquor was supplied to him, and if such information is within his knowledge and he wilfully refuses to disclose the same, he shall be guilty of an offence for which the penalty is imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months, unless he sooner discloses such information and pays the costs of the committal.

MR. RUSSELL COMING ON SATURDAY NIGHT

Will Speak Every Night Next Week ... The Y. M. C. A.

The Christians of Gospel Hall have succeeded in making arrangements for the Y.M.C.A. hall for next week's meetings, when Mr. Douglas Russell, the famous English evangelist and hymn writer, will speak every night. A letter received to-day from London, Ont., states that the meetings in that city have been very large, attended and that people are flocking from all parts of the city to hear the eminent evangelist. Mr. Russell is represented as being one of the most highly educated men of the century. He will arrive here Saturday evening of this week.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKS.

A few years ago the Examiner conducted a crusade in favour of the establishment of savings banks in connection with the schools of Peterborough. Information and statistics were gathered and presented to the public, showing conclusively the advantages of the system, and demonstrating its success in those advanced communities where the system had been put into practice. The Board of Education of that time took the matter up and had practically decided upon the adoption of the school saving bank system; but, for some reason, apart from the merits of the system, it was postponed, and forgotten. Last night the subject came up before the Board of Education and was referred to a committee, which, it is trusted, will deal practically with the matter. If action had been taken at the time the matter was ripe a few years ago we should have had substantial results, such as have accrued in Toronto and other places. Not only that, but we should have developed habits of thrift among school children, which, reacting upon parents, would have prevented the waste of summer earnings and avoided the necessity which comes to the improvident, of appealing in the long winter to the charity of the public. The subject will engage the further attention of the Examiner, as one of the most vital, social and economic importance.

PROVINCIAL EXTRAVAGANCE.

We all know how eloquently Conservative "sputters" and journals have denounced the alleged extravagance of the Dominion Government, how the Conservative leaders and party condemned the extravagance of the Ross and other Liberal Governments of Ontario, how Mr. Whitney and his colleagues promised that, if they were returned to power, they would put an end to extravagant expenditure and inaugurate a reign of economy. How this promise has been kept is shown by the fact that in three short years of administration, the Whitney Government has increased the expenditure at as great a rate as the Liberal Government did in thirty-three years. In 1906, the Whitney Government had jumped up the expenditure from five millions odd to nearly seven millions, and this year's estimates bring the figures of expenditure up to nearly eight millions. The total bill of expenditure will amount to more than that. The Whitney Government, with characteristic cowardice, has adopted the practice of concealing the actual amount of expenditure by "hiding away large expenditures, under special statutes, thus avoiding the necessity of including them in the estimates and passing them in the Committee of Supply." It is pointed out that "the largely increased salaries of Cabinet Ministers are no longer voted every year by the House, but are made under a special statute, which evades the publicity of an annual discussion." The grant to the University is also made under special statute, and, what is worse, the Whitney Government has provided that in the expenditure of this large amount, the Legislature shall have no oversight, but it is expended by an irresponsible board of governors, not amenable to the people's representatives. We thus have not only vastly increased visible expenditure, but we have a large amount of what may be called invisible expenditure of the people's money. It is a sound principle that every item of expenditure should pass under the review of the House.

The major (finishing a biography of a military ancestor)—"And the last thing he did was to die for his country."

Miss Smith—"And I'm sure that's the last thing you would do, too, major!" London Opinion.

There would be fewer divorces if women would quit talking when it has been conceded that they have won the debate.

Lawyer—"Here are your divorce papers, madam. I advise you to take good care of them."

Charming Soubrette — "Why, certainly, Mr. Leeson. I shall put them in my safety deposit box, where all the others are."

MR. WHITNEY'S COWARDICE.

Mr. Whitney has rather vainglori-ously ascribed to himself the qualities of being "honest enough to be bold, and bold enough to be honest." His followers have followed his lead and rung the changes upon this claim. But Mr. Whitney has shown that he is utterly lacking in both qualities. As to his courage—he has already an overwhelming majority in the Legislature—about three to one—and yet, after three short years of what his admirers describe the most magnificent administration, Mr. Whitney is afraid to face the Province in a general election without loading the dice, without handicapping his opponents by an iniquitous gerrymander. He has carved and mutilated constituencies "hiving the Grits," with the object of making adjacent constituencies safe Conservative boroughs. He has doubled the representation of "Tory" Toronto, and made such conditions of voting as to crush all independent expression of political opinion at the polls. Could bad faith and cowardice go further? With his present big majority; with his claimed record of progressive and faultless administration; with his self-claimed splendid legislative record; with all the advantages possession of power confers, one would think that he would have the courage to face the electorate and meet his opponents in a general election on even terms, to give his opponents fair play. Sir John Macdonald's gerrymandering achievements were bad enough, and indefensible enough, but Sir John had the excuse that he needed votes in the House. Mr. Whitney has no excuse, if the big majority behind him is taken as a criterion. Why should he be afraid to meet the people under these conditions? Is not his cowardly loading of the dice, his attempt to make assurance doubly sure by an odious gerrymander, a plain confession that he dares not appeal to the electorate upon his record? After such a humiliating display of cowardice, represented by the gerrymander, we should hear the last of the boast that Mr. Whitney is "bold enough to be honest, and honest enough to be bold." No premier in the history of Canada has ever shown the qualities of political dishonesty and cowardice, implied in his "fixing" the constituencies in his own favour, and stifling the true voice of the electorate, as Mr. Whitney has done in the closing outrage of his first term of abuse of power.

FIRE PROTECTION IN THE SCHOOLS

Chairmen of the Schools Report on the Precautions Which Have Been Taken.

THE DOORS OPEN OUTWARD

The members of the Board of Education have not been dilatory in taking precautions to guard against any faulty arrangements in the school buildings which might prove disastrous if fire were to break out. At the meeting last night Mr. John Crane, chairman of the special committee to look after fire protection reported that they were in communication with Inspector Hughes of Toronto. They were awaiting a report of the research which is being made and until till then definite action has been deferred. Mr. Crane said that city fire alarm boxes were being placed near each of the schools.

Mr. B F Ackerman reporting on the Property Committee, said that all the schools have been provided with fire gongs. All the doors swing outwards and the bolts are arranged to open instantly and without difficulty.

BEWARE OF BRIGHTS DISEASE

Says Lame Back and Urinary Trouble Are The Danger Signals

TAKE CARE OF BACKACHE

More people succumb each year to some form of kidney trouble than any other cause. The slightest form of kidney derangement often develops into Bright's kidney disease, diabetes or dropsy. When either of these diseases are suspicious the sufferer should at once seek the best medical attention possible. Consult only a good first-class physician, leave patent medicines alone.

There are many of the lesser symptoms of kidney trouble which can be treated at home as stated by a well-known authority. For some of these, such as backache, pain in the region of the kidneys, weak bladder frequency, especially at night, painful scalding and other urinary troubles, try the following simple home remedy: Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half ounce, Compound Kargun one ounce, Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla three ounces. These simple ingredients are harmless and can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy and anyone can mix them by shaking well in a bottle. The dose for adults is a teaspoonful after each meal and again at bedtime.

There is no better general remedy known to relieve all forms of rheumatism either, because it acts directly upon the kidneys and blood. It cleans the clogged up pores in the kidneys so they can filter and strain from the blood the poisonous uric acid and waste matter which if not eliminated remain in the blood, decompose and settle about the joints and muscular tissues causing the untold suffering and deformity of rheumatism.

Backache is nature's signal notifying the sufferer that the kidneys are not acting properly. "Take care of your kidneys," is now the physician's advice to his patients.

THE INQUEST RE-OPENS TO-NIGHT

To Determine Cause of Death of Elgin Weaver in 1906—No Report From Prof. Ellis.

The inquest into the death of the late W. Elgin Weaver will be resumed this evening at 7.30 o'clock in the Council Chambers. At noon today the report of Prof. Ellis of Toronto, who is examining the stomach of the dead man, had not been received by the coroner, so it is probable that there will be another adjournment.

Drs. Halliday and Young will make reports on the post-mortem, however.

"Yo say there's no such thing as mat' Then there is no such thing as , meter. Yet you are paying out your good money for 8000 feet of gas registered by a machine that doesn't exist."

"Certainly; there is no such thing as money."

"I see," he said, "somebody has invented an onion that hasn't got any smell to it. Why, blame it, what I eat onions fur is to get the smell of 'em!"

Plumbing Contracts Will Be Investigated By Board

Mr. Ed. R. Stocker Makes a Charge Re Queen Alexandra and a Collegiate Institute Plumbing Inspector.

THE FINANCIAL STATEMENT

The Board of Education held its regular meeting last night, getting through with a considerable amount of routine and special business.

The members present were:

Messrs. R. Fair (chairman), D. W. Dumble, B. F. Ackerman, W. F. Nelson, W. S. Robinson, John Crane, L. M. Hayes, W. H. Hill, Dr. Morrison, Dr. Burnham and Mr. A. Mowat, inspector.

Communications

A communication was received from Inspector Mowat, asking the Board to grant Mr. Avery, caretaker of the King Edward School, a small consideration for extra work which he performed. On motion of Messrs. and Robinson it was decided to issue a cheque for two dollars to Mr. Avery in payment for the work.

Applications for the position of janitor of the new Collegiate Institute building were received from Messrs. Thomas A. Lang, 730 Bethune street, and J. W. Edwards, 485 Sherbrooke street.—Referred to Committee on Appointments.

A communication was received from Mr. R. R. Hall, acknowledging receipt of letter regarding the action of the Board with respect to pictures he had received from the C. P. R. Company for the King Edward School. He expressed his willingness to do anything possible to facilitate the Board in any way.

Savings Bank Question

The question of instituting the Savings Bank system in the schools was revived by an offer from Mr. J. H. Burnham to supply cash books if the Board decided to have the system established. Mr. Burnham's offer was received with thanks and the question left in the hands of the Supervision Committee, on motion of Mr. Hill and Dr. Burnham.

Pedagogical Library

A communication was received from Mr. S. J. Stubbs, secretary-treasurer of the Teachers' Institute, asking for a grant to assist in forming a pedagogical library to be used by the teachers of the city. The writer pointed out the benefit that would be derived by the teachers, which would result in better work on their part from the education which this library would afford. Rev. Father McColl unofficially assured the institute that the Separate School Board would make a proportionate grant.

In regard to this matter Mr. Hill suggested that it would be as well to let it stand a little longer, and on his motion, seconded by Mr. Hayes, it was referred to the Supervision Committee. Mr. Hill explained that it might be considered advisable to have two libraries, one for the teachers of the Collegiate Institute and another for the Public School teachers.

A Complaint

The following letter was received from Edward R. Stocker:

Gentlemen,—I wish to lay a complaint re plumbing work being fixed at the North Ward School and Collegiate Institute contrary to contract and also contrary to city plumbing by-laws.

I am prepared to come before you and give proof of my statement.

Yours truly,
E. R. STOCKER.

Peterborough, April 4th, 1908.

Mr. Morrison said that excepting two minor instances which Mr. Durranceau had informed him of the plumbing had, as far as he could judge, been faithfully performed. Dr. Morrison explained the circumstances of these two cases to the Board. Mr. Kincaid and Mr. Belcher has assured him that the work was carried out according to specifications.

The complaint was received by the Board and a thorough investigation was felt necessary, owing to the sweeping nature of the charges and because the public was affected if the charges were true. It was moved by Mr. Dumble, seconded by Dr. Morrison, that the question be left to the Committee of the Whole, before which all parties connected with the work will appear.

Conclusion

The Board has received a copy of the programme of the Provincial Association of School Trustees of Ontario with a request to be represented by a delegation at the 21st annual convention, which opens on April 21st. It extends to the 23rd, the meetings being held in the West Hall of the University of Toronto.

On motion of Dr. Burnham and Mr. Hayes the members to represent the Board at this convention were appointed as follows: Messrs. Hill, Dumble, Ackerman and Fair, and it was suggested that as many of the other members of the Board as possible should go.

AN ATTRACTIVE ONTARIO WEEKLY

The Preston Progress Making Rapid Advancement Under Mr. Sawle's Management.

One of the brightest country weeklies of Western Ontario is the Preston "Progress," edited and managed by Mr. Chas. H. Sawle, formerly of Peterborough. Beginning with last week, the "Progress" appeared to its readers in a very much improved form. It is now a six-column, eight-page weekly, is changed from half patent to "all printed at home," with excellent paper and good ink, and presents a very attractive and creditable appearance. New type and presses have been installed, and as a result the job department business has almost doubled.

Mr. Sawle's many Peterborough friends will be pleased to learn of his success in Western Ontario as managing editor of the Preston "Progress."

MORE DEVELOPMENTS IN DIVORCE CASE

Mr. Bowins Makes Statements Contradictory to Those of His Wife.

Mr. Bowins, the husband of the woman who was recently inquiring in Chicago as to the price of a divorce, made a statement in Toronto yesterday that he had not been separated from his wife for six years, as she had claimed, but only for sixteen months, and, moreover, that he had not been in jail during that time, but had been working in Victoria county, Saskatchewan, and Toronto. He was not, Mr. Bowins said, an uncle of the lad who is now on trial at Detroit for murder. Mr. Bowins also stated that he and his wife had agreed to a mutual separation in 1906, that the papers were drawn up in Toronto, and signed by both parties,

Fire at Burlington.

Burlington, April 8.—W. T. Glover's basket factory was totally destroyed by fire Monday night, together with its contents. The Canadian Express Co., whose office was in the building, lost their records. Freeman's blacksmith shop was also destroyed, with contents. The total loss is about $9,000.

Bank Robbed of $6,500.

Topeka, Kan., April 8.—Robbers at an early hour yesterday morning dynamited the safe of the State Bank at Huron, this state, and escaped with $6,500. The bank building was wrecked. The robbers, who are believed to have been six in number, made their escape upon hand cars.

Eight Injured in Collision.

Chicago, April 8.—Eight persons were seriously injured, three probably fatally and nearly a score others were hurt yesterday when the motor car of a southbound train on the South Side Elevated Railroad jumped the track a few hundred feet north of the Indiana avenue station and crashed to the ground.

Killed Girl and Self.

Pittsburg, April 8.—Dorothy Yost, a 17-year-old girl, member of the choir of the First Presbyterian Church of McKee's Rocks, a Pittsburg suburb, was murdered by Samuel L. Gardner, aged 57 years, one of the leading citizens, formerly city engineer and a leader in politics. Gardner then killed himself.

Heflin's Victim May Die.

Washington, April 8.—Thomas McCreery, the New York horseman, accidentally shot by Congressman J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama a few days ago, is in a serious condition. He was operated on for lockjaw at George Washington Hospital as the only hope of saving his life.

Republicans Gain.

Chicago, April 8.—In the aldermanic election yesterday the Republicans made a net gain of ten. The new council will stand 44 Republicans and 26 Democrats. The make-up of the present council is 35 Democrats or Independent Democrats, and 34 Republicans.

King Has Succeeded.

Ottawa, April 8.—Cables which have been received in Ottawa within the past few days point to the complete success of Mackenzie King's mission to London in connection with the enactment of measures in India to restrict Hindu immigration to Canada.

Bomb Made Out of Bedstead.

New York, April 8.—The bomb thrown by Selig Silverstein in Union Square Park a week ago last Saturday, following the dispersal by the police of a meeting of New York's unemployed, was made out of a brass top of a bedstead.

Sir Howard Vincent Dead.

London, April 8.—(C.A.P.)—Sir Howard Vincent died yesterday in Mentone.

Sir Charles Edward Howard Vincent, K.C.M.G., is remembered for his long service for the British Government and his work in forming volunteer corps during the South African war. He was the maker of Vincent's map of the British Empire, and was the author of reports on the commercial interests of Canada, Japan, China, etc.

Wrecked by Gas Explosion.

Brantford, April 8.—No. 93 Murray street, a two-storey brick house, unoccupied, was badly wrecked yesterday by a natural gas explosion. The place was being wired for electric lightning.

The party doing the wiring struck a match to light his torch when the explosion took place.

Negro Desperadoes Escape.

Gulfport, Miss., April 8.—All the surrounding country for miles is being scoured by armed men, searching for a lot of negro desperadoes who escaped from the county jail yesterday. Among the escaped prisoners are several charged with murder.

North Bay Licenses.

North Bay, April 8.—The town council Monday night repealed the bylaw reducing the licenses from seven to six. This was done under legal advice and the action in the courts to quash the bylaw will now drop.

JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT

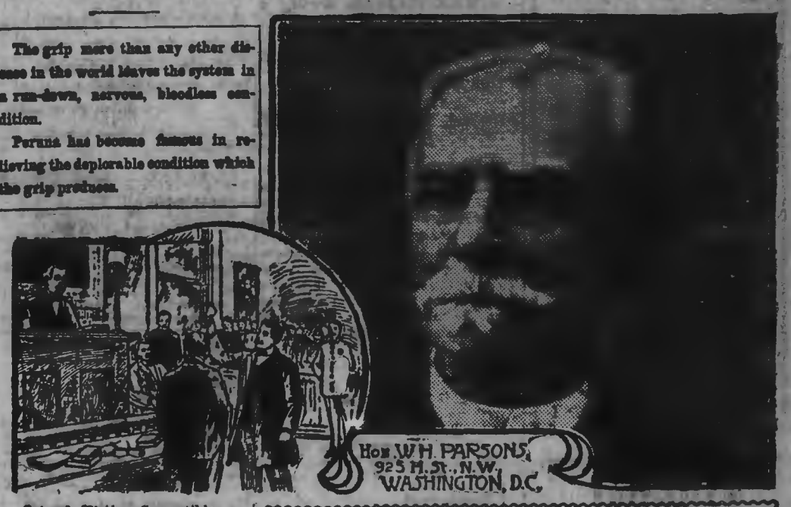
The grip more than any other disease in the world leaves the system in a run-down, nervous, bloodless condition.

Peruna has become famous in relieving the deplorable condition which the grip produces.



Catarrh Victims Susceptible.

People who have had catarrh of the head, throat, nose or lungs are much more liable to catch the grip than other people.

The reason for this is that the mucous membranes of the head, nose, throat or lungs are injured by the catarrh and the germs which cause the grip find easy entrance into the system.

It is a well established fact that perfectly sound mucous membranes constitute a barrier to the entrance of disease germs.

The best precaution any one can have against the grip is to be perfectly free from catarrh.

Peruna a Preventive.

As a preventive of grip, Peruna has done a great deal of good in the world by its beneficial effect upon the mucous membranes.

Catarrh has another untoward influence to be noticed in connection with the grip.

Victims of catarrh who have had the grip find themselves after the acute stages have passed, in very weakened and deplorable conditions.

After-Effects of Grip.

The whole nervous system is impaired; the digestive organs deranged; the circulation of the blood feeble and irregular. All these symptoms are produced, more or less, by the grip, and especially in people who have had catarrh previous to the grip.

It is no longer merely a theory or an assertion that Peruna is applicable to such cases.

Prompt Relief.

In all of the after-effects of the grip, Peruna gives prompt relief. This has been the experience of such a great multitude of people that Peruna has come to be a standard remedy for these cases.

If a person has not used Peruna to prevent the grip, the next best thing is to use Peruna to remove the after-effects of the grip.

A Safe, Reliable Remedy.

It has been noticed that those who take Peruna during the first stages of the grip generally make a more rapid and complete recovery.

A Most Effective Medicine For La Grippe.

Robt. L. Madison, A. M., Principal of Cullowhee High School, Painter, N. C., is chairman of the Jackson County Board of Education. He is a writer of occasional verse and has contributed to a number of leading papers and magazines.

In speaking of Peruna, Mr. Madison says: "I am hardly ever without Peruna in my home. It is the most effective medicine that I have ever tried to la grippe. It also cured my wife of chronic catarrh."

W. H. Parsons is Ex-State Senator and Ex-Special Judge of the Supreme Court of Texas, and was also Brigadier-General in Confederate Army. In a letter from 925 H street, N. W., Washington, D. C., this prominent gentleman says:

"Upon the recommendation of personal friends and many strong testimonials as to the efficacy of Peruna in the treatment of the numerous symptoms of the grip with which I have been afflicted for four months past, I have been induced to undergo a treatment with this justly celebrated formula. I feel a decided change for the better after using it only one week.

"It is especially good in toning up the stomach and has a decided effect upon my appetite. I therefore feel much encouraged that I am on the road to complete restoration.

"My numerous friends in Texas, where I have had the honor to command a brigade of her Veteran Cavalry in a four years' war, may accept this voluntary testimonial to the merits of Peruna as a sense of obligation on my part for its wonderful efficacy."—W. H. Parsons.

57th Regiment Hold Their First Drill Of The Season

ORDERS FOR THE WEEK

The 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers, held their first drill of the season last night. There was a splendid turnout of the officers and men and everything points to a successful season. The first part of the evening was spent in distributing clothing and the swearing in of fifteen new recruits, after which the men were put through the elementary drill. The regiment this year will be composed of big men, and the recruits have to pass a medical examination and prove efficient in the use of a rifle before they can wear the scarlet uniform.

The regiment turned out 219 strong, the officers and men being divided among the companies as follows:

A Company—18.
B Company—35.
C Company—19.
D Company—24.
E Company—22.
F Company—21.
G Company—20.
H Company—23.
Stretcher Bearers—10.
Signal Corps—11.
Staff Officers—6.

The signal corps had an excellent practice last night and is greatly improving under the able direction of Lieut. W. Higgins.

Orders for the week were read as follows:

Headquarters, April 7, 1908.

No. 1—Detail of duty of week ending April 4—Captain of the week, Captain Mills; next for duty, Captain Cluxton; subaltern for week, Lieut. Langford; next for duty, Lieut. Kelly.

No. 2—Extract from general orders. To be Lieut. provisional, J H Eastwood; to be Lieut., G K Rachan; to be major, Capt. G W Bennett. Sept. 18, 1907.

No. 3—Capt. Wilson is hereby appointed to command of No. 5 Company.

No. 4—The commanding officer has been pleased to make the following appointments:

G Company—To be corporals—Ptes. Henry, Logan, and J. Elliott.

D Company—To be sergeant—Pte. Hatton. To be corporals—Ptes. Elcombe, Anderson and Haratone. To be lance corporal—Pte. Robertson.

No. 5—In order that all may have an opportunity to qualify for efficiency pay, in accordance with general orders, companies will parade for target practice at 8 p.m. at the drill hall as follows:

Monday—F and H.
Wednesday—D and E.
Friday—B and G.
Saturday—A and C.

Each man will fire five shots until he has obtained 50 per cent. of the total points on the score card. If this standard is not made on the first score, permission may then be given to continue firing when an opportunity presents itself until the required per centage is reached.

No. 6—The orderly officers will attend the target practices during the tour of their respective duties.

Signed,
G. BENNETT, Major,
Acting Adjutant.

After the orders had been read, Lt.-Col. Stevenson made a brief address to the men, thanking them for the splendid turnout. He was sure that it was not the prospects of the coming trip which was inducing the men to join the regiment again, but the love of the work.

The Successful Pupils Who Carried Off Nicholls Prizes

Collegiate Institute Students Who Have Been Awarded the Prizes From Summer Examinations.

ANNOUNCED LAST NIGHT

Principal Fessenden, of the Collegiate Institute, forwarded a letter to the Board of Education last night announcing the winners of the prizes provided for the students of the Collegiate Institute by the late Mrs. R. Nicholls. The winners wrote at the departmental examinations in the early part of last July. The three pupils who have been successful in thus winning these prizes have during their course at the Collegiate Institute shown consistent care and earnestness in their work which could not but result in an honourable standing in the examinations.

Mr. Fessenden's letter was as follows:—

Board of Education, Peterborough:

Dear Sirs,—The Education Department have reported that the following pupils were the winners of the Nicholls prizes in July 1907:

Miss Gladys Crane, Junior Matriculation, $15.00.

Thomas Stanley Pringle, junior leaving, $15.00.

Miss Marguerite Burnett, senior leaving and honour matriculation, $50.00.

Your obedient servant,
C. FESSENDEN.

Cavendish Lumber Co. Have Finished Their Season's Cut

Much Smaller Than Last Year—205,000 Logs Will be Brought Down in Six Drives—400 Men Were Employed in the Woods And 200 Will be Attached to The Drives.

SAW MILL TO START SOON

The woods operations of the Cavendish Lumber Company of Lakefield are about finished and it is expected that the saw mill will be started about May 20th.

In a conversation with an Examiner representative this morning, Mr. C J Labelle, the president of the company, he said that the camps at Anstruther, Cavendish and Harvey would break up this week. The total amount of lumber to be brought down to Lakefield this year will be 205,000 logs. There will be six drives and the first one will be brought down about the first of July. Two hundred experienced river drivers have been engaged for the season and the foremen who have been selected to have have charge of the drives are Messrs. Jackson, Nixon, Madill, Grady, and Robinson.

Speaking about the woods operations this season Mr. Labelle said it did not come up to the standard. They had employed 400 men in the shanties, but the cut was much smaller than last year, owing to the unfavourable winter.

Splendid Progress Shown By The Exhibit Of Food

A LARGE NUMBER PRESENT

No better testimonial to the success of the School of Cookery in connection with the Y.W.C.A. could be afforded than the exhibition of food last night in the gymnasium of that that institution. The exhibit marked the occasion of the closing of the school for the season which has now been open since Jan. 6, under the efficient tuition of Miss Elliott. Her work in teaching the various classes the cooking and culinary art has been been most successful, a fact which was certainly appreciated by the large number of friends of the pupils who assembled in the gymnasium last night.

The room was tastefully decorated with Chinese lanterns and flowers. There were five exhibit tables around the room prettily spread with the handiwork of the young ladies and boys in Miss Elliott's classes. The salad table was decorated with green candles and white flowers while the desert table contained red candles and red flowers. The Superior cookery table was decorated with marguerites and yellow candles and the School Girls' with pink candles and pink carnations. The camp cookery table, with a tent for the appropriate background was guarded by two boys, the food on it being entirely cooked and prepared by the boys' class.

All the tables were very much admired during the evening and at the close of the programme everything was disposed of to the visitors, which fact bore ample testimony to the skill the classes have attained and the efficiency of their teacher.

During the evening a splendid musical and literary programme was presented which was also greatly appreciated. The chair was occupied by Mrs. Roger, the President of the Y.W.C.A., and after the hearty singing of God Save the King, the opening prayer was offered by Rev. H J Keith. A piano solo by Miss Mollie Muldrum was the next number and was one very much enjoyed. Miss Weir gave an appropriate reading on eating and drinking and this was followed by a vocal solo rendered in excellent voice by Mr. Kenneth Shook. Miss Eva Irwin a talented violinist, next contributed a delightful solo with piano accompaniment. After a reading by Mrs. Stephenson the centre of the gymnasium was cleared and a beautiful drill by nine girls in special costume known as the Rosebuds was presented under the direction of Miss Coventry, the physical directress.

A pleasant evening, and incidentally the cooking classes for this season was then brought to a conclusion by the sale of food. Miss Elliott expects to leave during the week for her home in Hamilton.

Altogether there were 43 names enrolled in her classes, which numbered seven in all, as follows: The superior cookery, salad, dessert, candy, school girls', including lessons on the preparation of the three daily meals, the camp cookery, and weekly demonstration classes. Last evening Miss Elliott was presented with a handsome bouquet of carnations by the school girls, and with a beautiful silver spoon by the superior cookery class as a mark of appreciation of her services and her many kindnesses. She is a graduate of the Macdonald school of Guelph.

"FATHER IS DOING WELL"

Amusement Remark Found in a Birth Notice at City Clerk's Office.

There was a smile on the faces of several people at the city clerk's office this morning when a well known local doctor filled out a birth certificate and left it on the desk. The form was filled out properly all through with the exception of the space reserved for remarks where appeared the statement "Father is doing well." Under the circumstances this is what one would have expected but why the government should be informed of the condition of the fond parent is a matter of doubt.

COMING THROUGH THE "RYE;" IS IT GRAIN, FIELD OR RIVER?

A correspondent writes asking whether the rye mentioned in the famous poem of Burns', "Coming Through the Rye," or the older version, refers to a field of the grain of bibulous association, or a stream called the Rye. It is known that there is a difference of opinion on the subject, and while Burns evidently meant rye, the grain, from his printing the word without a capital letter, there are others who declare for the Rye—river or stream theory. The discussion of the subject will be of literary interest and the Examiner opens its columns to champions of both claims. Correspondence, as brief and pointed as possible, will be given a place in the Examiner.

CHARGED WITH CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

And Destroying Property--Albert Crouter Dismissed on Both Charges.

The liveryman who was fined five dollars and costs yesterday on a charge of assaulting Albert Crouter for breaking the wheel of a rented conveyance, had the latter arrested on two charges, one of damaging the vehicle, and the second of cruelty to animals. Mr. F. D. Kerr appeared for the plaintiff, and after hearing the evidence, His Worship dismissed Crouter on both charges.

The charge of damaging the conveyance was first heard.

Mr. Mitchell, an employee of the livery, said Crouter had hired a vehicle from him to gather night soil. When the wagon left the stable it was in good condition, and when it was returned seven spokes of one of the wheels were smashed. The horse had a cut on its leg and a scalded shoulder. Crouter was the worse of liquor and said the wagon had been damaged while turning a corner. Witness stated that if the horse had been fed during the night and the collar put on all right the animal would have been returned in good condition.

Mr. Miller, another employee, corroborated the testimony of the previous witness and stated that the horse was done out when it returned.

Crouter told him the wagon was broken in a manhole, and asked to take out another, which he brought back at 7 o'clock.

Mr. LaPlante said he was out driving in the afternoon and saw Crouter and three women in the wagon outside a hotel.

The charge of cruelty to animals was next brought up and Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Miller gave evidence but His Worship could not make a conviction and dismissed the case.

HARK! What do we hear? Is it the usual weekly house cleaning or is it the Great Yearly Event, Spring House Cleaning? You're right, it's here at last, the doors are thrown open, the carpets and rugs come up, and all the old drapes are pulled down and must give place to nice fresh new ones—that's just the point, have you decided on the new ones yet? This year try to decide with care as to proper colors and style for each individual room. We can aid the Housewife materially and give her the goods at prices far below what she would reasonably expect—values never thought of before.

NEW ORANGE LODGE TO MEET

Complete Organization To-morrow Night —Many Young Men Identified With It.

ARRANGING FOR CONCERT

On Thursday night of this week another meeting of the recently formed Duke of Manchester Orange Lodge will be held when it is expected there will be a large class initiated which will then complete the organization. This new lodge is composed of some of the finest young men in the city and promises to be one of the best in this district.

At present arrangements are being made for a concert and lecture the week after Easter when the officials expect to have one of the best speakers in Western Ontario present as well as a couple of local gentlemen.

With the organization of the Duke of Manchester Lodge there are now three lodges in the city and there is a movement on foot to organize a district here so that every twelfth of July there will be an assembly of Orangemen in Peterborough instead of a meet once in every four years.

GREAT DRESS SKIRT DEMONSTRATION

And Latest Skirts Given Away Free on Friday and Saturday, April 10 and 11

On Friday and Saturday, April 10th and 11th, the noted manufacturers of the high class Aspasia dress skirts, which are freely admitted to be the most up-to-date and stylish dress skirts of the present day, will be in Peterborough, at the Beehive, with their staff to show all their latest samples (a thousand of them) which will include the newest vogue in these pretty garments that will be worn in London, New York and Paris during the coming season.

Every quality, style of cloth, colour and pattern that has received society's approval will be shown at the Beehive on April 10th and 11th.

The prices will run from $5.00 to $35.00 and every quality between.

It will be a most interesting exhibition, every lady is invited whether intending to purchase or not, to come and see the latest thoughts in the new dress skirts.

This season we are introducing a new system of advertising. Every year we appropriate so much for advertising expenses and this season instead of using so much printers' ink, we have a new idea.

On April 10th and 11th to advertise this department, to every lady who purchases six dollars' worth or over in dress skirts we will present free of charge one of the latest watered moreen underskirts.

Come to the Beehive on April 10th and 11th, see the new things and get an up-to-date skirt free.

We will also show the latest mantles, blouses, suits, silk petticoats, etc., etc. 2d84—2204

REAL ESTATE BUSINESS WAS GOOD LAST WEEK

Fourteen Houses Sold and Eighteen Were Rented by the Agents of This City.

The real estate situation of Peterborough is becoming stronger as the warm weather approaches and several properties are changing hands. The moving fever has also spread around the city and many families are taking advantage of the fine weather to change their place of residence.

An Examiner representative called on the real estate agents of the city to-day and they all report that the outlook is bright and business is good. During the past week fourteen houses have been sold and eighteen houses have been rented. For one week's business this report averages about the same as last year.

CITY LOOKING AFTER THE STREETS

Market Square also Being Cleaned and Scraped.

The market square is beginning to take on a respectable appearance as a result of the cleaning operations that have been in progress during the last few days. The winter's litter is now nearly all transferred to another place. The streets are also being scraped and the slush being heaped away by a large force of men.

NEW DELIVERY CARTS ON THE STREETS

The fine weather is bringing out the work of the carriage makers and painters and some of the wagons and carts appear in a new Easter coat of paint. The enterprising carters, merchants and tradesmen believe that a bright, clean wagon is a good advertisement. The painters have had a fairly busy season in decorating and brightening up the carts, which are prepared to brave the summer's sun, rain and dust.

BRICK WORK ON ARMOURIES HAS BEEN AGAIN RESUMED

The brickwork on the new Peterborough Armouries, which was stopped for the winter, has been resumed and if the present weather continues it is expected that a large number of men will soon be at work again.

OPEN AIR SERVICES NEXT WEEK

PROGRAMME ARRANGED

For next week a series of short noon day services has been arranged under the auspices of the Ministerial Association of the city in which the different clergy will take part. The week is called Holy Week and is observed by many Christians in remembrance of the Saviour's sufferings preparatory to and during His crucifixion. Last Monday at the meeting meeting of the Association it was thought that this was an appropriate time for all the members to join in united services and the proposition readily commended itself and was unanimously and enthusiastically received.

The services will be held from 12 o'clock at noon until 12.15 at the corner of George and Hunter streets and the strong support of the clery of the city is assured. It is expected that this will be an event of unique character, and a representative committee completed arrangements yesterday. The services will consist of the singing of popular hymns by the different choirs of the city, prayers and devotion and a brief address not exceeding ten minutes followed by the benediction. It is expected, in view of the importance of these services that the Christian public will arrange to attend and take a hearty interest in them: Peterborough has always enjoyed remarkable harmony between the different communions but never before has a series of united services on this character been attempted. The programme is as follows—:

Tuesday—An address by Rev. R. Pague, Devotions by Rev. Steufnagel singing by St. Luke's and Murray street choirs.

Wednesday.—Address, Rev. E A Pearson; Prayers, Rev. J G Potter and Rev. Dr. Langfeldt; singing, St. John's and Charlotte street choirs.

Thursday—Rev. C H Coon; devotions by Rev. H J Keith; St. Paul's choir.

Saturday.—Rev. J G Potter; Rev. H M Manning; Park street Baptist and Mark street choirs.

On Good Friday, service will be at 5 o'clock in Central Park. Addresses by Rev. A H Brace, Rev. H J Keith and Rev. Canon Davidson; prayer, Rev. J R Webb; singing, massed choirs of the city.

Miller's Compoung Iron Pills, only 25 cents for 50 doses. For sale by J. D. Tully, druggist. Peterborough.

EXTEND THEIR THANKS TO FRIENDS IN THE EAST

Mr. and Mrs. Donnelly Send Letter From Calgary.

The following letter has been received from Mr. and Mrs. H. Donnelly and family, of Calgary:

To the friends who have sent us letters of condolence.

Dear Friends,—Having received so very many letters of sympathy in our very sad and sudden bereavement, we do not feel equal to the task of answering them personally, so we ask you, through the medium of this paper, to extend our sincere thanks for their very kind words of consolation and sympathy, which have come to us. d&w

TREES TO BE PLANTED ON THE GROUNDS

The King Edward School Grounds are Receiving Attention.

The grounds of the King Edward School will doubtless be well provided with shade trees. Mr. Dumble has been particularly energetic in this regard and yesterday a number of men were engaged in digging holes for an appropriate number of trees. The varieties that will be planted are, elm, soft and hard maple, two kinds of birch and iron wood. Mr. Dumble gave a short account of the work that is being done and that which is still contemplated.

Mr. Robinson said that cinders were being placed on Aylmer street from Lake street to the school for the teachers and pupils who use that street. This serves as a sidewalk until a permanent walk is laid.

OBITUARY

LORAINE P. ARMITAGE

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Armitage will learn with deep regret of the demise of their little daughter, Loraine P., aged two years and six months, who passed away last night suffering from convulsions.

The funeral will be held to-morrow at 2 p.m. from the family residence to Little Lake cemetery.

APPRECIATED HIS SERVICES

Work of Queen Alexandra School Committee, of Which Mr. Dumble Was Chairman, Is Completed.

SUMMARY OF THE WORK

With the completion of the contract for the building of the Queen Alexandra School, Mr. D. W. Dumble's task of supervising the work, as the chairman of the special committee, is completed, and as a result the city has in this institution one of the best schools of its kind not only in the city, but even in the Province. Mr. Dumble has given the work his closest attention, and very few people have any idea of the time he devoted to the building in every stage of the work. At the meeting of the Board of Education last night he presented the following summary of what had been done:

To the Board of Education:

Your building committee for the Queen Alexandra Public School begs to report as follows:

The contract of the Baptie Bros. has been satisfactorily completed, with complete harmony during the entire progress of the work. They are good workmen and have been fair and honourable in all their dealings. The work of adding to the old building necessarily involved some work that was unforseen and led to some extra changes that have been satisfactorily adjusted. Their account has been settled as follows:

Total amount of original contract	$16,950 00
Amount allowed them for extras	216 00
	$17,166 00

This amount—$17,166.00 — has been paid to Baptie Bros. in full settlement.

In connection with the school there remains now to be done the proper grading of the grounds and the erection of the fences.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

D. W. DUMBLE,
Chairman.

Work Appreciated

This report was received and adopted on motion of Dr. Morrison and Mr. Hill. They included in the motion an expression of the Board's appreciation of the efficient and capable manner in which the Queen Alexandra Building Committee, of which Mr. Dumble was chairman, had carried out its work. Mr. Hill also said that it was felt that the committee had rendered an excellent service to the city and to the Board.

Mr. Dumble made a fitting reply on behalf of the committee, saying it was a pleasure to work and particularly when it was appreciated, as in this instance.

A HIGHLAND PARADISE

Among the "Highlands of Ontario" there are several districts that appeal to the tourist and summer traveller, but the most popular and probably the most beautiful of these districts is the one known as the "Lake of Bays," a territory covering many hundred square miles of land and water scapes and where the influx of summer travellers is increasing every year. Many an enthusiast has named the Lake of Bays "Queen of Lakes." It is a place where the cool breezes blow, where groves of spice balsam left their graceful minarets against the sky; where there are no swamps; where bathing is safe and where the speckled trout, salmon trout and black bass are found, and where the deer abound.

A new hotel with accommodation for 200 has been erected and is conceded to be the best of the summer hotels in the northern districts. A handsome book, descriptive of the territory and giving all informations as to guides, rates, routes, etc., and full description of the new hotel can be had free on application to J D McDonald, D. P. A., Union Station, Toronto, Ont. 10-84-2205.

DEBATE ON REDISTRIBUTION

D. Ross (Middlesex) Rouses Premier's Ire—Mr. Whitney Appeals For Withdrawal of Offensive Phrase—Ten Bills Read Third Time — Improvement of Highways by County Councils of Province.

Toronto, April 8.—A great deal of work and some excitement constituted the legislative record yesterday.

The work consisted in advancing numerous bills and the excitement arose in the redistribution debate when Duncan Ross and R. J. McDougal ran up against Parliamentary procedure in the defiant style of the amateur legislator. Otherwise the debate was rather dull and reiterative.

Archibald Hislop resumed the redistribution debate and opposed any increase in Toronto representation. He appealed to English precedents as those which should be followed in redistribution.

It had been a live question for half a century, and Mr. Hislop's argument went to show that the great revolutions in public opinion were accomplished by a very small actual change in the voting power.

He adduced several sets of figures, pointing out for example that in one election one party with a three per cent. majority in votes had a majority in members of 65 to 23.

Turning to Huron, Mr. Hislop analyzed the new situation there, which he declared was objected to by all right-minded Conservatives as well as Liberals. He quoted The Goderich Star (Con.) in condemnation of the bill. The crowding of three out of four towns into one riding could not be defended.

Alex. Ferguson (Cardwell) disposed of the Opposition objection that candidates could get over the ground more easily in the city than in the country. If the Government had desired to gerrymander they would have taken townships from Simcoe and added them to the north of Cardwell. He appealed to the House to consult the geography of Simcoe so that they could see that its shape in the past wholly justified the present arrangement.

G. S. May, Ottawa, declared that the redistribution committee should have had four members from each party and a chairman. He referred to the peculiar situation in Ottawa.

The new ridings should have run east and west, instead of north and south, and the Government would find that they had made a mistake.

It was also a mistake when Toronto was allowed two members for 80,000 population in each riding to divide the 80,000 in Ottawa in two parts.

J. R. Dargavel scored the Liberal members of the redistribution committee. They did not appear to have any idea of their duties, and they seemed to be negative members rather than suggestive members.

Duncan Ross furnished some diversion to the House by venturing "whether from venom or innocence," as Premier Whitney remarked, outside the conventional lines of Parliamentary amenity.

Premier Whitney declared that he was far from complaining as an individual, but under the laws of Parliamentary procedure, which must be protected, such language was utterly unfit, and could not be permitted inside the walls of the Legislature.

Mr. Speaker requested the withdrawal of the language. Mr. Ross fenced for some time, and was about to repeat the quotation when silenced by loud cries of "withdraw" and "order." He finally withdrew the obnoxious phrases concerned, and the incident passed.

G. W. Neely, East Middlesex, challenged the correctness of the figures given by Hon. A. G. MacKay the previous day. Part of one of the ridings had been added to London, and further annexations from East Middlesex were contemplated.

T. W. McGarry moved the adjournment of the debate.

Forty or fifty ladies were present to support John Smith of Peel in his suffrage bill, but it was not reached.

Hon. Dr. Reaume introduced a bill respecting the improvement of highways. This will permit two-thirds of the county council and half the assessed value of the county to carry a good roads bylaw. Failing that a majority of the ratepayers could authorize it.

A resolution was carried ratifying the contracts made by Hon. Dr. Pyne for temporary accommodation with the Board of Education or School Boards of Hamilton, Peterboro, Stratford, London, and North Bay.

Hon. Mr. Hanna introduced a bill for the protection and reformation of neglected children, being a consolidation of the existing acts.

Ten third readings, a dozen passed through committees and eight second readings of bills were recorded.

Hon. Dr. Pyne informed T. H. Preston (Brant) that the total cost of the commission on the Institution for the Blind was $600, which was paid to the commissioners.

Hon. Mr. Matheson introduced a bill respecting egress from public buildings.

In introducing it he said it referred especially to cinemetograph machines, churches and all public buildings, and could be amended to include schools and any buildings needing protection.

The bill provides that no cinemetrograph or other similar apparatus involving the use of a combustible film more than ten inches in length shall be kept or exhibited in premises licensed for entertainments, or in churches, halls, theatres or other buildings constructed or used for holding public meetings, or for places of resort and amusement, until such cinemetrograph or other similar apparatus has been inspected and approved by the police of the municipality, and until such precautions against fire as the municipal police may designate have been taken by the owner, user or exhibitor of the cinemetrograph or other similar apparatus.

MONTREAL SHOOTING CASE.

Verdict of Murder—Smith Leaves Note Bearing Peculiar Message.

Montreal, April 8.—A verdict of murder against James Smith was the finding of the coroner's jury yesterday in the case of Constable Shea, who was shot down and killed by the accused.

Chief Silas Carpenter is better and may be removed to his home in ten days' time, while Constable Foucault, who accompanied Shea to the murderer's room, has taken a turn for the worse, and although the result will not be fatal, his recovery will likely be slow.

The doctors say that Smith will also recover and people are somewhat divided as to the man's responsibility. While some say he is insane, others declare that it was simply a drunken spree, and that he knew what he was doing all right.

Written on an envelope, which the police found lying on a table in Jas. Smith's room after he had been removed to the hospital, was the following: "Mrs. Pritchard brought all this about by her vile conduct. Withal she was not in danger. The law is polite to a lady, and it might as well be polite to a gentleman. (Signed) James Smith."

This message was in Smith's handwriting and was addressed to the Virtue Publishing Co.

The mayor stated that it was his intention to make full enquiries into the circumstances attending the death of Policeman Shea, and if he found them as he had been led to believe they were, in his capacity of mayor, move that some substantial recognition be made by the city of the dead policeman's bravery, in the shape of a monetary grant to the widow.

Want Free Wood Pulp.

Washington, April 8.—Hermann Ridder of the New York Staats Zeitung, who represents the Newspaper Publishers' Association in their demand for free wood pulp, so as to reduce the price of white paper, said yesterday, after conferring with President Roosevelt, that he was sanguine Congress would not adjourn without passing such a measure.

Mr. Ridder made the statement that he had the written pledges of 68 Republican members of the House, which, added to the Democratic vote, makes a large majority of the membership of that body, favorable to it.

Mr. Ridder declared that the ways and means committee of the House was responsible for not reporting the bill. Mr. Ridder said there would be no trouble about getting a free wood pulp measure through the Senate.

Japan Is Watching.

Tokio, April 8.—Negotiations between the United States and Russia concerning the administration of affairs at Harbin are being closely watched by Japan. The alarmist newspapers suggest Japanese administration of South Manchuria as the real object of American action. The sensationalists connect the coming of the American fleet with possible future representations concerning South Manchuria.

A Washington special says the Government has decided to oppose the action of Russia and Japan in Manchuria.

Death Sentence on Negro.

Tecumseh, Okla., April 8.—Will Johnson, a negro boy who assaulted and killed Mrs. Mary Cuppy, an aged white woman near Shawnee several weeks ago, was yesterday sentenced to be hanged. The court instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of guilty, and the jury added the death penalty. This is the first legal death sentence to be assessed to Oklahoma since it became a state.

Johnson maintained his innocence until the state prosecutor made his statement, when he jumped to his feet and declared himself guilty.

Two Years For Forger.

Belleville, April 8.—Leopold Byran, alias Maurice Long, a dashing young Englishman, who was arrested in January last on a charge of attempting to defraud the Farmers' Bank of $316, was yesterday brought up before Judge Deroche for sentence, having been found guilty on Monday, and was sentenced by Judge Deroche to two years in Kingston Penitentiary on each charge, the sentences to run concurrently.

Ministers All Elected.

St. John, N.B., April 8.—All the members of the new Provincial Cabinet, Messrs. Hazen, Morrisey, Landry, Grimmer, McLeod and Flemming were elected yesterday without opposition. The nominations attracted no attention.

Hudson Bay Railway to Solve Transportation Problem.

GREATER FACILITIES NEEDED

Production Will Otherwise Cease, Says R. E. Knowles—Member For Assiniboia Shows What It Means to Farming Interests—Question of Payment — U.S. Warships Through Canadian Canals.

Ottawa, April 8.—The extension of transportation facilities of the West by construction of a railway to Hudson Bay was the subject of debate yesterday afternoon on a resolution by R. E. Knowles (Assiniboia), who urged the Government to take early action.

After alluding to the rapid settlement of the West during the past two years, during which period nearly half a million immigrants had entered the country, Mr. Knowles observed that notwithstanding the increased demand for marketing grain, transportation facilities were very little greater than when the last spike was driven in the C.P.R., over 20 years ago. Unless adequate facilities were provided, production would cease. He explained that he could find no definite transportation policy laid down in Mr. Borden's Halifax platform.

"Has my hon. friend found out what the Government policy is on this question?" asked Mr. Borden.

Mr. Knowles hesitated an instant before he replied. "Well, I am trying to find out this afternoon," he added. "I am not altogether satisfied either with the way the Government has dealt with the transportation problem in the West. I should like to have seen them move a little more quickly."

The saving distance by the Hudson Bay route, said Mr. Knowles, would bring profit in all directions. In regard to wheat, he showed that the freight charge to Port Arthur was ten cents and an additional 15 cents to the Atlantic seaboard. The same wheat could be carried to Hudson Bay for 10 cents, so that the saving on 20 million bushels, the amount that could be carried in two months by the Hudson Bay route, would be $3,000,000. There would be a saving of 60 cents per hundred weight on cattle and an additional gain, through avoiding shrinkage by rail route, in all $650,000 or 20 per cent. of the selling price.

He differed from Mr. Sifton on the mode of paying for such railway. He would not tie-up one-tenth of the land for an increase in values, because many sections of the West had closed their schools because so much land had been withheld from settlement by the railways. The Government should be generous to settlers. The best of the land had been taken, but there was a lot of good land left and he did not think 160 acres was enough for a settler.

Official correspondence relative to the passing of U.S. warships for the great lakes through Canadian canals since Jan. 1, 1907, was tabled yesterday. The record shows that permission was given on June 28 last to pass a schooner-rigged warship San Juan de Austria, designated for use of the naval reserve in Michigan.

The U.S. gunboat Sandoval was, by order-in-council on Aug. 1, permitted passage through the Canadian canals to Charlotte, N.Y., where she was to be stationed for instructional purposes, to replace the Fern, which was passed through for same purpose in 1905. On Feb. 15, 1908, an order-in-council was passed permitting the U.S. Nashville to go through the Canadian canals, to be used by the state militia of Illinois.

The correspondence shows that in the case of the Nashville the British authorities informed the Government at Ottawa that "the whole question of armed vessels on the great lakes has been referred by His Majesty's Government to the Imperial Defence Committee, and His Majesty's Government will further consult the Canadian Government." In all cases the Government at Ottawa exacted the conditions that the vessels should be used only for training purposes and that their armament and ammunition be sent by some other route.

TRIAL NEARS AN END.

Percy Bowin Will Probably Know His Fate To-morrow.

Detroit, April 8.—When Judge Phelan adjourned court last night the taking of evidence in the trial of Percy Bowin for the murder of Mrs. Cornelia Welch, was practically completed. Assistant Prosecutor Grose announced that he had two more witnesses to impeach the defendant's testimony, whom he could not secure until yesterday morning. Their testimony, however, will consume but a few minutes.

The remainder of the day was taken up with the arguments of the attorneys, Judge Phelan announcing that he would not charge the jury until Thursday morning.

The inability of the prosecution to secure the presence of Marie Hall, the woman who is believed to have furnished Bowin with the motive for having committed the crime, has proven a great disappointment to Assistant Prosecutor Grose. It is known that the much-wanted Marie was in Detroit a week ago last Saturday night, and at that time a general order was issued commanding every police officer in the city to arrest the woman on sight. She managed to elude the officers, however, and it was reported yesterday that she was hiding in a little town in Ontario.

Yesterday's sessions were devoted to the efforts of the prosecution to impeach the witnesses for the defence. Mrs. Martin V. Brown and her daughter Mattie, who had testified that they saw Mrs. Welch alive on the Saturday after Percy Bowin confessed to having killed her, were recalled. They had fixed the date by the fact that Miss Brown had a dress fitted on that date, and the prosecutor scored a point by proving the two women were mistaken as to the dates on which the dress was purchased, fitted and received at their residence.

Bowin has lost much of his buoyant appearance and his every action indicated that he was nervous and worried.

MADE GRUESOME FIND.

Orangeville, April 8.—Excitement was caused here yesterday by the discovery of the body of Jack Hambly, a well-known local character, who followed the occupation of a well-digger.

Hambly mysteriously disappeared about Dec. 1 last. The remains were discovered in an unused vat, one of six, in the rear of the tannery of J. W. Aiken, by William Nichol, one of the workmen, about 11 o'clock.

These vats were formerly covered by a shed, which was torn town last fall. Hambly's body was observed floating in the vat yesterday morning by Mr. Nichol. The corpse was very much bloated, the left eye being entirely closed, as if from a blow, and the hands shriveled up and tanned brown.

Hambly is supposed to have fallen in the vat at night when intoxicated, as he had been drinking immediately prior to his disappearance. The water was only three feet deep where the fatality occurred.

Several ugly rumors are afloat as to the disappearance of Hambly. He is said to have been seen in the tannery yard the night of his death with two other men, who acted in a suspicious manner, but the fact of his watch and money being found intact somewhat rebuts the idea of foul play.

Woman Human Torch.

York, Pa., April 8.—Mrs. Joseph Cobaugh, aged 33 years, residing near Berlin Junction, Monday night saturated her clothing with kerosene and set fire to herself with suicidal intent. A nine-year-old daughter, attracted to the yard of her home by a light, discovered her mother aflame. An alarm was raised and neighbors extinguished the fire. The woman was so badly burned that she died yesterday.

Injuries Proved Fatal.

West Lorne, April 8.—Henry Hill is dead as a result of being thrown out of a rig in a collision on the highway with a young man who was driving a wild colt.

Not Guilty.

Three Rivers, Que., April 8.—After 25 minutes' deliberation, the jury in the McCraw murder trial rendered a verdict of not guilty.

BOWLING BASKETBALL CURLING

ANNUAL MEETING OF PETERORO BASEBALL CLUB HELD LAST NIGHT

At an enthusiastic and largely attended meeting at the Windsor Hotel last night, the Peterborough Baseball Club was organized for the season with most encouraging prospects for one of the best years in the history of the club. Last year the team broke into the Midland League in the middle of the season, taking Bowmanville's place in the third position, but they were battling with the leaders at the finish, and only lost to Port Hope after extra games had been played. This year they will start out with a strong, well-balanced team that should come pretty near to bringing the silverware to winter by the side of the lift lock.

Manager Johnston will be at the helm, and with the roster announced in last night's Examiner there is nothing to it but Peterborough for the Midland League flag.

Mr. D. B. MacRae, vice-president, occupied the chair in the absence of President Neill, and the only business taken up was the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

Patrons and Patronesses—Hon. J. R. and Mrs. Stratton, Mayor and Mrs. Rush, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dunham, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Graham, and Mr. and Mrs. E G Patterson.

Hon. Pres.—Jas. Kendry.

Hon. Vice-Pres.—J B Hay.

Pres.—Harry Neill.

1st Vice-Pres.—E N McWilliams.

2nd Vice-Pres.—D B MacRae.

Sec.-Treas.—R M Glover.

Asst. Sec.-Treas. and Scorer—Fred D Craig.

Executive — Dr. Wightman, Louis Mendel, W J Metheral, and W H Stroud.

Manager—Arthur T. Johnston.

Delegates to the Midland League annual meeting in Port Hope on Good Friday—The Manager and Corney Burns.

Mascot—Johnston, Jr.

BLEACHERS WILL BE BUILT AT RIVERSIDE PARK AT ONCE

The sport-loving fans will be glad to learn that Riverside Park will be available again this season and that grandstand accommodation will be provided to replace the stand that was burned at the end of last season. It has not been definitely decided as to what accommodation will be arranged for, but at any event bleachers will be constructed along the west side of the grounds on the site of the old grandstand and will be provided with a high fence at the back to protect the occupants from the sun. Last year there was some talk of building a big grandstand with boat houses underneath facing the river, but this ambitious project has been dropped. The management will start to work at once to put the grounds in shape for the season.

HIS ARM IS STRAIGHT AGAIN

Yebbie Flaherty Has Been Taking Treatment From Bonesetter Reese.

It is said that "Yebbe" Flaherty, the Peterbborough twirler, who went to Youngstown, Ohio, last week to undergo a course of treatment at the hands of Bonesetter Reese, the ball players' friend, has had his arm put into shape and is now ready to report to the Waterbury Connecticut League team, with whom he is under contract. Yebbie hurt his arm two years this spring pitching for Galt against the Toronto Eastern League team at Preston and has not been in shape since. His many friends will be glad to hear of his return to form.

THE Y.M.C.A. BALL CLUB ORGANIZES

Have Plenty of Material for a Strong Nine This Season.

At a meeting held at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday evening the Y. M. C. A. Baseball Club was organized for the season of 1908. Mr. E. M. Beat acted as chairman and the following officers were elected:

President—Mr. J. N. Barber.

Secretary-Treasurer — M. F. Cresswan.

Executive Committee—Messrs. C. G. Graham, W. Thornton and H. C. Kirn.

The membership fee was fixed at 50 cents, open to all members of the Y. M. C. A.

There is plenty of good material for a first class team at the Y., and under good management they should be able to make the best of them go some.

THE PRESIDENCY FOR PETERBOROUGH

This City Should Receive the Honour From the Midland Baseball League

The annual meeting of the Midland Baseball League will be held on Good Friday in Port Hope when the drawing up of the schedule and the election of officers will take place. In connection with the latter the question arises, "Isn't it nearly time that the presidency came to Peterborough?" All the other towns in the League have had the honour and Peterborough should not be neglected in this respect. There are plenty of good men in Peterborough who would fill the position as it should be filled and this city is certainly entitled to the honour this year.

GRAHAN HAS A GOOD RECORD

James A Grahaan, of Buffalo, the noted pedestrian, who is here for the walking tournament at Brock street rink, has had an unusually interesting athletic career. He will be 47 years old on May 4th, weighs 180 pounds in his walking attire and stands 5ft. 8in. He has been in athletics for 37 years getting his first prize when he won a hundred yards' boys' dash at Dunkirk, New York, 37 years ago. Ever since then he has walked and run professionally.

"What was the event of your athletic career?" he was asked by the Examiner last night.

"I think it was a 72 hour go-as-you-please trial against time at Lockport in 1898," he replied. "I walked 417 miles in 72 hours."

Go as you Please Events

Graham has take part in a great many go-as-you-please events, which, if they were fully recorded, and described, would require the writing of a small sized book. It would perhaps be of interest, however, to mention some of them.

In 1901 in Lancaster, Pa., he won the 72 hour American go-as-you-please championship in a race in which there was a field of 42 starters, among them the famous champion, Peter Cavanagh, who died last week. Graham won the race by eleven miles, giving Cavanagh his first defeat.

He won the last six day go-as-you-please, held in Buffalo, N.Y., establishing the world's record. He ran 32 miles during the four hours of each nht of the race. He also won eight consecutive 100 mile races in one year, in New York, two of which were held at Lockport, two at Albany and one at Niagara Falls, Brookport and Seneca Falls. Graham took part in the last race for over 12 hours straight going, that was held at Albany, N.Y.

Skating Champion

He has done some road running and naturally would be somewhat expert at that, owing to his participation in go-as-you-please contests. However he doesn't indulge in that kind of athletics now, contenting himself to straight heel and toe walking. In Graham's opinion it is impossible for an athlete to be good as a go-as-you-please man and a heel and toe walker.

His athletic career has certainly been a varied and successful one. He holds the 10, 15 and 25 mile ice skating record of Munro County, New York State, having won them at the Rochester skating rink some years ago. He has three medals emblamatic of the championships.

In 1896 he made the world's rink record on roller skates at Madison Square Gardens for a distance of 86 miles. His time has never been equalled since. He has been successful in many other skating events.

Walked Against Slater

Graham has figured in three walks this year. Two weeks before the Kansas City six-day race he was in a six-day race with Slater, the man who got second money at Kansas City. In the race in which Graham and Slater took part Slater dropped out before it was over. Since that event Graham walked 50 miles in 10 hours at the Gray Armouries, Akron, O., and about a month ago walked 187 miles at Erie, Pa. He estimates that he has walked 25,000 miles during his athletic career, 1,000 miles farther than the distance around the world.

TURF CLUB DECIDE ON MATINEE

Will Have Three Races on Victoria Day—To Have Good Field of Starters.

At a meeting of the Peterborough Turf Club held yesterday afternoon at the Grand Hotel with Dr. Joyston in the chair, arrangements were made for what promises to be the most successful season in the history of the club. All the members were present, and the enthusiasm with which the plans for the season were discussed augur well for a good year.

It was decided to hold a matinee at Exhibition Grounds on May 25th, when a programme consisting of a green race, 2.30 class and free-for-all will be pulled off. This event has proved most successful in other years, and there promises to be some lively sport on Victoria Day. Eight hundred dollars will be hung up for the big summer meet to be held in August, when two days racing will be on the tapis. The exact dates could not be decided upon until the Eastern Ontario Association's circuit can be arranged.

TEAM CHOSEN FOR THE GAME TO-N IGHT

Toronto Basketballers Coming With the Best Possible Line-up.

To-night the Toronto Senior Basket Ball team will play the Peterborough team in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium at 9 o'clock. The Toronto players are an exceedingly fast bunch and are picked from the best men in their City League, so a good game may be looked for. Tickets are now on sale at the Y.M.C.A. and the plan may be seen at any time at the Secretary's office. The Peterborough team will be, Sutherland, E Best, R Best, Loomis, S Laing and N Darling.

ANY HARRIER MAY MAKE ATTEMPT TO LOWER MARK

Answer to Mr. Bennett's Query—Not Considered a Record.

Regarding the communication yesterday from W. Bennett, the runner, the Examiner has been authorized to state that the record of 5.40 he speaks of, is merely a mark for the others to supersede if possible in their practises and is not set up as a record at all. Any member of the Harriers Clubb is at liberty, of course, to lower it if he can and Mr. Bennett will be welcomed by the Harriers at any time when he becomes a member.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

Tait and Coley cannot come to terms and will, therefore, not race together in the five-mile run at the Olympic sport carnival this week. Tait won't come up to five and Coley won't go down to three.

Walter Jayes, a nephew of Mr. John Jayes of the Munro House, is playing ball this year with Portsmouth, Va. He is holding down third base there to perfection and in the game with Toronto on Monday, won by the latter by 5 to 4, he made one hit, one run, a put-out and an assist. Last year he played in Syracuse and promises to be heard from in the big leagues.

The latest issue of the Outdoor Canada contains a lengthy interview with Tom Flanagan of the I.C.A.C, in which he includes Fred Simpson, the Peterborough Indian among the Irish-Canadian team for the Olympic games. Simpson, he says, will only be allowed to enter the 25 mile race. Inquiry was made by the Examiner to-day from the officials of the Y.M.C.A. Harrier Club of this city, if it were true that Fred Simpson was a member of the I.C.A.C. The officers say he is not, that he still belongs to the Harriers Club here and that he will be entered in whatever races they deem him qualified to enter without asking permission from any person.

It is rumoured in Port Hope that the baseball management have prevailed upon 'Barney' Jennings to break into the game again this year. Barney pitched championship amateur ball for Woodstock and Ingersoll in 1904 and 1905 respectively. He also plays the third bag well, and will be a valuable acquisition to the Lake town nine.

PSYCHINE

BECAUSE What it has done for them it can do for others

"A friend in need is a friend indeed." This is what Psychine is to the sick. Its tonic properties have never been equalled by any medicine. By regulating and restoring the healthy action of the throat, lungs and stomach, and toning up the entire system, it drives out disease and its effects. La Grippe, Bronchitis, Stubborn Coughs or Colds, Pneumonia, Night Sweats, Chills, wasting diseases and run-down conditions from any cause, and especially stomach troubles, quickly yield to the healing, restoring power of this wonderful Doctor's Prescription. At all druggists, 50 cents and $1.00. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, LIMITED, TORONTO.

Minister's Earnest Prayer
11 Scott St., St. Thomas, Ont.
February 29, 1908

Dr T. A. Slocum, Limited.

Gentlemen.—Unasked I send my testimony as to the beneficent results I have derived from taking Psychine. I was troubled with my lungs, which are still somewhat weak. I find by taking Psychine it wonderfully builds me. It is one of the best tonics on earth. May God long spare you to do this good work for the suffering. God bless Psychine. Yours sincerely,

REV. FREDERICK A. WEBSTER.

Praise from the Salvation Army

"Dear Dr. Slocum.—I feel it a duty and pleasure to testify to the benefit I have received from the use of your wonderful remedy, Psychine. A few months ago while travelling in New Ontario conducting special meetings I contracted a very bad cold, which gradually developed into bronchitis of the worst form. I was advised to try Psychine, and after using a few bottles I was completely restored to health. My voice, since using Psychine, is stronger and has much more carrying power than it had before I had bronchitis, and the vocal cords do not tire with speaking. I strongly recommend the wonderful remedy to all sufferers from bronchitis and other throat and lung troubles."

BILLY NAUGON WILL WALK AGAINST HARTLEY

Twenty-three Contestants Have Signified Their Intention to Walk.

Billy Naugon, of Hiawatha, is the latest contestant in the walking race. Everybody knows "Billy," at least those who have been in the vicinity of Rice Lake, for that is where he is found every summer day. And now he is coming out for the big walk and will be a starter in the big event. Billy himself should draw a large crowd to see him perform with the other good ones. His letter to Mr. George Stevens is as follows:

I understand Mr. Hartley, the champion long distance walker of Canada, will walk all comers at the Brock street rink, April 20th to 25th, for the championship of Canada and open to the world. It is my intention to compete at the meet if permitted. Will you kindly give me all the information re the matter by return mail.

Yours truly,
W. H. NAUGON.

A meeting of the committee for the race will be held At the Oriental Hotel to-morrow night.

There are now twenty-three entries for the walk. The number sounds all right and promises an interesting week of pedestrian performances. The new entries besides Naugon are Maurice Moher, of Douro, known better as Hickey, Jos. Stacey, of 232 Greenwood avenue, Toronto and Gerald Graham, of the city.

THE FIREMEN ARE VERY INDIGNANT

Regard Action of Fire, Water and Light Committee as a Reflect Upon Them

It is understood that the members of the Fire Brigade are disgruntled with the action of the Fire, Water and Light Committee in recommending the re-organization of the fire brigade. They appear to feel that the action of the committee is a reflection upon their services and it is stated that he men were so indignant that they were ready to resign in a body at once. The brigade had a meeting last night at which the matter was discussed but it has been found impossible to get any information as to whether or not any action was taken.

ROBBER HID AMONG THE COFFINS TO AWAIT COMING OF ASSOCIATES

Burglars Make Desperate Attempt on Bank at Thornhill—Clubbed Manager But Left $7,800.

THREE SUSPECTS ARRESTED

Examiner Special:

Thornhill, Ont., April 9.—Bank breakers, who used revolvers, and stunned the manager, Roy Henry, with a slung shot, made a daring attempt to get away with $7,800 from the Sterling Bank at Thornhill, 12 miles north of Toronto, early yesterday morning.

Mr. Roy Henry, who sleeps above the bank, heard a noise down stairs about 12 o'clock. He hurried down in the dark and saw a man in the office. Whereupon he hurried upstairs again to get his revolver.

When he came downstairs again the man had disappeared, and the back doors were open. Through the front door he saw, by the dim light, a man trying the handle. He fired one shot through the glass which fell shattered.

As the glass fell shattered two shots were fired at the manager by someone outside through the open space in the front door.

As Roy Henry raised his revolver to reply he was hit upon the back of the head with a slung shot or loaded cane and fell insensible.

The people in the houses nearby, alarmed at the noise of the shots turned out in force and surrounded the bank building.

The bank breakers had made their escape, however, immediately after the shooting, and the people found the insensible body of Roy Henry near the foot of the stairway.

He was carried to a nearby house, where he was attended by a doctor. This morning he is much better.

Mr. Hector Wright, the assistant, who also sleeps above the bank, was out for the evening and had not returned at the time the attempt was made.

When he returned he went over the securities and bills and found that nothing had been taken.

The inside man on the job was evidently concealed in a cupboard in rear of the bank for hours before the real job was attempted. There is a large room in the rear of the bank, which was formerly used by an undertaker. In fact, there are a few coffins still stored there, and standing upright between two coffins in a very narrow space the burglar waited more or less patiently from 7.30 in the evening till midnight.

In discussing the affair Mr. Henry said: "I left the bank for a few minutes, when both the front and rear doors were unlocked. At this time Mr. Wright, my assistant, was upstairs. It must have been at this time that the man slipped in and concealed himself in the cupboard. The cupboard had been held fast with a single nail, so it was not very difficult to pry open, but he probably did not expect to find that he would have to crouch in beside a couple of caskets to spend the succeeding four or five hours." The traces of the man's temporary occupation were clearly visible in the morning.

Three men, apparently of the tramp or "yegg" variety, were arrested late last night by Chief of Police Petch of Aurora.

They are believed to be the perpetrators of the attempt which was made to rob the Sterling Bank at Thornhill Tuesday night, in which shots were exchanged by the burglars and Roy Henry, manager of the bank, who was severely beaten and who came close to being shot, but succeeded in frightening off the intruders.

When arrested no firearms were found upon the men. One of them had a pair of pinchers. They are locked up at Aurora, charged as vagrants.

While the men refuse to give any names the similarity of their actions leads the police to believe that these men are either the same, or a part of the same, gang that perpetrated post-office robberies at Highland Creek, Agincourt, Scarboro Junction, Lambton Mills, Mimico and Bedford Park. From descriptions in the hands of the police they are also believed to have taken part in the robbery with revolver accompaniment, of the Imperial Bank at St. David's on Monday morning, when the vault was blown, but the solidity of an inner door saved $3,000 there deposited.

They are also believed to be implicated in the robbery of a Canadian Express Co. express money parcel of $1,000 at Collingwood on March 28, when the parcel was taken from a truck at the depot.

It is also believed, though here descriptions are lacking, that they may be implicated in the robbery of $1,500 worth of jewelry from Hagersville on April 3, and to be a part of the gang, four of whom were arrested at Guelph for four recent burglaries in that city.

COFFIN ORDER CANCELLED; FAKE STORY FROM OMEMEE HAMLET ABOUT A DEAD MAN

Considerable anxiety on the part of relatives was caused last night here by the report from Omemee that a Peterborough man, Charles Clarke, had succumbed suddenly to a kick from a horse, while working for his employer, Mr. William Graham of that vicinity. The story was given credit in the city last night and friends of the alleged dead man had even gone so far as to order a coffin from a Peterborough undertaker in which to bury him.

But the whole story is apparently a fabrication, invented by some one for a private reason. As stated above Clarke was supposed to have been killed by a kick from a horse. His employer, Mr. Graham, was supposed to have gone to the Omemee village and telephoned to Peterborough to have his wife or some friends attend to the body, in view of having it conveyed here for burial. Other suppositions were also made but they were nothing more. The story exploded when an Omemee citizen stated over the wire to-day that he saw Clarke walking along the street of that hamlet very much alive.

Coffin Cancelled

His body did not come down on the Omemee train, although sympathising friends were on hand to take charge of it. The coffin order has been cancelled for a time at least and the city of the dead is not likely to be disturbed by the intrusion of the body of Mr. Clarke within the next few days.

What the intentions of the party or parties participating in the plot were is a mystery, but of course the usual number of stories are circulating. One is to the effect that Mr. Clarke wanted to get his wife up to Omemee and that he assumed the role of a dead man in order to do it. Another says that the Chief of Police has a warrant for the arrest of Clarke and that the latter, getting "wise" from friends here told him of this. He, therefore decided, it is alleged, to have the chief consider him deceased to escape the inevitable. Coroner Gray was also one of those notified of the death, but there will be no inquest.

"Samuel Clarke forgot that he was dead" might be an appropriate subject of a poem, if some of the spring poets should happen to get an inspiration.

Hotel Proprietor Assaulted By An Intoxicated Customer

Mr. Stephen Holland, proprietor of the Royal Hotel, was struck over the eye last night by an intoxicated man and sustained a small cut.

Mr. Holland was behind the bar when his assailant asked for a drink. The proprietor saw that his customer had had already too much, and ordered him out of the hotel. The intoxicated man refused and picking up a salt shaker he struck Mr. Holland a blow over the eye inflicting a slight cut. The proprietor telephoned for the police but when P. C. McGinity arrived the man had made good his escape.

Mr. Holland learned this morning that the wife of the man in question is ill in bed and he will not prosecute.

Teams Still Travel Over The Surface Of Stony Lake

Mr. A. L. Dunford of Port Royal, Stony Lake, is in the city to-day. Mr. Dunford states that there is yet plenty of ice in Stony Lake and that teams are still crossing it. It is not likely the ice will disappear for some days on account of the unusual thickness of it this year.

There was a large quantity of ice sawed at Stony Lake this year for the cottagers, and the residents there expect to see even a bigger summer population at Kawarthadom than ever.

Mr. Dunford is overhauling his supply boat, the "Bobs," and when he has the work completed she will be in excellent shape to enter upon a second successful season.

A number of new cottages will be erected this year, so that appearances point to a lively summer.

Peterborough Was Canvassed By Montreal Book Agent

James Smith, alias John Dillon, who recently held a posse of Montreal police at bay, is remembered by some of the citizens of Peterborough. Mr Geo. Bull is authority for the statement that Dillon canvassed this district shortly after the Boer war, with books describing it. Dillon was of a soldierly appearance and did a good business until he was succeeded by a man named Pepper.

ATTENDED BANQUET IN TORONTO

Mr. H. B. Cowan, of the Canadian Dairyman, Present at Enjoyable Function

Mr. H B Cowan, of the Canadian Dairyman, city, attended the banquet in Toronto last night of which the Globe has the following to say:—

About 50 representatives of agricultural papers, manufacturers and those catering to the wants of the farmers enjoyed the hospitality of Mr Frank B White, President of the White's Class Advertising Company of Chicago and New York, at the King Edward Hotel last evening. Mr. J H Colville, Manager of the Sharples Separator Company, acted as Chairman and toastmaster.

Mr. White gave a short talk on classified advertising, particularly agricultural and was followed by H B Donovan of the Poultry Review; H B Cowan, Manager Canadian Dairyman and Farming World, and Geo C Scott, advertising manager Frost & Wood, Smith's Falls, followed by three minutes discussion on the part of those present. A most enjoyable and profitable evening was spent, and Mr. White was tendered a very hearty vote of thanks for the opportunity afforded those present of getting acquainted with his methods. Mr. White expects to establish a Canadian branch of their business here to enable them to handle to better advantage their growing business in Canada, and, as he said, to take full advantage of the opportunities which this country is offering to the advertiser.

MAN DROPS DEAD IN A CELLAR

Apoplexy is the Cause Attributed for the Sudden Demise.

Mr. Gilbert Barker, a prominent resident of Bloomfield, near Tweed, while engaged at work in his cellar on Wednesday afternoon dropped dead. He was in his usual health, and it is supposed that his death was due to apoplexy. He was 68 years of age. A widow, daughter of the late Cornelius White, a friend minister and two daughters survive.

LATEST INTELLIGENCE IN THE ELECTRIC FIELD

The Examiner has secured the exclusive agency in Peterborough for a special series of articles bearing on electricity, including the latest developments and inventions in the electrical field. They will be published from time to time in the Examiner, the first appearing in to-day's issue in another column on a "House Without a

AN AGED WOMAN SAVED FROM FIRE

Was Almost Caught by the Flames—House Completely Destroyed.

On Wednesday last the residence of James Beatty, Jr., in Kalkder township was burned to the ground.

The fire, which was caused by an overheated stove, was not discovered until it had gained good headway, and it was all that could be done to get the inmates out safely. Mr. Beatty's mother, who makes her home with him, is an aged lady and a cripple from rheumatism, and it was with the greatest difficulty that she was taken from the burning building by another son, Mr. Robt. Beatty.

The loss was heavy as they were unable to save even the furniture. The entire house and contents were destroyed, and the sympathy of the entire neighbourhood is extended to the sufferers.

TRANSPORTATION AND POPULATION.

The Liberal Government's solicitude for the betterment of transportation interests, the most important in the national economy, is shown by the completion of the elevator at Port Colborne. This great elevator, described in detail elsewhere, is 175 feet in height, built entirely of steel and reinforced concrete, and will hold two million bushels. This elevator will be the means of establishing Port Colborne as a trans-shipping point, and it is expected to revolutionize the grain carrying trade of the Great Lakes. The big lake carriers, too large to go through the Welland Canal, will transfer their cargoes to the smaller vessels, which will carry the grain to ocean-going steamers at Montreal. By this means it is expected that a rate can be given for grain-carrying from Lake Superior to the seaboard which will defy competition. Canada must have the means of moving the grain crops of the West, and to this end we shall need every possible avenue. With the present production there is congestion. There are in Alberta, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba, one hundred and twenty-five mill on acres of lands capable of bearing wheat. If, with only eight million acres under crop, there is a product of over one hundred million bushels—if, with this size of hopper, there is a congestion of the spouts, what will the condition be when, as must be the case in a few years, the output of wheat is increased ten-fold? We shall need not only the Welland Canal, but the Trent Canal, the C.P.R. and G.T.R. lines from Midland, and the Grand Trunk Pacific; and, even the proposed Georgian Bay Canal and the Hudson Bay Railway added, would be nothing too much to handle the prospective crops of the West, when development of grain-growing shall have doubled or trebled. What part this development will play in the future of Canada depends upon the rapidity with which we can people the West. We must have population to aid in bringing the West under productive conditions. The growth of the West means added prosperity to the East. Broadly, the interests of any one part of Canada are the interests of the whole. Broadly, what affects one section, beneficially or adversely, pro tanto, affects the whole. The Little Canadians, who decry immigration from demagogic reasons—to gain a little temporary popularity—are the most vicious enemies of Canada and Canadian progress. The Dominion Government, with its energetic immigration policy—and practice—is doing yeoman work in building up Canada. This policy is especially commendable, since encouragement is given to only desirable classes of immigrants. These classes consist of farm labourers, or prospective agriculturalists, of railway construction labourers. There is no assisted immigration, in fact, it is provided that immigrants coming in under Government auspices must have a certain amount of means. All such are welcome, and will do their share in creating a greater Canada. Population and transportation are the urgent needs of Canada, and the Liberal Government of the Dominion is doing its best to provide both, and every patriotic Canadian will support and encourage them in this great work.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In 1890 the total freight tonnage carried by Canadian railways was 20,787,469 tons. In 1896 this amount was 24,260,825. In 1907 it was 63,866,133 tons.

The Whitney Government denounced the Ross Government as extravagant, yet it proposes to spend two or three million dollars more this year than was spent in the last year of the Ross Government. That's not the only failure of the Whitney Government to live up to its pledges of reform if it got office.

It is proposed in Conservative interests to have the Provincial Premiers, of Conservative leanings, stir the province in a series of public addresses. What is wrong with the great Conservative guns at Ottawa? Have the Federal Conservative leaders gone lame? Do Mr. Borden, Mr. Foster and Mr. Bennett and the other leading lights at the capital, cut no ice?

The Toronto News is always single-eyed in its independency. It says that no voter should be influenced to support a Liberal candidate in Toronto because a Liberal Government is to to spend $475,000 to improve Toronto harbour. Yet the News would doubtless call upon electors to condemn the government if it did not spend this money. The Liberal Government deserves this much credit for its deference to public convenience by supplying the elements that go to benefit transportation interests.

Another evidence that the Conservatives of the East under Mr. Borden's leading are not fit to swing the destines of the party into the winning line, without additional help, is the fact that Hon. Robert Rogers, Commissioner of Public Works in the Manitoba Government, and the great apostle of political purity, is coming to Ontario on a political mission. His presence is due to his intention to organize opposition to Hon. Mr. Aylesworth's bill to amend the Dominion Elections Act. This is due no doubt to the fact that the revised act will be too much in the interests of honest election to suit the book of Conservative purists.

The strongest condemnation of the Toronto gerrymander, says the Globe, was Mr. McNaught's absolute failure to make any excuse or justification for it. He showed that, according to the unit of population, and having no regard for the special facilities of serving many constituents when concentrated in a small area at the seat of government, Toronto was entitled to twelve representatives. But that is no reason whatever for linking the constituencies in pairs or for requiring each voter to mark two ballots instead of one. If a Toronto riding has 15,000 votes, and ballot A gives one candidate 8,000 and the other 7,000, the higher vote elects. If ballot B has three candidates scoring 6,000, 5,000, and 4,000, respectively, the highest vote elects above the 7,000 scored by the second candidate on ballot A. This is one of many unfair possibilities of Toronto's gerrymander.

HARD DRIVE ON WHITNEY.

The Toronto News, the apologist-in-chief of the Whitney Government, inadvertently, but nevertheless deservedly gives the Whitney Government the following jolt:—

"It is a shame and a scandal," says the News, "that a man who has occupied a position for fifteen, twenty or twenty-five years and who has thereby become disqualified for any other pursuit, should be harassed, held under suspicion and perhaps finally dismissed through the machinations of the office-hunters of a party to which he is thought to have been opposed. There is a suggestion of sneaking meanness in the habit of spying upon office-holders, casting suspicion upon their motives, and magnifying and misrepresenting incidents and circumstances which may be innocent enough in themselves to their discomfort and discredit."

This doesn't apply for one moment to the Dominion Government, which has been abstentious to a fault, in the matter of removing Conservative officials whom it found in office at Ottawa. It has retained them to its loss, and to the injury of the public service. A large proportion of these Conservatives have been more anxious to take a course to discredit the Liberal Government that retained them in office than to serve the public interest. The chief sinners in connection with the Department of Marine and Fisheries have been men who are appointees of the late Conservative Government. Mr. Whitney showed no such mistaken tenderness, he inaugurated the spoils system as soon as he got the power to do so.

TOO LATE!

(Montreal Herald.)

The Peterborough Review rails at the British preference, says it must be repealed, and claims that, because of it, Central Ontario is retrograding rapidly. And all this because, according to the Review, some woollen factories have been unable to meet British competition. Peterborough has never flourished as it has during the past twelve years. It is now, thanks largely to the impetus given to all lines of business by the forward, progressive policy of the Laurier Government, one of the large manufacturing centres of the Dominion. We do not say that the Government created the abundant harvests on which our general prosperity has been so largely built, but we do say that the measure of those harvests is largely the direct result of the impetus given to immigration and to every line of Canadian development by the well-considered, business-like, and enterprising policies of the Government. British preference, if it has hit rather hardly some factories that could exist only it given advantages at the expense of the consuming public, has done Canada incalculable good. It has advertised this country as it was never advertised before; it has made Canada the Mecca of tens of thousands of the people of the Old Countries; it has stimulated Imperial trade, and increased the demand for our products in Britain; and it has given Canadians a sensible measure of tariff reduction, without injury to any interests, except those of one industry that was notoriously behind the times in regard to machinery and concentration of business. It is too late in the day to base an attack on the Government on the British preference, or to place in the scale against all the good it has wrought the fate of a few inefficient factories.

It is a striking rebuke to our evening contemporary, the Review, that an outside journal feels called upon to give prominence to progress and enterprise of Peterborough. This contrasts strongly with the unpatriotic practice of the Review, represented by its "running down" Peterborough for the petty purpose of a little petty party gain.

THE OUTLOOK.

(Brantford Expositor.)

There are many signs that the present financial stringency and consequent industrial and commercial depression will be relieved at an early stage of the present year. While there has been much suffering as a result of the conditions, which, however, have been world-wide and probably not as severe in Canada as elsewhere, it would appear that the commercial situation in this country has not been materially threatened. A temporary check has been sustained, but with renewed business activity this spring the situation will again become normal. Some of the conditions which will contribute to this end are:

1. The Inflow of Capital—A leading financier has stated that there will come into Canada during the current year, from outside sources, to build up and extend Canadian enterprises, a sum of no less than $92,075,000. The following are the details: Loan of Dominion Government, $22,500,000. For sale of stocks and bonds of C.P.R. and G.T.P., $54,000,000. For sale of municipal debentures of Vancouver, Edmonton, Regina, Winnipeg and Ottawa, $7,980,000. For sale of stocks and bonds of Montreal Street Railway, R. & O. Navigation Company, Canadian General Electric Company, Penman Manufacturing Company, Montreal L. H. & P. Company, and Toronto Street Railway, $7,595,000. Total, $92,075,000. This tremendous amount of money will be circulated throughout the Dominion, and among all classes, and must, therefore, vitalize every interest.

2. Immigration — Within the past few days the newspapers have contained telegraphic advices of the incoming into Canada, and especially into Western Canada, of thousands of first-class settlers, mostly Americans. They bring with them an experience of years in various pursuits, mostly agricultural, and no little wealth, the net effect of which will be to arouse a tremendous interest in Western Canada, increased activity in land operations, a larger area of land brought under cultivation, and the rapid filling in of the wide gaps in that magnificent country.

3. Early Spring — The snow and frost have disappeared earlier than usual, and the farmer is now busy preparing to cultivate his land. From east to west, this fortunate condition has given new hope, greater expectations and increased vigour to the hundreds of thousands engaged in agricultural pursuits. An early spring with favourable weather conditions is usually followed by an abundant harvest.

4. Early Navigation—With the incoming of an early spring, the magnificent waterways of our Dominion give employment to hundreds of persons and secure an economical means of moving merchandise. At the various ports there are cargoes awaiting movement, which will ultimately be converted into cash.

5. Undisposed Products—The comparatively severe winter has prevented the free movement of farm and other products. These will now be marketed rapidly, and at prices which are comparatively high. This will enable the farmer to pay his debts to storekeepers and others, who, in turn, will liquidate their obligations to the wholesaler, to the banker, and so on; in fact, the whole community will be more or less benefitted by this condition.

6. Manufacturing Industries — The depression last autumn, the severe winter, and the unsettled financial outlook, had the effect of disturbing the confidence of the manufacturer, the result being that several industries closed down for a time, or ran on short hours. Already, many industrial concerns have resumed operations, and, in other cases there are signs which lead those who are in touch with trade conditions to view the future with confidence and to believe that nothing can stay the progress of our great Dominion.

"MERRY WIDOW" WALTZ NO GO

Whistling Bostonian Arrested by Policeman for Lack of Technique And Harmony.

INVOLVES A QUESTION

From Boston comes the following interesting despatch: "Because he whistled 'The Merry Widow' waltz on the street, Henry Schmalzreid today was arrested by Policeman Croffert. Croffert said in court that Schmalzreid showed no technique and little regard for the laws of harmony, whereupon Magistrate Rantined him $1." The case is of more than ordinary interest, and suggests many possibilities in the way of civic reform. If the Boston case is to stand as a precedent it will behoove the city authorities to include music in the examination of candidates for the police force. The man who aspires to be "one of the finest" must have a correct ear as well as hardy muscles and ability to wield a club. He must have a knowledge of the harmonic laws as well as an acquaintanceship with municipal regulations. He must know when an offender is murdering the tricky sextette from "Florodora" or the waltz from "The Merry Widow," and he must be able to tell the exact degree of crime involved in whistling "Love Me, and the World Is Mine," or any other popular air of the hour. Of course, such an examination will be rather severe on the candidate, but the result will be of incalculable benefit to society. By all means let us have statutes to regulate the performances of unrestrained whistlers who persist in fracturing all the laws of harmony and in making life miserable for those who have a correct ear for melody.

Kokomo Woman Gives Fortune

To Help Women Who Suffer.

In the past few years Mrs. Cora B. Miller has spent $125,000.00 in giving medical treatment to afflicted women.

Sometime ago we announced in the columns of this paper that she would send free treatment to every woman who suffered from female diseases or piles.

More than a million women have accepted this generous offer, and as Mrs. Miller is still receiving requests from thousands of women from all parts of the world who have not yet used the remedy, she has decided to continue the offer for awhile longer at least.

This is the simple, mild and harmless preparation that has cured so many women in the privacy of their own homes after doctors and other remedies failed.

It is especially prepared for the speedy and permanent cure of leucorrhoea or whitish discharges, ulceration, displacements or falling of the womb, profuse, scanty or painful periods, uterine or ovarian tumours or growths; also pains in the head, back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weariness and piles from any cause, or no matter of how long standing.

Every woman sufferer, unable to find relief, who will write Mrs. Miller now without delay, will receive by mail free of charge, a 50-cent box of this simple home remedy, also a book with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer and how they can easily cure themselves at home without the aid of a physician.

Don't suffer another day, but write at once to Mrs. Cora B Miller, 6,500 Miller Building, Kokomo, Indiana.

THIS FAMILY WAS NOT PENNILESS

Immigrant Officer Says That They Had More Baggage Than Usual.

Mr. Geo. H Howson, Government Immigrant Agent, in reference to the family of nine English people who arrived here on Tuesday night and were quartered at the Salvation Army Barracks, has asked the Examiner to explain that they were not in such a bad position financially as was stated in last night's issue. They had some money with them and had an abundance of baggage, in fact, were far better provided for in this respect than is the average immigrant. In addition they are better prepared to begin life here than is usually the case as the father and boys have had experience in farming. There are five boys in all, ranging in age from 7 to 16 years, while there are two girls of 17 and 19. The latter have been carefully trained in domestic service and the Immigrant Officer would like to secure positions for them near Keene, where the family has been sent.

A HOUSE WITHOUT A CHIMNEY

Wonderful Residence Foretelling What American Homes Will be in Course Of a Few Years.

WHAT ELECTRICITY DOES

A house of concrete!

A house without a chimney!

A house with plenty of artificial light and heat, yet without a bit of fire. No coal; no ashes; no soot; no dangerous gases.

Such is the ideal Twentieth-Century Home which Mr. F. M. Sinsabaugh has just completed for his comfort at Carrollton, Illinois. While this wonderful residence is now the first of its kind in the world, it is, perhaps, a good example of what the average American home will be in a few years from now when both wood and coal have become too expensive for common use. Wood is now too scarce and high in price for common building material, and the time is already here when, for economy's sake, architects and contractors are figuring to construct all buildings of steel and concrete. As the supply of coal diminishes, the price is advancing, so that everything possible is being done to husband the supply and see that none of the precious stored heat is wasted. Electricity, generated by water power, is even now taking the place of coal as a source of power, and the time is surely coming when it will rank first as a source of heat.

Mr. Sinsabaugh's Model Twentieth-Century Home is 34 x 30 feet, two storeys high, with attic and basement, and has eight rooms on the two main floors. While Edison's idea of a concrete house to be poured in one big mould was not carried out, yet the principal building material was concrete. The foundation and walls are of concrete blocks. The concrete was mixed and moulded into the building blocks as required. There was no waste of building material. The floors are of wood and the interior is finished in plaster and oak. Such a house requires very little wood. The style of architecture is of the plain, substantial mission type. This idea is carried throughout the interior as well. The building is fronted by a large porch 8 x 32 feet. This concrete and wood finished house cost less than $3,500.

The Interior

The interior is roomy and comfortable. On the left of the entrance hall is the parlour, and on the right the library; back of the latter is located the dining-room, connected by a pantry to the kitchen. This house is illuminated with electric lights. The chandeliers and lighting fixtures are of hard wood and stained glass, presenting a very beautiful effect.

Perhaps the most novel feature about this wonderful residence is the fact that it is heated by steam from a central station. There is no noisy, dusty furnace in the basement demanding daily attention and tender care all the long winter months. Instead, the steam which usually goes to waste about small electric light plants is carried to the house by underground pipes. This steam pipe enters the house in the basement and the steam is carried to the rooms just the same as from an ordinary furnace. The rooms are heated with steam radiators. Of course, some special arrangement had to be supplied to furnish hot water for the bathroom. Near the ceiling in the bathroom is located a water tank which is kept constantly hot by a number of small pipes through which a continual flow of hot steam is maintained. This tank supplies hot water to the bath and to the wash bowls located in two of the upstairs bedrooms. The house is also wired for electric heat in case anything should happen to the steam heating system.

When it is remembered that there are no fires about this modern dwelling the visitor begins to wonder how the meals are cooked. No steel range visible in the neat and roomy kitchen. No sooty gas stove glares black and threatening from the side walls. The principal article of furniture seems to be a desk sideboard — or something that looks as though it might be a sideboard. This "sideboard" is nothing more or less than one of the new General Electric stoves. The back of the wooden cabinet is a small switchboard and all the utensils arranged on the stove are connected to this switchboard with suitable wires and plugs. A turn of a switch and the electric tea-kettle is singing over invisible heat. With the same ease the frying pan, cereal cooker, griddle, broiler, vegetable cookers, etc., are made ready to do their share of the work of preparing a meal. Beside the cabinet sits the electric oven wherein the heat is so economized and concentrated that the choicest roast can be prepared in less time than it usually takes to start a slow coal fire. The other electrical kitchen devices, including the electric flat-iron, are used in the same clean, simple and economical manner. There is no sweltering heat in the kitchen, no soot, no ashes, no dirt, no hot fires for ironing days; no lugging of heavy scuttles of coal from the basement.

At Small Cost

In fact so easily and conveniently are the meals cooked that the coffee, tea and toast are prepared right on the dining room table. The electric coffee percolator, at the turn of a switch, prepares the coffee while the cereal is being eaten and the toast is ready with the coffee. The cost of cooking the meals by electricity in this home is estimated at less than $3.50 a month for a family of five persons.

By utilizing the waste steam from the electric light plant the cost of heating the house in cold weather is reduced to a minimum. Besides it saves caring for a dirty furnace and handling coal and ashes. The room that a furnace and coal bin ordinarily take up can be used for other purposes. With special meter rates for electric heating the cost of cooking the various meals is no more than it would be if coal or gas was used and the cleanliness, convenience and healthfulness of electricity is worth more than money can buy.

The greatest inventor and genius in the world has predicted that the house of the near future will be made entirely of concrete, cast in a mould. Scientists have predicted that the home of the future will have no chimney or flue. These ideas are all incorporated in Mr. Sinsabaugh's Twentieth Century Home.

EVER SINCE SHE WAS NINE YEARS OLD.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS EFFECTED A COMPLETE CURE.

If you find your health failing, your food apparently doing you no good, your heart beating irregularly—now slow, now fast—skipping a beat now and then, palpitations or throbbings on the slightest excitement or exertion, pain in the region of the heart, face pale, dizzy and faint spells, these all point to heart weakness, to nerve derangement, to a state of health consequent upon these, which, if not corrected and cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, will surely end in utter prostration and hopeless invalidism.

From the depths many have been raised by this remarkable remedy, as its power is beyond all question most marvellous; but, why wait until you have gone so far? Taking these pills now will turn you from the perilous path of sickness and put you on the highway to health.

Miss Mary Wilson, Toronto, Ont., writes: "It is with the greatest of pleasure that I recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Ever since I was nine years of age I have been afflicted with palpitation of the heart, pain in my side and nervousness. As I grew older it kept increasing. After having tried numerous doctors medicines, but to no avail, I was induced to try your pills, and after using several boxes I began to improve, so kept on taking them for some time until now I can truthfully say I am in perfect health."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cts. per box or three for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The work will be carried on until finished the men being taken from several of the sections and other men taken on to make up the seventeen.

CONVENTION OPENS AT STRATFORD

Disagreeable Weather Conditions Prevail —The Speakers Yesterday.

Stratford, April 8.—Under lowering skies and atmospheric conditions of a most undesirable nature, the thirty-sixth convention of the Young Men's Association of Ontario and Quebec opened in the Y.M.C.A. Building this morning at 10.30 o'clock. There were about seventy-five delegates in attendance, but it is expected that the afternoon trains will bring many more. President W H Wiggs, of Quebec, presided, and Mr. C M Wright, of Varsity, acted as secretary pro tem.

Mr. Fred B Smith, International Religious Works Secretary, of New York, delivered an inspiring opening address on the earnestness of purpose which characterized the life of the Apostle Paul, taking as his theme, "The Highest Ideals in the Christian Service."

After the organization of convention and the adoption, as read, of the provincial committees' report, adjournment was made till 2.30, when D. A. Budge, of Montreal, dealt ably with "A Restatement of the Aims and Purposes of the Association in the Light of Experience," which was followed by spirited discussion.

FIVE BROTHERS FROM ONE FAMILY

Will Soon be In Canada—Three Left At Home.

Mr. George Hayward, Albert street, expects two of his brothers to arrive in the city in a short time from Dorset, England. Mr. Sidney Hayward, with his wife and family, are now passengers on the Empress of Britain, which is due to land on Thursday. The other brother is Mr. Oliver Hayward. He was here two years ago, but went home again and is to be married on Easter Monday and will shortly afterwards leave with his bride for Canada.

This will make five out of eight brothers who have left their home in Dorset for Canada. The other two besides Mr. George Hayward, being in Peterborough.

ARRIVAL AFTER MOTHER'S DEATH

Mr. Albert Edwards' Mother Passes Away in Paisley, Ont.

Mr. Albert Edwards, baggage man at the C. P. R station, has returned from Paisley, Ont., where he was called on account of the death of his mother. He received the message a week ago Monday but was unable to leave until the next day. His mother had passed away on Monday night and he consequently was unable to see her before her death.

QUARTERLY MEETINGS TO BE HELD ON SUNDAY

Rev. R. Burnham of Uxbridge, the District Elder, Will Speak.

The City Mission, Water street city, will hold their quarterly meetings on Sunday next. Rev. R. Burnham, of Uxbridge, district elder, will be here in a few days and will conduct services in the mission on Friday and Saturday evenings at 8 o'clock. On Sunday a love feast will be held at 9.30 o'clock and the regular services at 11 o'clock and at 7.

REV. MR. LEWIS WILL PRESIDE AT EXAMINATIONS

To be Held at George Street Methodist Church, Beginning April 21st.

Rev. J G Lewis, of Picton, recently pastor of the Mark street Methodist church, East City, will preside at the annual examination of the probationer of the Bay of Quinte Conference, which takes place in George street Methodist church from April 21 to 28.

The many friends of Rev. Mr. Lewis will be pleased to welcome him back to Peterborough.

Weaver Inquest Had To Be Adjourned For Another Week

No Report Was Received From Dr. Ellis in Regard to the Contents of the Stomach—Dr. Boucher Testified as to the Post Mortem

BODY WAS BADLY DECAYED

The inquest into the cause of the death of W. Elgin Weaver, the Apsley farmer, whose body was exhumed last week by the Attorney-General's Department on suspicions of foul play, was resumed before Coroner Gray in the Council Chamber last night. Very little could be done in view of the fact that Provincial Analyst Ellis has not made a report on the contents of the stomach, upon which the action of the jury depends.

After the jury had answered to their names, Dr. R. P. Boucher, who with Dr. T. W. H. Young, performed the post-mortem operation, gave the following report:

We beg to report that, in accordance with instructions from Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, we made a post-mortem examination upon the body of the late W. Elgin Weaver. The body was in an advanced state of decomposition. Upon removing the skull cap we found that the brain matter had all disappeared, nothing but a small amount of jelly-like matter remaining. The heart had likewise so decomposed that it was impossible to discover any pathological changes, should they have existed. Nothing remained but a small nodular mass in the position the heart should have occupied. The lungs were disintegrated, and the liver was shrunken. We, however, managed to obtain a section of it. The kidneys were smaller than normal. A section of the left kidney was obtained. The stomach was removed. It contained a small amount of dark coloured material. In accordance with instructions received from Dr. Ellis, Provincial Analyst, we forwarded to him, in sealed jars, the stomach, together with sections of the liver and kidneys.

The body was in such a putrid condition that it is impossible for us to give any idea of the cause of death.

Signed—
R P BOUCHER, M.D.
T W H YOUNG, M.D.

Crown Attorney R. E. Wood stated that Detective Miller, who has the case in charge, wished to have the case adjourned for a week, and it was agreed to meet again on Wednesday night at 7.30 o'clock in the Council Chamber.

Spent The Night In Box Car With Coat For Only Covering

Huddled up in the corner of a box car, entirely covered with merely his sack coat, a stranger was found sleeping at daybreak a few mornings ago. The cars were on a siding near Townsend street, and a man who was going to work at that early hour heard the sound of coughing apparently coming from the cars. As he approached, the sound was repeated, and this time it came more distinctly from the car.

The workman stopped at the sidewalk for a few minutes, and the stranger coughed several times a long cough which is an evidence of lung trouble. Out of curiosity the workman went to the door, which was partly open, and drew himself in. Although it was rather dark, after searching in the corners the workman noticed a dark object, which was none other than the man who was doing the coughing.

He had taken off his sack coat, as he was without an overcoat, and had curled himself up so that the coat entirely covered his body, and but the soles of his boots appeared to view. In this way he spent the night, and as he still seemed to be sleeping the workman left him undisturbed.

SMOKES 48 CIGARETTES A DAY

Boast of a South End Youth—Smokes Every Opportunity He Gets.

There is a great field in Peterborough for the promoters of the Anti-Cigarette League. A youth who lives in the south end of the city and is employed in a local factory on piece work, boasts of smoking forty-eight cigarettes a day on an average and has often smoked over fifty. He claims that he smokes eight of these coffin nails before breakfast, eight during working hours in the morning, eight at noon and eight more during the afternoon. He then goes home at night and smokes sixteen between then and bed time. If he should happen to awaken during the night he always pulls out the silver case, which he keeps under his pillow, and does away with a few more cigarettes before he goes to sleep again.

This young man is well built and is apparently in the best of health. He does not touch spirituous liquors but gives all his time to smoking.

MRS. McJANET SANG SOLO IN MILLBROOK

Now Visiting Friends in the City Before Going Back to Ottawa.

The open session, in connection with Millbrook Presbyterian Sunday School last Sunday, says the Omemee Mirror, was marked by a very large and enthusiastic gathering. It was the largest attendance in the history of the Sunday school. The auditorium of the church was well filled with the parents of the children and members of the congregation who had accepted the invitation of the superintendent to meet with the Sunday school. Selections were rendered by Mrs. J. R. Eakins' class, Mrs. Stacey's class, and a duet by the Pickup brothers of Dr. Jemison's class, all of which were done in a creditable manner. Mr. Pym sang a solo, as did also Mrs. Thos. McJanet of Ottawa. Dr. Jemison gave an interesting address, and altogether the exercises of the afternoon were creditable alike to the school and congregation, and Mr. Wm. Archer, the painstaking superintendent, is to be congratulated on having gathered about him such a band of faithful teachers. At the evening service in the church, Mrs. McJanet sang a solo, "Consider the Lilies," to the delight of the large congregation, possessing, as she does, a fine clear voice, well balanced and perfectly under control, combined with a charming personality, she has during her stay here, won golden opinions for herself.

Mrs. McJanet is now in the city visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs Edward Green, 326 Water street.

Wm. Harrison Charged With Being Drunk —In the Police Court.

Wm. Harrison was the only prisoner in the dock this morning at the police court and was charged with having been drunk last night. He pleaded guilty and asked his Worship to let him go free and he would not come back again.

His Worship allowed him to go if he would get out of the city, which he promised he would.

SAYS TRAMPS WILL BE NUMEROUS

Railway Man Thinks the Army Will be Augumented This Summer

According to a railway man's opinion the country will be overrun with a larger number of tramps than has been the case for seven or eight years. He based his statements on a labour report that the press recently contained, saying that in the United States there are over four millions of men out of employment. This, he thinks, will undoubtedly result in a host of tramps swarming the country and many of them will find their way into Canada. While it is hoped that this may not be realized still there are already evidences of an unusually large number of strangers passing through the city. The warm weather will tell what may be expected and whether there is to be an increase of "idle Isaacs" tramping it during the summer.

For the employees of the Canadian General who have not been able to get their seats marked for the Canadian General Mutual Benefit Society Concert we will reserve the two front rows in the upper gallery for ladies and their escorts.

HAD HIS HEAD CUT LAST NIGHT

Was Turning a Somersault in Livery Barn.

A New Zealand gold assayor, Harold P. Opi, who has only been in Canada about two weeks, had his head badly cut in Mr. Isaac Eastwood's livery barn on Simcoe street last night.

Mr. Opi is an all round athlete and was trying several feats of strength in the barn. He attempted to turn a somersault in the air when he fell to the ground, his head striking a beam on the floor. A gash was made in the back of his head and he lay on the floor stunned for some time. Dr. Greer was called and after cleansing the wound closed it with several stitches.

THE RECORD FOR EARLY PLOUGHING

Mr. Peter Dougherty of Otonabee Was Out on Tuesday.

A gentleman who has recently been on business through Otonabee reports that the first farmer he has seen or heard of plowing this year is Mr. Peter Dougherty. He was seen at work in a ten acre field of rather light soil and as far as is known holds the record in this respect.

PRESENTED WITH A SUIT CASE

Boarders of Windsor Hotel Said Farewell to Harry Burridge Last Night.

The boarders of the Windsor Hotel gathered last night to say good-bye to Mr. Harry Burridge, who left today to join the Youngstown O. and P. League team, and took advantage of the opportunity to present him with a handsome suit case, as a mark of the esteem in which he is held. Since his arrival in Peterborough one year and a half ago, Mr. Burridge has made many friends by his showing in athletics and in other ways, and they will wish him every success in the big league company in which he will be found this year.

CONTRACT OF CHURCH IN HASTINGS

Mr. Hayward Will Begin Work About the First of May.

Mr. Geo. Hayward, who has the contract for the brick work of the new English church (St. George's) in Hastings, expects to begin work about the first of May. The building is to be of red brick, with white brick inside. He will be several months in Hastings, the job being a rather large one.

What Is The "Early Rising" Sale

YOU all know how hard it is to get up early enough Saturday morning to do your shopping before the rush begins. We have decided that something must be done to encourage the early Saturday shopping, as the first two hours are the quietest of the day, and the others are too rushed for the convenience of the customers and ourselves. The decision has terminated in a sale for the two hours only, viz:—

THE "EARLY RISING" SALE

Specials for this sale will be advertised in each Saturday Snap Ad. which comes out in the Friday evening papers. The first two Saturdays proved that the sale would be a success, in fact last week when the gong rang for 10.10, there was a large number of customers waiting to be served and many more came too late for the specials.

We wish to strongly impress on the minds of all that the sale is for two hours only — NOT ONE MINUTE BEFORE 8 10, OR ONE MINUTE AFTER 10.10 — all coming between these hours are entitled to the specials advertised under the above heading, but after 10.10 the goods that are left will be removed. However during the balance of the day the advertised Saturday Snaps will be found marked with Green Tickets throughout the store and many lines unadvertized as well. See the Saturday Snap Ad. to-morrow evening for the Two Early Rising Specials Laces 3c yard and Art Sateens 11c yard. Come early and don't be one of the disappointed customers.

REMEMBER!

PURCHASED MILLS IN LISTOWELL

Mr. O. S. Diamond of North Monaghan Leaving the City Next Week.

Mr. Charles S. Diamond, of Chamberlen street, and his brother, Harry, of Campbellford, have purchased a farm and a saw and grist mill in Listowel, Ont., from the Schneider Company for the sum of $25,000. They are leaving for Listowel next week and will immediately take charge of the plant, which is now in operation.

There are about twenty men employed on the farm and mill at present, but it is expected that owing to the increasing trade, many more will be employed.

Mr. Diamond is well known around the city and will be missed by a large circle of friends. He holds a big interest in the Sandstone Brick Company and several other local firms.

THE SODDEN DEATH OF A HORSE

Belonged to Fuel and Cartage Company —Died in Harness.

There was a very sudden death on Hunter street this morning. It occurred near the corner of George street, the victim being one of the horses belonging to the Fuel and Cartage Company, and driven by Mr. S. Thomas. The animal, with a suddenness that was startling to those who witnessed its death, fell dead beside its mate without giving the slightest indication that the end was near. It had evidently been troubled with heart failure. A veterinary surgeon was called, but the animal had then breathed its last.

The occurrence caused a large assembly of curious ones who looked on, absorbed with the idea perhaps that the steed would once again show signs of life, but they were disappointed.

IT IS FOR LADIES, TOO

They can Stop Their Hair Falling out, With Herpicide

Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out can prevent the hair falling out and thicken the growth with "Newbro's Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed the root will shoot up and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease, and will not stain or dye. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes — 50 cents and $1. MAMMOTH ELEVATOR ERECTED Holds 800,000 Bushels and is 175 Feet High—Great Thing for Grain Trade.

NINE BIG MOTORS USED

Port Colborne, April 9.—(Special.)—The mammoth new Government elevator here, 175 feet in height, and constructed entirely of steel and reinforced concrete, is now practically completed, and the inside machinery nearly all placed in position. The structure has a capacity of 800,000 bushels, and is so built as to be easily enlarged to hold 2,000,000 bushels, if necessary.

There are four marine towers on the west side of the elevator, each with a leg to place in the hold of the boat being unloaded, so that grain can be run up from four hatches at a time. Automatic shovels bring the grain to these legs.

Handling the Grain

The grain is carried up out of the hold of the boat and deposited in bins on the first floor. Nine inside legs then carry the grain to the top floor, 155 feet up. Here fans collect the dust, which is conveyed down through covered pipes, and the grain is dumped into hoppers. The action of gravity then carries the grain down, first to the scale floor, where it is weighed. The new weighing machines, which are being installed, form an interesting subject of observation. These new machines have been very aptly described as having "metal brains." They work automatically, with a precision and accuracy that no human agency could hope to accomplish. The scales are in the form of two buckets on an axle. As one fills, it tips, and the other is thus brought into position. There are 18 pairs of scales.

From the scales the grain passes into a set of hoppers, and from there it goes to the distributing floor, from which spouts lead to all the bins in the building, and the grain is sent wherever desired.

Nine big Motors

Between the scale floor and the distributing floor is the power floor, equipped with nine 125 horse-power electric motors, one of which operates each inside "leg." These are all independent of each other, and one or more, or the whole battery of "legs," can be operated at the same time. There are six floors in the building, the ground floor being on a level with the dock.

When the grain is to be reloaded on canal vessels the nine inside "legs" again carry it to the top, or loftier floor, where, after passing through the hoppers and scales, it passes to the conveyor galleries, five in number. In each gallery runs a forty-inch conveyor belt, which carries the grain over and empties it into the smaller vessels, which can go through the Welland Canal, and which lie at the opposite side of the dock from the large grain carriers.

To Transfer Cargoes

This great elevator will be the means of establishing Port Colborne as a trans-shipping point, and it is expected to revolutionize the grain-carrying trade of the Great Lakes. The big lake carries, too large to go through the Welland Canal, will transfer their cargoes to the smaller vessels, which will carry the grain to ocean-going steamers at Montreal. By this means it is expected a rate can be given for grain-carrying from Lake Superior to the seaboard, which will defy competition.

BITTEN BY VICIOUS DOG WHILE UNCONSCIOUS

Was Thrown From Cutter Against a Wire Fence—In Dangerous Condition.

Mr. Webster of Bloomfield met with a strenuous experience recently. He was thrown from his cutter, striking his head on a wire fence and lacerating his eyes. He was rendered unconscious, and recovered to find himself being attacked by a vicious dog. He was seriously bitten by the canine, and is in a dangerous condition.

BOATS GETTING READY FOR SEASON

Water Lily to be Launched To-morrow —Slight Accident to Otonabee

With the opening of navigation in sight, the steamboat men in the city are getting ready the various steamers. The Otonabee Navigation Company has made arrangements to have the Water Lily launched to-morrow. The Lily has been pulled up into winter quarters at the East City wharf, from where it will leave its resting place. It is being fitted up and improved ready for the summer's work.

The steamer Otonabee met with a slight mishap last night caused by the front bursting the seacock valve. The boat was partly submerged at the East City dock this morning. A number of men are now engaged putting her in shape for the summer. She will be overhauled and repainted, and a dining-room will be installed on board. Cabins and staterooms will also be added.

The season is expected to open by the middle of May.

The steamer Monarch, recently acquired by the Otonabee Navigation Company, is also being got ready for the summer at her dock at Gore's Landing. She will be manned by Capt. Harris, as usual in the past.

MR. LOWRY'S HANDBOOK MISTAKEN

So Says "Equinox," Who is Able to Prove What He Says—Dr. Marsh Should Have Been Consulted.

AGREES WITH BEST RECORDS

To the Editor of the Examiner:

In Tuesday's issue of your paper I notice a letter re "Vernal Equinox and signed by one S. W. Lowry.

From the tone of the letter this must be the same gentleman who a few years ago associated with the Trades and Labour Council and earned the title of "Agitator." When arguments fail him he quarrels.

For this man, with a smattering of astronomy, to endeavour to place himself in the same class with Dr. Marsh, seems so ridiculous to those who know him.

Finding the doctor so far above him he endeavours by misrepresentation to disparage the doctor's reputation and thus narrow the gulf between them.

I take a little interest in astronomy myself and possibly can prove that Mr. Lowry's "Handbook" made a mistake of exactly twelve hours. Apparently the compilers of this book should have consulted Dr. Marsh for the correct time of the Vernal Equinox. The latter's figures agree exactly with records in my possession, issued from the great Washington Naval Observatory, the sun crossing the equator on the evening of March 20th at 27 minutes past 7, Eastern Standard time, or 19.27 o'clock, numbering from midnight.

RINK COMPANY HELD MEETING

Officers Were Elected for the Year Last Night

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Hockey Club, Limited, was held last night in the offices of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company with President T H G Denne in the chair and a good attendance of the directors and shareholders of the company present.

The Directors' report was received and showed that the season has been a most satisfactory one, all things being considered. A dividend was declared on the season.

The following directors were elected:—

W H Hill—President.
T H G Denne—Vice-President.
A H Stratton, R Denne, W G Morrow.
C G Graham—Sec.-Treasurer.
John Crane—Auditor.

ANOTHER DONATION WAS RECEIVED

From the Young Ladies of Ald. Tovey's Bible Class.

Mr. E L Goodwill, secretary of the Children's Aid Society, has received a donation of $10.00 from the quilt fund of Ald. Tovey's Young Ladies Bible Class of Charlotte street Methodist church. Several contributions have been received of late and there seems to be a unanimous desire on the part of the citizens that the Relief Restaurant should continue.

PARTNERS IN THE MEAT BUSINESS

Mr. Albert Howden in Business With Mr. Alex. Gordon.

It was announced to-day that Mr. Albert Howden has formed a partnership with Mr. Alex. Gordon, who has successfully conducted the butcher shop in the market building. The new firm intend to maintain the reputation which they have gained for dainty cuts of choice meats and will do their best to please all their customers.

A BOY'S VACATION

A novel booklet has just been issued by the Grand Trunk Railway, entitled, "What shall a boy do with his Vacation?" The book answers this annual puzzle in a manner that should prove satisfactory alike to parents and boys. The idea developed by the brochure is the establishment of boys' camps in the wilderness, where the youngsters could live under canvas and get a genuine bit of simple life, with plenty of fishing, swimming, rowing and other outdoor sports, while instruction in woodcraft and such nature studies make the camps veritable schools of the wilds, such as would rejoice the hearts of Dr. Long, President Roosevelt or other advocates of the simple life. The booklet tells of many such camps in the Temagami, Lake of Bays, Algonquin Park and other districts, with illustrations of the ways the boys spend their time and the fish they catch, which should prove attractive to a good many besides boys. A postal card to the undersigned will secure a copy without cost. J. D. McDonald, D.P.A., Union Station, Toronto, Ont.

THE CONGREGATION MET LAST NIGHT

Matters of Importance Were Discussed by Those Present.

At the close of the regular prayer meeting at Knox Church last night a special congregational meeting was held. The session was represented by Messrs. Morrison, Clifford and Carruthers; the Board of Managers by Messrs. Mulligan, Hamilton Smith, Galley and Buyers; the Young People's Society by Mr. Duncan Campbell; the Boys' Club by Mr. B. Walkey; the Ladies' Aid Society by Mrs. Mulligan, Mrs. Allin and Mrs. McKenzie.

There was the usual routine business discussed and particularly the matter of financing the congregation after the anniversary, when the church starts out on another year. Final preparation was made for the anniversary concert, which promises to be a grand success. Arrangement was made for the reception of Rev. Mr. Reid, who will deliver the lecture in connection with the concert.

It was also announced that a special collection will be taken up on Sunday for the anniversary, the regular current expense envelopes to be used. During the evening several sacred songs were sung by Mr. Duncan Campbell, accompanied by Miss Sisson. The meeting was closed by singing the Doxology, after which the benediction was pronounced by Mr. Morrison.

BURRIDGE AND CONNORS ARE GONE

Left To-day to Join the Youngstown O. and P. League Team.

Harry Burridge, catcher, and Jack Connors, centre fielder, of last year's Peterborough Baseball team, left this afternoon for Youngstown, Ohio, where they will report to the Ohio and Pennsylvania League team of that place, which leaves for the south on the spring training trip on Saturday. Both men are in fine shape and should make good in the fast company to which they are going. Connors has to beat out three other recruits for a position in the outfield but he should be able to do it all right if he displays the same quality of ball as he showed here last year. Burridge should have no trouble in holding his own. Youngstown have already let two catchers go, depending upon the local bay to make good.

GREAT DRESS SKIRT DEMONSTRATION

And Latest Skirts Given Away Free on Friday and Saturday, April 10 and 11

On Friday and Saturday, April 10th and 11th, the noted manufacturers of the high class Aspasia dress skirts, which are freely admitted to be the most up-to-date and stylish dress skirts of the present day, will be in Peterborough, at the Beehive, with their staff to show all their latest samples (a thousand of them) which will include the newest vogue in these pretty garments that will be worn in London, New York and Paris during the coming season.

Every quality, style of cloth, colour and pattern that has received society's approval will be shown at the Beehive on April 10th and 11th.

The prices will run from $5.00 to $35.00 and every quality between.

It will be a most interesting exhibition, every lady is invited whether intending to purchase or not, to come and see the latest thoughts in the new dress skirts.

This season we are introducing a new system of advertising. Every year we appropriate so much for advertising expenses and this season instead of using so much printers' ink, we have a new idea.

On April 10th and 11th to advertise this department, to every lady who purchases six dollars' worth or over in dress skirts we will present free of charge one of the latest watered moreen underskirts.

Come to the Beehive on April 10th and 11th, see the new things and get an up-to-date skirt free.

We will also show the latest mantles, blouses, suits, silk petticoats, etc., etc.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, April 9.—Notwithstanding the Erie announcement early prices were irregular. American stocks in London were not particularly active, but were steady and the general market there was fairly well supported. Foreign participation in this market was not in any important degree. Professionalism characterized the trading but it was evident that there was a little more activity on the advances to-day than had been recently observed.

In the last hour the market was very well bought, and the general list very firm. Rumours of a bullish nature were in evidence, and helped the advance. The market as a whole acts like going higher, and on any soft spots we think stocks can be bought for a good turn. On the next movement of importance we expect to see such stocks as Union Pacific, Reading and Northern Pacific score quick advances of several points. The short interest is still of fair proportions. There was a rumour on the floor near the close of the session to-day that Morgan had secured control of the Baltimore & Ohio and Harriman of the Erie. The closing was strong.

CELEBRATE THEIR SILVER ANNIVERSARY

The Ringling Brothers Circus Have Had Great Success—Show Here This Season.

The opening of the Ringling Bros. Shows at the Coliseum, Chicago, this week marks the twenty-fifth anniversary. The Ringlings now control all the larger circusses travelling, having purchased the Barnum and Baily and Forepaugh, Sells Bros. They give employment daily to 4,200 head of horses. The home of the shows are at Baraboo, Wis.; Bridgeport, Conn.; also workshops at Stoke-on-Trent, England. Their first performance was given at Baraboo, Wis., twenty-five years ago and the whole show consisted of on etrained horse, under a home-made canvas, the seats being of planks borrowed from a neighbouring lumber yard.

It is expected that the Ringling shows will appear in Peterborough this season as usual.

FACES MURDER CHARGE.

George Vance on Trial—Result of Unlucky Stone Throw.

St. Catharines, April 9.—In the Assize Court yesterday John Vance was tried and acquitted on a charge of assaulting William Livingstone at Niagara on March 11.

The case against George Vance, charged with the murder of James Patterson, then proceeded. George Longley swore he and Patterson had been in the Imperial Hotel all afternoon Saturday, Sept. 21. They were put out by the proprietor at 7 o'clock. At the corner of Frank street they met Vance, who bumped into Patterson and both clinched and fell to the ground, but no blows were struck. The witness separated the men and he and Patterson went easterly along Queenston street to Thorold road. Vance started in a westerly direction, but when they reached the corner Vance came behind them and, uttering a foul expression, cause them to look around. As they did so Vance threw a stone or some other object, which hit Patterson over the eye. Both Patterson and the witness pursued Vance, caught him and kicked him about the road until chased by the approach of the chief of police. Longley did not again see Vance till next morning, when he visited him at home and noticed a wound on his forehead.

John Butler swore he saw Vance run out to the centre of the road, pick up a stone and then start down the street towards Patterson.

A lad named Baird gave evidence to the effect that he saw Vance throw the stone, and Arthur Wattam, who separated Longley, Patterson and Vance, swore he noticed blood coming from deceased's forehead.

Dr. Mulock described being called to see Patterson Nov. 9. He found him suffering from concussion of the brain, caused by a wound on the forehead, which had outwardly healed, but on cross-examination he admitted that it would not necessarily follow that poison in the brain would come from the blow. Dr. McCoy, who with Dr. Mulock made the post-mortem, swore Patterson's death was due to septic meningitis, caused by the formation of pus caused by a wound on the forehead.

Dr. Arthur Jukes Johnson, Toronto, in expert evidence, corroborated Dr. McCoy as to the fact that the condition found at the time of death might easily follow from a wound caused weeks before.

Dr. Johnston said that after reading the post-mortem he had no doubt that the natural cause of Patterson's death was the wound on the temple. The case for the crown closed at 7 o'clock and adjournment was made, the judge making an order for the jury to be kept in charge of constables at the New Murray Hotel.

Doctor Found Unconscious.

Detroit, April 9.—Dr. Geo. Shoults, who moved to Pontiac, Mich., five weeks ago from Toronto, was found lying unconscious in his office Tuesday night, with a partially filled bottle of chloroform in one hand and the gas in his office turned on.

He was hurried to his room, where medical attention was given him, and the physicians attending him believe he will recover. The authorities think Shoults attempted to commit suicide. He would have been dead in another half hour had not an acquaintance went to his office and attempted to get in, but found the door locked. The acquaintance then called the police and when the office door was broken in Dr. Shoults was found unconscious.

When he revived he said he could not explain how the gas happened to be flowing or how the chloroform got into his hand.

Dr. Shoults is a graduate of the University of Toronto.

Orillia, April 9.—Joseph McDonald, originally of Alexandria, drifted into town Saturday evening and on Monday committed assaults on three children under 5 years of age. He was sentenced to 18 months in the Central Prison, and to receive 36 lashes.

Kokomo, Ind., April 9.—Mrs Fairy McClain-Miller was shot and instantly killed here yesterday by Worley Osborn, a discarded lover. Osborn entered the Miller home and killed the woman as she lay abed. Osborn fled and has not been captured.

Centrals Got Lead Through Fouls And Won By Small Score

Basketball Game Was Fast And at Times Scientific Ball Was Played —The Only Game in Which Toronto Can Defeat Peterboro

GOOD CROWD ATTENDED

Local lovers of basket ball who were fortunate in witnessing the game at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium last night were fwell repaid for their jaunt by seeing, at times, the brilliant ball. The Central Y. M. C. A. senior team from Toronto played and trimmed the first team of the Peterborough Y. M. C. A., the final tally being 28 to 21. When the whistle blew for half time the visitors led by 14 to 13, so that they had to do some lively work to squeeze out a victory.

The locals lost on fouls. They were the worst offenders, and almost every time an offence was committed Sievert, the star Central, scored. His work throughout was of a stellar variety and he was responsible for pulling out a victory for his team. Britton, at centre, played in good style and was a close second.

The Peterborough boys all played good ball and had it not been for so many offences would have won. Roy Best and Stewart Laing, on the defence, played careful games, and spoiled scores of the visitors' coms. Loomis exchanged with Laing at half time and he certainly "dug in" to the finish. Ernie Best and Norman Darling made some pretty shots, doing the majority of the scoring and from difficult positions too.

John Laing, of Peterborough, refereed the first half and umpired the last, while Fred Smith, assistant physical director of the Central, refereed the last half and umpired the first, both doing their work satisfactorily.

After the game the Toronto boys were banquetted by the locals in the board room of Y., where a very pleasant time was spent.

The line-up was:

Toronto—Sievert, Thompkins, forward; Britton, centre; Swanson and Walker, defence.

Peterborough—E. M. Best, N. Darling, forward; Sutherlund, centre; Loomis, R. Best and S. Laing, defence.

The Cricketers Organize With Bright Prospects

Dr. Burnham, Hon.-Pres., and Mr. Harry Lovekin, President—Central Ontario League Was Discussed.

LARGE NUMBER PRESENT

The cricket game is bound to be a success in Peterborough this year, if the enthusiasm displayed at the meeting held last night is any criterion There were more than thirty-five interested cricketers in attendance and the discussion on the various questions bore ample testimony that there is a keen interest being displayed in that great game.

The chief discussion was on the question of the formation of a Central Ontario Cricket League, the idea of which has been published previously in the Examiner. The project was begun here by a couple of the most prominent cricketers, who wrote a number of the outside towns and villages with a view to forming a district in order to play a series of games, according to a prearranged schedule. The proposition was viewed with favour by some of the places written, and some of the others not heard from will most probably enter such a league.

A meeting will be held in the near future, likely in Peterborough, when representatives will be present to make a final decision on the course to be taken. In the eastern section Walkworth, Colborne and Campbellford are willing and the western section will probably include Orillia, Port Hope, Lindsay and Peterborough.

At the meeting last night Dr. Burnham, last year's president, occupied the chair until the officers were elected. Dr. Burnham is a veteran cricketer and a man who takes a deep interest in all good, legitimate sport and in view of his past services and connection with sport he was elected honourary president of the club last night.

The election of officers and business transacted resulted as follows:

DR. GEORGE BURNHAM,

A veteran cricketer, who was elected Honourary President of the local club last night.

Hon. President—Dr. Burnham.
President—C. H. Lovekin.
1st Vice-President — Allan Campbell.
Sec.-Treas.—Harry Clark.
Executive Committee—T. Eardly-Wilmot, F. E. Deriu, Cyril Hill, Mr. Reeston, A. C. Yokome, E. R. Stocker, E. A. Roe, Mr. Coleman.
Junior representatives of Executive Committee—Harold Matthews, Baker and Dean.

It was decided to enter a senior team in the Central Ontario Cricket League, if such a league is formed.

A fee of $2 for seniors and 50c. for juniors was fixed as a charge for membership.

During the evening E. R. Stocker presented the club with two match balls direct from the old country.

HARRISON CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

An English Walker is the Latest Entrant in Walking Game.

The latest entry in the big walking race is Jas. Harrison, now of Peterborough but formerly of England. Harrison has been in training at the Y. M. C. A. and has opened the eyes of those who have seen him before, by his action and speed. He has won many races in England and is confident of making a good showing in the big meet.

W. H. Naugon, of Hiawatha, has written Dick Baker, of the Y. M. C. A. Harriers, as follows:

Mr. Baker.

Dear Sir,—It is my intention to walk at the Brock street rink, if allowed to do so. I wish you could arrange for my entry as soon as possible and inform me in the matter by return of mail. I would like to see you some day.

Yours truly,
W. H. NAUGON.

INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE MEETING

Called for To-night in the Y. M. C. A.—Good Attendance Requested.

The first annual meeting of the Intermediate Baseball League will be held this evening in the Y.M.C.A. Annual reports will be received, officers for the coming summer elected and a discussion regarding the best interest of the League is being looked for. All the teams expecting to be in this league should be represented.

WANT THE CONSTITUTION CHANGED

Peterborough Ball Club Officers Had a Meeting Last Night.

The officers of the Peterborough Baseball Club had an enthusiastic meeting at the Examiner office last night when plans for the season were discussed.

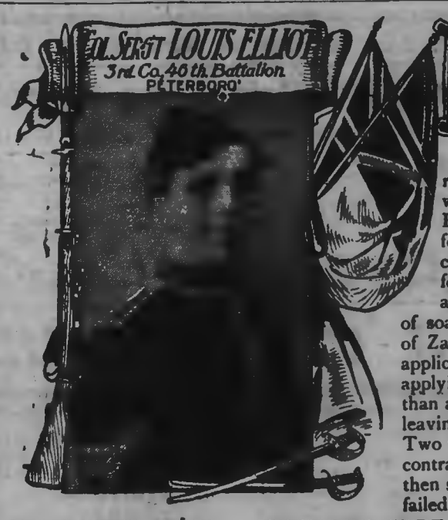
A good part of the time was taken up in talking over Midland League affairs and it was decided that the representatives of the local club to the annual meeting of the Midland League should endeavour to have passed some amendments to the constitution to prevent the importation of outside players for the last games, as was done last year. It is felt here that that practice should be done away with and that a residence rule should be adopted and strictly carried out by the League. The local club will also endeavour to have the league played in two schedule sections the winners of the first playing off with the winners of the second, thus giving three extra games at the end of the season, unless of course the same team wins both sections.

At the request of Dr. Wightman his name was withdrawn from the executive and that of Wm. Rudkins substituted.

TWO MORE PLAYERS ARE SIGNED BY PETERBORO

Manager Johnston Has Strings on Jerry Edmonds and Connie Murphy.

In addition to the men announced yesterday the Peterborough Baseball Club has two other good men in sight in the persons of Catcher Jerry Edwards and Outfielder Connie Murphy. Jack Taft was after both men for his Columbus, Miss., team in the Cotton States League, but if Manager Johnston's calculations do not go amiss both men will be found in a Peterborough uniform this season. Edmunds is a splendid backstop who has a great record both in Toronto and in the west where he played last season. Murphy has the reputation of being the fastest outfielder in Toronto. Last year he was with the St. Mary's senior league team.



ECZEMA ATTACKED CHEEK AND CHIN

FESTERING SORES CURED BY ZAM-BUK.

In all walks of life Zam-Buk has found favor as the only pure and reliable healing balm. It is found in the home (for no mother would be without it), in the workshop and in the soldier's kit. Col.-Sergt. Louis Elliott, 3rd Co. 46th Battalion, Peterboro, Ont., bears testimony to this, for he says: "Three months ago the lower part of my face, cheek and chin, broke out in small red pimples, which later festered and broke, forming nasty sores and dry scabs. The itching set up by these eruptions and sores was cruel and seemed far worse during the night. All kinds of soaps, washes and ointments were tried without relief. Finally I thought of Zam-Buk and straightway procured a box at the drug store. One night's application brought great relief from the intense itching, and as I kept on applying this balm daily the inflammation was soon drawn out, and in less than a week's time the sores were thoroughly healed and every scab banished, leaving my face perfectly clear and smooth, for which I was very grateful. Two years previous to this I first tested Zam-Buk for the prairie itch which I contracted thro' sleeping with a fellow-boarder. Three tins of Zam-Buk was then sufficient to check and clear it off my skin, while the fellow-boarder failed to use it, and in consequence was troubled all that winter. I have the utmost confidence in the merits of Zam-Buk."

TEST AT OUR EXPENSE. Mail this coupon with your name and address and 1c. stamp for postage to the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, and a dainty sample box of Zam-Buk will be sent you. 1K/

BRITTANICAS MAY BE HERE ON GOOD FRIDAY

Quaker Secretary Will Make Them an Offer—Grounds May Not be Dry.

The Quaker Football Team held a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. last night and although there was not a large attendance some business was transacted. The meeting was called for the purpose of considering the communication from the Brittanicas of Toronto, who want a game here on Good Friday. The Quakers will not agree to their terms, but Secretary Ray Best will make them an offer which, if accepted will mean that a good soccer game will be seen here on that date.

The grounds at Riverside may not be dry by that time and in that event the game will have to be cancelled.

MAY BE WALKER FROM ENNISMORE

James Dionne is Considering Entering The Contest.

Ennismore is likely to have a representative in the big walking contest. James Dionne of that township called at the Examiner to-day to make inquiries, and although he has not finally decided to become a competitor, it is likely he will. He has never been in any pedestrian contest, but he is young, and appears to be a walker of considerable ability. His experience was gained on the roads of Emmurora.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

If there are any of our ambitious young athletes who have hopes of running a hundred yards in nine seconds, they should take warning that this is what they've got to do.

The sprinter must travel thirty-three feet in a second.

He must pick up his feet four or five times each second.

Try this by simply bounding up in the air, without taking the stride into consideration, and see how nearly impossible it becomes.

Three-fifths of a second doesn't seem like a very long time when it is observed on paper, and to make some superhuman effort that will overcome it seems in the range of possibility, but a number of the most noted experts in this country and Europe say it is absolutely impossible.

Some time ago, Arthur Duffy, former amateur champion, who ran the hundred in 9 3-5 seconds, says that in ten years he expects some man to run the distance in nine seconds. Other authorities do not believe and never will believe that the distance has been run in 9 3-5, notwithstanding the record. They maintain that the watches were wrong. The slightest mistake in pressing the spring would have made a variation of fully one-fifth of a second. They believe this very thing occurred in timing both Duffy and Dan Kelly, who made the 9 3-5 seconds at Spokane.—Vancouver World.

Dear Sir,—I don't desire to kick up any dust about it, but I think it about time the Council was looking after the contracts for street watering. The dust nuisance will soon be here again and, as everyone knows, it is not very pleasant. What about the watering-carts—are they in good shape for the season?

Yours, etc.,

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—In reply to these "astronomical" effusions that you have of late treated your long-suffering readers with, would it not be well to advise the learned astronomer, R. W. Lowry, Esq., to leave the sky and to walk comfortably on "terra firma" dealing with problems of more value than his astronomical researches.

Yours truly,
AMICUS.

VETERAN PASSES AWAY

Served Twice in South Africa—Quarter-Master Sergeant of the 24th F. B. C. A.—Was Ill Only Three Weeks.

HOLD A MILITARY FUNERAL

The first of Peterborough's veterans who served in the famous South African war with the Canadian contingents passed away last night at 8.10 o'clock in the person of Quarter-Master Sergeant Richard A. Boyle, of the 24th Field Battery, Canadian Artillery, with headquarters at Peterborough, at the residence of his father-in-law, Mr. John Shannahan, 319 McDonel street. The intelligence of his sad demise will be learned with deep sorrow and regret by all who knew him. He contracted a slight cold and about three weeks ago it developed into pneumonia. It was thought he would recover, but later his condition gradually became worse until death ended his sufferings last night. His death is being talked of to-day by local military men and citizens in general, and the deepest sympathy is extended to his bereaved wife.

His Military Career

From boyhood he had become very much interested in military matters and when old enough he connected himself with the 14th Field Battery, C. A., of Port Hope. He began as gunner, but was soon promoted to sergeant of the battery. He served twice in South Africa, and was a member of D Battery in the second contingent. During the war he served in most of the principal engagements and wrote a diary on the campaign.

After the South African war he became caretaker of the East City drill hall, and was also appointed quartermaster of the battery, which position he held up to the time of his death.

He had been prominent at several of the district military camps, and accompanied the 24th Field Battery to Petawawa last year when they took fifth place among the batteries of Ontario.

He was 26 years of age, and was born in Peterborough, having lived here all his life. He was married only four months ago to Mary Shannahan of this city. He leaves behind him to mourn his loss his wife.

A military funeral will be held on Saturday at 9 a.m. at which the members of the 24th Field Battery, C. A., the 57th Regiment, and the Prince of Wales Dragoons will be present. The funeral will proceed from the residence, 319 McDonel street, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and from there to the Roman Catholic cemetery, headed by the 57th Regimental Band.

HAY SELLS AT $20 PER TON FOR TIMOTHY

Not a Large Supply to Fall Back On—Roads Bad.

On the market to-day the farmers were getting good prices for their hay. There were more loads offered for sale than on any other day this week. Several loads of clover went at $18 per ton, but the timothy sold at nothing under $20. The farmers state that the supply of hay is quite limited.

YOUNG LAD CHARGED WITH THEFT

Of $30 From Mr. W. A. Brundrette and a Gold Watch and Chain From Another Man.

THE BOY WAS REMANDED

On two charges, one of stealing $30 cash from Mr. W. A Brundrette, and another of having stolen a gold watch and chain from another person, a young boy not quite 17 years of age, appeared in the police court this morning. He was perfectly cool as he sat in the witness box and apparently did not realize the seriousness of the charge.

When the charges were read the young lad pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried summarily by His Worship.

Mr. R E Wood, who appeared for the Crown asked to have the boy remanded until Monday as he was not ready to go on with the trial. The case was then adjourned and the lad will have to spend Saturday and Sunday in jail unless bail is secured.

COAT STEALER SENTENCED IN LINDSAY

Well Known in Peterborough—Makes His Fourth Visit to Central.

Lindsay, April 10.—(Special)—Frederick Mallory, a man well known in Lindsay, Peterborough, Port Hope, Napanee, who was charged with stealing a coonskin coat, the property of Abraham Warren, of Cambray, and valued at $40 was sentenced by Magistrate Jackson to be kept at hard labour two years less one day in the Central Prison. He was arrested for drunkenness at Port Hope and spent ten days in Cobourg gaol recently, and was brought back last week to answer to this charge. This will be his fourth term in the Central.

CITY SOLICITOR CAUSES MILD SENSATION BY HIS RESIGNATION LAST NIGHT

Committee of Whole Talk Over Situation and Majority Declines To Accept—Make an Extra Grant of $200.

HIS SERVICES ARE PRAISED

The sensation of the evening at the meeting of the Committee of the Whole last night was sprung when his Worship, the mayor, read the resignation of Mr. E. H. D. Hall as city solicitor. This was the final number on the programme and it came as a surprise of the press, if not to all the members of the committee. After an hour's deliberation, however it was decided not to accept the resignation and that the solicitor be granted an extra salary of $200.

Some time ago the Finance Committee recommended to the council that the salary of Mr. Hall be increased from $700 to $900. This came before the council meeting on Monday night, but the recommendation was voted down. The solicitor, believing his duties demanded more money than he was receiving, sent the following letter to the council, which was read in committee last night:

Mayor Rush:

Dear Sir,—I have felt for some time that the work which I had to do as City Solicitor had increased so much that I was entitled to an increased salary, and last year as well as this year, spoke to the Finance Committee about this matter. As you will remember I also mentioned the matter to you. I considered this the proper way of bringing the question up rather than by a formal application to the council, but I understand that some of the aldermen do not agree with this and that the majority of the council consider that the present salary is quite sufficient. I have no fault to find with those aldermen who voted against an increase, but feel satisfied they are not aware of the amount of work I have had to attend to and the time it has taken from my other business. As an example in 1904, I had only 56 bylaws to draw, while in 1907 they amounted to 88 and in addition to this the other city work has increased largely.

I, therefore, in justice to myself, cannot continue to act as City Solicitor and beg to resign that position. In doing so I would like to say that during the six years I have acted in that capacity, I have always found the members of the Council and the city officials most considerate and ready to render me every assistance and that in resigning the office of solicitor I do so with regret only that these relations which have been as far as I am concerned most pleasant, will cease, and I desire to say that I have no feeling of resentment against the aldermen who voted against an increase in salary as they no doubt did so thinking that I was sufficiently paid. I will be glad to assist my successor in any way I can. I will be obliged if you will take the necessary steps to have me relieved from office as early as convenient.

Thanking you, Mr. Mayor, and the aldermen who voted for the increase for their efforts, I remain,

Yours truly,
E. H. D. HALL.

Upon reading the resignation the mayor stated that he had not heard of the recommendation of the Finance Committee to grant the extra $200 until he read it in the evening papers the following night, as he had to leave the meeting early. But he believed Mr. Hall's extra duties within the past few years warranted a larger salary than he was obtaining. He was very sorry to hear of the resignation and hoped that a re-arrangement might be made.

While there was no alderman who did not believe Mr. Hall had been a faithful servant to the city, yet some of them considered his work for the city did not warrant any more than he was being paid.

Ald. Tovey stated the question had been brought before the Finance Committee last year, but had not been acted upon then. He was in favour of the increase.

Ald. Bradburn said that the Finance Committee arranged the salary after comparing the salaries received by similar officials at Kingston and Brantford. Ald. Morgan, on general principles again opposed the proposition for an increase and moved that the resignation be accepted.

Ald. Neill considered that Mr. Hall's services had been most faithful and excellently rendered and he thought that the city had no right to depose a man who had conclusively proved himself worthy, for such a small consideration. Ald Gillespie stated that he had voted for the increase on Monday night, not because he had looked into the details of the question thoroughly, but because the Finance Committee had made the recommendation after doing so. He had faith in the Finance Committee's ability to treat the question fairly, the same as he would have in all other committees. In his estimation the extra work demanded the increase.

Ald. Phelan and Morrow were also in favour of the non-acceptance of the resignation and of the salary increase.

Ald. Turner thought there were equally as good men as Mr. Hall, who could be secured at a salary of $700. The question was, he believed, was the increase warranted.

Ald. Johnston and Ald. McIntyre were against the increase. Ald. Elliot stated he had voted against the advance on Monday night. He believed the members of the council should have been notified of the proposition in order to be able to discuss it. But if the City Trust and the Water Commissioners were willing to pay the extra $200 he would be satisfied.

Ald. Tovey seconded the motion to accept the resignation. Ald. Morrow and Neill moved in amendment that the resignation be not accepted and that the salary of the solicitor from April 1st be $900 per annum. The amendment was carried by a vote of 7 to 5.

INFANT SUDDENLY SUCCUMBS IN ITS MOTHER'S ARMS WHILE AT AN IMMIGRATION OFFICE

Detroit, April 10.—(Special)—"We have examined Harold Bennett as to the right to be admitted into the United States and found him dead."

This crude statement of fact, the first of the kind to be issued from the Detroit office, will go to the head of the immigration department at Washington from the local officials. Behind the official seal of the United States government, there lies the story of the tragic death of an infant six weeks old in its mother's arms. It tells of a father's broken heart, and a mother's blinding tears.

To a little group of blue-coated government officials assembled about the family that crossed from Canada yesterday, it speaks volumes. George Bennett and his pretty wife, Mrs. Greta Bennett, with their three children, came to Detroit from Toronto on a Canadian Pacific train yesterday afternoon. They were met by an immigration inspector, who saw that the youngest child was ill. With all possible speed, he hurried the little family to the immigration headquarters.

One of the officials in the civil service was summoned, but, even while the doctor on his way, little Harold Bennett was breathing his last. The anxious mother held her precious burden in her arms. When the physician arrived, the mother with her little one, was led into the private office, while the husband and the two other children remained outside.

Finally there came a heart-rending scream from the inner office. The husband, waiting outside, hoping against hope, knew that it was his wife's anguished cry. He knew that it meant his child was dead and, sobbing bitterly, he sank into a chair.

The physicians say that the child had an attack of pneumonia, which brought on convulsions. The parents had had a physician, when the train stopped at London, Ont. It was not realized at that time how ill the little fellow was.

Young's Point Gets Brick Factory As New Industry

Mr. Walter Young, a prosperous farmer of the township of Smith, near Young's Point, intends opening a cement brick factory at his well-known gravel pit on his farm in a short time. He has already purchased a brick machine from the London Cement Brick Company. This machine has a capacity for turning out 5,000 bricks daily, with a staff of three men.

Young's gravel pit is well-known. The gravel is drawn miles for building purposes, including foundations, wharves, piers, and concrete work of all kinds. In a couple of weeks, Mr Young will have a stock of brick on hand ready for delivery. Though very early as yet, he has received different orders, and believes the demand will be good for the coming season. This factory will be very convenient to the public. The brick-yard is situated about a quarter of a mile from the dock, and affords splendid facilities for shipment. In a very short time Mr. Young will be in a position to attend to all orders promptly.

Young's Point and the northern portion of Smith are to be congratulated upon acquiring this new and important industry, and Mr. Young's industry is to be commended. It will serve to make the Point, which is rapidly coming forward in the work of supplying labour a new centre.

It can now boast of a sawmill and a brick manufacturing establishment, so that in addition to the labour supplied by the running of the various steamboats, Young's Point is rapidly advancing.

CELEBRATION EVERY FOUR YEARS

Local Orangemen Can Hope for Nothing Better, Says County Master—Other Proposition Not Practicable.

DISTRICT MAY BE FORMED

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—My attention has been called to a paragraph in this evening's issue of the Examiner, in which it is asserted that a movement is on foot to have a district lodge of the Loyal Orange Association formed in this city, and also vouchsafing the information (apparently known only in the imagination of the writer) that in such an event the 12th of July celebration will in future be held here every year instead of every four years, which has been the practice heretofore.

Permit me to say that such a thing has not even been considered, neither is it practicable nor possible. The Orangemen from the surrounding counties visit us here every four years with the understanding that the lodges in this county will in turn visit them, in accordance with an arrangement arrived at a number of years ago.

It is a fact that as we have now attained sufficient strength to form a district composed exclusively of city lodges, it is considered advisable in the interests of the association to do so. That, however, will not necessarily affect the present arrangements with regard to 12th of July celebrations.

W H G ARMSTRONG,
County Master,
West Peterborough.
Peterborough, April 9, 1908.

IS TWO HUNDRED APPLICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP IN T.A.S.

The regular meeting of St. Peter's T. A. S., which is being held on Sunday, will not be in the society's hall as usual, but in the assembly hall of St. Peter's school. This change has been made necessary on account of the large increase in membership which has been made of late. There are besides some two hundred new members to be admitted at Sunday's meeting, this being the earliest fruits of the movement for one thousand members.

The hall in connection with the rooms was even too small for the attendances in the past, and with the two hundred new applicants the meeting would be an impossibility. It was therefore decided to use the large school assembly hall.

The meeting will be called at three o'clock and every member of the society should be present.

A GOOD CHOICE.

In securing Mr. F. H. Preston, M.P., Brant, editor of the Brantford Expositor, to deliver an address the Canadian Club has been fortunate. Mr. Preston has behind him the culture, literary equipment and amplitude of general information of many years of active journalistic experience. He has had also a large parliamentary experience. He is a man of ideas, of positive convictions and breadth of view, which tend to qualify him in an exceptional manner to deal satisfactorily with any subject he undertakes to discuss. The Canadian Club at its next symposium on April 30th will be treated to an informing and entertaining address upon "A Canadian City in the Making."

GOOD CANADIAN LEGISLATION.

Under the present Liberal Government of the Dominion, Canada has advanced, as the stump orator would say, by "leaps and bounds," in not only a material sense, but her standing, her influence and importance have been improved, and she has taken a more prominent place in the eyes of the nations. The manner in which the Government has dealt with the Oriental exclusion question has won the approval of even as ponderous an authority as the London Times. Hon. Mr. Lemieux's Industrial Disputes Investigation Act has worked with such eminent satisfaction to Canada that industrial strikes seem to be a thing of the past in Canada. The operation of this Act, while protecting alike the rights of labour and capital, as regards free action, has been effective in saving thousands of dollars to both employees and employers, and untold inconvenience and loss to the public. The success with which this legislation has worked has attracted the attention of the United States authorities. There, labour discontent means a strike, and there are strikes; not only strikes, but violence, bloodshed, loss of life and destruction of property. Not long since, a western miners' strike assumed such threatening proportions that the military had to be called out. Such things are unknown in Canada, where embryo strikes have, through the operation of the Lemieux Act, developed into amicable and mutually satisfactory settlements. It is no surprise, therefore, that the United States authorities are investigating Canada's Industrial Disputes Act. It is also attracting attention in the Mother Country, and Hon. Lloyd George, "the member for Wales," and the probable Chancellor of the Exchequer in Hon. Mr. Asquith's new Government, has spoken in terms of high approval of the Lemieux Act, or, to give it its longer title, the Canadian Industrial Disputes Investigation Act. These facts tell their own story.

THE SPOIL'S SYSTEM.

Our good Conservative friends profess a great solicitude and zeal for civil service reform. Of course, a great deal of assistance can be rendered by the Whitney Government, Hon. Mr. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, told the Legislature that since the Whitney Government came into power, 131 civil servants have been removed and displaced by partizans of the great party of purity, the Conservative party. He was careful to explain that only 31 of these were dismissed, and that the remaining hundred resigned. We all know what "resign" means under the spoils system of the Whitney Government. A dismissal may take the form of an intimation to an official, whose place is wanted for a member of the party in power. Such an intimation is, like a wish of royalty, equivalent to a command, and, of course, no official is so obtuse as to ignore the hint. Thus is comes about that Mr. Hanna can, with a comparative technical truthfulness, say that only 31 officials have been "dismissed." As a matter of fact, 131 have practically been dismissed. If an employer tells an employee that he had better resign his situation, the latter knows what that means. It is a mere subterfuge for the Whitney Government to say that it has only "dismissed" 31 officials. Some other means must be adopted to justify the spoils system. After retaining three appointees in office who were appointed by a previous Conservative Government, the Minister of Marine and Fisheries suspended them, not because their places were wanted for someone else, but for enemy and, forsooth, the leader of the Conservative Opposition in the Senate must needs make a star-chamber matter of it. The Whitney Government may chop off all the heads of "Grit" officials it chooses to do, and no whisper of objection is made by the Conservative party, but, let a Liberal minister at Ottawa suspend two or three officials who have proved inefficient, or worse, and there is a mighty outcry.

NOT A WINNING CARD.

Little Canadian journalists and others claim that Canada, under Liberal administration, is in a bad way—drifting towards the abyss of destruction from lack of the restraining potency of the "N. P," and lack of employment. Idle men in Peterborough and elsewhere are declared to be evidences of the evils resulting from a revenue tariff. In the United States they have the "N. P." in its perfection. If there is a prosperity creating power in high tariff, the United States should be the most prosperous country on the face of the earth, for it has the most retrograde, Chinese-wall tarifff in existence. But high statistical authorities across the border tell us that there are four and a half millions of unemployed at present in the United States, and that worse things are coming. We have nothing half as bad as that in Canada. The financial cyclone that left devastation and destruction in its wake in the United States, by comparison only ruffled the surface of conditions in Canada. While this country is recuperating rapidly and returning to normal conditions the United States are fearing that worse is to come. The Review still continues to pound down the reputation of Peterborough, to cry hard times, to the detriment of local interests and the business injury of the constituency from which it derives its living. The Sage of Chambers street is greatly mistaken in public sentiment if he thinks he is gaining popularity and votes by ignoring the spirit of the proverb—"it's a dirty bird that fouls its own nest."

EDITORAL NOTES

Our Conservative friends are all enthusiastic advocates of civil service and other reforms — at Ottawa. About similar reforms at Toronto there is not even a squeak from them. All Federal appointments should be made on merit and as the result of competitive examinations. All promotions should be made on merit alone and for service. All supplies should be purchased by tender. If, remarks the Stratford Beacon, our Conservative friends are really as much in earnest in their advocacy of these reforms as they appear to be, why do they not begin at Toronto? There is nothing to prevent their making a start there. But the singular thing is that the very things which are condemned at Ottawa are tolerated and defended, nay, even demanded, at Toronto. More than that, some of the very people who cannot wait for the process of reform to take its natural course at Ottawa are the very people who are doing all they can to make similar reform impossible at Toronto. What is the intelligent reader to make of such a situation? Does anyone believe that if the Conservatives were in power at Ottawa to-morrow any material change would be made in the conditions that are now exciting their virtrous indignation?

TALK OF A NEW N.P.

(Kingston Whig.)

The Mail has not excited much admiration for the new national policy which it says the country demands. This new policy would debar all the goods that are now imported from the United States, and make Canada a self-sustaining nation.

The marvel is that the idea, if of any value, did not seize the party leaders during the seventeen years they held office, and had an opportunity, as they had the need oft crying something to boom or revive trade.

The workmen for whose welfare the Opposition has now such a profound regard, know that in all the years the Tories held office, they did not take stock. Why, cannot be divined. During the Liberal regime they were given to counting the tall chimneys which were smokeless, but when any one while they held office referred to the depression, he was treated as a traitor. There was, then, no stocktaking, except of the loaves and fishes, and the cabinet cabal and crises ended the reign of a corrupt and useless administration.

The Liberals succeeded to power in 1896. In 1900 they ascertained that the industries of Canada employed 339,000 persons, and that they earned annually, $113,000,000. In 1905 the commercial census was again taken, and with the result that the employees had increased in number to 383,000 and the wage account to $162,000,000.

In other words the workers had increased in five years by 13 per cent. and the wages by 43 per cent., under the national policy the Liberals had developed.

If the party for which the Mail speaks has a new policy now, the sooner it is launched the better. It took years to shape the first national policy. Sir John A Macdonald took pains to elaborate it in parliament, and nurture it on the stump. If Mr. Borden has something better than the Halifax platform it is time he said something about it.

RESUME OF SEASON'S PROGRESS

Annual Report of Secretary of Ladies' Literary Society at the Closing Meeting Last Night.

THE SUBJECTS STUDIED

The last meeting of the T. A. S. Ladies' Literary Society was held last night, when the following report of the season's work was read by the secretary, Miss L. L. Coleman, showing the sessions to have been exceedingly profitable and interesting.

At the closing meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S. of the season 1907-1908, I wish to place before the audience a detailed report of the work done by the society during the past season.

On Friday evening, September 20th, 1907, a meeting of the Ladies' Literary Committee was held in the T. A. S. assembly hall, for the purpose of re-organization. The same earnestness and enthusiasm which have been the characteristic features of this society's work during the past seven years, and which have won for it the reputation of presenting such excellent literary programmes, was very much in evidence at this meeting. The business part of the meeting was carried on with despatch and the popular vote raised the following members to the position of officers for the ensuing year.

Director—Rev. Dr. O'Brien.
President—Miss L. Deannard.
Secretary—Miss L. L. Coleman.
Treasurer—Miss A. Cahill.
Members of Committee — Misses Deannard, Coleman, Cahill, Holmes, O'Connell, McGrath, Kane, McCarthy, Desautel, M. Coughlin, N. Coughlin, O'Heron, Furman, Tangney and Sullivan.

At a business meeting held a few evenings later plans were discussed for the literary work of the season. Many suggestions and new ideas were advanced by the members of the committee. Matters were quickly disposed of and it was decided that the literary season of this society be formally opened on Friday evening, October 11th, by an address from the highly esteemed director of the society, Rev. Dr. O'Brien. It was also decided that the literary meetings of this society be held every second Friday throughout the season, and that the programmes at these meetings consist of essays on interesting subjects, supplemented by high class musical programmes. The officers and members of the committee spared no time and pains to make these meetings not only entertaining but educative, and their hopes were fully realized.

Since the inaugural meeting the society has enjoyed a continuous and constantly increasing popularity, as evidenced by the large and enthusiastic audiences present at each meeting. Excellent essays and bright musical programmes, combined to make these meetings worthy of the high aim and worthy aspirations of the society.

The following is a list of the very interesting essays read during the season:

Oct. 11th—Value of Good Literature, Rev. Dr. O'Brien.
Oct. 25th—Norway, Miss B. Flynn.
Nov. 8th—Duty, Misss M. Powers.
Nov. 22nd—Literature as a Source of Self Culture, Miss Molonky.
Dec. 6th—Some Elements of Success, Miss K. McGrath.
Dec. 20th—Lay of the Last Minstrel, Miss Mulaney.
Jan. 9th—Early History of Peterborough, Miss V. Donoghue.
Jan. 24th—Dombey and Son, Misses McGrath.
Feb. 7th—The Study of History, Rev. Father Galvin.
Feb. 21st—St. Bridget of Kildare, Miss Deannard.
March 20th—Kenilworth, Miss M. Ward.
April 3rd—Character Building, Miss Mahoney.
April 9th—Tale of Two Cities, Misses A. Holland, E. Connor and A. Coughlin.

To those who so kindly prepared essays the thanks of the society are extended in a special manner. The essays, without exception, were most instructive and proved to be a source of great pleasure to the literary element of the society.

The hearty thanks of the society are also extended to those who contributed so largely to the musical part of the programme. To them we attribute much of the success of our literary evenings, as the various musical selections rendered in such a brilliant manner by the talented performers gave variety to the programme.

The number of tickets disposed of during the season was three hundred and thirty—fifty-one in advance of last year.

To the editors of our local papers—the Review and Examiner—the thanks of the society are in a special manner due, for the unfailing courtesy shown us in our dealing with them. They have contributed not a little towards the working out of our plans, by their willing promptness in inserting notices of meetings, and have manifested a kindly interest in the success of our literary work by the prominence given the fortnightly reports of the essays, lectures, etc.

The success of the society was due in no small degree to the untiring efforts of the officers and members of the committee, while special mention must be made of the highly appreciated assistance of our worthy president, Miss Deannard.

In conclusion, we have but to tender our most sincere thanks to our worthy director, Rev. Dr. O'Brien, for the deep interest he has at all times manifested in our society. His help in planning and carrying out our work, his attendance at all our meetings and his kind words of encouragement and approval, so cheerfully given, proved to be an incentive to renewed effort on our part. We therefore voice the sentiments of each individual member of the society in extending to him our esteem and gratitude.

L. L. COLEMAN, Secretary.

CHANGES IN POSITION OF LIGHTS

Fire, Water and Light Committee Discussed Matter Last Night.

At a meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night, the principal business that came up was the question of changing the position of lights on certain streets to improve the service.

Ald. Johnston, chairman of the committee, presided.

On motion of Ald. Turner and McIntyre, the chairman was instructed to interview the Peterborough Light and Power Company to ascertain upon what terms they will put incandescent lights on Crescent street.

Ald. Turner moved, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, that the Otonabee Power Company be asked to remove eight poles on Hunter street, west of the bridge, and also a brace, or guy, at the corner of Burnham and Hunter street.—Carried.

It was decided on motion of Ald. Turner and McIntyre, that the Peterborough Light and Power Company be asked to place the light at the corner of Hunter and Roger streets in the centre of the street, and it was also decided that similar changes be made on Rubidge street opposite short Hunter street, on Rubidge street at St. Andrew's church, and at the north-west corner of Hunter and Stewart streets.

ORIGIN OF THE MOVING PICTURES

Gradual Evolution of the Popular Films —Always Something New.

The beginning of moving pictures was in this wise: Sir John Herschel after dinner in 1826 asked his friend Charles Babbage how he could show both sides of a shilling at once. Babbage replied by taking a shilling from his pocket and holding it to a mirror.

This did not satisfy Sir John, who set the shilling spinning upon the dinner table, at the same time pointing out that if the eye is placed on a level with the rotating coin both sides can be seen at once. Babbage was so struck by the experiment that the next day he described it to a friend, Dr. Fitton, who immediately made a working model.

On one side of the disc was drawn a bird, on the other side an empty bird-cage; when the card was revolved on a silk thread the bird appeared to be in the cage. This model showed the persistence of vision upon which all moving pictures depend for their effect. (The eye retains the image of the object seen for a fraction of a second after the object has been removed. This model was called the thaumotrope.

Next came the zeotrope, or wheel of life. A cylinder was perforated with a series of slots and within the cylinder was placed a band of drawings of dancing men. On the apparatus being slowly rotated the figures seen through the slots appeared to be in motion. The first systematic photographs taken at regular intervals of men and animals were made by Muybridge in 1877.—Chicago Tribune.

Mr. Edwards at C. P. R. Suddenly Taken With Severe Pain.

While about to unload a number of trunks from a truck at the C. P. R. station last night at 6 o'clock, Mr. A. Edwards, who was on duty as night baggageman, was taken with a pain in one side and had to discontinue work. It was apparently a stitch of some kind and caused considerable pain.

Mr. Frank Atkinson was called to relieve Mr. Edwards, who was assisted to his home.

Every Person in Peterborough to Know What Vinol is and How it is Made.

For some time we have recommended Vinol to the people of Peterborough as the best cod liver preparation and tonic reconstructor we have ever sold.

To prove the reliability and genuineness of this successful remedy and that it is in no sense a patent medicine, the people of Peterborough will find on every package of Vinol not only a statement of the ingredients Vinol contains, but an illustration in colours showing just how Vinol is made from fresh cods' livers and peptonate of iron, which is a needful constituent for the blood.

This proves in a very convincing manner to the people of Peterborough the origin from which Vinol derives its wonderful curative power, and that it is a real cod liver preparation made by a scientific process which eliminates the useless oil and retains all the active medicinal principles.

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, after sickness, and for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles, Vinol is unexcelled.

Try it on our offer to return your money if it fails. Mulkerrin & Jury, druggists, Peterborough; also The Market Drug Store.

NO SCARCITY OF PULP WOOD IN NORTH

Northern Ontario Mills Have More Material Than They Can Use.

AN IMPORTANT INDUSTRY

There are many statements appearing in the press of late in regard to the disappearance of the trees from which paper is made. A gentleman, who has just returned from the Sudbury district, where he has been since last September, says that he cannot see how this idea was formed as the supply of pine and spruce in Northern Ontario is almost boundless. Instead of a scarcity of raw material he believes that there is not enough mills to manufacture pulp. This last year's cut has been second or third growth pine and the forests seems to be rapidly springing up where several years ago the trees were cut down.

The cut of timber for the Midland mills has been a large one, and in fact the lumbering in the past winter has been extensive in all the camps.

DEMETRIE BROS. START WHOLESALE FACTORY

The Olympic Candy Works Manufacturing Company of Montreal.

The firm of Demetrie Bros., confectioners, who have candy stores in a number of other cities besides Peterborough, have branched out in the wholesale line in Montreal. They have just started a large factory on Boulevard street, called "The Olympic Candy Works Manufacturing Company," where they employ quite a staff of expert candy workers and assistants. Their retail business appears to be growing to such an extent that they decided to make a larger portion of their own goods for their branch stores, as well as for the general trade.

POLICEMEN WHO RECEIVE PENSIONS

After Having Served Twenty-six Years on Metropolitan Force—Friends of P. C. Newhall.

P. C. Newhall received a letter today from one of his friends on the metropolitan police force, London, England, informing him that several of the members of the police have completed their twenty-six years of service and are now living on a pension. The letter was accompanied by a photograph of the writer and another of seven policemen and two sergeants, who served on the Marlborough street division, with Mr. Newhall and who are among the pensioned. Both the sergeants and the men are fine looking men, well built and the oldest of them is forty-seven. The men are pensioned on two-thirds of their regular pay. Most of them have secured positions as detectives on the different ocean liners, while others who have saved a little while on the force are living in retirement.

YOUNG MEN'S LITERARY TO-NIGHT

T. A. S. Young Men Will Hold Fortnightly Debate.

The regular meeting of the Young Men's Literary Society of the T. A. S. will be held to-night in the assembly hall after church services at St. Peter's. A large attendance should result to-night as the matter of appointing a list of officers will bbe taken up, and it is likely they will be elected. The debate promises to be interesting and the Glee Club will be heard in a number.

"RYE" IS GRAIN, AND NOT A RIVER

Omission of the Capital, Says Scotch Paper, Dispels All Doubts.

The query opened in the Examiner a few days ago as to whether "Rye" in the song "Comin' through the Rye" meant a fireld of rye, or the river Rye, has been responded to by at least one Scotchman. In writing the Examiner he enclosed a clipping from a Scotch paper, "The People's Friend," of Dundee, of March 23rd, 1908, which is as follows:—

When Burns wrote "Comin through the Rye," we have no doubt he meant a field of rye, and not the river Rye. Dr. Lately Waddell, a standard authority upon Burns, says on the subject:—"The details of the song are completely at variance with the idea that the word 'rye' refers to a river, and the simple fact that the word in the original is invariably not printed with a capital letter, which Burns never omitted where it was required, is conclusive on the subject." Another very satisfactory argument to our mind lies in the fact that the word "through" is used. Had Burns meant the river Rye, he would doubtless have written "owre" instead. But the omission of the capital letter would be quite sufficient to set all our doubts at rest, had we ever entertained any on the subject.

PROPER TIME TO WIND A WATCH

The Ordinary Man Winds His Timepiece Before Disrobing.

When is the best time to wind a watch? This question has bothered watchmakers and watch experts for many years. It was intelligently discussed at a recent meeting of the British Watch and Clock Makers guide, held in London, and the consensus of opinion among the experts was against the generally prevalent practice of doing the winding before going to bed. Several members of the guild held that the winding should be done at night, as in the morning the mainspring would be colder and more brittle than after the watch had been carried about in the pocket all day. On the other hand, many members urged that it was a decided advantage to wind a watch in the morning. During the daytime the watch was carried about and subjected to all kinds of irregular conditions, which it was better able to withstand when fully wound. A vote was taken on the matter, and the result showed that the members were about equally divided on the subject. This is reassuring, for undoubtedly the great majority of watch owners wind their timepieces at night; and as use doth breed a habit in a man it may be seriously doubted if they could accustom themselves to the morning duty. As a matter of fact, a man winds his watch intuitively, and all the wisdom of all the watchmakers in the world could not break him of the habit of winding his timepiece before disrobing for the night.

City Council Not Satisfied With The Recommendations

To Appeal From Orders of Railway Commission—Think Companies Should Bear the Whole Cost of Gates at Crossings.

DO NOT WANT THE SIDING

More recommendations from the Railway Commission were read last night at the Committee of the Whole meeting but they were by no means satisfactory to the council. The city wants gates at the C.P.R. crossing on Aylmer street, while the Commission only recommend a flagman; the City thought that the Railway Company should bear the expense of a gate-keeper while the Commission considered the city should bear one-quarter of the cost. In respect to the G.T.R. sidings off Bethune street the Commission recommended they be granted and laid down to the approval of the City Engineer, while the City decided to oppose them further. The question will, therefore, likely be re-opened again before the Railway Commission.

Ald. Phelan in opening this question explained that a letter had been received from the Railway Commission re the Aylmer street gates. The recommendation was that the city pay one-quarter of the expense and the Railway Company three-quarters; that a flagman should be stationed there instead of having gates.

He stated that recently there was a man almost killed at the crossing and he considered that gates should be erected and also that the Railway Company should pay the cost as the C.P.R. and G.T.R. are doing now with the George street Charlotte street and Simcoe street gates.

Ald. Johnston and Neill were of the same opinion and believed that the council should again place the matter both in connection with the gates on Aylmer and Reid streets, before the Commission.

Ald Phelan moved seconded by Ald. Bradburn, that the City Solicitor should be instructed to insist on gates at the C.P.R. Aylmer street crossing; to insist that the company pay the total cost and that the solicitor should insist that the question should be re-opened with the Railway Commission.—Carried.

Grand Trunk Sidings

The Commission also wrote recommending that the two sidings off Bethune street proposed by the Grand Trunk be constructed under the supervision of the City Engineer, the various conditions being mentioned, with the stipulation that the city could order the tracks removed at any time. The latter clause was modified so that the Commission should also have the right to sanction the removal.

In regard to this it was moved and seconded, that the City Solicitor be instructed that while not asking for any change in the conditions of the order, the City believes these sidings should not be constructed. — Carried.

Three Excellent Essays At The Closing Meeting

T. A. S. Ladies' Literary Society Have Successful Conclusion to a Successful Season.

A SPLENDID PROGRAMME

A most interesting programme, quite in keeping with the many excellent programmes presented by the members of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S. during the past season, was that presented to the large and appreciative audience at the closing meeting of the society last evening.

Miss Agnes Holland's excellent paper on "Charles Dickens," Miss Aileen Coughlin's comprehensive book review of "A Tale of Two Cities," and Miss Edith Connor's able essay on the two characters, Sydney Carton and Jerry Cruncher, were the chief features of last evening's programme.

The first essay of the evening was read by Miss Holland, it being a most interesting account of the life, works and influence of Charles Dickens. He was born in a small suburb of Portsea in the year 1812. During his early life he was surrounded by the most unpleasant home influences. He was sensitive, and ambitious beyond his station or years, and felt keenly the humiliations and hardships of his most of life, the scars of which were never effaced from his memory.

His early education obtained on the streets of London gave him an unlimited supply of information and experience upon which to base his writings, which were in after years to make him famous. After spending a few years at Wellington House Academy, he became a parliamentary reporter, and much of his success as an author was due to those years of severe journalistic training.

His first venture in the field of prose fiction was in 1853, when appeared a humourous paper entitled "Dinner at Poplar Walk." In the same year appeared the "Pickwick Papers," and Dickens fame and fortune were secured. Then followed in rapid succession "Nicholas Nicholby," The Old Curiosity Shop, Christmas Stories, Pictures of Italy, Dombey & Son: David Copperfield, one of the great master-pieces of English fiction, and "A Tale of Two Cities."

Miss Aileen Coughlin, in beautiful and well chosen language, related briefly the story of the very interesting work, "A Tale of Two Cities." The story opens with Dr. Manette, just released from prison in the house of an old servant, a mental and physical wreck, interested only in mending shoes. The only name he knew was One Hundred and Five, North Tower. His daughter, Lucy, had been kept in ignorance of his imprisonment until the secret was revealed to her by Mr. Lorry after he had gained his release. He soon took Lucy to meet her father, who was in an inn in St. Antoine, a (most squalid district in Paris. This was in the year 1775, just previous to the French revolution. The daughter took her unfortunate father over to England, and for a period of five years nothing is heard of him.

The writer then carried the audience, in imagination, to the courtroom in London where Charles Darnay was being tried for suspected treason. Dr. and Lucy Manette were among the spectators. Sydney Carton, a young lawyer, made things interesting by passing a note over to Mr. Stryver, counsel for the defence. Acting on the hint given in the note, he confused the witnesses by pointing out the striking resemblance Sydney Carton bore to Charles Darnay. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty and Charles Darnay left the courtroom a free man, indebted to Sydney Carton for his liberty.

Continuing, the writer gave vivid descriptions of the noble character of Sydney Carton, who was willing to sacrifice his life to spare the life of one he loved, Charles Darnay, who was subjected to so many trials, and finally sentenced to death, owing to the fact that he belonged to the House of Evrimond. Dr. and Lucy Manette, Mr. Lorry, Jerry Cruncher, and Madame Defarge, who was a story in herself, were dealt with.

Space will not permit to give a more complete synopsis of this very interesting essay. Suffice it to say, however, that Miss Coughlin's review of the story, "A Tale of Two Cities," was most complete.

Miss Edith Connor then followed with an exceedingly interesting account of Sydney Carton and Jerry Cruncher, two of the characters of the story. Carton, who was considered the second hero of Dickens' "A Tale of Two Cities," was introduced as a swigged gentleman with his hands in his pockets, whose whole attention seemed to be concentrated on the ceiling of the courtroom. Carelessness and indifference to everything and everyone were his chief attributes, though he was not as indifferent as he seemed, as was shown during the trial of the prisoner.

Why he did not become famous was a mystery to his friends. His brilliant career faded away, his castles in the air came toppling down, burying him in their ruins. It was to hide his disappointment in his life that he assumed that carelessness for which he afterwards became noted.

He proved himself a hero by sacrificing his life for Charles Darnay, the beloved husband of Lucy Manette, who had been condemned to death. By appealing to Darnay's love for Lucy, and partly by force, Carton had Darnay exchange clothes with him, and as he took his place in the wretched tumbril to be taken to the guillotine, he did not regret in the least the awful fate he had ordained for himself, when he thought of the happiness it meant for Lucy and Darnay.

Jerry Cruncher was then very humourously described by the essayist. His personal appearance was not at all prepossessing. He had the peculiar habit of referring to himself as "Jerry, you honest tradesman." His domestic life was not the happiest, as his wife stood in great dread of him. He interfered with her in her devotional exercises, and so made her life most unhappy. When he went to France as a messenger of the bank, and saw the unhappiness of the country, he resolved, if ever he returned to England alive, he would never interfere with Mrs. Cruncher's praying. As Jerry did return, happiness reigned supreme in the Cruncher household.

These excellent essays were intensely interesting throughout, the treatment of the subjects by the talented young essayists being most praiseworthy.

The musical part of the programme which preceded the reading of the essays, was especially bright and attractive. To select the meritorious selections would be to name the whole programme, in the selection of which excellent judgment was shown.

The following was the musical programme, introduced by Miss Fannie Holmes, who occupied the chair for the evening:

Inst. Quartette—Mr. and Miss Mahoney and Mr. and Miss Torpey.
Vocal Solo—Miss Geraldine Delaire.
Recitation—Miss Agnes Torpey.
Inst. Duet — Misses McCabe and Quinn.
Vocal Solo—Mr. Coleman.
Inst. Duet—Misses Flynn and Shaylin.
Vocal Solo—Miss Harbihy.
Vocal Solo—Miss Torpey.

The accompanists of the evening were Miss Delaire and Miss Marion Gorman.

After singing the National Anthem the gathering dispersed, bearing away many pleasant recollections and feeling that a most successful literary had been brought to a close.

WANT NEW WHARF AT WOLFE STREET

Council to Ask That it be Assumed by Department of Railways And Canals.

ALD. ELLIOTT'S SUGGESTION

An effort will be made to have the wharf at Wolfe street transferred from the jurisdiction of the Public Works Department to the Department of Railways and Canals. This was brought up at the Committee of the Whole Council meeting last night by Ald. Elliot, who pointed out that a deputation from Lakefield to Ottawa this week regarding the changing of the steamboat wharf there from the Public Works Department to the Department of Railways and Canals, was successful and that Lakefield would also receive a new concrete wharf.

The Wolfe street wharf was now under the control of the former and he understood that it could be changed to the Department of Railways and Canals, and that then a new wharf could be obtained, in keeping with the quantity of commerce in connection with it. The work of the Public Works Department is controlled in Toronto, while that of the Department of Railways and Canals is looked after in Ottawa.

Ald. Bradburn moved, seconded by Ald. Elliot, that the necessity of a new wharf be pointed out to the officials, that it be placed under the Department of Railways and Canals if possible and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Ministers of Public Works and of Railways and Canals and to Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P.—Carried.

MANAGER OF A MODERN GROCERY

Mr. D. Kennedy the Successor of Mr. Bradshaw at Corner Aylmer and Hunter Streets.

Mr. D. Kennedy is the successor to Mr. W. Bradshaw in the big grocery store at the corner of Aylmer and Hunter streets, which has recently changed hands. Mr. Kennedy intends keeping a full line of groceries, cereals, vegetables, etc., and of the best quality, so that he will be able to supply the demands of his many customers. His store is centrally located, and is equipped with all the modern conveniences. Mr. Kennedy is a good business man and is excellently qualified to be the manager and proprietor of such an important store as that at the corner of Aylmer and Hunter streets.

REVISION OF POLLING DIVISIONS

On Account of Change of Boundaries of The Wards Last Year.

The City Clerk pointed out at the Committee of the Whole meeting last night that on account of the changes in the boundaries of the various wards made last year, and on account of the fact that there will soon be voting on the several by-laws, that something should be done in defining the new polling divisions as soon as possible. He had prepared a plan of the city, in which he had made fourteen polling divisions, the population of any for voting purposes being not more than 390. Mr. Armstrong explained the various divisions with the number of votes in each, and it was moved by Ald. Neill and Johnston that the re-arrangement be left in his hands. This was carried and a by-law will be drawn up to make the changes according to the city clerk's plans.

TRAVELLERS ARE MAKING LAST TRIP

Heavy Commercial Business to Make Last Effort for Easter Trade.

As the pre-Easter season is drawing to a close there is a noticeable increase in the amount of travellers' baggage passing over the railways. The reason is that a large number of travellers are hurrying around their routes for a last call in the hope of disposing of a few extra Easter articles, as when the season closes there is nothing doing for a year in the same line.

The other day at the C. P. R. station there were 25 large commercial trunks, and almost at every train there is a corresponding number to be received or sent away. This makes a very busy time for the baggagemen, who are busier now, than at almost any other season of the year.

REDUCED RATES FOR EASTER

On account of Easter the Grand Trunk Railway System will issue return tickets at single first-class fare between all stations in Canada, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich.; Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N. Y. Tickets good going April 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20. Valid returning on or before April 21, 1908. Secure tickets from any Grand Trunk ticket agent. 4deod84-2202

A HELPER WANTED FOR THE FARM

Many Applications From Farmers and Labourers at Examiner Office.

Farmers are still calling at the Examiner office in search of labourers and of servant girls as well. There are already several names at the office which will be given to any farmer who is looking for farm help.

Last evening an Otonabee farmer, residing five miles from the city, called, and he desires to get a servant girl as helper. He will be at the Examiner office on Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock, and any girl who wishes to apply may do so by calling at the same time.

ICY SIDEWALK CAUSES TROUBLE

They Had Bad Weather in Lindsay Too —Accident to Mr. Matthews.

On Wednesday afternoon at about 4, as Mr. Thos. Matthews, who resides with Mr. George Ingle, Cambridge street, was returning from a walk down town, when opposite the Presbyterian church lost his footing on the icy sidewalk, falling heavily, breaking both bones of his right leg just above the ankle joint. Mr. John Wilson, who was passing, called a cab and assisted Mr. Matthews home. He was afterwards taken to the Ross Hospital in the ambulance.—Lindsay Post.

A GREAT DOUBLE GAME LAST NIGHT

Wareham and McIlroy Knocked Over 3143 Pins in Three Games at P. B. C. Alleys.

The matched game between Messrs. Waram and McIlroy and Messrs. Frost and Boyd at the Peterborough Bowling Club's alleys last night was a decidedly interesting contest. Boyd and Frost won two games out of the three played, but the other pair were high on the total, winning by 37 pins. The four were bowling at a great clip all night and averaged 1045 and 1035 for the three games. Frost and Boyd got the best score in a single string, putting on 393, and Frost had the high single score, getting 225. Several other were also over the 200 mark, and the averages were high throughout. The scores:

Frost	191	225	157—573
Boyd	182	128	181—491
	373	353	338—1064
McIlroy	154	190	170—514
Waram	164	162	180—506
	318	352	350—1020
McIlroy	144	205	172—521
Waram	175	178	188—541
	319	383	360-1062
Frost	147	203	146—496
Boyd	141	148	187—476
	288	351	333—972
Frost	165	112	212—489
Boyd	194	206	161—561
	359	318	393-1670
McIlroy	190	190	182—562
Waram	159	158	182—499
	349	348	364-1061

Grand Total—
McIlroy and Waram, 3143.
Frost and Boyd, 3106.

A team representing the Peterborough Bowling Club is in Toronto today and will meet a picked team at the new tournament alleys to-night. The local team is composed of C. E. Frost, W. McIlroy, Tommy Boyd, Bill Waram and Joe Pollard.

FOOTBALL COMPETITION IN AUTUMN

Question to Come up at the Annual Meeting on Easter Monday.

Official notice has been received from the secretary of the Ontario Football Association by the secretary of the Midland League, that the annual meeting will be held at 10.30 o'clock in the King Edward Hotel on Easter Monday, April 20th. The principal question to be discussed is that of having the senior autumn competition re-established. Mr. D. Forsyth, of Berlin, is the secretary of the association.

STEINER SAYS HE WILL BE AMONG FIRST FIVE

Walked 13 3-4 Miles To-day in 2 Hours and 35 Minutes on the Country Roads.

Chas. Steiner, the Warsaw walker, walked into the city again to-day, a distance of 13 3-4 miles, in 2 hours and 35 minutes. He says he is in great shape, and is willing to wager that he will finish among the first five. He will walk home to-night, and into the city again to-morrow.

There are more walking matches being arranged in the city than the big tournament for April 20th. To-day at noon one of an impromtu character was instituted at the Maple Leaf Hotel, East City, in which there were 6 entries. The course was around the block by way of Driscoll Terrace and Mark street, the winner being "Mat" Edwards of Villiers. His time was exactly four minutes and he certainly had the winning stride. Mr. Edwards is an employee of Mr. Henry Elmhirst, Otonabee.

• • • •

It is altogether likely that a match wil lbe arranged between Eugene Hurtubise, Peterborough's heavy weight wrestler and Frank Kennedy, the German wrestler, who had a great battle with Artie Edmunds, in Toronto this week. Mr. J B Hay received a letter from Toronto to-day with regard to arranging the bout, and Mr. Hurtubise was called up on the long distance 'phone last night in connection with the same matter. Kennedy is willing to wrestle either here or in Toronto and as the local mat artist is agreeable there should be no difficulty in arranging the matter.

PRISONER NOT SURPRISED

Canadian Who Confessed to Murder of Mrs. Welch Goes Free — Judge Calls It Vile Miscarriage of Justice—Says Jury Ought to Be Ashamed of Themselves—Prejudice Against the Police.

Detroit, April 10.—Wearing the suit of clothes that he purchased with Mrs. Cornelia Welch's diamond earrings, Percy Bowin walked free from Judge Phelan's court yesterday, thanks to a verdict that Judge Phelan characterized as "the vilest miscarriage of justice ever perpetrated in this community."

Sympathy with the youthful defendant and his weeping mother, distrust of the methods of Capt. McDonnell and the detective department, unwillingness to send Bowin to prison for life for a crime the full consequences of which he did not contemplate—these are the motives behind a verdict that was a bold defiance of the law.

As the words "Not guilty" fell from Foreman Schroeder's lips, Judge Phelan stood as though paralyzed with astonishment. He went white with anger and then he recovered his speech and poured his wrath upon the twelve men standing before him.

"You should be ashamed to go back into the streets of the city of Detroit and admit that you were on the Bowin jury and not find this man guilty of murder," he thundered. "You may be discharged; you should be. You have simply opened the gate for this man to go back to the life that he led, and the probabilities are that he will commit another such an act. You men should be ashamed of yourselves, and I have no hesitation in telling you about it. It is the most brutal verdict I have ever heard."

Bowin showed no special manifestation of joy at the verdict. He sat in the prisoners' dock until told to go. Then, with his mother and her friend, Mrs. James Rorrick, he crossed to the jail to collect his belongings. He was accorded an ovation by the riff-raff that hangs about the municipal buildings and in whose eyes Percy is a hero. After getting his possessions at the jail he walked to Gracot avenue with the two women and boarded a car, still followed by the here-worshipping rabble.

"Old Phelan seemed kind of sore, didn't he?" remarked Percy. "Well, I suppose he don't like the way things are running over there. That makes three acquittals in the recorder's court since I've been here, and I expect he don't like it. Was I surprised at the verdict? Naw! They didn't have anything on me. What else could the jury do?"

Bowin called at police headquarters later in the afternoon and asked for his suitcase from Capt. McDonnell. He was told that he would have to consult Detectives Downey and Fox, who had charge of his case. As they were not in Percy announced that he would return Friday morning.

Mrs. Bowin was almost worn out by the long trial. "Of course I was much pleased by the verdict," she said.

A survey of the testimony in the case reveals the astounding fact that the question of time, the one which the jury considered of more importance than all the mass of evidence that the prosecution had gathered against Bowin, was never once mentioned by either the prosecution or defense during the trial. Mr. Kennedy, Bowin's attorney, did not even consider it of enough importance to mention it in his address to the jury.

"From things that we have all of us heard and from the evidence that we heard in this case, we were inclined to believe that Capt. McDonnell resorts to unfair methods to obtain confessions," said Juror Bates. Then he blurted out a manifestation of the feeling against Capt. McDonnell, the animus against the police department which is responsible for Wednesday's travesty on justice.

Bowin returns to Woodville, Ont., to-day.

More Tangible Proof Needed of Interest in Colonies.

London, April 10.—Australia's apprehension in the matter of possible aggression on the part of Japan, was voiced at the meeting held in London yesterday afternoon by the Australian Chamber of Commerce by Thomas Price, Premier of South Australia. Mr. Price was emphasizing the necessity of Great Britain giving a more tangible proof of her interests in the colonies.

"You cannot keep a colony by merely flying a flag over it, even the Union Jack," he said. "There must be sympathy and understanding behind the flag. With the awakening of the east, if you are going to retain Australia as a jewel of the British crown, some one has got to stand up and fight to keep it."

Mr. Price expressed his approval in strong terms of the proposal to raise a numerous federal citizen army in Australia.

Charged With Smuggling.

Windsor, April 10.—Fred McMann, 30 years old, formerly bartender in Welkerville, was arrested at Adrian, Mich., in company with three Chinamen, whom he is accused of transporting to the United States via the famous underground railway. McMann was found with the Celestials in a box car containing a horse consigned to Chicago. He pleaded not guilty to the smuggling charge.

Customs Officer In Court.

Thief River Falls, Minn., April 10.—Canadian Customs Officer Wright and his father, Mayor Wright of Emerson, Man., appeared before United States Commissioner L. C. Browning, the former being charged with smuggling undesirable aliens across the international boundary. He was released on a deposit of $500 bail and returns to Emerson. The case is set for Saturday.

Will Drop the Case.

Portsmouth, N.H., April 10—In view of the refusal of the French Government to grant the extradition of Paul E. Roy, the husband of Glacia Calla, who is accused of the murder of his brother-in-law, George A. Carkins, at Newington, three months ago, it is improbable that the authorities of Rockingham County will make any further move at the present time.

Woman's Fatal Fall.

Kingston, April 10.—Wednesday evening Mrs. Lockhead of Centreville left her home to go to a neighboring house to spend the evening. She was going up the steps of the house, slipped, fell back, struck her head on the pavement and lay unconscious. Medical aid was at once summoned, but death ensued during the night. The deceased was 60 years of age.

The Foundation of a Good Bed

The foundation is the most important part of a building. It is on the foundation that the whole weight of the structure rests. A fault in the foundation means the entire building at fault.

$8 - A "Banner" Spring Bed - $8

is the foundation of a good bed. A "BANNER" Bed is the right principle to begin with, because spiral springs are the only ones which will not sag in the middle—will not stretch out of shape—will not lose their springiness.

The "BANNER" is the perfect spiral spring bed. It is made of best quality 100 spiral springs. These are oil tempered, like a razor blade—japanned to prevent rust—and rigidly attached to flat steel bands which in turn are riveted to angle iron sides. This method of construction also enables the "Banner" to fit any iron bed without the use of slats.

If you want a bed that is noiseless—that will hold its shape—that will always be easy and comfortable—and that is guaranteed for a lifetime—you should certainly buy the "BANNER" Spring Bed. The price is $8.—anywhere.

BOWLING BASKETBALL CURLING

The Curling Club Asks For A Fixed Assessment

Intend Building a Handsome Rink Containing Stores on Charlotte Street—Deputation Waits on the Council.

CONSIDER THE QUESTION

The Peterborough Curling Club intend building a new rink on Charlotte street and last night a deputation from that body waited on the Committee of the Whole requesting a fixed assessment of about $5,000. The Club claim that the rink will be one of the finest, if not the finest in Canada as they are taking special precautions to have it erected on a high scale.

The deputation consisted of Messrs. S T Medd, Robt. Hicks and R M Waddell.

Mr. Medd stated that the Club intends to rebuild again and as the curlers being representative body of citizens they desired a fixed assessment. It was not an industry competing with others, he explained, but merely a building for the accommodation of a large number. The site will be on Charlotte street and the building will be one worthy of and a credit to Peterborough.

Mr. Hicks stated the deputation represented a membership of 150 and that the members of the club were all prominent citizens. They had come to the conclusion since the fire that they would rebuild again. They wanted a central location but as Charlotte street was one of the prominent city thoroughfares, they had decided to erect stores at the front of the building and have the club rooms above. By giving a fixed assessment these would be no person individually benefitted.

Largest in Canada

In the past when the rink was in commission there were several bonspiels which always brought several outside curlers to the city who spent considerable money here. The club proposed building a seven-rink building, which would make it the largest in Canada and with the ultimate intention of making Peterborough the centre of a great curling district and of having one of the biggest bonspiels in the Dominion annually. The idea of erecting the stores was in order that the club would be able to put up a handsome building that would be a credit to the street when it has been built.

Mr. Waddell explained that the insurance received on account of the fire was the only money the club had for beginning the work.

Some of the members of the Council suggested that the fixed assessment be asked on the building without the stores. The question was left over for future consideration.

Annual Meeting Of The Intermediate Ball League

Nine Teams Were Represented at Gathering in Y. M. C. A.—Mr. J. T. C. Lang Was Re-elected President—Teams Must Submit Names of Players for Approval By Executive.

AN ANIMATED DISCUSSION

The annual meeting of the Intermediate City Baseball League was held last night in the Y.M.C.A. and was an enthusiastic, if scarcely harmonious, meeting. No less than nine teams were represented, and in addition a number of supporters were present, so that there was a gathering of about thirty lovers of baseball on hand.

President Jas. T. C. Lang occupied the chair, and the teams and their representatives were as follows:

West Ends—J Hardwick and J McNirn.

Strathconas—Clarence Wilson and W J Metheral.

Karnots—S. Laing and Norman Goale.

Lakeviews—Tom Menzies and H. Theobald.

Shamrocks — Leo Derocher and Harry Quinlan.

Y.M.C.A. — Wilburt Thornton and Harry Crossman.

Grafters—Tom Riley and Harvey Staunton.

Knockers—A Crainfield.

Wellingtons—M McMahon.

Secretary's Report

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted, after which secretary-treasurer F. D. Craig submitted the following report for the year, which was, on motion, adopted:—

This first year of the Intermediate Baseball League was, on the whole, a most satisfactory one, some good ball being played and the race being warmly contested. Six clubs were in the running — the West Ends, Karnots, Strathconas, Excelsiors, Lakeviews and Lillies. The league honours were finally won by the West End Club after a good race with the Karnots.

The Review Publishing Company donated a handsome silver trophy for competition, and it, of course, was held by the West End Club for the year. On behalf of the league I wish to thank the Review for their kindness, and to state that the cup has made the competition much more interesting.

Financially, there is not much to report. The entrance fee was placed at one dollar per team, and one team, the Lillies, failed to comply with the condition, thus leaving five dollars in the treasury, which, on a vote of the executive, was turned over to the West Ends for the purpose of having a photograph taken of the club.

In closing, I might suggest that some changes should be made in the constitution, or rather, that a new constitution, based on the lines of the City Hockey League, be followed. One thing is certain, that the games should, if at all possible, be played on Saturday afternoon, as the practice of breaking up a game into two halves of four and five innings tends to introduce an element of luck and doubt about the game that should be suppressed.

Some standard as to the eligibility of the players in the league should also be set. Last year each team was asked to submit a list of players to the executive, and those whose names met the approval of that body were allowed to play. There was no standard by which a player was to be judged, and it merely depended upon the feeling of the executive as to who should play and who should not. As a result, many were refused permits who had a perfect right to play in the league, while others, better players, and with more experience, were allowed to play. This is bound to occur unless some change is made in the rules of the league to cover this point, and the matter should be settled at to-night's meeting.

There seems no reason why the league should be called the Intermediate Baseball League, in view of the fact that there is no senior league in the city, and a change might well be made in this respect. The title "City League Champions" would be much more gratifying to the winning team than that of "Intermediate Champions." I might also suggest that the league season be made longer this year. There is no reason for bringing the competition to an end in June, just in the middle of the baseball season, and a double schedule should be arranged.

FRED D. CRAIG,
Sec.-Treas. I. B. L.

The election of officers was the next order of business and resulted as follows:

Patrons and Patronesses — Mayor and Mrs. Rush, Mr. and Mrs. James Kendry, ex-M.P.; Mr. and Mrs. R B Hall, M.P.; Mr. and Mrs. J J Howden.

Pres.—Jas. Lang.

Vice-Pres.—D B MacRae.

Sec.-Treas.—H Theobald.

Executive — J Hardwick, West Ends; W J Metheral, Strathconas; Norman Goale, Karnots; H Theobald, Lakeviews; Leo Derocher, Shamrocks; H Staunton, Grafters; R Hillis, Knockers; W. Thornton; Y. M. C. A.; M McMahon., Wellingtons.

President Lang announced that he wished to retire from the office, but the teams would not have it that way, and although other nominations were made, they were withdrawn and Mr. Lang's selection was made unanimous. Secretary-Treasurer Craig was re-nominated, but declined the honour for a second term.

Mr. W J Stacey was elected to the position of secretary, with the understanding that if he could not see his way clear to accept, Mr. Theobald act as secretary. To-day Mr. Stacey stated that it would be impossible for him to act.

A discussion on the rules and regulations of the league followed, and it was warm while it lasted. The point upon which it hinged was the eligibility of the players, and this was not settled. On motion, a committee was appointed, consisting of the president, the secretary-treasurer and W J Metheral, to draft a constitution and report back to the league. The meeting followed this up, however, with passing a resolution to the effect that each team should submit a list of players at the next meeting, those approved of to be allowed to play.

It was moved in amendment that the matter be left in the hands of the committee appointed to draft the constitution, but the amendment was lost by a vote of 6 to 2.

The Strathconas and Shamrocks argued that some standard of eligibility should be set. They wanted to know what men were to be barred from participation in the league, and no one seemed to know just what standard was to be considered. There was a motion from the West Ends that all players be barred who have played in the Midland League or the Senior City League, but that was withdrawn in view of the motion to have the executive decide upon the eligibility of the players. Leo Derocher proposed that an age limit be decided upon, but this was not agreeable to the majority, nor was the suggestion that anyone but Midland League players should be given permission to play.

Corney Burns brought the attention of the league to a letter from Harry H. Love & Company of Toronto, who will give the league a trophy or other prizes for competition, provided the Love's Canadian League ball or the Spalding baseball is used exclusively in the league. The matter was left in the hands of the executive.

The executive will meet on Thursday night, April 23, when each team will submit a list of players for consideration.

With nine teams in sight, the league should have a very successful season.

ARRANGEMENTS MADE FOR THE BIG WALKING TOURNAMENT

An enthusiastic meeting of the committee in charge of the walking race was held last night in the Oriental Hotel, with President R J Munro in the chair. Judging from the interest and zeal of the committee the race will be the greatest success in the history of sport in Peterborough.

It was decided that all those who have $1 tickets for sale should return either the money or the tickets before 6 o'clock on Monday, April 20th.

A committee composed of Messrs. R J Munro, E S Clarry and C G Graham was appointed to looking after the scoring system. This is of course one of the most important things in connection with the race, there being so many possibilities for making mistakes in the distance covered. Mr. Jas. Graham, of Buffalo, the crack American walker, who will take part in the meet was present and gave the committee much valuable information as to the methods adopted on the other side in big races.

The matter of appointing ticket sellers and takers was left to Treasurer C G Graham who is to give a daily statement of the moneys taken in to a representative of the walkers, who will be elected by the competitors before the race opens.

A vote of thanks was passed to Messrs. Hartley and Stevens, the latter of which was appointed manager, for the good services which they have done the walking game in Peterborough.

It was decided to have a track measured three feet out from the pole.

There was a large attendance at the meeting, among those present being S L Brooks, of Toronto, the Welsh and Australian champion; Jas. Graham, of Buffalo, the American champion, and Dave Hartley, Peterborough's great little walker, all of which took an active interest in the business on hand.

ANOTHER MILLBROOK MAN IS ENTERED FOR THE GREAT RACE

Two more entries were received for the walking race to-day, making 24 in all up to date. One is from John Newhall, Jr., Harvey street, city, who writes as follows:—

Peterborough, April 9.

Sporting Editor, Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I submit to you my entry for the six day walking race. Please forward me an application blank. I have been in training several weeks and have a path beat from this city to Lakefield. I am under Trainer Jack Murphy's tuitorship. Hoping to see my application soon on file, I am,

Yours to the end,
JOHN NEWHALL, Jr.,
Harvey street.

To-day's other entry is from Walter Bruce, a twenty-one year old Millbrook boy who was in the city to-day making arrangements for entering the race. To the sporting editor of the Examiner who had a chat with him this morning, Bruce said that he had had but little experience in the walking game but was in good shape and felt confident of making a creditable showing.

Bruce has been doing his training on the road and a week ago walked from Millbrook to Cobourg and back a distance of about 60 miles. He was accompanied by R. McNish, of Millbrook and the two left at 6.30 a.m., arriving at Cobourg a few minutes before 12 a.m., leaving at 1 o'clock, they reached Millbrook again at 7 o'clock, having accomplished fifty miles in under thirteen hours, which, considering the state in which the country roads were at that time, is a most creditable feat.

Bruce returned home to-day, but is expected back in a day or two and and will train here for the race with McNish, who will also be an entrant. Millbrook people are very proud of this pair and express the opinion that they wont be found far from the top when 11 o'clock comes on Saturday night.

BELLEVILLE MAY SEEK ENTRANCE TO MIDLAND BASEBALL LEAGUE

A meeting of baseball enthusiasts was held on Monday night in the Y.M.C.A. rooms, and another meeting, by different parties, was last night held in the Quinte, the object of both parties being to try to arouse interest in the game and provide for good sport in the city this summer. There was a good attendance at last night's meeting, and considerable enthusiasm was displayed. It looks as though, if the St. Lawrence Baseball League is organized, Belleville will surely have a team in it, failing that, entrance to the Midland Baseball League may be obtained. Bloomfield and Wellington have applied for admission to the latter League, which also comprises teams from Port Hope, Cobourg, Peterborough and Lindsay. A good Belleville team in such a league should be just what the doctor ordered for this city, and would, without doubt, be well supported.

At last night's meeting no action was taken as to election of officers, but it was resolved to hold another meeting on Friday night in the City Hall, to which all interested are invited.

Baseball should boom in Belleville this summer, for some solid men and good sports are at the head of the movement.

WRESTLING MATCH IN PETERBORO

Arrangements Said to be Under Way for Bout Between Hurtubise And Kennedy.

The Toronto Star says: — Harry Gatenby, the Yorkshire welter-weight wrestler, Frank Kennedy, the New York light heavyweight, and young Art Edmunds have strenuous times ahead of them.

Gatenby challenged Frank Kennedy to a match, best two in three falls, at the conclusion of Tuesday night's Kennedy-Edmunds' affair at the Labour Temple, and was accepted, but, as this bout will not be pulled off for a week or so, he went after Charles LaRush, who has been doing some wrestling around town lately. He challenged him best two in three falls for $25 after LaRush had thrown Obondo of Montreal at the Star Theatre last night in thirteen minutes. The bout will be pulled off Saturday night if real money is put up. There will be lots of money around, too, that Gatenby can place LaRush the necessary two tumbles under ten minutes. The Yorkshire tyke is a clever one.

The go between he and Kennedy will be a clinker, though there is some doubt as to the ability of the English lad to stand the grueling he needy invariably hands out to his opponents.

There is talk of a match at Peterborough between Eugene Hurtubise, the ex-champion amateur heavyweight wrestler of Canada, and Kennedy. Hurtubise is under suspension with the Peterborough rugby football team by the C.A.A.U., for playing the Montreal rugby club last fall, and it is said that he would turn "pro" for a big bout like this. Kennedy, too, claims that he didn't get any the best of the deal with Edmunds when it came to the officials, and wants another crack at Edmunds. He would sooner have the match pulled off outside Toronto, too, where the crowd is not so hostile.

TORONTO BASKETBALLERS PRAISE PETERBORO' TEAM

Say the Locals are Fastest Team They Have Met in Years.

The Central Y.M.C.A. senior basketball team journeyed to Peterborough last night, says the Toronto Star, of yesterday, and won from the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. boys by the close score of 28-21.

There was very little combination indulged in by either team as the checking was too close and hard. In the first half only five baskets were scored. Peterborough getting three and Central two, but Sievert was as accurate as ever when taking the free shots, and Central was ahead at half-time by the narrow margin of 14 to 13.

A better exhibition of the game was handed out in the second half, both teams being more anxious to play the ball rather than the man. In the first few minutes of this period, Sievert, Tompkins and Britton scored and got a lead of six points, but Peterborough played more aggressive ball than at first, and the game ended 28 to 21 in Toronto's favour.

Peterborough have by far the fastest team they have had in years, and with a little more experience will give any of the senior teams in the country a very busy time.

Sutherland, who played at centre, is a Montreal player of good calibre, knowing all the fine points of the game, and Ray Best is another very promising player, big and strong, with lots of speed.

Sievert of Centrals was the star of the game, getting four baskets and 14 free shots. Swanson and Walker played well together, although they had a pretty busy time looking after Darling and E. M. Best, who play very strenuous games.

CITIZENS PETITIONING FOR DETECTIVE

Will be Placed Before Police Commissioners—Many Names Signed.

It was suggested some time ago by many of the residents of the city that a detective be added to the local police force, as it was considered necessary. The matter has been discussed a great deal of late among the citizens, and the popular opinion was to petition the Police Commissioners. This has been carried out, and a petition is being taken around the city to-day by a well-known gentleman and by the number of merchants and ratepayers attaching their names the idea is apparently meeting with the approval of everyone.

When a sufficient number of names have been attached representing all classes of citizens, the petition will be sent to the city clerk, and the Commissioners will take the matter up at the next meeting.

WOULD LIKE A JUNIOR LEAGUE

Boys of Knox Church are Working With That End in View.

The younger boys of Knox church would like to see a junior baseball league organized this season in connection with the boys of the different city churches. It is felt that no difficulty will be found in securing teams who would be willing to enter, as nearly all the boys clubs have teams, and the only work necessary would be that of amalgamating them into a league. Other church clubs who would join such a league are asked to communicate with the boys of Knox church.

FIVE DOLLARS FOR HIGH SCORE

Mr. J. T. Smythe, Proprietor of Majestic Alleys, Offers This Prize.

Mr. J T Smythe, proprietor of the Majestic Bowling Alleys has decided not to hold a bowling tournament as was intended but will instead offer prizes for high scores. For the best score in three consecutive games made during the month ending May 9th he has offered a five dollar gold piece. In this competition no score of 150 or under will be counted. A box of cigars has also been hung up for the best single score for the month. These inducements should prove popular with the trundlers.

STRANGE ACTIONS OF A PONTYPOOL MAN

A report comes from Cavanville of a young man's strange actions which have been lately noticed. He lives near Pontypool and at a late hour at night has been seen walking the railway track near Cavanville in his bare feet. The people at both hamlets learned of his action and on a succeeding night was watched. It was feared that he intended to do himself injury, either by jumping in the creek or in front of a train. The people were therefore anxious to keep a close watch on him and followed him on Tuesday night. He took his boots off near the cattle yards at Pontypool and started out along the track to Cavanville and returned, put them on again and went home.

It is feared that he is suffering from some form of mental disarrangement as he has been acting otherwise strangely.

For the employees of the Canadian General who have not been able to get their seats marked for the Canadian General Mutual Benefit Society Concert we will reserve the two front rows in the upper gallery for ladies and their escorts.

The ROY Studio

TRAGEDY AND ROMANCE IN THE ROCKIES, THE PICTURESQUE CORNER OF THE DOMINION

Tells of Mountain Climbing Where Human Life Was Sacrificed—Love Stories of Deep Interest.

OUR CANADA OF THE WEST

(Winnipeg Free Press.)

Philip E. Abbot was killed on Aug. 3, 1896, whilst attempting to make an ascent of Mount Lefroy, hitherto unclimbed. On Aug. 3, of the following year, Mount Lefroy was conquered by a party of nine, consisting of Professor Harold B. Dixon, F.R.S., and Dr. J. Norman Collie, F.R.S., both well known British climbers; six members of the Appalachian Mountain Club, Professor Charles E. Fay, Professor Mashael, Professor Noyes, C. S. Thompson, H. C. Parker and Vaux Derlip. The ninth man was Peter Sarbach, a Swiss guide. These two events, which stand out in the climbing annals of the Rockies, have been strangely linked by sentiment. The story is more interesting and more dramatic than that of many of a much-read novel, though what will be unfolded here is a plain unvarnished tale.

Last summer some 140 members of the Alpine Club of Canada camped within the shadow of Lefroy. In the presence of those forbidding, awe-inspiring forms, a natural curiosity arose amongst the members as to whether the Canadian Rockies, like the Swiss peaks, had demanded their toll of human life. In this connection the name of Philip Abbot came up from time to time in conversation, more especially as the actual scene of the tragedy could be reached, and indeed was reached by, a day's tramp. To the best of the writer's belief the accident about to be described is the only instance of the loss of an Alpinist's life in the Rockies. Both 1906 and 1907 saw over 100 members of the Alpine Club of Canada camped in that great pleasure ground and although a good deal of hard and difficult climbing was undertaken, no accident of any kind had to be recorded. And as long as the club can count amongst its members so many climbers thoroughly acquainted with high altitudes, and as long as the actual climbing is so excellently organized, the lamentable death of Philip Abbot will long remain unparalleled. Perhaps this digression will be pardoned.

The Death Trap

It fell to the writer's good fortune last summer to undertake, along with five fellow-members of the Alpine club of Canada, two of whom were young ladies of Winnipeg, a two days' round trip from Paradise Valley to Lake Louise. The route lay over three mountain passes and it also took in the beautiful Lake O'Hara. The last of the three passes was Abbot Pass, called after Philip Abbot. To the northern slope of this defile has been given the name of the Death Trap. However, from the statement of Professor Dixon the tragedy was not due to any obvious element of danger in the pass itself. Since crossing Abbot Pass last summer, the writer has had the privilege of spending some hours with Professor Dixon at his Manchester home, on the walls of which hang many beautiful reminders of Canada and the Rockies. It was suggested to Professor Dixon that the readers of the Manitoba Free Press would be glad to hear from him the story of how he came to climb Lefroy, and the professor having known and visited Winnipeg since it was Fort Garry, consented readily.

One day during the summer of 1892, Professor Dixon was climbing on the skirts of the Matterhorn. He was alone, but presently a young American accompanied by a guide, approached. The Swiss guide was known to the professor for they had climbed together on former occasions. Through this circumstance the professor became acquainted with the young American, who was none other than Philip Abbot. The acquaintance developed rapidly into friendship. They undertook climbs together and in the evenings recounted Alpine experiences of former days. Professor Dixon discovered in Philip Abbot a climber of rare enthusiasm and much promise. Abbot had long ago found the scrambles of the Appalachian Mountain club in the White mountains too tame and his great ambition, hitherto unrealized, was to set his foot on top of the Rockies. At that time Abbot's home at Milwaukee, where he occupied a position as attorney to the

Easter The Symbol Of The Victory Of Eternal Life

The Real Destiny of Immortal Life Brings Joy to All—A Deeper and Closer Knowledge of God the Hope of Mankind—A Sermon on the Easter Idea.

Canadian Dairyman

Whatever the original meaning of the Anglo-Saxon festival of Easter may have been, its essential meaning, as a Christian festival, is, victory over death. But does not death seem, at first sight, to conquer all things? The plant thrills in the breezes of a brief summer, then icy fingers curl the edges of its leaves, nip its tender shoots, and soon lay leaf and flower in the dust. Death has conquered life.

Again, the gaily-painted insect dances joyfully over field and meadow, like a winged sunbeam, in the fragrant air, and presently the chill of an endless night strikes through all its members, and it sinks motionless amid the dead twigs, and leaves, its brothers and sisters of the dust; and death is again the victor.

Yonder is a scholar who has almost completed his profound volume on physics, or mathematics. He needs only a month in which to close his great task. It is the effort of his lifetime. He toils on. He is determined to finish it. But death comes, and demands a halt; the man's eagerly sought goal is in sight, but he will never reach it. Death conquers him. Death is victor.

So it is with all the world's workers, scholars, statesmen, merchants, day-laborers, artists, mechanics. They lay their plans; they see death approaching, they struggle feebly against him, and they sink defeated. He wins victories on every field. Who can stay his triumphant progress?

To this appealing question, ages old, the message of Jesus Christ, if clearly understood, gives a satisfying answer. The foundation of Christ's life and teaching was—if stated in philosophical terms—His absolute knowledge of the supreme reality of spirit, and the comparative insignificance of what we call "matter." Our Lord came into this knowledge, not as the philosophers, like Berkeley, Kant, Hegel, came, by long processes of reasoning, but by insight and revelation. And the way in which the Great Founder of Christianity gives to man, victory over death, is by showing that man is not made of the kind of substances which death can conquer; by showing that man is spirit, having the power of endless life; and when the grave wins its apparent victory, that victory is not gained over the escaping man himself but only over his investiture. Death clutches at a man, and the man escapes, leaving his garment, as Joseph of old, in the hands of the enemy.

That is the way in which Jesus Christ gives victory over death; and it is a real victory, although those who are enslaved by the power of material things will see in these words only the repetition of an old and meaningless phrase. Would that all bereaved hearts in the world could grasp the great truth; for all mourn the loss of near and dear friends; and many timidly wonder whether they shall ever meet and know those friends again. In all hearts there are tender memories, there are echoes of voices which once fell lovingly on the ear; but an echo is not a real voice, and a memory is not a living presence. For all these mourners there is a glad Easter message of victory over death.

Many persons, however, are not able to receive this joyous gospel from Christ; or, if they do take it, it comes to them like a brief message, written in cipher; they have no idea as to how Jesus knew this truth of immortality. And thus they register themselves as spirit, and their friends as spirit; and thus in proportion as they share Christ's sense of the supreme reality and value of spirit over material appearances, they will share His confidence in the verities of the eternal life. A person who does not grasp this knowledge of spiritual realities may be an obedient follower of the Master, but cannot be called an intelligent disciple in spiritual things.

The suggestion arises that there is injustice in having so profound an element in Christ's teaching; one which is too subtle, too refined, for everybody to understand; but such injustice is more apparent than real. Spiritual knowledge does not go hand in hand with book knowledge—with the wisdom of the world; the wayfaring man, though foolish in worldly ways, may, if he will, know himself and his loved ones as spiritual beings, who were not born to die. And beyond that, even when a man does not grasp this truth of the Easter victory, he may yet share in it. A man really is spirit, whether he knows he is spirit or not. To illustrate: Here is the element lately discovered in our atmosphere, the substance called argon; now a man breathes that, whether he knows about it or not. So with the immortal destiny of man, as an imperishable spirit; a man shares that destiny even though he may be utterly ignorant of it; and its joys and its responsibilities will both come to him.

While one asserts the supremacy of spirit over matter, he must not ignore, however, the honest doubts which intrude upon so many intelligent earnest minds. To refuse to consider candidly any suggestions which can arise concerning the nature and destiny of man, is to sink oneself into the narrow groove of the dogmatist. Here, for example, is one of the doubts which have great force with many persons. It is suggested plainly in Dr. Holmes' story, "Elsie Venner," where Mr. Bernard, having recovered from a severe concussion of the brain, and from a prolonged swoon, finds that period of swoon, or coma, an utter blank; and he conjectures whether, if the blow had been severer, and fatal, this consciousness, this state of nothingness, had not been continuous and endless. Most thoughtful persons have faced that dark suggestion, as they have themselves experienced unconsciousness, or have seen it in the case of a friend; and the materialist says that it is evident that the human spirit goes out of light into darkness, out of being into non-being, out of the circle which we call life into the encompassing sea of nothingness which surrounds life.

At first sight this theory seems reasonable; but a closer study will show that the unconsciousness is probably an inherent part of the earthly life, and not of the unearthly life. To illustrate, here is a man in an open field, which is surrounded by a dense hedge or thicket. Now suppose that the man tries to pass outside the field. From his cleared place he plunges into the thicket, struggles with it, finds it impassable, and struggles back into the cleared field. Is that man justified in saying, "Outside this cleared space all is dense undergrowth? All the rest of the world is a thicket?" Certainly he is not. He has not reached the "rest of the world." He had not gotten fairly clear from the field; he had only become entangled in its boundary. And that is what is reasonably true of the state of coma; it is the boundary of the earthly life, not the beginning of the life beyond.

Thus men can speculate about the great problem, but the strongest testimony to the reality of the unseen eternal life is not to be obtained, as many mistakenly suppose, from those who are bending under weakness and infirmity, but from the man who is in the fullest possession of life. He it is who is nearest to the life eternal. As Lucy Larcom said, speaking of the so-called "preparation for death," "There is no preparation needed; for the change is not a transition from a state or condition called life to one called death, but it is a transition from life to life; it is more life, always and forever."

Therefore, let this glorious Easter word of victory bring joy to all. The immortal life is a very real destiny. How dim and shadowy a

HOME-MADE MEDICINE

Said to Relieve Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism

One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion;

One ounce Compound Salatone;

Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla;

Mixed and taken in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime, is stated by a prominent physician to give most excellent results in kidney or urinary afflictions, and also in rheumatism and sciatica. The mixture opens the clogged pores of the kidneys, thus assisting them in their work of filtering all waste and poisonous matter from the blood, and expels these in the urine. To allow this poisonous matter to remain means that it will settle in the muscular tissues or joints, and cause the untold misery known as rheumatism.

The mixture is composed of harmless vegetable ingredients which can be purchased at any good drug store, and mixed at home.

Anyone suffering from any of these afflictions will no doubt be pleased to learn of so simple and highly recommended remedy.

MINERAL POISONS DO NOT CURE

A great deal of harm results from the use of mineral poisons, particularly the mercurial poisons, such as calomel, or pills containing calomel. Many people do not understand the action of these poisons. The fact is that when a person is bilious or constipated, it is an evidence that the cells of the body are enervated or weakened. The taking of calomel stimulates the cells to temporary activity, in the attempt to throw off the poison, just as, even a weak person in great danger, is capable of surprising strength and activity. This is always followed, however by complete exhaustion when the danger is past. So it is with these poisons. The cells while temporarily stimulated, are eventually weakened and the trouble is aggravated. The proper method is to feed the cells, to supply them with nourishment, and this is best accomplished by the vegetable remedies Nature has provided. The most perfect combination of these is found in King Palmetto Compound, composed of Saw Palmetto, Corn Silk, Cascara Sagrada, Couch Grass, Golden Seal and Senna. No secret, just plain common sense, but scientifically prepared from absolutely pure ingredients. For Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache and a generally run down condition, King Palmetto Compound is better for you than pills or the virulent poisons. It purifies the blood and strengthens while it cures. If taken in time, King Palmetto Compound will prevent the development of the incurable diseases arising from impure blood, such as Bright's Disease and Chronic Rheumatism. Price $1.00 per bottle ● Send for free Sample. King Palmetto Company, Bridgeburg, Ont ● King Palmetto Compound is sold and guaranteed by

Red Saunders

...By...

HENRY WALLACE PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHT, 1902, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY

"My, yes! Plenty of such things, Will."

"Then if it ain't too much trouble for you we'll let it go."

"No trouble at all, Will—it will be a regular picnic."

"Boys, you'll eat with me this day," said Red.

They spread the board table beneath an old apple tree and cleaned up for the repast in the kitchen storm shed with an apologetic "Sorry to trouble you, Miss Saunders," or such a matter as each went in.

Just as Miss Mattie was withdrawing the meat from the oven there came a knock at the door.

"Goodness, gracious!" she exclaimed. "Who can that be now? Will, will you see who that is? I can't go."

"Sure!" said Red and went to the door. There stood two women of that indefinite period between forty and sixty, very decently dressed and with some agitation visible in the way they fussily adjusted various parts of their attire.

They started at the sudden spectacle of the huge man who said pleasantly, "How der do, ladies?"

"Why, how do you do?" replied the taller instantly and in a voice she had never heard before. "I hope you're well, sir," a remark which filled her with surprise.

"Thanks, I'm able to assume the perpendicular, as you can see," responded Red, with a handsome smile of welcome. "How do you find yourself?"

"I'm pretty well," said the flustered lady. "How do you do?"

"Durned if we didn't right back where we started from," mourned Red to himself. "If it's one of the customs of this country saying 'how der do' an hour at a stretch, I pass it up." Aloud he said: "Coming along fine. How's your father?" "Cuss me if I don't shift the cut a little anyhow," she added mentally.

"Why, he's very well indeed!" exclaimed the lady, with fervor. "How"—She got no further on the query, for the other woman interrupted in a tone of scandal. "Mary Ann Demilt, how can you talk like that? Your father's been dead this five year last August!"

The horror of the moment was broken by the appearance of Miss Mattie, crying hospitably on seeing the visitors, "Why, Mary and Pauline, how do you do?"

The shorter one, Pauline, looked up and said sharply, "We're well enough, Mattie." She was weary of the form.

"Come right in," said Miss Mattie. "You're just in time for dinner."

There was a great protest at this. They "hadn't a moment to spare;" they were "just going down to the corner and had stopped to say," etc.

"You've got to help me," said Miss Mattie. "Will here has invited the boys who are working for him to stay to dinner, and it won't be any more than Christian for you to help me out."

"Ladies," said Red, "if you don't want to starve some who's deserving of a better fate just take off your fixings and come out to dinner. No," he continued to their protests, which he observed were growing weaker, "it's no trouble at all. There's plenty for everybody. Come one, come all, this house shall fly clean off its base as soon as I! Now, for heaven's sake, ladies, it's all settled—come on!"

It was a jolly dinner party. The young fellows Red had picked up in the blacksmith's shop were not the ordinary quality of loafers. They were boys of good country parentage, with a common school education, who unfortunately could find nothing to do but the occasional odd job. Of course it would not take long to transform them into commoners, but now they were merely thoughtless boys.

The whole affair had an al fresco flavor which stoppered conversation. The two women visitors pitched in and had as good a time as anybody.

In the middle of the festivities a young man walked past the front fence—a stranger evidently, for his clothes were the cut of a city, and a cosmopolitan, up to date city at that. He stopped and looked at the house, hesitated a moment and then walked back to where the folk were eating.

"Excuse me," said he as they looked up at him, "but isn't this Mr. Demilt's house?"

A momentary silence followed, as it was not clear whose turn it was to answer. Miss Mattie glanced around and finding Red's eye on her, replied: "No, sir. Mr. Demilt's house is about a mile farther up the road."

"Dear me!" said the young man ruefully. He was a spick and span, intelligent looking man, with less of the dandy about him than the air of a man who had never worn anything but clothes of the proper trim and become quite used to it. Nevertheless the sweet stood out in drops on his forehead, for Fairfield front "street" savored of a less moral region than it really was on a broiling summer day.

The young man sighed frankly and wiped his head. "Well, that's too bad," he said. "I'm a stranger here—would you kindly tell me where I could get some dinner?"

"What's the matter with that?" inquired Red, pointing to the roast, which still preserved an air of fallen greatness. He had liked the look of the other instantly.

The stranger looked first at Red and then at the roast. "The only thing I can see the matter with that," he answered, "is that it is a slice too thick."

"Keno!" cried Red. "You get it, Mattie, another plate and weapons to fit. Sit down, sir, and rest your fevered feet. If you don't like walking any better than I do, you've probably strewn fragments of one of the commandments all the way from where the stage dropped you to this apple tree."

"It seems to me that I did make some remarks that I never learned at my mother's knee," returned the other, laughing. "And I'm exceedingly obliged for the invitation, as there doesn't seem to be a hotel here, and I am but a degree south of starvation."

"Red or black?" asked the host, with a quick glance at his guest.

The other caught the allusion. "I haven't followed the deal," he replied, "but I'll chance it on the red."

Somehow he felt instantly at home and at ease; it was a quality that Red Saunders dispersed wherever he went.

"There you are, sir," said Red, forwarding a plate full of juicy meat. "The ladies will supply the decorations."

"Do you like rice as a vegetable, sir?" inquired Miss Mattie.

"No, he doesn't," interrupted Red. "He likes it as an animal. Never saw any one who looked less like a vegetable than our friend." The young man's laugh rang out above the others.

Poor Miss Mattie was confused. "It's too bad of you, Will, to put such a meaning on my words," she said.

"The strange part of it is," spoke the young man, seeing an opportunity for a joke and to deal courteously with his entertainers at the same time—"the peculiar fact is that my name is Lettis."

"Foot of the table is Miss Mattie Saunders."

"Lettuce?" cried Red. "Mattie, I apologize—he is a vegetable."

At which they all laughed again.

"And now," said Red, "I'm Red Saunders, late of the Chanta Seechee ranch, territory of Dakota—state of North Dakota, I mean. Can't get used to the state business. There's a Bill and a Dick on this side of me and two Johns and a Sammy on the other. Foot of the table is Miss Mattie Saunders, next to her—just as they run—Miss Pauline Doolittle and Miss Mary Ann Demilt, who may be kin to the gentleman you're seeking."

"Mr. Thomas F. Demilt?" asked the stranger.

"He's my sister," responded Miss Mary Ann. Whereat the youths buried their faces in the plates, as Mr. Thomas F., in spite of many excellent qualities, bore a pathetic resemblance to the title.

"I mean," continued the lady hurriedly, "that I'm his brother."

"By Jiminy, ma'am," exclaimed Red, "but yours is a strange family!"

"What Miss Demilt wishes to say," cut in Miss Doolittle, with some asperity, "is that Mr. Thomas Faulkenstone Demilt is her brother." She did not add, as extreme candor would have urged, "And I have some hope—remote, alas, but there—of becoming sister to Miss Demilt myself."

"Thank you!" said Lettis. "Shall I be able to see him this afternoon?"

"Oh, mercy, yes!" said Miss Mary Ann. "Tom is home all day."

"I can thank the kind fates for that," said Lettis. "I had begun to think he was a myth," and he fell in upon the tender meat with a vigorous appetite of youth and a good digestion.

Nathaniel Lettis was by no means a fool, and he had experience in business, but the mainspring of the young fellow was frankness, and in the course of the dinner he told his errand. Mr. Demilt had written to his firm explaining the advantages of starting a strawboard factory in Fairfield. It was too small a thing for the firm to be interested in, but Lettis had a small capital which he wished to invest in an enterprise of his own handling, and it had struck him that there might be a chance for independence; therefore he had come to find out the lay of the land.

Red Saunders' first glance liking of the stranger deepened as he told of his business. The cowman did not blame people who took obvious ways and dealt in ambiguities, for his experience in the world, which was pretty fairly complete, had told him that craft was a necessity for weak natures; nevertheless he cared not for those who used it.

In his part of the west a man would no more think of giving a false impression of his financial standing to alter his position in one's regard than he would wear corsets. Money was of small consequence; its sequelae of less. Men spoke openly of how much they made, how they liked the job, how their claims were paying. Such matters were neutral ground of chance conversation as the weather is in the east. The rapid and unpredictable changes of fortune gave a tendency to make light of one's present condition. A man would say "I'm busted" without any more feeling than he would say "I have a cold." Now, in Fairfield, that is not likely lonesome in that respect, one of the principal objects in life was to conceal the poverty which would persist in sticking its gaunt elbows through the cloth of words spread over it. Red asked straightforward questions — shrewd ones, too—seeing that the other was one of his own kind and would not resent it.

Lettis wanted nothing better than a chance to expand on the subject. It was close to his heart. He had been a subordinate about as long as a proud and masterful young fellow ought to be. Now he was quivering to try his own strength, and, seeing, for his part, that his host was inspired with a genuine interest and not curiosity, he gave him all the information in his power.

"But a plant like that is going to cost some money, ain't it?" asked Red.

"Too much for me, I'm afraid," replied Lettis. "I have $5,000 to put in, and I suppose I could borrow the rest, but that's saddling the business with too heavy charges right in the beginning. Still, it may not be as bad as I fancy."

Red drummed on the table, thinking. "I wouldn't mind getting into a business of some kind as long as it was making things," he said. "I don't hanker to keep store much. Suppose I go along with you when you look up how much straw is raised and the rest of it?"

"Would you?" cried the young fellow eagerly. "By George, sir, I wish you could see your way clear to take hold of it! Could you stand $10,000, for instance? Excuse the question, but I'm so anxious over this"—

"Lord, what's the harm of asking facts?" said Red. Then, with a gleam of genial pride, "Ten thousand wouldn't break me by a durn sight."

Lettis' boyish face fairly glowed. "It was my good angel made me stop in front of your fence," he said. "I saw you all eating in here, and you looked so jolly that I thought I'd stop on the chance you might be the man I was looking for. Now I'll go right on and see Mr. Demilt and find out what he wants to do in the matter."

"Wait for the wagon and you can ride," said Red. "Boy's gone home to see his dad about working for me this afternoon. In the meantime, if you're not too proud to take hold and help us with this dod ratted fence, I'll be obliged to you."

"Bring on your fence! I'm ready," said Lettis.

"Come on, boys!" said Red, and the party rose from the table. Later the wagon came up.

"Well, good day, Lettis," said Red. "If you can't get quarters anywhere else, come on and help me hold the barn down."

"Do you sleep in the barn? Then I'll come back sure. Tell you how it is, Mr. Saunders. I've been stuck up in a three by nine office for four years—nose held to 'A to M, western branch,' and if I'm not sick of it there's no such thing as sickness. To get out and breathe the fresh air, to see the country, to be my own master—well, sir, it just makes me tremble to think of it! I hope you find the strawboard what you want to take up."

"I shouldn't wonder if it would be," answered Red. "We'll make a corking team to do business, Lettis, I can see that—so cautious and full of tricks and all that."

The young man laughed and then sobered down. "Of course I know the whole thing would look insane to most people," he said sturdily, "but I've been in business long enough to see sharp gentlemen come to grief in spite of their funny work. I don't believe a man'll come to any more harm by believing people mean well by him than he would by working on the other tack."

"Good boy!" said Red, slapping him on the back. "You stick to that and you'll get a satisfaction out of it that money couldn't buy you. Another thing, you'd never get a cent out of me in this world if you were one of these smooth young men. My eye teeth are cut, son, for all I may seem easy. The man that does me a trick has a chance for bad luck, and you can bet on that."

"Lord, I believe you!" replied Lettis, taking in the dimensions of his new friend. "Well, goodby for the present, Mr. Saunders. Thank you for the dinner and still more for the heart you have put into me."

At 6 o'clock the fence was not quite finished.

"If you'll stay with me until the thing's done, I'll stand another dollar all around," said Red. "I don't want it to stare me in the face tomorrow."

The eldest spoke up. "We'll stay with you, Mr. Saunders, but we don't want any money for it, do we, fellers?"

"No," they replied in chorus, well meaning what they said.

"Why, you're perfectly welcome to the cash!" said Red.

"And you're welcome to the work," retorted the boy. "We're paid plenty as it is."

"If that's the way you look at it, I'm much obliged to you," said Red, who would not have discouraged such a feeling for anything. He said to himself, "This don't seem much like the kind of people I've heard inhabited these parts. Those boys are all right. Reckon if you use people decent they'll play up to your lead, no matter what country it is."

At 7:30 the fence was done, gorgeous in a coat of fresh red paint, and the hands departed, each with a slice of Miss Mattie's chocolate cake, a thing to make the heathen gods feel contemptuous of ambrosia.

They went straight to the blacksmith's shop, where they were anxiously expected.

"Good Lord!" he said a little later, "if you fellers will talk one at a time, p'raps I can make out what's happened. Now, Sammy, s'p'ose you do the speaking?"

Whereupon Sammy faithfully chronicled the events of the day. The boys had behaved themselves as if there was nothing out of the common happening while they were with Red, being held up by a sense of pride, but naturally the splendid physique of the cowman, his picturesque attire, his abandoned way of scattering money around and the air of a frolic he had managed to impart to a day's hard work—all had effect on imagination, and the boys were very much excited.

"I'd like to know how many Injuns that feller's killed!" piped up the youngest. "Hy! He could grab hold of a man and wring his neck like a chicken."

"Aw, tst!" remonstrated the blacksmith. But the elders stood by the younker this time.

"Yes, he could, Mr. Farrell" said they. "You ought to seen him when he rolled up his sleeves! He's got an arm on him like the hind leg of a horse, and he uses an ax like a tack hammer. He got mad once when he pounded his thumb and busted the post square in two with one crack."

"Well, he looks like a husky man," admitted the blacksmith. "But why didn't you boys take the extry dollar when he made the offer? He 'pears to know what he was about, and it looks kind of foolish to say 'no' to it."

There was a moment's silence. "We wanted to show him we were just as good as the folks he knew," explained the eldest somewhat shamefacedly.

The blacksmith straightened himself. "Quite right, too," said he. "We air when you come to that." A little pride is a wonderful tonic. Each man of that gathering felt himself the better for the display of it.

In the meantime Red was repairing the ravages of the day opposite Miss Mattie at a supper table which was bountifully spread. Miss Mattie put two and two together and found they meant a larger sum of eatables than she had hitherto felt sufficient, and, with a little pang at the thought of the inadequacy of her first offering to her cousin, provided such fatness as the land of Fairfield boasted.

They discussed the events of the day with satisfaction.

"My!" said Miss Mattie. "You do things wholesale while you are about it, Will, don't you?"

Red smiled in pleased acknowledgment. "I'm no peanut stand, old lady," said he. "I like to see things move."

Then Miss Mattie broached the question she had been hovering around ever since her guests had taken their leave.

"Do you think you'll really go into business with that young man who was here to dinner?" she asked.

"Why, I think it's kinder likely," said Red.

"But you don't know anything about him, Will," she continued, putting the weak side of her desire forward in order to rest more securely if that stood the test.

"No, I don't," agreed Red. "But here's the way I feel about that: I want to be doing something according to my size; besides that, it would be a good thing for this place if some kind of a live doings was to start here. All right, that's my side of it. Now, as far as not knowing that young feller's concerned, I might think I knew him from cyclone cellar to roof tree, and he might do me to a crowded house. My idea is that life's a good deal like faro—you know how that is."

"I remember about his not letting the people go, but I'm afraid I don't know my Bible as well as I ought to, Will," apologized Miss Mattie, rather astonished at his allusion.

BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically, I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

Galway Council Will Seek The Assistance Of Government

Union Creek Backing Up—Causes Trouble And The Galway People Want the Stream Cleared Out.

BURNT RIVER 'PHONE CO.

Examiner Special.

The Galway council met on Monday, March 30, at a call from the reeve, with all the members present. On motion the minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Moved by Mr. David Curtin and and Mr. William Hunter, that this council memorialize Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., asking a grant of $500 for the purpose of cleaning out the Union creek and its tributaries, as the backing up of these waters is a great injury to the roads, especially in one instance, where it has washed out the road almost entirely, also flooding several hundred acres of land. The municipal council is annually at a great expense repairing five bridges on the road affected by the holding back of those waters, and that the clerk forward a copy of this resolution to Mr. Hall.

Moved by Mr. John Clark and Mr. Wm. Hunter, that this council pass a bylaw in accordance with the statutes at its next regular meeting empowering the Burnt River Telephone Company to erect poles along the roads in the township of Galway, and also that the auditors' report be received and adopted, and the clerk to get one hundred copies printed for distribution.

Moved by Mr. David Curtin and and Mr. William Hunter, that the collector be authorized to accept the sum of $7.43 as payment in full of arrears up to January 1, 1907 for lot 6, con. 17, Galway, and also that Mr. Curtin be refunded $1.74 overcharge in taxes.

On motion, Bylaw No. 227, appointing pathmasters, poundkeepers and fence - viewers, received its several readings and was signed and sealed.

Moved by Mr. David Curtin and Mr. John Clark, that the Examiner Printing Company be paid $3.75 on account.

Council adjourned till June 1 to meet as Court of Revision.

TO CELEBRATE ON JULY 1ST

Hastings to Hold a Demonstration on That Day—Snow Causes Some Trouble.

FARMERS ARE DOWNCAST

Examiner Special.

Hastings, April 8.—Where the people climbed over immense snow banks in the winter, considerable trouble has been found, especially on the road between Hastings and Norwood, as the greater part had to be shovelled out to make it fit for the wheels.

The sugarmakers in this locality are meeting with success under the prevailing conditions of the weather at present, but the farmers are feeling downcast on account of their wheat and clover. They are also wishing for the green verdure as their provender of 1907 has been diminished to very small quantities in some places.

Hastings has set apart the 1st of July as its big day for amusement. The citizens have decided in plenty of time to exclude opposition, but have they conferred with any astrologer, as in the past they have never been blessed with an over supply of fine weather.

Mr. Ed. Lynch is repairing his launch for the coming season.

Mr. S. Fisher is moving to Campbellford.

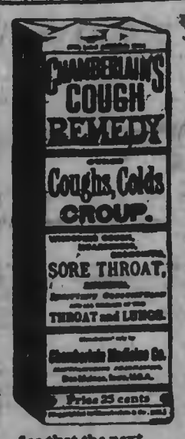
Mr. and Mrs. Harry Convey of Saskatoon are visiting friends in Hastings.

Miss E. Taylor is visiting Miss Coughlan of Hastings.

Mr. J. C. Lynch lost a valuable horse during the past week.

Mr. Percy Walsh is repairing the drug store and Mr. Joe Coughlan is having the inside of his store repaired.

Mrs. J. J. Lynch is visiting friends in Peterborough.



See that the next cough remedy you buy is wrapped like this.

A GOOD NAME

EVERY one desires to establish for himself a good name, but it takes time to win the confidence of your fellow men. Truth and perseverance are the alternate rungs on the ladder of success, and he who reaches the top must make no false step.

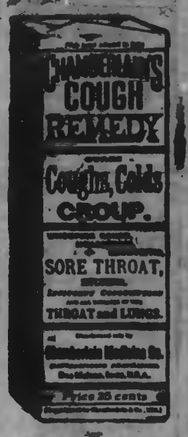
There are hundreds of cough medicines with all sorts of names, each claiming to be the best, but the test of time will prove whether or not they have established the right to be called the best.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has had thirty-five years of sale and use, and has cured coughs and colds under all conditions, in all countries and climates, and the verdict today is that it has no equal.

Careful selection of the drugs, intelligent and skillful compounding, the entire absence of opium, chloroform, or any other harmful ingredient, and the absolute purity of every article that goes into its composition, has built up and sustained its good name.

These are the things you should remember, and the next time you want a cough medicine, it is worth while to see that you get Chamberlain's and secure the virtues which a good name implies.

Every dealer who sells a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy guarantees it to give satisfaction or he will refund the money.



Price, 25c.

Many Social Events Taking Place In Lively Havelock

Examiner Special:

Havelock, April 8. — Misses Elsie and Nellie Taylor of Peterborough are the guests of Miss Loretta Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Barrett attended the opera at Peterborough Wednesday night.

Mrs. Thos. Bennett spent a few days last week with friends in Peterborough.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Haughton passed away on Tuesday after a short illness. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock to the Maple Grove cemetery.

Rev. Mr. Reed of Campbellford conducted the Lenten service in St. John's church on Thursday evening, April 2.

The Royal Scots Concert Company will appear in the opera house on Thursday night of next week, April 9. This company has appeared here on different occasions in the past, always delighting the audiences.

The "Big Five," the five railway organizations in town, will be the hosts at an "at-home" to be held in the town hall on Easter Monday, April 20.

Mr. P. Vanalstine spent Sunday of last week with friends in Norwood.

Mr. Wm. Dinson had the misfortune to scald his arm while carrying a pail of hot water. He slipped and fell, the contents going on his arm.

Mr. Jesse Campney has purchased the blacksmith shop lately occupied by Mr. Ed. McMullen, and is now doing business again in his old stand.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kelley of Sudbury are the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Cole, of town. Mr. Kelley had the misfortune to have his foot crushed between two cars while working on the C.P.R. at Sudbury. So serious was the injury that the amputation of two toes was found necessary.

On Tuesday of last week at Perth the marriage of Miss Annie Morrison of Maberly to Mr. George Ritchie of town was solemnized. Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie are residing with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ritchie of town.

Mr. Joseph Dorricott has sold his residence on Matheson street, and will, with his family, leave for Toronto about April 20, where they will in future reside. Their numerous friends in town will learn with much regret of their departure, but wish them prosperity and success in their new home.

A large number from town attended a dance at the Preneveu town hall on Wednesday night. The manager, Mr. Bert Easton, has been conducting a series of dances during the past month, but we are informed that owing to the conduct of several men last evening this will be the last, as considerable damage was done.

Miss Bessie Rose spent Thursday in Lindsay.

Miss Loretta Bennett spent Sunday in Peterborough the guest of friends.

Miss Warren of the school staff has sent in her resignation, which has been accepted by the School Board.

Two Alderville Indians in Search of Muskrats—Latest Keene News

Examiner Special.

Keene, April 8.—Mr. Isaac Fife has sold his farm on the sixth line and bought a house in Peterborough where he intends taking up his residence.

Tenders will be received until the 20th of April, for making tile for the township for the coming season. The moulds and material will be supplied by the township.

Mr. John Lang ex-M.P., has bought a park lot on High street from the William Carter Estate, and will probably sub-divide it into building lots.

Mrs. Jas. Brough and Miss Mary Brough left Tuesday for New Lakeard where they will in future reside.

A couple of Alderville Indians are camped at the "Devil's Elbow" to be ready for the muskrats when the ice goes out.

The water in the river is remarkably high at present. The ice is not out yet and will not likely last more than a week longer.

Mr. John Knox has sold out his general store to his son Mr. Robert Knox, who takes possession immediately.

Baby's Own Tablets will promptly and surely cure all the minor ailments of babies and young children, such as constipation, colic indigestion, diarrhoea, worms, teething troubles. They break up colds, prevent croup and cure simple fever. The Tablets contain no poisonous opiate or narcotic, as is testified by a government analyst. Mrs. Ronald F. Seafield, Palmer Rapids, Ont., says:—"I have found Baby's Own Tablets so satisfactory in curing the ailments of childhood that I would not care to be without them in the home." Sold by medicine dealers, or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Creeks And Lakes Open Early

River Drivers Will be Able to Get to Work in Good Time.

Examiner Special.

Apsley, April 8.—Old winter is dying very hard. Snow is going very slowly as we have very cold nights.

Mrs. Wm. Wilson and Mrs. B. Coones, who have been very ill from the effects of la grippe, are recovering.

Quite a number of our farmers have begun to make maple syrup and sugar, but the sap is running only fairly well yet.

A meeting of the township council will be held in the town hall at Apsley on April 4.

Mrs. (Dr.) Ball left for Toronto on Tuesday on a visit to her children residing there.

Mr. W. J. Wilson left on Tuesday on a business trip to Peterborough.

The creeks in the back country are breaking up very fast as the ice was poor. The river drivers will soon be able to get to work. The ice in the lakes is also bad and there should be an early opening up.

Wedding at Highland Grove

Nuptials of Mr. Harvey Neil and Miss Myrtle Hubble.

Examiner Special.

Highland Grove, April 8.—Mr. John McGuire, of Kinmount, has gone home after spending the winter in this locality.

A quiet wedding took place at Highland Grove, Tuesday March 31, at 2 p.m. The contracting parties were Mr. Harvey Neil and Miss Myrtle Hubble, daughter of Mr. Richard Hubble. The ceremony was performed in the home of Mr. H. Neil, father of the groom, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Mr. Mitchell, English minister of Bancroft.

Mrs. A Mitchell is very ill with a severe attack of pneumonia of the lungs and is not expected to live.

Mr. and Mrs. A Atcheson have returned home from Fenelon Falls where they were visiting relatives.

RUDYARD KIPLING WRITES ABOUT CANADIAN UNIONS

Mr. Kipling's fifth "Letter to the Family," in this week's Collier's, is entitles "The Rule of the Servant," and is a stern arraignment of labour-union policy on the Pacific Coast in regard to Oriental labour. Mr. Kipling holds Chinamen the best of servants, observes that the doubling of the head tax has doubled the price of Chinese labour, and adds that "this is one of the reasons why overworked white women die or go off their heads; and why in new cities you can see blocks of flats being built to minimize the inconveniences of housekeeping without help. The birth rate will fall later in exact proportion to those flats. The Hindus, he observes are not understood but not hated; with the least little care and attention they could be made most valuable. Some improvements in the methods of handling them are needed.

It is the Japanese that form the basis of the people and of the article.

"But when one began to ask questions one got lost in a maze of hints, reservations and orations, mostly delivered with constraint, as though the talkers were saying a piece learned by heart," he writes. Here are some samples:

"A man penned me in a corner with a single heavily capitalized sentence. 'There is a General Sentiment among Our People that the Japanese Must Go,' said he.

"'Very good,' said I. How d'you propose to set about it'

"That is nothing to us. There is a General Sentiment,' etc.

Another man was a little more explicit.

"'We must develop our Resources plowly, sir—with an Eye to the interests of our Children. We must preserve the Continent for Races which will assimilate with Ours. We must not be swamped by aliens.'"

Mr. Kipling has recorded sundry of these conversations, including some which explained why (British Columbia, as represented by the talkers, could not get and did not really particularly want even 'Immigration of a Type that will not Assimilate with Our People." And then he gives the woman's side of the case in a tragic paragraph or two.

"We have to pay for this precious state of things with our health and our children's," said one woman, and added that she had stopped her sister coming out west. It was no use importing servants from England; they would not stay. Mr. Kipling asked if she objected to Japanese.

"Of course not. No one does. It's only politics. The wives of the men who earn six and seven dollars a day—skilled labour they call it—have Chinese and Jap servants. We can't afford it. We have to think of saving for the future, but those other people live up to every cent they earn. They know they're all right. They're Labour. They'll be looked after, whatever happens. You can see how the state looks after me."

The latter half of the article, which is of the utmost interest and deals entirely with this vital problem, is concerned with the reasons for the attitude of the labour organizations and the influence of the violent tendencies which percolate across the border.

The EDISON PHONOGRAPH

MR. EDISON has succeeded in making the Phonograph so clear and so perfect that its rendition of all kinds of music and other sounds is remarkable and almost beyond belief. The Edison Phonograph is not only the greatest entertainer

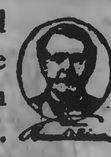
that can be introduced into a home; it is also a scientific apparatus which will help to educate the minds of the children who listen to it. Did you ever hear an Edison Phonograph—not the so-called talking machine, but the Edison Phonograph, the one which Mr. Edison invented and which has received all his greatest improvements? If you have not, you do not know how perfect a rendition of sound can be made by mechanical means.



You owe it to yourself to go to the nearest dealer and see and hear the Edison, and especially to ask for the new model with the big horn. A book about it will be mailed free, on request, to any address.

We Desire Good, Live Dealers to sell Edison Phonographs in every town where we are not now well represented. Dealers having established stores should write at once to

INTERESTING BRIEFS FROM KEENE

Medicine Troupe Has Amused the Villagers—Epworth League Meeting.

A FEW PERSONAL ITEMS

Examiner Special

Keene, April 8.—The Epworth League have arranged to have Rev. John R Clarke, a prominent Methodist minister, and for several years, platform manager of the Chatauguay gathering give a lecture in the two mile on Good Friday evening. The subject will be "To and Fro in London."

A medicine troupe gave a series of concerts in Lang town hall last week which were well attended. Considerable interest was added to the concert by a contest in which prizes were given for the prettiest girl, ugliest man, laziest man, prettiest baby, etc.

Mr. Wm. Wedlock has sold his property near Roseneath to Mr. George, of Alnwick, after cutting the timber off it.

Miss Mary Fite, Indian River, was the guest of Mrs. L. Burley, last week.

Mr. L Burley has added to the equipment of his blacksmith shop by installing a cold tire-setter with which he can set a set of buggy or wagon tires in twenty minutes without removing from the rim or heating. In future Mr. Burley's patrons can get their tires set while they wait instead of having to leave a vehicle and calling for it some other day. The machine it is claimed does better work than can possibly be done setting the tires hot, as it does not burn the wood and gives the wheel exactly the dish required. It is also claimed that the tires set by this machine stay tight longer than if set by hand.

The annual report of the united Presbyterian churches of Keene and Westwood indicates that congregation is in a flourishing condition. The financial statement show total receipts for the year of nearly five thousand dollars. The congregations besides supporting a regular pastor has for several years also supported a missionary, Rev. Mr. Harcourt, in India, and besides has given liberally to the various schemes of teh church.

We are pleased to state that Mr. Wm. Shearer, who has been seriously ill, is very much improved.

A social will be held in the town hall on Monday evening, April 13th, Easter Monday, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Christian Endeavour Society.

Mr. John Brough left Wednesday Cobalt where he intends spending the summer.

Mr. Norman Taylor has secured a position in Messrs. Anderson & Skinner's general store.

Eating Carelessly

frequently causes stomach troubles, but careful eating will never right them. When your stomach is out of condition, it needs help that no food can supply. It must be thoroughly cleansed, settled and strengthened. Food never does this.

BEECHAM'S PILLS

are the greatest stomach medicine human skill ever compounded. Don't attempt to cure your stomach by dieting. You will half starve and get little benefit. Give Beecham's Pills a chance and you will again know the pleasures of a sound digestion. Appetite will return and the stomach again work without any discomfort. The skin will clear, the face plump out, while people will remark "How well you're looking." These are facts, not fancies. Prove it yourself.

Was Bitten By His Own Dog

Graystock Man Was Victim of an Accident—Residents Come to Peterborough.

Examiner Special.

Graystock, April 8. — Despite the very bad winter, we are all able to be about again and visit the city once in a while.

Misses Lottie and Jean Lanchashire left for the West last week where they intend residing the coming summer.

Owing to the severity of the past winter and the scarcity of feed some of our farmers have lost a number of horses and cows.

Mr. Sam Hayes has sold a fine team of horses to Mr. Fitzgerald of Peterborough.

Miss Lizzie Perry, who has been residing in Peterborough during the past winter, has returned to Zion, where she intends to remain for the summer.

The Lakefield Portland Cement Company's blue clay plant has been shut down on account of high water. A considerable sum of money was spent in trying to drain the swamps, but did not go deep enough. As soon as the weather is favourable they intend deepening them.

Mr. Jos. Manley is busy tearing down the old house on the Morgan farm, and intends building a fine new one this summer.

Mrs. Wm. Rutherford and daughter Olive of Fenelon Falls have returned to their homes after spending a few weeks visiting their many friends at Zion and elsewhere.

Mr. Jas. Walker has sold his farm to Mr. Wesley Robinson for $6,000.

Messrs. W. Rutherford, D. Nurse and S. Redmond were appointed pathmasters for 1908.

Mr. Jos. Dionne, who has been spending the winter months in King township, Western Ontario, has returned to Zion again and will reside with his former employer, Mr. W. Rutherford.

Mr. Thos. Hunter has moved to North Monaghan to the old Captain Wallace's farm, where he, with his brother-in-law, Mr. Dumett, intends to conduct a milk and dairy farm.

Mr. W Pickel met with a painful accident, being severely bitten by his own dog. The doctor was called and dressed the wound. The affair resulted in the shooting of the animal.

Mrs. Wm. Weaver is at present visiting friends at Little Britain.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Hull of Peterborough are guests at Mr. James Walker's here.

Mr. Wm. Rutherford has purchased a fine new milk cow at the Jas. Walker sale. Judging from the price paid it is reckoned to be something more than common.

Mr. Thos. Breckenridge of Westwood, and brother Norman, of Monaghan, were here recently buying fat cattle.

Mr. Henry Reed and family have moved to East City and will reside there for the summer.

FAREWELL SERMONS OF MR. BATTERSBY

He Leaves Young's Point Next Week for Essonville.

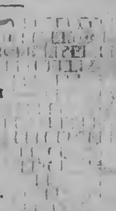
Examiner Special:

Warsaw, April 8.—Rev. H. F. Battersby of Young's Point on Sunday next preaches his farewell sermon in St. Mark's church here, St. George's church at Hall's Glen and St. Aiden's church at Young's Point. Next week Rev. Mr. Battersby leaves for his new field of labour at Essonville.

FAULTS OF LOVELY WOMEN

Which are Assigned to Them by Men—Slang is Never Ladylike, Says Preacher.

THE MARRIAGE QUESTION



Slang.
Vanity.
Gossip.
Nagging.
Insincerity.
Artificiality.
Small Talk.
Self-centered.
Frivolous talk.
Narrow outlook.
Neglects mother.
Little self-respect.
Lacks high ideals.
Too fond of dress.
Careless in manner.
Impolite in street car.
Low standard modesty.
Extravagance of speech.
Severe on accused girls.
Thinks only of marriage.
Bothers worried husband.
Admires herself too much.
Hates hearing she has faults.
Lenient concerning men's morals.

"I'm exceedingly sorry that probably over 200 people have had to be turned away," said Rev. E. C. Laker, of a Methodist church in Toronto, recently when he was about to read some of the anonymous letters written by request to him, and in which the foregoing were stated to be some of the women's faults.

Overflowing into the choir's section and the space within the altar rail and blockading the aisles with chairs and by standing in comparatively large numbers the congregation broke whatever fire by-laws exist concerning people in churches.

"Ladies," said Mr. Laker, "remember, while I'm hurting you that you can write to me this week about the men, and that they'll get their share next Sunday night."

Of the many letters which he announced that he had received, the preacher mentioned the contents of seven.

Ladies had a narrow outlook, and would not talk on serious subjects, according to one man, who advocated good poetry and prose as a cure.

Pulpit Bravery

"I want to congratulate you on your bravery," declared another writer. "There's too much namby-pamby preaching."

That the standard of self-respect and modesty in business girls was low was the charge of one man, who accused them also of being flirts, fond of dress, but with little regard for mother. He thought that they seemed to have become a "silly, giddy lot of unbalanced girls."

That men had more respect for womanhood than women for manhood was the opinion of one man, who quoted the observations of someone else, "that a woman is particular whom she marries till she's asked." The letter writer wondered where you'd find the man who would marry a girl who smoked and chewed tobacco and drank. While not sermonizing against tobacco, he said, "Not every tobacco user is a horse-thief, but every horse-thief is a tobacco user."

Common Fault

One man censured a woman who takes a man's seat in a street car, but gives no "thank you" and another held that the worried business man "should be let alone at home."

Lastly, one man told of a factory employing 200 girls, of whom "at least one-third were supposed to be devout Christians." These girls without enquiry, obtained the dismissal of one of their number about whom a mean story had been told, and then the men scorned the Christianity of the girls.

Mr. Laker's text, taken from the 31st chapter of Proverbs, was "Who can find a virtuous woman? For her price is far above rubies."

"One would think they had dipped their pens in the rainbow and dried the ink with the dust of rubies," he said of the poets who had praised women.

He didn't agree with the French proverb that a woman's sword is her tongue, and that very few suffer it to rust in the scabbard.

That women had aversion to being told that they had faults was the first point which Mr. Laker drew from the correspondence from the men. He considered that the writers of the letters were not quite right on that point.

Slang

He believed also that there was too much severity in the men's charges that women were given to small talk speech.

"Slang is never ladylike," he said, "and certain coarse expressions seem so much coarser when they come from women's lips."

"Certain expletives on the road to profanity, and used by women," he referred to as "female sweating."

"Oh, these gossips who are assassins of character," he cried. "Nothing is so un-Christian and anti-Christian as some of the gossip of to-day."

"Another letter," he added, "says that women nag, nag, nag at their husbands till they drive them to drink and the devil. If there's one title of truth in that, go home and ask your husband's pardon, and ask God to forgive you."

Wants Whipping Post

"I wish there was a whipping post, and I'd like to be the whipper, for the wife beater, and then I'd like to see some punishment for the woman who nags."

"God likes fashion," declared Mr. Laker, after telling of men's charges concerning women's vanity artificality and fondness of dress.

The daisy, honeysuckle and snow flake, he believed, had fashion, and "there was never an ocean wave that was not decked with golden sunlight."

"Fashions are improving," he said, "I can prove it from the Bible," and he read of the many and wonderful bits of jewelry and articles of clothing mentioned by a Biblical writer.

Then he censured the women whose dresses by their flimsiness led to catching cold.

"Some women boast of the hearts they have taken as an Indian boasts of the scalps he has won," he said in referring to men's charge that women were insincere in the matter of affection.

"Is the robbery of the heart affection any less a crime than the robbery of a purse.

Almost the final shots grew out of men's allegations that all some women think only of getting married.

"To be, or not to be, married," declared Mr. Laker, "is not the greatest question for the women of to-day. The Bible says it is not good for man to be alone, but I don't see where it says that of women."

"It's this fear of missing a chance of marriage that I condemn," he declared in advice to the fair sex to be true womanly women.

HOW TO GROW GOOD POTATOES

A Well Drained Sandy Loam Should be Selected for Their Growth.

Canadian Dairyman

The potato will grow in almost any soil of ordinary fertility, but for an even-sized, marketable and edible tuber, a well drained sandy loam is the best. The soil is best prepared in either of the following ways, namely, by manuring it with well-rotted stable manure, or by plowing under a crop of clover. If the former method is adopted, the land should be plowed the previous autumn, and the manure evenly distributed at the rate of from ten to twelve tons to the acre the following spring. After the manure is spread, the land should be thoroughly worked with a disc harrow and then with a smoothing harrow so as to thoroughly incorporate the manure with the soil. For the latter method, the best way is to plow under the crop of clover in the spring as early as the land can be worked, followed by discing so as to break up the clover sod into as small particles as possible.

The seed should be cut the desired size and planted as soon as possible to avoid drying. If planting by machine, it can be set so as to plant any desired distance in the row as well as between the rows as well as the depth of planting, which should be about three inches in loose soil. For hand planting, the handiest way is to take a heavy corn marker so as to mark the rows from thirty to thirty six inches apart and about three inches deep, planting the seed or sets from ten to fourteen inches apart in the rows according to fertility of the soil. The rows of seed should be covered with a double-mould-board plough so as to leave the soil in high ridge over each row.

PROPER CARE OF FARM HORSES

The Initial Work for Colts in the Spring Should be Light.

Canadian Dairyman

The spring season is a trying one on farm work horses. Usually they are idle during the winter, and should not be worked too hard at the commencement of seeding. If before the spring work begins, horses have had a few weeks' training in some light work they will render better service and come through the seeding operations in better condition.

Many colts are put to work for the first time in the fields in the spring. These should be handled with the greatest care. The initial work they do should be light and increased as the colts become accustomed to hard work. The value of a colt may be decreased 50 per cent. by injudicious treatment when put to work. They cannot stand the hard work of the trained horse. While it is advisable that the older horse be toned up to the work, it is infinitely more so that the colt should be so treated. Many an otherwise good colt has been spoiled during two or three weeks' hard work in the field when the spring rush is on, by not being carefully treated.

After the winter idleness horses' shoulders are more or less tender. Care should be taken that the collar fits properly and is in clean condition. Especially should the shoulders of the young horses be watched to prevent abrasions and soreness. A strong solution of white oak bark rubbed on, will harden them somewhat, and there will be less danger of their becoming tender.

A CO-OPERATIVE MILK MOVEMENT

Dunlop and Other Scotch Cities are Making the Experiment.

Canadian Dairyman

The cooperative movement is being applied to the supplying of milk to cities in Scotland. At Dunlop a co-operative organization has been formed and a milk depot erected to which the members, numbering twenty-nine, will send their milk, amounting to from 1,200 to 1,500 gallons daily for despatch to Glasgow or other places. The milk will be cooled by up-to-date refrigerating machinery, and handled in the most approved way. The necessary plant will be installed for converting the overplus into butter or cheese at times. When milk is plentiful and the demand slow, thus relieving the market from pressure and the seller or purchaser, as the case may be, from unavoidable loss.

The capital for launching it is being supplied by a couple of wealthy men of the town, at nominal interest. The only security asked from the purchasers is a guarantee of a supply of not less than 1,000 gallons of milk daily for two years and that each member guarantees to supply half as much during the winter as he does during the summer. By co-operating in this way and supplying a large quantity of first-class milk better prices are looked for.

A PAIN CRIPPLE.

Tortured and Tormented with Rheumatism and Sciatica—South American Rheumatic Cure Works the Wonder.

Mrs. John Fisher, Woodstock, N.B., writes: "I had been suffering for over three years from muscular rheumatism and on one occasion I had a very acute attack of sciatica. For several weeks I was unable to walk or attend to my household duties. Tried several remedies, and physicians failed to give me relief. I saw South American Rheumatic Cure advertised and bought a bottle. It did me a wonderful lot of good. Four bottles effected a perfect and permanent cure." (13)

STOP BOYS SMOKING

Mr. Blain Would Deprive Youths of Their Cigarettes.

SIR WILFRID'S OBJECTIONS

Amendments to Inland Revenue Act—Changes In Essex Duties—Tobacco Poor Man's Luxury, Says Premier—Hostility to Changes In Tobacco Stamps—House to Rise For the Easter Vacation.

Ottawa, April 10.—When some weeks ago Mr. Blain of Peel endeavored to get the Government to declare itself on the evils of cigarettes and to introduce a bill for their prohibition Sir Wilfrid Laurier skillfully side-stepped and the resolution went to the foot of the list, not to be reached again this session.

Yesterday Mr. Blain saw his opportunity when the Inland Revenue Act amendments were before the House. After much urging by Mr. Blain, Sir Wilfrid Laurier rose. His argument was that it would never do to deprive a mature man of the pleasures of the cigarette just because tobacco in this form is harmful to the youth.

Mr. Templeman's bill to amend the Inland Revenue Act was discussed in committee. The bill carries out changes in excise duties embodied in Mr. Fielding's budget statement.

Mr. Blain deemed the time opportune for the Government to state its intentions in regard to the suppression of the manufacture and sale of cigarettes, but he could get no other reply from Mr. Templeman than that he was in "sympathy" with the idea, while Mr. Brodeur also was sympathetic, but could not promise legislation just now.

Mr. Foster dilated upon the deleterious effects of cigarette smoking, and thought that as Mr. Blain's motion had been shut off by a device well-known to the Government the promoter of that legislation was within his right in asking the Government to do more than express sympathy.

After more to the same effect the Prime Minister was urged to give his view. Not using tobacco in any form himself, he was disinterested, and if he followed his own inclinations he would prohibit the sale of tobacco of all kinds. He agreed that the use of cigarettes by immature youths was harmful, but if that were so, why should mature men, to whom the use was innocuous, be prohibited from smoking cigarettes?

If innocuous to mature men why should they be deprived of that comfort? Tobacco was a luxury for the poor man, and Mr. Blain was radical in moving to prohibit its use by men to whom is was innocuous.

Mr. Foster said his argument was that cigarettes were less noxious to mature men.

"At all events," replied Sir Wilfrid, "I can't see that tobacco is more harmfu in one form than in another. I have never seen evidence to satisfy me." Continuing, he said the great mischief in the cigarette was its cheapness. He believed that tobacco in any form was injurious to immature boys, but did Mr. Foster think cigarettes were more harmful than tobacco in other forms?

"To the boy, yes," answered Mr. Foster.

Mr. Blain concluded the debate on this point by pointing out that the Government had been playing with the question. The Minister of Agriculture last session promised to support such legislation. Mr. Blain thought full-grown men who used cigarettes would be willing to forego the pleasure to save the boys. Referring to the clause abolishing distinguishing stamps on cigars, Mr. Foster said Toronto cigar-makers were hostile to a change in stamps.

Major Beatty declared that smokers bought cigars on the strength of the label, and it was unfair to smokers to permit deception.

Mr. Cockshutt was willing to encourage Canadian tobacco, but it ought to be done above board. Instead of attempting to deceive the smoking public he would increase the duty on foreign leaf.

Mr. Clement, who favored the change, remarked that no other country branded tobacco in cigars as was done in Canada, while Mr. Monk thought the Government was removing a grievance.

On motion of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, when the House adjourns on Wednesday next, it will stand adjourned till Tuesday, April 21. Mr. Emmerson thought the holiday should extend till Wednesday, but the Prime Minister and Mr. Foster though that period too long.

Mr. Foster enquired if, when Judge Cassels would commence his investigation of the Marine Department, he was to be confined to two cases of wrongdoing by officials mentioned by the Civil Service Commissioners and whether it was proposed to have also a Department investigation.

The Prime Minister said the commission had been issued, and he supposed the investigation would be begun at once. He vouchsafed no answer to the other question.

Mr. Chisholm (Huron) was told by the Postmaster-General that $102,470 had been collected by the Government from assessments on postmasters to form a guarantee fund against losses, and the losses had been $5,334. The question of reducing assessment had not been considered.

Mr. Christie was informed by Mr. Paterson the number of cattle exported from Canada to Great Britain was: 1904, 148,345; 1905, 159,078; 1906, 163,994; 1907, 179,164. The number imported from Britain was: 1904, 95 duty 161 for improvement of stock; 1905, 72 and 60; 1906, 149 for improvement of stock; 1907, 12 and 231.

Answering Mr. Monk the Prime Minister [illegible] had been no correspondence [illegible] in connection with the all-red line or a faster steamship service across the Atlantic.

Having been shocked by theatrical posters on the bill boards of Ottawa, Dr. Barr was moved to ask that steps be taken to enforce the tariff prointerest had been reduced to four per cent. this advantage had disappeared.

Hon. R. Harcourt observed that the matter was of intense interest, and only those who gave it close attention would understand it, Sir William Meredith, when leader of the Opposition, and Mr. Marter, held that the trust funds were not really a tangible asset. Mr. Harcourt had not taken that view, and now that they were to be turned into cash he was justified. He quite agreed with the action proposed in the bill. It was not worth while to go to the Privy Council and risk the chances of a lawsuit for the difference between the bank interest on $200,000 and five per cent.

The balance will form part of the consolidated fund.

Abandoned Oil Steamer.

Plymouth, April 10.—The steamer Norwegian tank Helios, the crew of which were rescued in mid-Atlantic by the steamer Majestic, as reported Wednesday, was abandoned in north latitude 44, west longitude 39. She had encountered a terrific storm that lasted three days. Her bunkers were broken and the vessel listed badly. Her cargo of oil invaded the stoke hold, and its overpowering fumes compelled the crew to abandon the vessel.

The accident to the Helios occurred on Saturday last. There was great apprehension that the oil would reach the fires and a disastrous explosion would result. One hundred and fifty tons of oil were pumped from the bunkers, but the task of removing the remainder of the oil was beyond the efforts of the crew.

Mme. Stein Back to Russia.

New York, April 10.—After a month in the Tombs prison Mme. Olga Stein, who claims to be the wife of a privy councillor in St. Petersburg, and who is accused of forgery and larceny in Russia, waive all her rights under the extradition laws, when arraigned before United States Commissioner Shields yesterday, and expressed a willingness to return to Russia for trial.

She declared herself innocent of the charges against her, but said she was without friends or money here and is unable to make a legal fight against extradition.

Murderer Smith Will Recover.

Montreal, April 10.—It was stated yesterday that John Dillon, the book agent, who killed Constable Shea and seriously wounded two other officers Monday night, was still making good progress, and he does not appear to worry over Monday's exciting incident, though he is consicous that on his dismissal from the hospital he will be put on trial for his life.

His manner towards the nurses and doctors in the hospital is very dignified and pompous at times and again irascible, he being quick to fly into a passion.

Locomotive Explodes.

Ansonia, Conn., April 10.—A freight engine on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad blew up early yesterday at Wheeler Farms, a point about three miles below Derby. Two men were badly injured, one of whom may die, and another painfully hurt. The locomotive, one of the new mogul type, was completely destroyed and the roadbed torn up for a consider able distance.

Wreckage, the removal of which will probably require most of the day, is strewn over the tracks.

Suspended Sentence.

Niagara Falls, Ont., April 10.—Creegan, the ex-collector of Thorold, who was arrested at Cobden, near Renfrew, last week, charged with theft of taxes collected by him during 1905-07, was up before Magistrate Cruickshank yesterday and pleaded guilty to the charge.

Full restitution having been made to the municipality and bondsmen for all losses of Creegan's shortages, the magistrate, after giving Creegan some good advice, dismissed him on suspended sentence.

Striker In Court.

Brantford, April 10.—In the Police Court yesterday James Gardiner, a local moulder, was charged with interfering on Monday night with the delivery of beds at the Buck works, where a strike of moulders is in progress. The beds were being taken to the factory, where strike-breakers are quartered.

The magistrate did not think necessary identification had been sufficiently established. The case was dismissed.

Druce Witness Convicted.

London, April 10.—Mrs. Harriet Hamilton, who was one of the principal witnesses in the alleged identity of the Duke of Portland with T. C. Druce, and who was arrested March 7, charged with wilful perjury and conspiracy, was found guilty at the Old Bailey yesterday. Sentence will be handed down to-day.

Fell Down Coal Chute.

Brampton, April 10.—Falling down a chute 25 feet into the yards of the Brampton Coal Co. Wednesday Geo. Sherwood sustained a fractured skull and other injuries that will likely prove fatal.

Vance Not Guilty.

St. Catharines, April 10.—George Vance, charged with causing the death of James Patterson by striking him on the head with a stone, was yesterday declared not guilty by the assizes jury.

Seeding In the West.

Regina, April 10.—Seeding commenced Wednesday nine miles north of here. Seeding will start on the Arcola line to-day, and will be general in the province by April 15.

Earl Grey's Contribution.

Ottawa, April 10.—His Excellency Lord Grey has given one thousand dollars as his personal contribution to the Champlain tercentenary and Quebec battlefields fund.

Passed Liability Bill.

Washington, April 10.—The United States Senate yesterday passed the Employers' Liability Bill as it came from the House.

Strengthen the Garrison.

Tiflis, April 10.—Fifty-six heavy guns, destined for the fortress of Kars, on the Russo-Turkish frontier, has passed through here by railroad from interior Russia.

This strengthening of the fortress is due to a memorandum of several officers of the garrison on its weakness, in view of a possible attack by the Turks.

Quiet at Lisbon.

Lisbon, April 10.—Quiet reigned in this city yesterday.

The Board of Trade has passed a resolution thanking the Government for the restoration of order, and expressing the hope that the necessary repressive measures would be continued.

Lottery Men Fined.

Cincinnati, April 10.—Fines aggregating $32,200, were yesterday assessed against Morris Richmond and six others who were arrested some weeks ago, charged with conducting the Kentucky lottery contrary to law.

Italian Ambassador Dies.

Paris, April 10.—Count Guiseppe Tornielli Brusati di Vergano, the Italian ambassador to France, died in this city yesterday from a hemorrhage of the brain following influenza.

Prisoner Kidnapped Constable.

Anniston, Ala., April 10.—J. O. West, a white man, who was acting as a special deputy sheriff, was kidnapped by Will Cunningham, a negro, whom he was attempting to arrest near Lincoln, this state.

While West was reading the warrant, the negro seized the deputy's revolver and marched him toward the Coosa River.

NEW STRENGTH FOR THE SPRING

Nature Needs Assistance in Making New Health-Giving Blood.

In the spring your system needs toning up. In the spring to be healthy and strong you must have new blood, just as the trees must have new sap. Nature demands it and nature's laws are inexorable. Without new blood you will feel weak and languid. You may have twinges of rheumatism, or the sharp stabbing pains of neuralgia, there may be disfiguring pimples or eruptions of the skin, a tired feeling in the morning, and a variable appetite. These are some of the signs that the blood is out of order, that the long trying months of indoor winter life have told upon you. A purgative medicine, such as too many people take in spring, can't help you. Purgatives merely gallop through the system and further weaken you. Any doctor will tell you that this is true. What people need in the spring is a tonic medicine, and in all the world there is no tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dose of this medicine helps to make new, rich, red blood—your greatest need in spring. This new, red blood clears the skin, drives out disease and makes weak, easily tired men, women and children bright, active and strong. Try this great blood-building medicine this spring, and see what new life and energy it will give you.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BOYCOTT BRITISH GOODS.

Natives of India Being Stirred Up by Agitators.

The officers of the German steamship Neuenfels, which arrived recently from India and Ceylon, report a serious condition of affairs throughout India. The natives they assert are openly defying the British. They have boycotted the British goods, and have refused to handle cargoes shipped by British merchants. In the interior they are on the verge of open revolt, and in many places they are arming and preparing to combat British rule. Agitators are largely responsible for the present conditions. They are inciting the natives to acts of violence. They believe the Japanese will aid them if they should engage in war with Britain, and they declare they will be victorious.

In the larger cities the feeling against the British and foreigners in general has taken the form of a boycott, and commerce is greatly hampered. The Neuenfels was delayed 64 days at Calcutta waiting for her cargo. The natives refused to work on the freighter and it was weeks before a gang of longshoremen could be got together who would load the ship. Calcutta harbor at that time was filled with British steamers unable to get cargoes.

King Edward's Cigars.

The King of England has placed with a New York firm of tobacco brokers an order for 500 cigars, which in point of price will be slightly beyond what the royal smoker paid two years ago, when his bill for 1,000 cigars was $3,000. For the 500 which are to be shipped from Havana in time to reach England at the beginning of the Easter holidays, the price will be $1,600, but it is not likely that they will excel, even if they equal, the famous 1,000 which took three months in the making. If Lucullus handed cigars around after his feasts of peacock tongues and humming bird potpie, he never bade his guests smoke up on such carefully and daintily prepared cigars as those.

"There is no exaggeration as to the price or the expense incurred the manufacture," said the manager of a big cigar store. "The price for the 1,000 cigars was actually $3,000, and the margin of profit was exceedingly small, because the manufacturer was eager to gain the prestige of having served royalty. The cigars were eight inches in length, and at the thickest part, in the middle, one inch in diameter. They were made of the finest Vuelta Abajo tobacco. Each leaf passed through the hands of two "selectors" and it required the examination of thousands of leaves to obtain those that were uniform in color and size and free from large veins. When the cigars were finished—the workmen received 25 cents for each cigar—the name of the guest was lettered in gold leaf on the body of these high-class smokes, and each was encased in a silken envelope. The thousand were packed in sealed cedar boxes and shipped to England.

"The time and expense was consumed principally in the selection of the leaf and in the extra frills of gold leaf and silk, but so far as the quality of the tobacco was concerned, it was no better than that smoked by many New Yorkers. The manufacturer was so anxious to make a hit with the King that his profit was scarcely worth considering.

"The cigarmakers doing the work got so good an opinion of themselves that they wouldn't bathe in the same ocean with the fellows who were working on the ordinary dollar cigars. It was unquestionably the greatest cigar order ever executed in the world. The 500 that are to go to England at Easter will have thin bands of gold on them, but they will not be wrapped in silk. The manufacturer expects to make a better profit than the man who filled the order for the 1,000 two years ago."

The Air Is Black.

Frederick Hovenden, a prominent English scientist, claims to have photographed the etheric waves of heat and electricity, which are invisible, of course. He says they are a fluid which, properly illuminated, becomes visible to the naked eye and can be cinematographed.

He fills a square glass box with tobacco smoke, puts his flinger through a hole in the side and turns on the box the rays from a powerful electric lamp. Then, he says, he sees the ether issuing from his finger and permeating the tobacco smoke. The ether escapes from his finger even when it is covered with a tight-fitting rubber cap.

Hovenden also demonstrates that the air we breathe is coal black in color. He illuminates powerfully and microscopically enlarges by many diameters ordinary air issuing from a hole in a glass box. Then the black molecules forming the air can be seen.

Invalid Ladies

This Is For You.

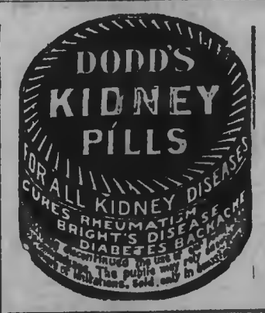
There are thousands of females who suffer untold miseries common to their sex.

This is largely due to the peculiar habits of life and fashion, and the improper training of girlhood. Then, too, the physical changes that mark the three eras of womanhood (the maiden, the wife, and the mother) have much to do with her sufferings, most of which are endured in silence, unknown by even the family physician and most intimate friends.

To all such whose hollow cheeks, pale faces, sunken eyes and feeble footsteps, indicate nervousness, palpitation of the heart, weak, faint and dizzy spells, we would earnestly recommend a course of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mrs. Jos. Sharp, Brighton, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with palpitation of the heart, weak spells and nervous trouble, and found no relief until advised to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I got one box and that helped me so much I sent and got five more. I am now cured completely."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. per box or three boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.



IN DAYS OF THE FENIAN RAID.

Conspiracy Was a Much Bigger Thing Than Imagined.

The young Canadian who hears of the skirmishes in connection with the Fenian raid sees the parade once in a while of the "Veterans of '66," is inclined privately to smile over that campaign. But in reality the episode in Canada was but an offshoot of an enormous conspiracy which had it had a leader of more determined character than James Stephens might have changed the course of history in the last half century.

Stephens, the noted Fenian leader, died at Buffalo a few years ago, and one by one of the officers of the movement are dropping off. As they do so details as to the great plot which found its most tragic outcrop at Ridgeway, are brought to light. On Feb. 5 there passed away in New York, so quietly that his death passed unnoticed in the daily press of the United States, a civil servant, who, in his time had been one of the military heads of the movement, and who was one of those prisoners at Manchester whose rescue was attended by bloodshed and subsequent hangings. Celebrations of the death of the "Manchester Martyrs" are still held in Irish communities. The individual in question was Capt. Thomas J. Kelly, and on the discovery of his death those journals which still cherish a dream of Irish independence, have revealed the part he played in the Fenian occurrences at the close of the American civil war. That the Fenian conspiracy was a much bigger thing than the Canadian of to-day imagines is obvious from the accounts of his doings in 1865 and 1866.

Kelly was a native Irishman and a printer by trade, who at the outbreak of the civil war was running a country newspaper in Tennessee. His sympathy with the union cause led him to go north and enlist. He speedily won promotion and in 1864 at the end of three years' service was mustered out with the rank of captain and the distinction of having been several times mentioned in the despatches for gallant conduct in action. Since 1857 the Fenian organization had been making progress in Ireland and America; the plan being to strike simultaneously by three methods, the rising of an armed Irish populace, the mutiny of Irish soldiers in British regiments and the occupation of Canada by the American Irishmen, who had no difficulty in obtaining arms or efficient officers. From the first there were differences between the Irish and American branches of the organization. The latter who knew what war meant thought that the Irish were over sanguine in their reports. Kelly, as an efficient soldier, was sent over to make a confidential report, and it now appears that he reported the Irish peasantry, though unarmed, to have been well drilled by moonlight organization. He remained as chief of staff in Ireland. The Irish soldiers of fortune were quietly coming home awaiting the conflict and the Irish rankers in the British army were ready to strike. There were, he reported, one hundred thousand English rifles in four Governmental depots, the garrisons of which were largely Fenians, ready to seize them on a signal. One Irish sergeant of Engineers had offered to blow up the Woolwich arsenal. This condition he reported months before the British Government began to make arrests. Kelly appears to have been one of those who favored rapid action, but there were others who wanted postponement. The result was that the British Government began late in 1865 to lock up the American officers arriving in Ireland piecemeal. In addition the "American split" arose because of the delay and finally the ill-directed excursion into Canada, without co-operation, put a quietus on the whole business. Had the blow been struck in all three methods in 1865, the tale would have been more tragic.

SHEEP PAINTED GREEN.

An Incident in Ireland's Cattle-Driving Campaign.

Mr. Birrell makes the following reply in Parliament papers to a question by Mr. Staveley-Hill regarding the number of cases of cattle and sheep driving in Ireland reported to the police since June 30, 1907:

"Three hundred and thirty-four cases of cattle-driving have been reported since June 30. In twenty-seven cases it was stated that the animals had been injured. In the great majority of these cases the alleged injury consisted in the deterioration of the cattle through overdriving, which caused lameness or exhaustion.

"In one instance one of the cattle was found dead from exhaustion. In another case some sheep were painted green. In another, the tails of three bullocks were cut, but in this instance the drive is stated to have been due to a family dispute and not to the anti-grazing agitation.

"Claims for compensation were made in twenty-two cases. In seven of these compensation has been granted, eleven claims are pending, and four have been dropped. In no case has an owner received personal injury. In two cases police patrols were assaulted."

The Easier Way.

"How I hated work in those days!" said Mark Twain, recalling his boyhood in Hannibal, Mo. "One morning my father led me into the garden and pointed to a bed of flowers that had a considerable number of weeds in it.

"'I want you,' said my father, 'to weed out this flower bed.'

"I examined the task ahead of me, and the more I looked at it the bigger it seemed to grow. Certainly I had never seen so many weeds in my life.

"'Wouldn't it be a simpler operation,' I said to my father, 'to flower out the weed bed?'"—Woman's Home Companion.

The Race as It Was.

"I see you are here," said the tortoise.

"Yes," replied the hare. "Are you going to race?"

"No; what would be the use? People would only say we were nature fakirs."

And while they stood there arguing a man came along and threw a bag over the head of the hare and took the tortoise along to make fashionable hairpins out of his back.—Detroit Tribune.

Whew!

"Ah," exclaimed Miss Patience Gonne, whom Mr. Staylate had been boring with silly conundrums, "that reminds me of the best thing going."

"What's that?" he asked unsuspectingly.

"A man who has stayed too long."—Philadelphia Press.

MANY CASES HERE OF RHEUMATISM

A Mixture Which Makes The Kidneys Filter Out Poisons And Waste

TRY THE MIXTURE ANYWAY

All medical authorities are agreed that the blood is the great source of disease or of health in the human system. If the blood is pure, the individual is strong and healthy; if the blood is impure or diseased, then there is sickness or decay in the whole system.

Rheumatism is strictly a blood disease. It is caused by excessive uric acid. Sores, pimples, etc., mean bad blood. Catarrhal affections must be treated through the blood to get permanent results. To get well, to feel strong, hearty and vigourous, one must have good clean blood and lots of it. You can't clean the blood thoroughly unless the kidneys are made active. Bad blood means clogged, inactive kidneys and liver, which causes, too, such symptoms as backache, nervousness, bladder and urinary difficulties and other sympathetic troubles.

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kanzon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at small cost.

Here the readers of this paper have a simple yet powerful and effective remedy for all forms of blood, kidney and bladder diseases which should relieve rheumatism and catarrhal affections and replace that weak, worn-out, indifferent feeling

MAPLE SUGAR MAGIC

Now the farmer taps his maples,
And cunningly he smiles,
Then sets a shiny pail of tin,
Beneath the dripping spiles,
Each morning with his ancient yoke—
And sometimes twice a day—
He pours the nectar from the pails
And lugs it all away.

Upon the farmhouse kitchen stove
A spacious kettle boils.
To keep the pot quite full of sap,
The patient housewife toils.
She tests the liquid with a spoon.
Till it hardens when it's cold
Then pours the succulent syrup out
In many a little mould.

When the sugar season's over
And sap has ceased to drip,
The farmer sends the little cakes
Upon a city trip.
Although the sugar Nature gave
Was but a hundred weight,
This alchemist of the farm has stretch'd
The total up to eight.

Women of Canada, You Wish to Retain Vigor, Youth, Beauty?

If you do there is one sure and unfailing method.

Hundreds or thousands of women have proven that

(Pronounced St. Keen)

PSYCHINE

Will Keep a Woman Youthful, Vigorous and Beautiful for Many Years.

This is natural, because Psychine wonderfully tones up the system, regulates the stomach, aids digestion, makes strong, rich, pure blood, and sends it coursing through the arteries and veins with abounding life and vigor. Every vital organ is directly benefitted. It especially tones up and strengthens the delicate female organism. A healthy woman with plenty of rich, pure blood in her veins and cheeks cannot help being beautiful and retaining perpetual youthfulness. Psychine will help you reach this coveted goal. For sale at all druggists. 50c. and $1.00.—Dr. T. A. Slocum, Limited, Toronto

THE VIGOR OF GIRLHOOD

"I am thankful for what PSYCHINE has done for me. I was laid up with weakness. Oh, how I suffered. My appetite was very poor, and my stomach was greatly disordered. To-day I am strong and well. PSYCHINE has brought me permanent relief. I feel and look like a new woman now to what I did before taking PSYCHINE. I feel the vigor of girlhood in my veins once more. —MRS. J. T. MILLER, 63 Notre Dame St., Winnipeg.

NO TROUBLE SINCE

"Six years ago I took PSYCHINE for nervous trouble and disorders common to my sex. I had been in bed for six weeks and no doctor's or other treatment did me any good. PSYCHINE strengthened me right away, and brought me permanent good health and restored to my cheeks the bloom of youthful vigor. I have never been troubled since that time."—MISS E. A. STERLING, Maxwell, Ont.

A BRIGHT BOY.

But He Lacked the Necessary Qualification and Lost the Job.

"So you have called in answer to my advertisement for an office boy, eh?" asked the head of the firm.

"Yes, sir," replied the youth. "You will find me a neat penman, sir."

"That's what we want."

"And good at figures."

"Yes."

"And always on time."

"Yes."

"And always willing to work."

"Yes."

"And a rapid messenger, as I know my way around the city."

"Yes."

"And I'm pretty fair at typewriting in case your stenographer gets sick."

"Splendid, my boy—splendid! Now, are you handy with your fists in a fight?"

"In—in a fight, sir?"

"Yes. Can you put it all over a boy your size if necessary?"

"I—I never fight, sir."

"But you look like a chap who could give a good account of himself in a scrimmage. I don't want you to go around looking for trouble, you understand, but if it comes along can you take care of yourself?"

"It's—it's wicked to fight, sir."

"Hum! Well, we need talk no further, I guess," said the head of the firm with a sign of disappointment. "You see, Smith, down the hall, is continually bragging about the fighting qualities of his red headed office boy, and I'm going to get one this time who can thrash that lad out of his boots Sorry, son, as you seem to be a bright young fellow. Sure you weren't fooling?"

"Y-yes, sir."

"Well, it's too bad, but I can't have that old pudding head blowing all the time about the scrapper he has. Take a look at his boy as you go out, and if you think you can best him in a scrap come back and the job is yours."

But the youth never returned.—A. B. Lewis in Judge.

Period Pianos.

That the aesthetic sense of our people is undergoing rapid development, is shown by the demand for what are known as Period pianos. That is to say, if "My Lady" has the decorations of her drawing room done in the style of Louis XIV., XV., XVI., or in the days of the Empire, then she has a piano made to correspond. Or if she is a lover of the Antique, then she has a Chippendale or Sheraton piano to match the chairs, etc. "Dens," club rooms and bachelors' apartments, furnished with Mission furniture, likewise have Mission Pianos. The New Scale Williams Pianos are made in these Art Cases. The Williams Piano Company will submit designs and estimates free of charge to those who wish special Period Pianos not carried in stock. The reputation enjoyed by the famous New Scale Williams is a guarantee in itself that Period Pianos, made to order, will be eminently satisfactory. Many styles here. 6

Homestead Duties—A settler who has been granted an entry for a homestead is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans.—

1—At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

2—If the father, (or mother, if the father is deceased,) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such persons as a homestead, the requirements of this Act, as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

3—If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of this Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for patent should be made at the end of three years, before the Local Agent, Sub-Agent, or the Homestead Inspector.

Before making application for patent the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa of his intention to do so.

TRAGEDY AND ROMANCE IN THE ROCKIES

Wisconsin Central Railway. Previously he had graduated at Harvard College and at the Harvard law school. He was also a master of arts.

Climbing CamPaign Planned

That summer Abbot visited Professor Dixon at Manchester and plans were drawn up for a climbing campaign in the Rockies and Lefroy was one of the mountains prominently in their thoughts. But it is the portion of man to propose, and during the next two years no progress was made with the campaign. In 1895, however, circumstances seemed more favourable. Abbot, who had corresponded with Professor Dixon ever since their first meeting, wrote that he was making preparations for a climbing tour in the Selkirks and the Rockies. The professor hoped to be able to join his friend, but eventually he found himself unable to leave England. Abbot, more fortunate, went west with a party of the Appalachian Mountain club and indulged his climbing passion amongst the glaciers and peaks of the great North American range. Amongst other things an examination of Lefroy's base was made and an escent, by means of a couloir, was actually begun. But the climb had to be abandoned. It is, however, quite evident that this reverse only made Abbot more determined than ever to conquer the mighty Lefroy, and he planned almost immediately a further climbing expedition for the following year. Abbot wrote to Professor Dixon, describing to him the attempt on Lefroy and other climbs undertaken in 1896. The result was that Professor Dixon promised to join the expedition of 1896. But fate was again unkind, and for a second time the professor was prevented from leaving for Canada.

Ascent of Roger's Peak

On June 22, 1896, Philip Abbot left Milwaukee for the Rockies accompanied by Professor Charles E. Fay, of Tuft's College; Professor George Little, of Bowdoin college and Charles E. Thompson, of Chicago, all members of the Appalachian club. The party proceeded to the Selkirks and made the first ascent of the famous Rogers' Peak by working continuously for twenty-four hours, mainly over snow. From the Selkirks the climbers went to the Rockies, where it was their intention to climb Mount Lefroy and also to make an exploration of the snowfield on the continental divide. At this point the writer cannot do better than quote from a letter addressed by Professor Fay to Philip Abbot's family after the accident. The professor writes, in part, as follows:

"On Monday, August 3, the party set out from the chalet at Lake Louise at 6 o'clock in the morning. They made unusually good progress up over the high snow fields of the pass. Soon after noon they reached the top of the pass, from which the first view of the ground to be traversed to reach the peak from this side was obtained. A feasible line of ascent was discovered, and the summit seemed already within reach. After luncheon they set out to complete the undertaking. Each difficulty was overcome with no great effort under Abbot's skilful leadership, and no one found the element of danger great enough to warrant protest. The fact that three of the party made the return in the manner that they did (without ropes) proves that with proper appliances the way so far was not too dangerous. It was 5.30 p.m. when they found themselves not far below the summit, under precipitous crags, which seemed to bar the way, unless a long traverse was made by cutting steps across a very steep ice-slope.

How the Tragedy Occurred

But a glance from a more advanced point disclosed a cleft in the great buttress of rock. Abbot declared he considered it passable, and invited Fay and Thompson to unrope themselves (the party was in a safe standing place), while he and Little, an excellent rock climber, should go up the cleft, and on reaching the top, let them down the rope to aid the ascent of the other two. This they began to do. It was now nearly 6 p.m. Abbot went higher than Prof. Little, and had him also cast off the rope, which had been lengthened for rock work, and was now made up of the usual and the spare rope, all they had. If Mr. Little had been upon the rope he could not have saved Abbot; there would have been two casualties instead of one; for, from a point at a considerably higher level, Abbot evidently placed hand or foot on an unstable stone, which gave way with him, and he fell, together with the treacherous stone, striking the side of the mountain at the base of the crag some ten feet distant from Fay and Thompson. In another moment he was sliding down the ice-slope. At a point about a thousand feet below, from some inexplicable cause, considering the steepness of the earlier slope, he ceased rolling just above a precipice. If he had passed it, another descent of 2,000 feet would have followed, though not in one fall. To descend to where he lay, right in the line of their necessary course, without the aid of a rope, was a very slow process, as the greatest care had to be taken with every step. It was about 9 o'clock when they reached him. Life was not extinct, but he was evidently unconscious. The skull had been fractured by the first fall, but his person was not otherwise disfigured. They tried to carry him down with them—a most difficult and dangerous task. After progressing some fifty feet it became a question of risking the living for the dead; he had ceased to live. They were therefore obliged to leave their burden here on, with the ropes, the way was comparatively secure. The body was recovered and brought down to Laggan two days later."

Life Without Blemish

Thus runs the plain sad story of the first Alpine fatality in the Canadian Rockies. The tragedy was deepened by the fact that Philip Abbott was a young man of great promise. After his death Professor Gilman, of Johns Hopkins university, wrote of Abbot "He was a man of rare qualities, and he led a life without a blemish. In college he stood first among his class mates; in the law school he was equally distinguished. His reading was wide; his memory accurate; his enthusiasm for literature and science unbounded. "With an ardent love of books, he had also an ardent love of nature. The writer remembers the first time when he saw him, an undergraduate in vacation, running over the hills of North East Harbour, with his white net on a long pole, catching butterflies. He had formed at that time an extensive collection of insects in whose natural history he was interested. He loved the walks in the woods; the ascent of mountains; practice with the paddle and the oar; the management of a sailboat and every form of outdoor exercise. He was fortunate in being allowed to travel. In every journey it was his ambition to ascend the highest peaks. He went up to the top of Mount Popocatapetl in Mexico; to the top of Mount Dana in the Sierra Nevada; he had also many mountain climbs in Norway and Switzerland, as well as in New England. Everywhere he showed great caution and skill. There was nothing rash in his ventures. Those who have walked with him testify to the unusual caution that he showed in avoiding perilous situations."

To Clear up a Doubt

A letter addressed to Philip Abbot by Professor Dixon had failed to reach him before his death, and the letter had been opened by Abbot's father. Professor Dixon exchanged some letter with Mr. Abbot, Sr., and in due course that gentleman expressed a wish that the professor should take a climbing party to Mount Lefroy and clear up any doubt as to whether the peak was accessible by the route which his son had chosen. Also, if possible, to throw any further light on the tragedy.

It proved no easy task to organize a party of expert climbers. When the date of starting was still months ahead many promised enthusiastically to go, but when it became necessary to make definite preparations these same enthusiasts remembered that they had wives and other ties.

In the end Professor Dixon prevailed upon Dr. J. Norman Collie to join the expedition, and certainly no more desirable member than Dr. Collie could have been found, for he is one of the world's best climbers. After Lefroy had been climbed Dr. Collie led an exploration party over a region of the Rockies hitherto unexplored, lying north of the C.P.R. track, and his map of the region, which corrected several errors of previous maps, was recognized by the authorities at Ottawa. In Manchester, a few weeks ago, the writer listened to a lecture delivered by Dr. Collie, and beautifully illustrated, in which the doctor described these explorations. Afterwards he was introduced to Dr. Collie as a member of the Alpine club of Canada. Amongst other things Dr. Collie mentioned that he had received a copy of the first Alpine journal published by the Alpine club of Canada and stated that he had marvelled at the excellence of the compilation.

Professor Dixon's Story

Professor Dixon left England along with Peter Sarbach, the Swiss Guide, who accompanied Philip Abbot when they first met, arranging with Dr. Collie that he should meet them and the American members of the party later on at Lake Louise. The writer will now let Professor Dixon tell the remainder of the story in his own words. The narrative is taken from the British Alpine Journal of 1898-99.

"On July 30, Collie arrived from England, and on August 1 we turned eastward toward our rendezvous at Lake Louise, where we were to meet Thompson for our attack on Mount Lefroy. Viewed from Lake Louise Mount Lefroy looks most formidable. The north face itself is impregnable, and those who have explored its eastern face report that it is equally unassailable on that side. Tarso tongues of snow run up from the glacier into angles in the wall near the northwest corner; in the farthest of these Abbot had discovered an easy path leading upwards between Lefroy and Victoria to a high column, which had been previously reached from the south by Mr. S. E. Allen, who called this snow-couloir the 'Death Trap.' From this column—fitly named Abbot Pass—the peak could be attacked by snow-slopes and broken cliffs on its western side. It was on this slope that Abbot met his death, when a few hundred feet only from the summit. On August 3, the anniversary of his death, we completed the ascent by the route he discovered.

Five Hours' Strenous March

"Leaving the chalet at 2.40 a.m. we rowed up the silent lake, steering by the stars, which shone with marvellous brilliancy from the cloudless sky. After making fast the boats at the head of the lake, we pushed up the valley in the darkness, now jumping streams by the treacherous light of our candle, now struggling in alder thickets, until at length we reached the rough moraine of the glacier as the faint light of dawn stole over the mountains. Then we kept straight up the almost level ice toward the northwest corner of Mount Lefroy, but lost much time in getting entangled in crevasses. It is better here to keep well to the right, nearer to the cliffs of Mount Victoria. The view eastward along the great north precipice is extremely striking. A huge trench paved with ice separates Lefroy from Mount Aberdeen. The end of the trench is blocked by a black mass of rock, the Mitre, leaving two steep and narrow couloirs, one on either side, forming possible passes in Paradise Valley. Passing the two snow-couloirs which descend from chimneys in the northwest cliff, we entered the so-called Death Trap a wide slope of snow leading up at an easy angle to Abbot Pass. As we breasted the slope we were met by several small, erratic pieces from the upper rocks of Lefroy, which came skipping down the snow with unpleasant velocity, giving us an early warning of the unstable state of the limestone ledges above. After five hours' steady going we stepped on to the narrow ridge which joins Lefroy with Victoria and caught our first view of the precipices of Hungabee and Goodsir to the south. The aneroid gave our height as 4,200 feet above Lake Louise, and 9,800 feet above sea level.

Easter The Symbol Of The Victory Of Eternal Life

man's past life seems to him, looking back at the "twenties" from the summit, of the "sixties." And how dim and unreal the world of stars and planets seems, as one stands at midday beneath the full glare of the blazing sun. But youth is real, and the stars are real, and immortal life, equally dim, is equally real.

With this thought of the reality of the future life, (which grows upon a man in proportion as he grows in the recognition of the supremacy of spiritual forces), with this should go the growing sense of unending responsibility, of ceaseless duty, reaching through this life, and all life, in God's revelation to the world, and to preserve it inviolate. Later or sooner all of us shall surely meet in God; of that I am persuaded."

Since we are to meet again those dear ones who have passed on into the larger life, since we are destined to come into closer and deeper knowledge of God, since the spiritual life of man, his real life, is to go on, in another world, we must let that life of the spirit take root, and grow, now, and here. The divine forces of hope and faith, and love, and heroic self-sacrifice, must be given a larger place in our earthly life; so that when we stand, one day, on the heavenly shore, we shall enter that fair land, not as aliens but as children coming home from our wandering, to the Father's house, to go no more out forever.

So this is the Easter victory—see the truth of Christ's teaching that man is spirit, indestructible, above the reach of death, and precious in the sight of the Father.

The Beauty of Easter Bloom is Like the Innocence of Children.

COLD KILLS THE GERM

Lieut. Perry Says There Are no Bald Heads in the Arctic Region

The people who come back from Klondike testify to the fact that no native bald heads are there. The evidence is that the cold climate kills the germs that eat the hair off at the root. Lieut. Perry, who went to the Arctic regions, gives the same evidence. Newbro's Herpicide has the same effect as the cold climate. It kills the germ that eats the hair off at the roots, and the hair grows again. Herpicide is the first hair remedy built upon the principle of destroying the germ that eats the hair off. Its phenomenal sale demonstrates the correctness of the scalp theory. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes — 50 cents and $1. South African Veteran Laid To Rest Early This Morning With Full Military Honours

Amid the tread of soldiers on the march—the life he loved—the remains of Quarter-master Sergeant Richard A. Boyle were early this morning laid to their last resting place in St. Peter's Cemetery.

About 9 o'clock the funeral cortege moved away from the residence of the deceased, 319 McDonel street. Hundreds of persons gathered about the home to have one last look at the young man. The remains were carried from the house and placed on a gun-carriage, and while they passed through the firing party, who stood at the present arms, the bugler sounded first post. A Union Jack was spread over the coffin, and the late soldier's helmet and belt were laid on the flag. The pall-bearers selected were Sergts. Galvin, May and Hutchinson of the Battery and Sergts. Batten, Dunnitt and Giles from the 57th Regiment.

The soldiers turned out 74 strong, 46 from the battery and 28 from the 57th Regiment. Lieuts. Leary and McDonough and Brig.-Sergt. Major Fee were the battery officers present and Sergt. Major Britton commanded the 57th.

The funeral started off led by the 57th Band playing the Dead March in Saul. Then came the firing party composed of members of the 24th F. B., C. A., with their arms reversed; followed by the gun-carriage bearing the remains. The members of the battery and regimnet brought up the rear, followed by the chief mourners and friends of the deceased. The streets on route to the church and cemetery were lined with citizens. The cathedral was well filled long before the appointed time, and as the funeral neared the church the bell began to toll. Rev. Father Kelly said requiem mass at the church and Rev. Father Galvin conducted the service at the grave.

At the cemetery, as the body was being lowered into the grave, three volleys were fired by the firing party and the bugler sounded first, second and last post.

Another Section On Canal Let; Aggressive Work Still Goes On

Still another contract on the Trent Canal has been let. This time it is Section 3, Ontario-Rice Lake division, the successful tenderer being the Canadian Development Construction Company of Montreal. The important part of this section is Chisholm's Rapids, situated about five miles west of Stirling and six and a half miles from Frankfort.

The work to be done includes a lock and a dam, a half mile of rock excavation, enlarging of the present old dam, and dredging both up and down the Trent River. The latter portion of the work consists of from three to four miles of river.

The amount of money involved in this contract is estimated at $525,000.

It is expected the work will be begun at once and it will, of course, give employment to a large number of men. Some of the representatives of the company that has secured the contract were in Peterborough this week.

Immigrants Make Short Stop-Over Looking For Work In City

Two hours were all that were required to convince a newly-arrived immigrant that there was nothing doing in this city. According to his story he landed at Halifax a few days ago and came on to Montreal where he searched for work, but found it not. He is accompanied by his wife and two daughters, and when Montreal offered no advantages the party came on to Smith's Falls, where the same condition was found to exist. They arrived in Peterborough on the early morning train, but left again on the local for Toronto.

Sir Frederick Borden Will Pay Visit Here To Lay Corner Stone

Arrangements are being made for the ceremony in connection with the laying of the corner-stone of the new Armouries, which will probably be held on April 21 or 22, but the former date is the most likely. The most important feature in connection with the event will be the visit of Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia. The 57th Regiment, the 24th Field Battery and the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons will take part in the demonstration, which promises to be decidedly interesting. The Council and militia will unite in making arrangements for the affair, and a meeting will be held probably on Monday to complete preparations for the visit of Sir Frederick Borden and for the corner-stone ceremonies.

It is recognized that the building of the Armouries marks a step in advance along military lines, and the authorities will do their best to honour the event.

Sugar Makes Another Advance Of 10 Per Cent. To Wholesalers

Boosted again! Sugar has finally reached the price of 5 cents per lb., and has even gone beyond it. It was learned this morning that the wholesale price has increased another ten cents per cwt. This phenomenal increase might well cause alarm in those families where Redpath's (X.X.X.) is used in large quantities. During the past two months the price has gradually become higher until now the total increase is 60 cents.

The explanation is that demand exceeds the supply, American sugar not being produced last year in the large quantities that were expected. Similarly the Cuban crop did not come up to anticipations. The raw material in the States is scarce and importations have been necessary consequently the higher prices.

The increase has affected all kinds of sugar.

Table Top Made Of 2000 Bits Of Canadian Wood; A Curiosity

In one of the windows of Mr. H. LeBrun's establishment is an article that is attracting much attention and admiration. It is a table top which contains about 2,000 bits of Canadian wood, as well as a piece of oak taken from the door of Shakspere's house in Stratford-on-Avon, England, in 1857, when that building was being repaired. It was taken from the dark coloured front door. The table is the property of Mr. Ed. Courtney, of 527 Concession street, and was awarded a handsome medal and diploma at the World's Fair, Chicago, in 1893. Mr. Courtney is sending the table to England, but previous to doing so he wished to give the people of Peterborough an opportunity of admiring it.

Chief Rutherford Thinks That He Should Have Been Consulted

It had been intended to have a meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee last night, but it was decided to postpone the session. It is understood the firemen have a letter to present to the committee in view of the reorganization of the brigade. Chief Rutherford has also a complaint to make in regard to the matter. To the Examiner he stated yesterday that he felt that after 40 years in the city's service as a fire-fighter, he should have been consulted when the reorganization of the fire-fighting service was considered. He states that his advice was not even asked, and does not regard the treatment he received from the committee as at all just.

COUNTY MUNICIPAL NOTES OF YEAR 1810

Interesting Items From Handbook From Library of the Late Jos. Barnard---Four Counties, Including Peterborough, Were United.

THE NEWCASTLE DISTRICT

A little book dealing with municipal affairs of this locality as they existed nearly one hundred years ago is in the possession of Mr. Jos. Barnard of East City. It is one of the volumes from the library of his father, the late Joseph Barnard, who for many years held a prominent position in civic affairs of this neighbourhood when it was part of the Newcastle district.

The book was published in Cobourg in the year 1857 and the preface contains the following interesting items:

The New Castle District

The Newcastle district formerly comprised the counties of Victoria, Peterborough, Northumberland and Durham. The population of this district in 1810 was 2,316; it is now—1857—over one hundred thousand souls.

The assessed value of property in 1810 for the whole of the above district was £35,000. Now the assessed value for Northumberland and Durham alone is £3,775,000.

In 1810 there was not even a road. The settlers passed from one clearing to another by a path along the lake shore. Now we (the united counties of Northumberland and Durham) have the greatest number of gravel roads of any counties in Upper Canada.

In place of the canoes or batteaux of 1810 we have magnificent steamers, and no less than three lines of railway intersect the counties in various directions.

Of harbours, we have the safest and best on Lake Ontario, and new ones are being continually constructed.

A county tax of one penny on the pound produces £15,745, and this is the best evidence that can be given of our prosperity.

Mr. Barnard's father was born in Yorkshire and came to Canada in 1831. He was one of the first magistrates of the united counties, holding the position for years.

To within five weeks of his death he was a hale and vigourous old gentleman, and on one occasion, when 80 years of age, he walked from Port Hope to Centreville, a distance of 16 miles, in less than four hours, to attend a meeting. Several years later he was in Lindsay on business pertaining to his magistracy, when he was stricken with paralysis, and lingered five weeks before death claimed him.

Mr. Joseph Barnard, who now lives in East City, was for sixteen years a member of the council of the township of South Monaghan, Northumberland county, and during thirteen of these years in succession he was reeve.

REV. A. H. BRACE RECEIVES CALL FROM COBOURG

Rev. A. H. Brace preached at Cobourg on Sunday last and was so heartily received that a church meeting was necessary for Wednesday to formulate a call at this meeting. (A most unanimous call was given and Mr. Brace received the official message from the church while at Toronto, where it was thoroughly endorsed. He has communicated his acceptance of the call and will begin his duties on May 10th. This appointment is giving general satisfaction and Mr. Brace is receiving many congratulations on the pastor-elect Cobourg.

BRIDGES ON LAKE SCUGOG IN DANGER OF WIND AND ICE

Mr. William O'Brien, representative of the American Tobacco Company, has returned home after a week's business in the Scugog district. While in Port Perry his attention was drawn to the condition of the ice and water in Lake Scugog. The people of that vicinity fear that the bridge between Port Perry and the island, and also the bridge between the island and Blackwater, on the other side, may be carried away by the action of the wind and ice. If the weather becomes stormy and a high wind breaks up the ice quickly, the people are of the opinion that both bridges will suffer and may be carried away.

They are awaiting with apprehension any change that may occur.

BACK TO HIS PAST ACQUAINTANCES IN OLD ASHBURNHAM

Mr. Samuel McIlroy, gatekeeper ever since its installation at the G. T. R. crossing, Simcoe street, was last night waited upon by some of his friends and presented with a spring overcourt before his departure for East City, where he once resided and where he will live in future. Mr. McIlroy has been engaged with the G. T. R. since 1857 and when in East City before looked after the diamond when the old Lakefield track crossed the C. P. R.

He will reside on James street, East City.

A BOGUS QUARTER RECENTLY MADE FOUND IN CHANGE

Evidently there is a counterfeit institution for the manufacture of bogus quarters somewhere in the vicinity. Last night a local place of amusement was handed one of the lead specimens which, of course, in the rush of selling tickets was not noticed until the coins were counted.

The piece of money was of a smooth, slippery character and easily detected to be counterfeit. Where it originated is a mystery but as it appeared to have been but recently from the mint, it is supposed there is a factory for the manufacture of the bogus money.

Chairman at the C. G. E. Mutual Benefit Concert last evening.

REPRESENTING HIMSELF TO BE A BOOK AGENT

Chief Roszel received a letter this morning from a well known New York book company informing him o fa swindler who is doing up the country as an agent for the firm, and offering a reward for the arrest. He is described as a portly, smooth-talking man of 40 years of age and measuring 5 ft. 10 in. He weighs 180 lbs.; hair and complexion light, face full and round and wears a heavy sandy moustache. He is at present travelling under the name of G. W. Douglas and is swindling merchants out of sums ranging from $5.75 to $16.20 by representing himself as an auditor of a Montreal and New York book company and offering to send a stock of one of the journals published, on consignments and usually gives a typewritten memorandum of agreement.

In the past this alleged rascal has used the aliases—Mills, Chadwick, Gray, Field, Thayer, Vivian, and has done business as a book agent. He was last heard of in Eastern Massachusetts, and it is believed that he is somewhere in Canada at present.

A large reward is offered for his arrest and conviction.

SOME FINE EASTER BEEF WAS DISPLAYED ON MARKET TO-DAY

What was acknowledged the finest Easter beef that has been weighed on the local market this year was that which Mr. James Ruth purchased this morning from Mr. John Mather, of Otonabee. It was a heifer weighing 1270 lbs. and was the centre of attraction of the large number of people at the market. The heifer was sold by Mr. Ruth to Mr. K. Denoon and will be a part of his stock for the Easter business.

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF RAZOR FROM A BARBER

On a charge of stealing a razor from Mr. O'Brien, a barber in the employ of Mr. Mongraw, Simcoe street, a painter of this city was arrested this afternoon.

About 2.30 o'clock Mr O'Brien to the police station and reported that he had had a razor stolen from the barber shop last week. He had found it to-day in the possession of another man and asked P. C. McGinty to get it from him. P. C. McGinty went out with O'Brien, and after locating the painter brought him to the police station. There he said he had bought the razor from another man, paying him a quarter for it, but did not know who he was. The chief decided to lock him up and a charge of theft was laid against him.

MANY CHANGES FROM LAST VISIT TO PETERBORO

Mr. David Arnott and daughter, Mrs. Maxwell of Carthage, N. Y., returned home this morning after visiting the former's nephew, Mr. R. J. McWilliams, Park street. It is about twelve years since Mr. Arnott visited the city, and of course, could scarcely find his way about as he saw quite a change.

Hiawatha Indian Makes Over $100 In Four Days Catching Rats At The Lake

The trappers in the county have just closed a successful week, in fact the first good week of this spring. From the reports received this season is the best that has been experienced in many years, at least judging from the first week's catch.

As an evidence of what has already been done a young man from one of the Indian reserves stated to-day that Mr. Alfred Crow, of Hiawatha, has had exceptionally good luck this week. He has 170 traps and is working among the weeds and along the shores at the mouth of the Otonabee. He started out on Monday with the following results: Monday 37 rats, Tuesday 87, Wednesday 91, Thursday 59, Friday 77. Without counting the last day he had made about $110 in four days. It is said that the pelts are worth 20 cents this year, which is three cents better than last year.

The traps are set in runways of the rats and as they are very plentiful the daily catch is a large one. Many of the Indians are out with their traps and as the ice is still good it is an easy matter to work among the rice beds. The Indians should make good this year and have a nice roll of "Williams" when they dispose of the pelts. It is not feared that the rodents will become extinct as there are more this year than last.

The Indians at Chemong have bright reports but they do not come up to those from Rice Lake. A good catch at the northern reserve is from 30 to 40 pelts every day.

Peterborough Bowlers Lost By A Small Margin In Toronto

The Peterborough Bowling Club's team which went to Toronto yesterday had a very enjoyable trip, and although they lost by the small margin of 70 pins in two games, they had two great contests. Boyd and Frost did not roll in their usual form, and although the others were doing clever trundling, it was not enough to pull out a victory. Wuram had the highest single score of the day, getting 256, which is two pins higher than Tommy Boyd's local alley record. The Peterborough team was up against a very strong combination.

The World has the following to say of their visit:

Two friendly games of bowls were played yesterday on the Canadian Bowling Club drives between a picked team from the Peterborough Club and the C. B. C. The games created quite a lot of interest and were close all through. However, the Otonabees were worsted in both games. The scores:

—Afternoon Game—

Peterborough—
Frost	147	130	157—454
Boyd	165	131	156—452
Pollard	168	134	196—498
Waram	145	143	256—544
McIlroy	197	164	184—545
Totals	812	752	949—2513
Canadian Club—
Neil	225	197	281—535
Barnes	205	159	145—509
Ham	188	139	127—454
Archambault	143	200	171—514
Wesley	143	159	137—439
Totals	904	856	761—2511

—Evening Game—

Peterborough—
Totals	791	871	864—2526
Canadian Club—
Totals	850	858	870—2579

Total pins counted and the majority in favour of the C. B. C. teams was only 70 pins. On points, Peterborough won two out of the six.

Death Of Mr. John Herr, Highly Respected Farmer Of Asphodel

The death of Mr. John Herr of Asphodel last night has removed one of the township's most respected and successful farmers. Born in Ireland 84 years ago, he came to Canada when five years of age with his parents. They settled in Asphodel and the family homestead has never passed into other hands. The late Mr. Herr was married about 50 years ago to Catherine English, whose family had come from the same county in Ireland as her husband, and who had taken up residence in Asphodel.

After a long, vigourous life, Mr. Herr's four score years began to tell on him, and last autumn he began to decline, until the inevitable hand of death called him to his reward.

Mr. Herr is survived by his wife and a family of three sons and five daughters. They are Michael, James and John of Asphodel, and Mrs. Thos. Roach of Westwood, Mrs. J. J. Devlin of East City, Mrs. Michael McMahon of Douro, and Catherine and Mary at home.

The late Mr. Herr was a Liberal in politics, and in religion a Roman Catholic. He enjoyed the respect and esteem of a large number of friends in this county who extend their sympathy to the bereaved wife and family.

The funeral will be held on Monday morning from the homestead on the Norwood road, about six miles west of the village, to the Catholic church in Norwood. Interment will take place in the Catholic cemetery.

Assessors Want To Know All About The Real Estate Changes

Water Cut Off From East City By Sinking Of The Roadway

Trouble is being experienced in East City, where recently the old bridge extending across Hunter street east, opposite the McAllister mill, was removed. A large tile drain was made which was filled over with earth. The water has soaked into this, and to-day it sank about two and a half feet. It is supposed the tile beneath has burst, as the land above the roadway is flooded. The inundation of the land has also been the cause of the cutting off of the water to East City, so that it is expected the water pipe is also broken.

Maple Sugar Was Stolen While Farmer Was Away At His Dinner

A farmer who had been doing a big business on the market this morning selling maple syrup and sugar had several cakes of the latter stolen from his wagon.

He left his horse and waron on the market square while he went to dinner. When he returned in about half an hour he found the delicious maple sugar had been stolen. He laid a complaint at the police station but it is not likely the culprit will be found, but steps will be taken to see that it does not occur again.

SHOULD BE NO CHANGE.

There is rumour current upon the streets to the effect that it is proposed by the C. P. R. to reduce the run of the local train, heretofore running morning and evening from Tweed to Toronto and from Toronto to Tweed, respectively, and have the eastern terminus of the run at Havelock. The Canadian Pacific Railway, if this is its intention, may have reasons sufficient to itself, but in relation to the interests of Peterborough and the district between Tweed and Havelock, it seems inadvisable to make the change. Peterborough is the commercial centre for Tweed, the surrounding districts (including Marmora), and the points intermediate between that place and Havelock. There is no other source of supply as convenient and accessible to the district named as Peterborough; and there is a very considerable trade coming to the city from the district served by the C. P. R. between Tweed and Havelock. If there is anything in the rumour mentioned, the City Council, the Board of Trade and the Retailers' Association should permit of no delay in placing the matter before the C. P. R. authorities, with the view of preventing a change in train service that will cut off from the Tweed district the most important means of communication with its natural commercial centre. There is a large business done now between Tweed, Marmora and Peterborough. But with this train shut off at Havelock, this business is over. Result—Peterborough shut out of business, and Tweed, Marmora and district not served. The Railway Commission should not permit of this condition being created. The Canadian Pacific Railway is so well conducted and enterprising that its management cannot understand the circumstances, or the proposed change would not be thought of for a moment.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKS.

The matter of school savings banks has again been brought to the attention of the School Board which, it is hoped will, this time, deal with the subject in a manner deserving of its importance. Nine years ago the Board of Education considered the matter in all its bearings and a special committee to whom it was intrusted, made exhaustive research and collected evidence of the success of the system where it had been applied both in Canada and the United States. The report presented at that time pointed out that this success was represented by the formation of habits of thrift and saving at the most impressionable period of child life, which it needs little reflection to see, must influence in a most beneficial way the citizenship of the city, and, with wider or general application the citizenship of the Province and the Dominion.

The results of the system of school savings banks involves an individual, social and economic importance. Not only is this system adapted to the building up of one of the most valuable elements of personal character, but it also has a directly beneficiary result. Instances are frequent in which the child and children have come to the rescue of the family when the bread-winner has been prostrated will illness or out of work. An article printed in another column shows what a success it has been in Toronto public schools and examples are given, typical of the benefit it confers upon individuals and the community. An instance is given of how the habit of saving has resulted in implanting and developing business habits and characteristics. Two Toronto school boys, from their savings, accumulated enough to buy a building lot. Seeing that the boys had the stuff that makes business men, the father advanced the money for building a house on the lot, and it came to pass that from the accumulation of trifling savings the two lads while in the school boy stage became real estate owners.

Not only do the children themselves acquire habits of thrift, but their influence reacts upon parents, who are led to think, to see the folly of spending all the earnings, without saving a portion for emergencies. Herein consists the economic importance of the school savings banks movement, the encouragement and development of thrift, in the children, and its reaction upon parents of this generation who have not even by bitter experience learned the habit of saving or even economizing. It is a fact that the greater part of the poverty and acute sufffering which our winters—especially last winter — bring and which make such exacting demands upon the resources of the provident, are due to wasteful habits of extravagance and improvidence. Thousands in receipt of good wages during the summer live up to every cent of their earnings, in wasteful living, pleasure-seeking, etc., and in winter they become a burden upon society, whereas by the exercise of a little thrift and self-control they might have become comfortably independent.

A revolution in this respect need not be expected at once. But the habits of thrift and saving which school savings banks will develop, by reacting upon parents will improve the present generation, while it will provide a generation which will have formed these habits, which are the elements of character that enter into good citizenship and national progress and permanency. The French are supposed to be the most thrifty nation on the earth, but stinginess and money meanness is not a part of the national character—a prudent saving habit, making the most of all resources—has made France the richest, most self-reliant and independent nation in the world. When the state wants to borrow money for state purposes, it doesn't pay interest to foreign capitalists—it borrows practically from itself—that is the people furnish the money and get the interest. The terrific war indemnity — many millions — exacted by Germany at the close of the Franco-Prussian war was wholly paid by the French people—the money came from the savings of the people. If we can teach our people of the next generation such habits of thrift through training under the system of school savings banks, we shall be doing a good stroke of nation-building.

Some may be inclined to despise small savings but it is surprising what they amount to. In Toronto in April, 1905 the deposits in the school savings banks were $19,208.03; three years later, at the end of last February, 1908, they had increased to $67,894.69. From 1905 to 1908, the deposits in the school savings banks of Toronto amounted to $137,336 and the withdrawals to $93,489. It is noticed that the withdrawals are much larger in winter when employment is scarcer, showing that the family as a whole benfits by the savings accumulated by the children and the charitable public is thus relieved to a considerable extent of the necessity of helping the unemployed. The reader is invited to peruse the instructive article in another part of this issue and the benefit and importance of the school savings bank movement will be much emphasized in his or her mind. There seems to be ground for no two opinions as to the desirabilty and wisdom of the Board of Education adopting the system.

EDITORAL NOTES

Mr. W. L. Mackenzie King is not only King in name. He has the royal way of succeeding.

Premier Whitney has, says the Toronto Star, had to have the Liquor Act amended to prevent his J. P.'s from ordering the stuff after hours. In their high regard for the law the Whitney J. P.'s seem to have taken that Napanee precedent pretty seriously.

Hon. Sidney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, proposes stiffening the penalties for violation of the Fruit Marks Act. This seems to be necessary. There is altogether too much fraud in the packing of apples for the British market. Canada's reputation, the interest of honest dealers, and indeed the foothold of Canada in her best market is imperrilled by fraudulent practices of packing. Even careless packing, without a thought of dishonesty, in injurious, and not only the fruit industry but all our production interests, butter, cheese, etc., are injured. We have a good name now and it must be maintained, even if more drastic preventive measures against fraud are necessary.

The Toronto Telegram perpetuates the reductio ad absurdia of partizanship, not a surprising thing, for the Telegram is "Independent." It objects to Mr. Thomas Southworth as Parks Superintendent of Toronto because he is a Liberal. There is no claim that he is not competent; his only disqualification is his politics. Mr. Southworth was appointed to his prominent position by a Liberal Government, but he has served three years and a half under Conservative rule. He must have been considered an unusually good official, since he was not asked to walk the plank. Is "Tory" Toronto to be so much considered a part of the Whitney Government as to call for the application of the spoils system in appointing city officials.

Even Conservative journals with normal digestion, cannot swallow Premier Whitney's gerrymander, the Goderich Star, Conservative, says:—"It will not be argued that there is any improvement in the new arrangement on the basis of population and the crowding into one riding of three out of the four towns in the county is not to be justified from any economical or political standpoint. From the merely partisan point of view the re-arrangement means, taking the figures of the election of 1905, that South Huron will have a Conservative majority of about 650 or 700; Centre Huron, a Liberal majority of about the same and North Huron will be another "safe" constituency by at least 250. We are loath to believe that this is Mr. Whitney's wishes or idea of the redistribution, and we hope the discussion in the Legislature will lead to such changes as will allow of honest approval by any fair-minded man. It is never too late to do right."

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL QUESTIONS

Second Series in the International Competition—Questions Attracting Attention.

SHOULD NOT BE MISSED

The following represents the second series of questions on the International Sunday School Lesson, in the big competition.

The Raising of Lazarus. John 11: 1-57.

Golden Text—I am the resurrection and the life. John 11: 25.

Verses 1-6—Was this the same Mary who was "a sinner" that anointed the feet of Jesus referredto, Luke vii. 37-38, or the one mentioned John xii: 3?

Is sickness always or generally a sign of sin?

Does God ever use "sin" for his glory and for the good of humanity?

What benefit may be derived from telling Jesus our troubles?

What are the advantages or the disadvantages of sickness?

Verse 5—Did Jesus love this brother and his two sisters, with the same king of love?

Suppose it should prove that Jesus loved one of these devout women with "the love of a lover," ought we to think any the less of him for it?

Verse 6—Why is it that "God so often delays in coming to our help when in dire trouble?

Verse 7—Where was Jesus at this time, and what had caused him to go there? See John x: 39 40.

Verses 8-10—What did Jesus mean by his statement, about walking in the day and walking in the night?

Is it true that God will tell every true man, like he did Jesus, when to go to a place and when to leave it?

Verses 11-15W Which is it that sleeps at death, the body or the soul or both?

Is some signal blessing a necessary sequence of every great calamity, to a true Christian, as in this case?

(This question is to be answered in writing by members of the club)

Verse 16—When danger seems to be in the path of duty, is it ever right to shun the danger by refusing the duty?

Verses 17-22—Which character is the more admirable, Martha with her impulsiveness in running out to meet Jesus, or Mary, who "sat still in the house" till Jesus should come?

What is the best kind of comfort to give to people, on the death of their loved ones?

Verses 23-26—When will be the resurrection of the last day?

Will our literal and identical bodies be resurrected, that are put into the graves the man with one leg and no arms, the wrinkled and shrivelled up old man man, and people with similar deformities, and if not, what will the resurrection be?

In what sense are men dead without Jesus, and made alive by accepting him and then never die again?

Verse 27—Is Jesus satisfied with the love of our hearts even if our heads do not understand his words?

Verses 28-32—What would result to the world if every woman loved Jesus and reponded to his call, with the ardor of Mary?

Verses 33-36—Is it wise and right for Christians to weep at the death of their friends who are Christians, any more, for example, than they would if they were going say to Australia to live?

Why did Jesus weep?

Verses 37-46—Seeing that Jesus could raise the dead by a command, why did he not roll away the stone and loose the grave clothes in the same way?

Verses 47-57—How do you account for it that the stronger the proof that Jesus gave of his power and goodness the more the Jews hated him?

Lesson for Sunday April 19th, 1908, Jesus Anointed at Bethany. John xii: 1-11.

"SPRING FEVER"

The need of a spring medicine seems to be universal. This is due to the fact that during the winter the blood becomes impure on account of the hearty food eaten. This causes that tired, weary, all-gone, don't-care-to-work feeling which is so prevalent at this time of year.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

That Tired Feeling.
Mr. F. H. Leard, Saskatoon, Sask., writes:—"I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a blood builder and think it an excellent remedy. Everyone should take it in the spring to cure that tired feeling that comes to so many at this time of year."

Uses It Every Spring.
Mr. H. Langley, Hamilton, Ont. writes:—"I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a spring tonic, and I find it the best thing I can take. It builds me right up and I use it every spring. It is excellent for the blood."

The Problem Of Securing Pure Milk Supply For Cities

The Experience of New York is Given as an Illustration—Daily Milk Supply of City Amounts to 1,750,000 Quarts—It is Shipped From 700 Creameries.

DUTY OF THE PRODUCER

Canadian Dairyman

The problem of pure milk supply for towns and cities is a difficult one to solve satisfactorily, especially for the large centres of population. The consumer is becoming more exacting in his demands, not only for a richer and better quality of milk but also for a supply free from disease producing germs. He is right in doing so, so long as he is willing to pay a price that will enable the producer to supply it at a profit.

To come up to the standard required involves no small responsibility upon the producer. His cows must be healthy and normal, his stabling must be comfortable and sanitary, the milking must be done by a clean and healthy person into a sterile vessel, it must be quickly cooled transported and delivered to the consumer in a sealed package.

While some producers will give every attention to the business there are others who care little so long as a market is found for their supply and the cheque for it comes along regularly. And herein lies the problem that is hard to solve. To properly inspect the daries supplying milk to a large city would require a little army of officials. The city boards of health have not yet reached a point where they are willing to expend the money required for such inspection. It is questionable, however, if they will ever get a "perfect" milk until a thorough inspection of dairies is made at frequent intervals. In the meantime the consumer must depend upon the producer's desire to do the right thing, and we believe the majority of dairymen engaged in this line of work are endeavoring to do the best they know how. But they should not stop at this. The time is coming when city consumers will demand that the milk which they buy shall be produced in a strictly sanitary way and he guaranteed free from germs of disease or other impurities and the producer must be prepared for it when it comes or go out of business.

The difficulty of securing a pure milk supply for large centres of population is shown by the experience of New York. The daily milk supply of that city amounts to 1,750,000 qts. (U. S. measure), gathered from 35,000 farms, and shipped from 700 creameries located in six states. The supervision of these 35,000 dairies is entrusted to sixteen inspectors, or one to every 2,187 farms. Each of these inspectors inspects ten farms a day, which, allowing for time in travelling between farms, would give him about thirty minutes for each farm. This gives not more than one visit to each farm in the year, and makes the inspection little better than no inspection. After the inspector has made his visit the producers know that he cannot get around again for another year and is free to pursue his own way. If he is honest and lives up to the standard required by the inspector all well and good, but if not, the consumer suffers.

To inspect New York's supply properly would require several hundred men which would involve an outlay that city corporations have not as yet been educated to expend. The honesty and desire of the producer to do the right thing must be depended upon for a while. Education and training will do a great deal and herein lies the hope of the consumer. A great responsibility rests upon the producer. The health of thousands of children in our towns and cities is in his hands and he should do his duty by them.

The Irish Presbyterian Church has a splendid half-century record in the matter of the care of its orphans. Two closely related orphan societies held their annual meetings recently—the Presbyterian Orphan Society and the Society for the Orphans of Ministers and Missionaries of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland. The former is the monument of a very strong man whose name the church continues to hold in remembrance—the Rev. Dr. Wm. Johnston, minister of Townsend street church, Belfast. He conceived, in the spirit of true Christian socialism, the great scheme of caring for Presbyterian orphans throughout the country, a scheme which has been fruitful of untold good to the church.

HOW I TRIED TO LEARN FARMING

(By F. M. Dela Fosse.)

I made my acquaintanceship with backwoods farming in the guise of an agricultural pupil. Thirty years ago Canada was well nigh a terra incognita to English men and women, and when the offer was held out to myself and a few others of a chance to learn farming in the backwoods under the watchful eye of a Christian gentleman, our parents and guardians who knew nothing of Canadian economic conditions, fairly jumped at it.

A good, comfortable home, hunting, fishing, and, beyond all, the tuition of an expert agriculturist formed a combination of advantages hard to equal. True, that in order to enjoy these benefits we were asked to pay £100 per annum, but that was a bagatelle, if we learned to become practical farmers and stockraisers.

I can see even now the beautiful pictures conjured up in my young and ardent brain, by the plausible letters of my future instructor. The cosy farm house nestling in the woods, the fields, green with verdure stretching away to horizons bounded by waving pines or roaring billows; I could hear the gentle lambs bleating in the barnyards, the hens cackling merrily over their eggs, the cocks crowing lustily from their straw-strewn battlements. The dear old cows! What cream they would give! the horses, delightful creatures; how gracefully they would pirouette and prance over the meadows to be fed with apples and sweetmeats at our hands. The languorous, ease-loving swine, too, how pleasantly they would blink at us as we leaned over their styes in the cool of the evening, and meditatively tickled their backs with brambles.

But the hunting! oh, the hunting! The view hallo would be raised with a vengeance when we went hunting. Galloping at break-neck speed through the forest glades, we would chase the woolly bear to his lair, or, dagger in hand, advance on the antlered monarch as he stood at bay on some giddy precipice. And the fishing! Why the finny denizens of the northern deeps would jump in shoals, when our fly-laden hooks flicked magically over the waters. Yes, the dream taken altogether was a pleasant one, but, like most pleasant dreams, was destined to be rudely shattered. A sort of hazy inkling of the true state of affairs had dawned on my intellect on reaching the terminus of the railway, where I found myself assigned to a bed already occupied by two strangers, a fat man and his son. Wedged in between these two, I passed a night of horror, actively employed in warding off the suffocation and praying for daylight. Forebodings harrowed me after that and yet I had found consolation in the thought that my future abode lay forty miles beyond the present purgatory, and that all sorts of agreeable surprises might be quite easily exposed to view within half that distance. There were certainly many surprises on that journey, but not one of them was a pleasant one. The slow progress of the ox-waggon was one, the obtrusiveness of the mosquitoes and blackflies was another, and the villainous condition of the Colonization road was a third.

After enduring untold misery for upwards of seventeen hours my spirits were cheered by the intelligence that we were nearing our destination. This was comforting, but the appearance of the country did not suggest any nearer approach to the paradise of my dreams. Rocks and boulders lay thick along the track, no clearing had been passed for miles; the swamps were wider in extent, the hills more precipitous. Here and there, also, a snag, decrepit with age, had fallen across the roadway, and axes and hand-spikes had to be brought into requisition to remove it.

"Is Mr.S——'s farm situated on land anything like this?" I enquired timidly of the driver.

"Why, bless your bones, sonny," he answered; "there's all the differ between this 'ere land and S——'s land as there is betwixt an angel's whisper and a hog's grunt. This is an angel's whisper."

An Uninviting Spot

The comparison, though far-fetched, was quite an intelligible one. The "far" certainly was a "hog's grunt." The cleared land amounted to about half an acre, whilst all the rest with the exception of seven or eight acres freshly felled, was virgin forest. It did not need very laboured investigation to find that rock and swamp were the predominating characteristics of the land and that every appliance connected with ordinary agriculture was conspicuous by its absence. There were no farm buildings of any kind. The arrangements provided for our domestic comfort were also of the crudest description, for our habitation consisted simply of two small log shanties, adjoining each other, the hollows in the walls of which were "chinked" with pine and plastered with cow manure. The furniture was home-made, the beds being rude creations of split basswood slabs, nailed to the walls. The pantry was a open shelf running along the western end of the shanty. Needless to say there was no carpet. None of us had been bred as Sybarites or Epicureans, but this was a condition of affairs to which we were entirely foreign, and the novelty of it proved quite delightful for about two days. As soon as the "farming" commenced, however, our enjoyment vanished, and the quality of the victuals we received did not tend to relieve our feelings to any appreciable extent. Then, the mice used to make a picnic ground of the rice and sugar bins, and, worse than that, drown themselves in the syrup jug, so regularly as to almost suggest the existence of a system of hari-kari amongst them. As a member of our party aptly observed, one morning, as he fished a corpse out of his plate and deftly balanced it on his knife, "this sort of thing is getting to be really most unpleasant, don't you know."

With the perspicacity characteristic of him, our instructor had erected our abode on the summit of a steep cliff, immediately overlooking a beautiful stretch of water. One of the daily pleasures—for (which we paid at the rate of $40 a month — was to descend this precipice for the purpose of obtaining water for the establishment. In summer the task was hard, but in winter it was positively hazardous, owing to the almost perpendicular climb to the summit. Our experiences in that shanty during the first year were, indeed, closely akin to misery. Matters were muddled along fairly well during the summer, but when the wintry winds began to get in their work we realized what "cold" meant. The way the blizzards struck our unprotected shanty was terrific. One awful day the thermometer went down 72 degrees in a little over two hours. I crawled under my blankets that night with overcoat and shoepacks on. One of our number, I remember, got his nose frost-bitten in bed, and was quite indignant over it.

Oh, the days of that pupil farming! Whatever we turned our hands to went wrong. It seemed as if some special fate kept watch over us to render our labours abortive and make us ridiculous in the eyes of our neighbours.

The Oxen Ran Away

Our first work was "logging." None of us had the faintest idea of how to handle a handspike or cant-hook, or to drive the unwilling beasts which, under the names of Buck and Bright, were supposed to be subservient to our wills. They simply ran the show themselves, and more than half of our time was spent in chasing them merrily over the fields in vain attempts to get them under control. On one occasion our instructor took a hand in the game. He said: "Look here! you young chaps, you are just playing the fool with these cattle. Watch me drive them." We were quite willing to stand aside and be taught. Armed with a sapling about fifteen feet long and an inch thick, our instructor started.

"Git up, you great lubberly garden goats, you, whoa, back, ha!" Down came the gad on their backs and away went the oxen. The round hook of the chain caught in his turned up trousers and then the fun was on in earnest. Over rocks and snags and underbrush they whirled that unfortunate man, and the more we rushed after them the wilder they got. Finally after half killing him, they landed him hard against a stump, causing the hook to part company from the trousers and the trousers from the man, leaving the victim in a state of semi-nudity painful to witness. It was no fun logging with those cattle.

Sometimes settlers who had nothing else to do would happen along in order to see us working. They always seemed deeply impressed with what they saw, and in generous tribute to our instructor's superior methods, christened the place the "Model Farm."

It had taken us all summer to clog up the eight acres and no time was left for putting up any shelter for the cattle so that the poor brutes were obliged to crouch together in the woods that winter, and subsist as best they could on the hemlock boughs that were daily cut for their provender. Most of them died and their bones and skulls were to be seen for many a day scattered in various places about the "farm." Nothing went right with that man. Even when in the course of time a stable was erected, the mortality went merrily on. His sheep died, his pigs died, his horse died, and one of his oxen also died. All sorts of minor accidents, such as losses of eyes and horns were rife, and it was not his fault that some of his cantankerous beasts did not make us die, too.

His mare bit and kicked at everything in sight, and it always took the whole staff to round up his shorthorn bull and lead him into the stable. The foul fiend was in that bull. The moment we entered the enclosure, armed with saplings and handspikes, he snorted defiance and charged down at us. He was never captured except by the most consummate strategy. The ram was, if anything, more dangerous than the bull. If the football armour of the present day had been in vogue in those days I would gladly have purchased a suit for my daily encounters with that ram. Once he caught me unawares. I was carrying two pails of swill to the pigs and gaily whistling, "Do you love me, Mollie, Darling." The ram didn't like the music and sent me soaring. The swill soared, too, most of it over myself. I had no sooner landed than the ram landed, too, in the same place as before, and sent me a few yards further. He was a born pugilist, that ram for, when he was not using us as punching bags he was practicing on the bull.

Our instructor scarcely ever helped with the "chores." He left the milking and the "mucking out" of the stables to us, as also the currycombing and harnessing of the mare, and the general overnight of the bull and the barnyard. He said it was the best way to learn us to become handy men. He was right. By the end of the second year we could have qualified as expert matadors in any bull ring in the world, whilst the antics of the mare had endowed us with a quickness of vision and alertness of foot that any pugilist might have envied.

It was not long before the unquestioning belief in our instructor's infallibility under which we had first laboured was effectually banished from our minds. We were unsophisticated enough in a few months to look upon him as a very ordinary human being. We found that he was subject to fits of temper—like other people, and also to fits of indisposition to work—like other people. Work always made him so tired. It was really pitiful sometimes to notice how the very mension of it seemed to depress him, especially at certain seasons. In the fly months for instance, and in winter time he simply could not summon up strength enough to milk the cows. We had a complete monopoly of that festive amusement. If any of my readers have tried milking three or four cows in the open with mosquitoes and blackflies swarming about them, or when the mercury is hovering near the 30 below zero mark, they will appreciate the extent of our enjoyment of the task.

Still in justice to the gentleman, let it be frankly said, that another cause, that of sheer fright, may have had something to do with his aversion to working with us. He hardly ever unhook anything in in which we were concerned without being involved in peril or disaster of some sort. It was almost uncanny. To take one instance out of many—On one occasion he and I were stationed on the same "cleat" roofing the barn. It was a somewhat lofty structure, being perhaps 35 feet in height. We were near the ridge board, hammering away merrily when suddenly a suspicion dawned on me that the "cleat" was loose, so, in order to test its soundness I caught hold of the ridge with both hands and gave a shove with my foot. My surmise had been correct. It had been loose. It gave way, and in an instant, to my horror, down went hammer, nails and our revered instructor. I can see him now, glaring wildly upwards, his teeth chattering, his beard wagging, his fingers grabbing wildly at the shingles. Then, of, merciful heavens! with the speed of an avalanche he was out of sight, and the next instant there was a dull thud below! The other fellows had heard the clatter and looked up. "Why, where the dickens is he?" they cried out in astonishment. "He's g-g-gone below" I ejaculated feebly. Sick with apprehension, we clambered down, expecting to find his mangled corpse in the stones beneath. But no, a kindly Providence had watched over him. We found him firmly embedded in the manure pile, looking the picture of abject misery, but sound in wind and limb.

A Little Hunting Experience

During the days of our pupilage we used often to indulge in small hunting excursions, and we sometimes had queer experiences. Once, two of us, on the kind invitation of a neighboring settler put in a week's still hunting with him. We had a very enjoyable time, the only drawback being that we got no deer, but as our chief anxiety had been to get away from the "farm" we looked upon this as quite a minor misfortune. The settler and his wife and three children lived in a single-roomed shanty. They were new comers to the woods and consequently their furniture was scanty. Their hospitality however was unbounded.

The strongest and surest point in favour of "Salada" Tea is quality. Never in a history of a product have the Canadian people given such a sweeping endorsement of merit as has been accorded "Salada." One out of every six Canadians drink it and this number is steadily increasing.

LARGE REAL ESTATE DEAL

Consummated by the Firm of J. T. O'Connell & Co.

Mr. John F. English of Emily township has sold his farm of 200 acres lot 17 con. 6, Emily, and is moving to Peterborough. He has since purchased Mr. Joseph Gray's new terrace on Park street, a very handsome home.

This property is centrally located and modernly built. It contains five houses which can be rented for a reasonable rent, the full particulars of which may be obtained by calling at Mr. O'Connell's office on Hunter street, as his firm has the exclusive handling of these houses.

HAPPY WOMEN PRAISE PE-RU-NA

It Is Works, Not Words, That Has Made Pe-ru-na Famous Throughout the Land.

The Miss and the matron alike praise Peruna. Girls and women have all discovered the value of Peruna. The Miss and Mrs. have been ill, each in her own peculiar way, and have found relief by taking Peruna.

Fair girls and beautiful women, frail daughters and ailing mothers everywhere have taken Peruna and know its value in the relief of ailments peculiar to their sex. From the grandmother to the girl babe the gentler sex are under numerous obligations to Peruna.

All this being true and the woman does not hesitate to tell it, her words win the confidence of other women, and thus the fame of Peruna spreads from household to household, until millions of homes acknowledge Peruna as their favorite and reliable family medicine.

Peruna is good for many minor ills. It can be relied upon to mitigate the many disagreeable effects of colds and irregularities so common among women. All the ailments of a catarrhal nature belong within the scope of Peruna's remedial action.

Mrs. Sophia Caldwell, 1122 McGavock street, Nashville, Tenn., writes:

"After doctoring for a year and finding no relief from leucorrhea resulting from prolapsus uteri, and which was sapping my life forces away, I finally tried Peruna and when I found that it was helping me every day it seemed almost too good to be true.

"But, it not only helped me, it cured me and in a very short time. I am now enjoying the best of health. I am strong and free from pain, and I certainly feel that all praise and honor are due to Peruna."

Miss Annie Hendren, Rocklyn, Wash., writes:

"I feel better than I have for over four years. I have taken several bottles of Peruna and one bottle of Manalin. I can now do all of my work in the house, milk the cows, take care of the milk, and so forth.

"I think Peruna is the most wonderful medicine. I believe I would be in bed to-day if I had not written to you for advice. I had taken all kinds of medicine, but none did me any good. Peruna has made me a well and happy girl. I can never say too much for Peruna."

"I suffered with female troubles for thirteen years, and tried the best doctors in Louisville, Ky., without relief. I spent thousands of dollars at the Springs. The doctors desired that I have an operation performed to remove my ovaries, which I would not consent to. I saw an advertisement of your Peruna and bought one bottle, and before I had taken it all I could get out of bed and walk about. After taking three bottles I was as well and hearty as ever. I gained in flesh from one hundred and eighteen to one hundred and eighty-six pounds. If it had not been for your great and wonderful medicine I would now be in mygrave. I would advise all women sufferers to try it. I would not be without it for the world."—Anna Munden, Hollygrove, Ark.

"I was troubled with very serious pelvic weakness, which exhausted me so that I feared I would lose my mind. I suffered agony with my back, the pain extending down my left leg. The pain was so severe that I would have welcomed death as a relief. Peruna cured me of this trouble,—no wonder I recommend it so highly. It will soon be two years since I found relief from the pain and not a sign of it has returned. I am glad that there is a way in which I can speak of this, as many a sufferer may read my testimonial, and not only read, but believe."—Mrs. Wm. Henderson, Craik, N. W. T., Can.

"I feel it my duty to write and tell you of the good Peruna has done me. I was subject to female weakness. For six years I suffered more or less. We consulted various doctors, who gave me relief, but no cure. I have suffered a great deal, and my husband had very large bills to pay.

"In my despair I decided to try Peruna, and the first bottle taken according to your directions gave me relief. I have had no backset since then. Since we have used Peruna, a doctor has seldom been in our house."—Mrs. Martha Fredrich, Central Park, L. I., N. Y.

Interesting Statistics Regarding The Hospitals

Report of Special Committee From Nicholls Hospital Presented to the Board—Reduction in Government Grant.

TO INVESTIGATE EXPLOSION

At a meeting of the members of the Nicholls Hospital Trust, held on Thursday afternoon, the following report was presented by Messrs. Crane and Hill, who attended the Ontario Hospital Association meeting in Toronto recently:

The Chairman and Members,
Nicholls Hospital Trust,
Peterborough, Ont.

Gentlemen,—

Your Special Committee appointed to attend the meeting of the Ontario Hospital Association in Toronto beg to report as follows:

Your Committee attended the Hospital Association held in Toronto on Wednesday, March 18, 1908, which was held in the Public Accounts Committee room in the Government Buildings, and was attended by about 100 delegates representing the various hospitals of the Province, including representatives from New Ontario.

An interesting general discussion was entered into which elicited much valuable statistical information and a general plan was mapped out to lay before the Ministers of the Cabinet the claims of the hospitals for Government aid. Some eight speakers were appointed, their choice being made with a view to covering hospitals throughout the Province, and each was assigned a part in the discussion so as to avoid repetition and make their various points of most effect.

We were afterwards met by the Hon. Mr. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, Hon. Mr. Reaume, Hon. Mr. Mathison and Hon. Mr. Cochrane.

The interview with the honourable gentlemen brought out some interesting statistics in regard to hospitals' work, and which, you committee feels, should make a strong impression on the minds of the Cabinet.

First,—

In 1882 there were 13 hospitals.
In 1907 there are 65 hospitals.
In 1882 the hospitals treated 6,032 patients.
In 1907 the hospitals treated 45,551 patients.
In 1882 the first Government grant was $44,832.
In 1907 the first Government grant was $110,000.
In 1882 the cost of maintenance was about 58c per day.
In 1907 the cost of maintenance was about $1.16 per day.
In 1882 the total cost of maintenance was $104,035.
In 1907 the total cost of maintenance was $1,149,875.

The figures produce the following rather unique results: That, while pay patients have increased their own support to maintenance in the past 20 years from 16 per cent. to 53 per cent.; municipalities to 17 per cent., and, although the cost per day for maintenance is double what it was in 1882, and the income from investments has reduced from 10 per cent. to 4 per cent., in spite of this, the Government grant has been reduced from 36 per cent. to 13 per cent.

In the past (1896-1906) ten years the patients have increased by nearly 30,000, at an increased cost of $700,000 per year, still the same sum of $110,000 has gone into the estimates each year in spite of the fact that during that time the succession duties (which were instituted to aid hospitals and charities) have amounted to over five millions of dollars.

These facts were all pointed out to the Ministry, and from the remarks of the Hon. Mr. Hanna at the close, evidently made a marked impression.

The aim of the association was to secure a level rate of 80 cents per day, which, added to the public rate of 70 cents, would give $1 per day for maintenance, or 16 cents less than the present average cost.

Hon. Mr. Hanna stated that while the estimates had already been brought down, if he could succeed in impressing his colleagues as thoroughly as he had been impressed, there would be the supplementary estimates to fall back on.

After the Ministers had retired, a meeting was held for the election of officers, when Mr. W. G. Rundle of the Toronto General Hospital was elected president, and Mr. Hutchinson of Brockville, secretary.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN CRANE
W. H. HILL.

A further fact was pointed out, viz., the reduction in donations since the Succession Duties Act came into force. Those desirous of making bequests in their wills to hospitals were deterred from doing so, saying that the hospitals were provided for from the Succession Duties.

The small explosion that occurred at the hospital about a week ago has been reported on, and steps have been taken to have an expert from Toronto determine the cause in order to prevent a repetition in the future.

Mutual Benefit Society's Concert Was Most Gratifying Success

Very Enjoyable Programme Rendered at the Opera House Last Night—Audience Was Large and Enthusiastically Endorsed the Entertainment.

MR. R. E. HARDING PRESIDED

The second annual "at home" of the Mutual Benefit Society of the Canadian General Electric Company in the Grand Opera House last night was in every way a most gratifying success. The attendance was very large, so there is no doubt of the result, financially, and artistically the event was of the same calibre. The programme was a lengthy one, but was so well presented and so varied that the audience never found it wearisome in fact, nearly every number was encored, and the hearty applause left no doubt as to the sentiment of the gathering in regard to the entertainment. The Mutual Benefit Society is to be congratulated upon arranging such a splendid programme, the numbers throughout being of a most artistic and enjoyable nature. Mr. R. E. Harding made a most acceptable chairman.

One of the features of the evening was the playing of the opera house orchestra, which was augmented for the occasion and consisted of eight pieces. Their work throughout was of the most finished nature, and never have they been heard to better advantage. Their first number was the stirring march, "Fraternity Belle," which was rendered with a precision of attack that made it most enjoyable. The tuneful selection from the "Geisha" was handled very acceptably, and was received with generous applause. Damarce's "Cleopatra" was another delightful number by the orchestra, the solo for cornet being taken very artistically by Mr. Walter Hughes. The overture, "Sons of Erin," into which are interwoven many of the old songs which bring the light of appreciation into the eyes of the native of the Emerald Isle, completed the orchestral programme, and its rendition was of the same high class nature which marked the other numbers.

Mr. Ed. Crowe was heard to advantage in the waltz song, "Some Day When Dreams Come True," which was admirably suited to his excellent voice. As an encore he sang "When You Know You're Not Forgotten by the Girl You Can't Forget."

Little Miss Annie Christie brought down the house with her recitation, "Nip and Tuck," in which she demonstrated that she is a very clever little elocutionist. The applause that greeted her was well merited and she had to respond to an encore.

Mr. W. McLaren, who numbers are always well received, gave a reading from the trial scene in "Pickwick" in a manner that caused none of the delicious humour to be lost and an enthusiastic encore was demanded.

Mr. Geo. Lynch, who has no equal in Peterborough as an entertainer, chose as his selection, one of the delightful little poems from the "Habitant," in which his dialect and impersonations were well night perfect, and to satisfy the audience and encore had to be given.

Mr. E. M. Hooker's baritone voice was well displayed in the stirring solo, "The Bandalero," in which he excelled himself by his artistic rendition of the number.

Mr. J. W. Chambers was to have sung the favourite, "Love Me and the World is Mine," but the illustration slides were not available, and Adams' "Veteran's Song," a number that is always appreciated, was substituted. Mr. Chambers did justice to the number.

The second part of the programme opened with a selection by the orchestra, after which Miss E. Lee sang "Dear Home Songs" in excellent voice, the audience showing its appreciation by forcing her to respond to a recall. Mr. F. Pratt, who rendered "The Goodwin Sands" in spirited fashion also had to give an extra number in answer to the applause. Mr. Frank Clark, always a favourite, has rarely been heard to better advantage, and his banjo solo was one of the features of the evening, and encore being asked for, [illegible]

Miss May Edwards, a prominent young vocalist of great ability, gave a splendid interpretation of Wheeler's song, "Spring Flowers." Mr. McLaren again delighted the audience, his number this time being a humourous monologue, entitled "The Grass Widower," and he managed to extract all the fun from the selection. Mr. Geo. Lynch brought the programme to a close with a splendid rendition of the pretty Irish ballad, "Where the River Shannon Flows," illustrated by beautiful coloured slides.

Mr. Herbert Nicholl was the accompanist of the evening, and his sympathetic work had a great deal to do with the success of the affair.

Following is the complete programme:

PART I.

MR. PAPPAS PREPARING FOR MORE BUSINESS

It is learned from Mr. M. Pappas that he has been on a business trip to Toronto recently, and while there gave his order for eight pool and billiar tables to be installed upstairs, just to the north of the cigar store at 337 George street, to be opened about July 1. The new billiard parlour will be one of the most exclusive in the city, so that professional men, merchants or others can be assured of a game of billiards where they will not be interrupted.

Mr. Pappas will also add three more barbers' chairs to his Police store, 344 George street, to be placed where the cigar department now is.

It has also been learned that Mr. Pappas has leased the store premises now occupied by the Times printing office and bookstore, where he proposes starting a moving picture business.

BRIEF HISTORICAL SKETCH OF THE VOLUNTEER FIRE BRIGADE, TO BE ABOLISHED BY COUNCIL

Fire Brigade Organized Early in the Sixties, When the Apparatus Was of the Most Meagre Nature —Some of the Men Who Have Been Chief.

THE CHIEF'S LONG SERVICE

The re-organization of the Peterborough fire brigade into a permanent brigade means that the volunteer company which has done such good work for Peterborough in the past forty years will soon be a thing of the past. In view of that fact, a short historical sketch of the brigade since its inception should be of peculiar interest at this time.

Just when the first fire protection was secured for Peterborough it is hard to say but in 1860 the corporation was the proud possessor of a small hand engine which with a few lengths of hose completed the equipment. There was no brigade then but in October, 1862 after a big fire had devastated a business block, a petition was presented to the council expressing the willingness of a large number of ratepayers to organize a fire company if the council would turn over the apparatus to them. This was agreed upon and on Oct. 31st, 1862, the brigade was formed with D. McNaughton as captain. Ralph Helm was the first chief and Mr. Kimbal the first assistant.

In 1863, a new fire hall was built, the building now used for city offices and occupied by the brigade until last year when the present hall was opened. In the early days of course the apparatus was primitive and the bucket brigade was a prominent feature in every fight against the flames.

Chief Thomas Rutherford joined the ranks of the fire fighters in 1868, John McNaughton being the chief of the brigade, the officers of which consisted of a chief and two captains. The late W H Wrighton succeeded Mr. McNaughton in 1871, and then gave away to the late Col. Poole, who was in charge of the brigade until 1874, when Mr. Chas. Stapleton was appointed.

The late John Gibbs, father of Mr. John Gibbs, of the present brigade, came in charge of the brigade in 1875 and Mr. Rutherford rose to the position of captain of the hose company. Mr. Gibbs after holding office for some three or four years was dismissed by the council and the brigade immediately went on strike, the sixty members resigning in a body.

The town could not be left without a brigade of some kind and a temporary force was formed with Geo. Mitchell as chief. This was only in existence a year when the town council decided to re-organize the fighting forces and place them on a more effective plane. The late Walter Patterson was the chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee at that time and Mr. Rutherford was appointed chief and asked to form a new Brigade. The year before a hook and ladder company and a hose company had been formed and in 1881 these were amalgamated and the brigade as it is now was organized with T. Billington as captain. J. C. Robertson, secretary and L W McBain, treasurer. The brigade for the first time received some compensation for their services, the council decided that they need not pay poll tax. Chief Rutherford at the time of organization decided to reduce the strength of the brigade to thirty men and this was done by taking half of each of the original two companies. Since that time the brigade has decreased until at present there are only about twenty connected, and with the change in the force there will only be fourteen men. Since 1881 there has been little change in the history of the brigade many of the members of which have been connected with the organization for many years.

FUNNY REMINISCENCES OF THE ROAD BY LOCAL HUSTLER; SIXTEEN YEARS IN BUSINESS

Mr. William Bowman Has Sold More Than a Million Collar Buttons— A Pathetic Story in His Career.

AN EXTENSIVE TRAVELLER

An Experience at Sleepy Hollow, Otherwise Known as Belleville —A Waste of Eloquence in Montreal.

There are few persons in the city of Peterborough at the present time who have passed through such varied experiences as that of Mr. William Bowman, a hustler, who has travelled through more counties of the province of Ontario and through more states of the Union than possibly any other man in this county. His reminiscences of the road are many and interesting in the extreme, and after listening to some of the experiences of Mr. Bowman during the past sixteen years, when he recalled to memory some of the incidents of bygone days, the scribe learned some interesting things about the varied life of a hustler, whose mind is developed to grasp quickly at every opportunity that falls in his way.

His acquaintance throughout Canada and the United States is without doubt one of the largest possible. A good sized book would not contain between its covers a recount of experiences, humourous and pathetic, so widely has he travelled during his career.

Lend a Helping Hand

One of the pathetic stories he tells of the much abused actor, was that while out billing a town he and a friend ran across a poor woman, standing in the snow in front of her home, with her furniture piled up in the street—put out by a heartless landlord. She was one month's rent behind and kind-hearted old "Ed," his companion, put the last five dollars he owned in her hand. The two carried the furniture back into the house. Well, the show went up, the company was stranded and poor old "Ed" walked disconsolately out of town while he wired home for money.

"How many collar buttons have I sold! More than a million and a quarter, at least. I have invoices to prove I have bought that many, so I must have sold them." It seemed a lot, but Mr. Bowman has been sixteen years at it.

Cards and Hymn Books

"Have I ever sold anything else! Well I should smile," he remarked, "I have sold nearly every thing that is made to sell, including playing cards and hymn books." If a town is not good for hymn books then it is a "lunch for cards, he explained.

"Was I ever broke? Well, yes; twice, that is all. Once, when I was out ahead of Harry Lindley I went flat broke, but I made good just the same. I had just eight cents and I bought four bottles at a drug store. Then I had a dollar inside of two hours. What did I do with the bottles? Well, that would be giving one of the professional secrets away."

He then purchased fifty bottles and everything was clear sailing again. But four weeks from that date he again went broke and landed home with ——. Well as he explained himself, enough money to take a month's rest. He liked the business or he would never have stayed at it.

No Bunco Business

Of course, he remarked, the general public looked on his business as a sort of "bunco" game, but that was where they made a mistake. His business is just as honest and straight, he said, as any other; even if the roof of his store is God's own out-of-doors.

"Yes, I have made money and lots of it," he said, "but—well, I'm not a millionaire." He has a funny experience to tell about a time he had in the Province of Quebec. He got out in the evening and made a "bally hoo," attracting a big crowd to the village square. He made one of his best addresses but he couldn't make a sale. The minute he offered his goods the assembly melted away. The station agent told him the next morning the reason. There was not one of the whole crowd there who knew a single word of English and therefore he met his Waterloo.

At Sleepy Hollow

Another funny story was told of a time when he was with the Libby Glass Blowers. He knew he should not speak disrespectful of the dead, but they were playing "Sleepy Hollow," better known as Belleville and bright and early one Saturday morning they opened up the show. He, as usual, took his place on the front to tell the people of the wonders inside. In the dim distance he saw a crowd of fifty or sixty coming his way. They arrived on the scene presently and the way I passed out the "dope" was none too slow—but there was nothing doing.

As soon as he finished they travelled on down the street and left him alone in his glory. He got the merry "ha, ha," from the shop-keepers on both sides, and they told him that the "bunch of dead ones" were from the deaf and dumb asylum. That was one more on him.

Visit From Prisoners

In one town, or rather village where he showed when he had out a small company of his own, they were playing in the town hall, the jail being in the back of the building. There were two prisoners there during their stay. One held for arson and the other for theft. The village "cop" came over in the evening and brought them both into the hall to see the show and left them to take care of themselves. Strange to say they never made an attempt to escape. They both got terms in Kingston.

Music and Drama

TOM MARKS, COMPANY

Irish comedy will exist as long as the stage itself. But the old time stage Irishman is a thing of the past. The public recognizes that it was a caricature, a distortion of the characteristics of one of the finest races on earth, and will no longer stand such presentations. One of the first to break loose from these traditions was Tom Marks, who will appear at The Grand, next week, April 13th to 18th. Instead of the old type, Tom will give the son of Erin as he is, warm-hearted, impetuous and lovable. Mr. Marks Irishman is a character which you cannot help but like, laugh at him you must, for he is always funny. But there will always remain a warm spot in your hearts for the "Broth of a Boy." Tom Marks has made a great success in these roles, and in both the east and west has thousands of admirers. The past five seasons he has been touring the west, playing to crowded houses in cities and towns where repertoire companies were never before able to do business. This season he is supported by a clever young company, and gives an entertainment of recognized merit. The plays in his repertoire are bright, original and funny, without being coarse and vulgar. Polite and advanced vaudeville fill in all waits between acts. They are practically continuous performances. A complete change of programme at each performance during the engagement opening Monday night in "Major O'Hara, an Irish Dragoon." One lady and gentleman or two ladies admitted to best reserved seats for 25c, if purchased before 3 p.m., Mondays seats on sale at Box Office. Plan now open. Prices 10c, 20c and 25c. Matinees, Friday and Saturday.

DEBATE IN COMMONS ON THE BUDGET

Mr. Clements Makes Charges Against Immigration Agent.

PROTECT FARM INTERESTS

The Manufacturers Are Already Well Looked After, He Says—Criticizes Fielding Tariff of Last Year—Would Put Coal on Free List—Mr. Loggie Replies—Collection of Head Tax Was Discussed.

Ottawa, April 11.—There was a revival of the budget debate yesterday afternoon, some members taking the opportunity to prevent carefully prepared speeches going stale.

Mr. Clements (Kent) made an appeal for protection for the farming class.

On motion to go into supply he rose to offer some observations which he had hoped to make during the budget debate. Dealing with the question of protection he said he believed the manufacturers were fairly well protected, and in his opinion we should put a prohibitive duty on agricultural products. In the Fielding tariff of last year the only change for the benefit of the farmers was an increase on beans from 15c. to 25c. against a United States tariff of 45c. While protected pork packers were able to make a profit of from 50 to 100 per cent., farmers had to be satisfied with three per cent. and the latter class ought to be given a greater degree of protection. It had been represented that western farmers were opposed to protection, but Mr. Clements believed that if they were given the Canadian market to themselves they would not be averse to it after all. He advocated that coal be placed on the free list, and proceeded to attack the Minister of Agriculture for not looking after the interests of the farmers. Owing to the Minister's construction of regulations the farmers were compelled to sell their hogs for less than cost. Mr. Clements stated that if he had sold the grain he fed to his hogs and given the hogs away he would have been $500 better off.

Mr. Clements spent some time reading a return relating to the location of immigrants by an agent of Kent County, who, he said, had collected the head tax on many who did not stay in the country.

This official, he claimed, ought to be prosecuted on the statement of the Minister of Interior that the agent had been asked to return $500 that he was not entitled to.

Mr. Loggie (N.B.) replied, claiming that Mr. Clements was "all wrong with regard to hog-raising."

MAY DISBAND GUARDS.

Citizens Ask Immediate Abolition of Military in Portuguese Capital.

Lisbon, April 11.—Subsequent to the rioting of last Monday, Premier Ferreira offered his resignation to King Manuel, but His Majesty refused to accept it.

The greatest indignation exists here because of the conduct during the disorders of the municipal guards, which has been described as wholesale shooting down of citizens. It has been reported that King Manuel is willing to disband the offending municipal corps as a balm to the irritation of the public.

In the midst of the rioting the mob forced several priests who fell into its hands to cheer for "Liberty." Some priests refused, whereupon the mob fell on them and beat them so severely that they had to be carried away. Troops and warships are in the roadstead. There has been no further disorder. The anti-Government press declares that too much blood has been shed to make peace in the future sure.

Child Killed by Train.

Lindsay, April 11.—An exceedingly sad fatality occurred here yesterday afternoon about two o'clock, when Willie, the little two and a half-year-old son of William Baker, employed by the Sylvester Manufacturing Co., was run over and killed by a Grand Trunk double-header.

The train was running about four miles an hour when the fatality occurred, and the engineers succeeded in stopping the train before one engine had passed over him. The front trucks only of the first engine had gone over the little lad, but they had completely severed the body. No inquest will be held, as the fatality was clearly accidental.

Disaster in English Colliery.

Bath, Eng., April 11.—Ten miners lost their lives in the Norton Hill colliery in Somersetshire yesterday, as the result of an explosion of coal gas.

The first rescue parties to go down were overcome by the fumes in the mine, and were saved only with the greatest difficulty. Some of them are in a precarious condition.

Leo Thurman Hanged.

Norfolk, Va., April 11.—Leo C. Thurman was hanged here yesterday for the murder on Feb. 1, 1906, of Walter P. Dolson, his room-mate, whose body he placed in a trunk and then fled, being captured 18 months later at Vancouver, B.C.

Thurman declared that the murder was in self-defence after great provocation.

Nun's Request Refused.

Kingston, April 11.—The Sisters of the House of Providence applied for permission for two of their number to attend the public school kindergarten classes as teachers in training, but the board of education defeated the request by 12 to 3.

CHINA EMPIRE IS BEING ROBBED

Russia and Japan Are Seeking to Divide Manchuria.

INTEGRITY IS THREATENED

The "Open Door" Is Not Open—Indirect Discrimination Against Other Nations—Russia Wants the North and Japan the South of the Rich Province In China Where Battles Were Fought.

Mukden, April 11.—Unless the other great powers awaken to the facts and aid China in her resistance to the aggressions of Russia and Japan in Manchuria, that rich province will soon be reduced to a mere dependency of the two nations which fought their great war in it. Such is the opinion of observers of events here, who declare that despite the assurances given by the Governments at Tokio and St. Petersburg, the autonomy of China is being directly undermined in various ways.

There are many indications of a tacit agreement between Japan and Russia to support each other's demands on the Pekin Government, so that Russia shall become entrenched in the north and Japan in the south. Russia's contention that her powers of administration under her railway grants include the civil government of the city of Harbin has been put forward as a crucial test apparently for both Governments. If it should be recognized, then Japan, it is believed, would insist on the same status for her railway administration.

The "open door" in China, to which all the powers are pledged, is technically observed by both Russia and Japan, but indirect discrimination against the traders of other nations is charged. Japan's opposition to the building of a railroad to Fakumen which would parallel her Manchurian railway in the west is declared to have small basis, so far as her diplomatic rights are concerned, but is taken as indicating clearly her intention to monopolize railway development in this territory, and thus to eliminate trade competition.

Japan also refuses to abandon her control of the posts and telegraphs and other local administrative functions, and thus retains her grip on all the municipalities. The Chinese are opposed to all these measures of assimilation, but they are intimidated in the presence of the huge military forces of Russia and Japan. The situation demands international action if the integrity of China is to be maintained, say impartial observers here.

A BIGAMIST'S BARGAIN.

Briefer Will Support Children of Both Wives—One Protests.

New York, April 11.—Although convicted of bigamy, Michael Briefer, a business man of Decatur, Ill., will not have to serve a prison sentence if he carries out an agreement entered into with Judge Foster in the Court of General Sessions yesterday. The agreement was made in spite of protests by Briefer's first wife, who, through her counsel, declared that any such plan was illegal and would be putting a premium on bigamy. By the terms of the agreement Briefer will be obliged to contribute to the support of three children by his first marriage and one by the second marriage. He furnished bonds to secure the carrying out of the agreement on his part. In suspending sentence Judge Foster said: "I do this as the most practical, quickest and most common-sense method of assuring the maintenance of these children. This plan has caused a great deal of comment, as undeserved as it was unexpected. But the district attorney and I are of one accord in the matter. You will be paroled in the custody of the Prison Association, and can be sent for, and will be sent for, any time within five years by this court and punished if you do not conduct yourself as a man."

Son Saved Mother.

Belleville, April 11.—The residence of James Beatty, Jr., in Kaladar Township, was burned to the ground. The fire, which was caused by an overheated stove, was not discovered until under good headway, and it was all that could be done to get the inmates out safely.

Mr. Beatty's mother, who makes her home with him, is an aged lady and a cripple from rheumatism and it was with the greatest difficulty that she was taken from the burning building by another son, Robert Beatty. The loss was heavy.

Charged Under Charlton Act.

Chatham, April 11.—Thomas Bissell, colored, aged 18 years, was brought in from Dover yesterday by County Officer John McLaren. The charge against Bissell will come under the old Charlton Act, and the party against whom the offence was committed is a young colored girl under 14 years of age.

Bissell was brought before Judge Houston in the County Police Court and remanded for a week.

Gave Life to Save Cat.

Boston, April 11.—Mrs. Catherine C. Tucker, matron of a feline hospital in South Boston, lost her life Thursday night in an accident caused by her favorite cat. The cat upset a lamp, and in a vain effort to save her pet Mrs. Tucker received burns from which she died.

A Priest Suicides.

Albany, N.Y., April 11.—Rev. Joseph Graham, rector of the Roman Catholic Church of the Blessed Sacrament in the west [illegible] of this city, killed himself by shooting in the vestry of his church yesterday afternoon.

Taft for Woman's Vote.

Cincinnati, April 11.—In an interview here Secretary Taft said:

"It is evident enough that women are working for civic betterment and that their interest in affairs of the kind is constantly increasing. I believe that woman suffrage will come eventually."

THE IMMIGRATION WAS TALKED OF Province Made a Rendezvous For Insane Immigrants.

SOME STARTLING STATISTICS

No Room In the Jail For Doukhobors—Provincial Secretary Hanna Draws Attention of Legislature to the Subject—System Must Stop—The Cost to the Public—The Redistribution Bill Was Passed.

Toronto, April 11.—Hon. Mr. Hanna called the attention of the Legislature last night to the effect of immigration in the last year or two upon the inmates of the provincial institutions. He had just received a telegram from Port Arthur, as follows:

"Fort William police magistrate has committed ten male Doukhobors to Central Prison, nine females to the Mercer Reformaory. They are in jail here. We have no room for them. Fifty-three other prisoners here now. There are fifty-seven other Doukhobors at Fort William to be sent to the Central and the Mercer. They have burned their clothes and are naked. Alex. W. Thompson, shreiff."

This was not only a matter of so many more inmates of the jails, but indicated a condition of affairs that must be dealt with, and the responsibility for which placed where it belonged.

Although 80 per cent. were native born in the province, the inmates of the asylums were 30 per cent. foreign born.

During 1907 there were 1,162 patients admitted to asylums of the province, of whom 346 were foreign born. During the past five years the percentage of foreigners admitted to these institutions had increased from 20 to 30 per cent., while Canadian-born patients had decreased from 80 to 70 per cent. In the same period, from 1903 to 1907, the cost of maintenance of foreign-born patients had increased from $24,613.20 to $51,744.30. While the foreign-born of the entire adult population were only 20 per cent., the total admissions to asylums from that class was 30 per cent.

The figures showed the necessity of effective methods to prevent the dumping on the province of undesirables by friends, and others aided by charitable associations with no other object than to get rid of the responsibility of providing for them. Taking into consideration the probable length of life of these patients, the cost of maintaining those admitted in 1907 alone amount to $1,487,068.80 without including any proportion for capital expenditure.

Of the estimated total population of the province, over 16 years of age, 1,209,306 were Canadians, and 291,675 foreigners or 20 per cent. of the whole. At the same time of the commitments to jail, 38 per cent. were of foreign birth, and the cost of providing for them amounted to $21,726.65.

Toronto Asylum gave a practical illustation of the position. Of 282 persons admitted less than half were Canadians. Of course, many of the foreign-born had been resident in Canada for some years, but no less than seventy-seven were recent arrivals, who should have been deported if a satisfactory law had been in force. The majority of those people should not be allowed to enter Canada. Owing to technicalities only thirty-four came within the requirements of the Deportation Act, and therefore Ontario had to assume the cost of maintaining forty-three.

That meant that the province would have to expend and assume an obligation of $224,000 for the support of people who had not the slightest claim for their consideration. No matter how it was regarded, the picture was one that could not be contemplated with equanimity.

The figures, he claimed, showed that the proportion of insane among arrivals was twenty-six times greater than it should be, and there was a strong suspicion that many were deliberately sent out from Great Britain to be got rid of. An analysis showed that whole families of degenerates were included among arrivals and weaklings of all objectionable types were represented, as well as many with criminal records, including sexual perverts and criminally insane.

By deportation it was estimated that $450,000 had been saved to the province. The total deportations amounted to 108 since 1906.

The first deportation was in 1906 when 19 were returned, in 1907 76, and in 1908 up to the present 16, while 20 or 30 were ready after investigation. They were following up all the data and furnishing it to the Dominion Government. They were cases in which there was a persistent, determined effort to drive from the old country by those who were responsible for them, people who became a charge on the province. The system in the United States was much superior to that in force here.

What were they to do with the Port Arthur people? They should be able to go to those who were first responsible for bringing them here.

Sam Clarke (Northumberland) wished to say with all due respect to the Provincial Secretary, although they were receiving some culls, if they wanted to have a great country they must have the people. He defended the Doukhobors whose home life he admired. While some had come in who were no good, the great majority were a benefit to the country.

Hon. Mr. Hanna pointed out that the proportion of foreign-born criminal and insane had increased fifty per cent. beyond the proportion which the foreign-born should contribute comparatively with the rest of the population. Mr. Clarke, after ten minutes, was unable to understand the point, whether from the late hour or natural incapacity.

Allan Studholme supported the Provincial Secretary and baited Mr. Clarke for his stupidity.

E. J. B. Pense declared he knew regarding the work done by Mr. Armstrong and he thought it most valuable, and he approved the deportation suggestions of the Provincial Secretary. As far as the Dominion Government was concerned the House might be assured that the gate was closed against further undesirables.

The redistribution bill was read a third time at the evening session of the Legislature after a long series of amendments by the Opposition had been negatived on division. The division figures being those of the division on the Toronto amendment by T. H. Preston, that the city have only six members in separate constituencies. The vote was 48 to 19 against the Opposition amendments. These were for the preservation of the status quo in the several ridings in which changes are expected to affect adversely the Liberal majorities. J. A. Ayl moved to retain the Essex ridings; Sam Clarke pleaded for Brockville; C. M. Bowman championed Peel; Duncan Ross fought for Middlesex; Archibald Huron spoke for Huron; D. J. McDougall patronized Ottawa, and G. M. May also took up Ottawa with a different plan. Mr. McDougall wanted to divide the city by Bank street instead of the Rideau Canal. Mr. May would elect two members from the whole city. There was some lively debating and not a few sharp encounters, but the general temper was apathetic.

The Legislature adjourned at 1 o'clock this morning and will resume at 11 a.m. It is expected that the session will be ended before 6 p.m., Hon. Mr. MacKay having promised to facilitate this.

The redistribution and city bills were given their three readings after midnight.

Jumped From Window.

Alexandra Bay, N.Y., April 11.—Mrs. Hunt, aged 52 years, wife of W. H. Hunt, merchant, lost her life Thursday by jumping from a window to escape fire which broke out in the upper portion of the house.

Mrs. Hunt was ill, and was resting on a bed in one of the rooms in the second storey. The fire spread so rapidly that her rescue by the stairs was cut off, and just as a ladder was placed against the open window of her room she jumped to the ground, breaking both limbs, dying from the injuries.

I know woman's sufferings.

I will mail, free of any charge, my home treatment with full instructions to any sufferer from women's ailments. I want to tell all women about this cure—you, my reader, for yourself, your daughter, your mother, or your sister. I want to tell you how to cure yourselves at home without the help of a doctor. Men cannot understand women's sufferings. What we women know from experience, we know better than any doctor. I know that my home treatment is a safe and sure cure for Leucorrhœa or Whitish discharges, Ulceration, Displacement or Falling of the Womb, Profuse, Scanty or Painful Periods, Uterine or Ovarian Tumors or Growths, also pains in the head, back and bowels, bearing down feelings, nervousness, creeping feeling up the spine, melancholy, desire to cry, hot flashes, weakness, kidney and bladder troubles where caused by weaknesses peculiar to our sex.

I want to send you a complete 10 days' treatment entirely free to prove to you that you can cure yourself at home, easily, quickly and surely. Remember, that it will cost you nothing to give the treatment a complete trial; and if you should wish to continue, it will cost you only about 12 cents a week, or less than two cents a day. It will not interfere with your work or occupation. Just send me your name and address, tell me how you suffer, if you wish, and I will send you the treatment for your case, entirely free, in plain wrapper, by return mail. I will also send you free of cost my book—"WOMAN'S OWN MEDICAL ADVISER" with explanatory illustrations showing why women suffer, and how they can easily cure themselves at home. Every woman should have it, and learn to think for herself. Then when the doctor says—"You must have an operation," you can decide for yourself. Thousands of women have cured themselves with my home remedy it cures all, old or young. To Mothers of Daughters, I will explain a simple home treatment which speedily and effectually cures Leucorrhœa, Green Sickness and Painful or Irregular Menstruation in Young Ladies. Plumpness and health always result from its use.

Wherever you live, I can refer you to ladies of your own locality who know and will gladly tell any sufferer that this Home Treatment really cures all woman's diseases and makes women well, strong, plump and robust. Just send me your address, and the free ten days' treatment is yours, also the book. Write to-day, as you may not see this offer again. Address

LIFE EBBING AWAY.

Little Hope Entertained For Ex-Premier's Recovery.

London, April 11.—Sir Thomas Barlow, physician to King Edward's household, and Dr. Bertrand Dawson, physician extraordinary to His Majesty, were called in consultation with Sir Henry's regular physicians yesterday afternoon.

The gravity of the ex-Premier's condition was evidenced by the issuing of a bulletin last evening. This is the first time in several weeks that a second daily bulletin has been given out. This communication says: "Sir Henry has had a quiet day, but there is no improvement in his symptoms. Although he has had comparatively little suffering, he is very weak."

Rock Wrecks Train.

Kenora, April 11.—A serious accident occurred Thursday night between 11 and 12 o'clock to No. 97, six miles east of MacMillan. When approaching there a huge rock, dislodged by the rapid thaw, fell in front of the train, causing the collapse of the engine and four coaches.

Mail baggage and passenger cars kept the rails.

Engineer George Love of Kenora was pinned under the engine and scalded to death. He leaves a widow and one child. Fireman Sanders, observing the obstruction, jumped and saved himself, but was dragged some distance by pieces of the wreck. No passengers were hurt. The train was delayed 12 hours.

Enforced Jim Crow Law.

Muskogee, Okla., April 11.—A threatening letter was received here yesterday, addressed to The New Guthrie State Tribune, in which the writer asserts that Governor Charles N. Haskell and Bud Ledbetter, the chief of police of Muskogee, are to be assassinated, and the City of Guthrie burned by negroes. The letter is unsigned.

The letter is an outgrowth of the Jim Crow law passed by the Legislature and recently put into force. It had been rigidly enforced by the governor, and in addition Chief of Police Ledbetter has ordered all negroes not employed to leave the city. Every gambling house and saloon in the city has been closed.

Noah Gets Twelve Years.

London, April 11.—Twelve years in Kingston Penitentiary was the sentence imposed on Thomas Noah by Justice Riddell yesterday on a charge of manslaughter for the slaying of Absalom Fox on May 23, 1907.

The defence offered no evidence, but E. D. Meredith, K.C., submitted that there was no murder case made out. This was acceded to by Judge Riddell, and Mr. Meredith stated that the prisoner was willing to plead guilty to a charge of manslaughter.

When sentence was pronounced, Noah turned to a fellow-prisoner and laughed heartily.

Lord Chancellor of Cambridge.

Cambridge, April 11.—John William Strutt, Lord Rayleigh, was yesterday elected lord chancellor of Cambridge University in succession to the late Duke of Devonshire.

Sentenced to Five Years.

London, April 11.—Herbert Mee, convicted of embezzling the funds of the Strathroy Brewing & Malting Co., was sentenced by Justice Riddell yesterday to five years in the penitentiary.

THE SYSTEM OF RUNNING SCHOOL BANKS IN TORONTO

An Authentic and Detailed Statement as to Their Operation Which is Worthy of the Consideration of the School Trustees of Peterborough----Deposits Have Steadily Increased----Teaches Thrift Among the Pupils.

Toronto, April 11 (Special)—There is but one opinion among the teachers in Toronto public schools as to the value of the "Penny Savings Bank System." That opinion is decidedly favourable.

And, indeed, there is no reason why it should not be so. The best proof of the success of any banking system is its success. Judged by this standard the school banks of Toronto have filled a long felt want.

The Penny Bank of Toronto started business on the 2nd day of April, 1906, with 6,569 accounts, having $19,208.03 standing to their credit, or an average of $2.90. During the period, 2nd April, 1906, to 30th June, 1907, there were 425,644 deposits made, and 18,198 withdrawals, or total transactions amounting to 443,862. The number of new accounts opened during this period was 17,881, and the number of accounts closed was 7,393, leaving 17,047 accounts opened on the first of July, 1907. When the bank was opened on the 2nd of April, 1906, it only operated in thirteen schools; on the 11th of September, 1906, branches were opened in fourteen schools; on the 12th day of February, 91908, in fifteen schools, and on the 11th of April, 1907, in six schools.

Deposits Grow Steadily

The deposits in the public schools have steadily increased since the bank opened on the 2nd of April, 1905:

2nd April, 1905	$19,208 03
30th June, 1905	19,830 072
31st December, 1905	27,944 38
30th June, 1906	50,322 02
31st December, 1906	59,952 42
30th June, 1907	85,121 78
31st December, 1907	63,393 53
29th February, 1908	67,684 69

The schools' deposits and withdrawals from 2nd April, 1906, to 29th February, 1908, were:—

1906	$20,291 34	$12,188 99
1906	56,458 65	33,561 01
1907	55,334 17	45,232 76
1908 (Jan & Feb)	5,755 46	2,506 44
	$137,339 64	$93,489'20

The System is Simple

The operation of the savings bank system in the public schools is exceedingly simple. Deposits are made immediately after the opening exercises on Monday morning. The time occupied by each teacher varies from five to ten minutes. The time lost by each pupil is less than a minute. The pupils do not all stand in a line waiting their turn. Two pupils go at first, and as each one goes to his seat another takes his place. This is done to save the teacher's time. The pupils lose so little time because they have work on the board or in their books to keep them occupied.

When the teacher has entered the amounts of deposits in the pupils' boks and in her own, she puts the deposits in a small bag, ties it up carefully and attaches a tag to it, stating the amount received. Her boo kand the bag are sent to the principal's office. After recess two pupils count the money in the bags and check the teacher's statments. This takes from half to three-quarters of an hour generally. The amount is then deposited in the nearest bank and a cheque drawn for the amount. This cheque is sent to the headquarters of the savings bank. Once a month the ledgers are made up and the deposits of each pupil credited. The same two pupils do this work. The principals report that they like to do it and taht the pupils who do it keep up well with their classes.

Inspector Hughes' Opinion

Mr. James L. Hughes, the wellknown inspector of schools is an enthusiastic advocate of the Penny Bank. Speaking of it he says:—

"I am very much in favour of the Penny Bank on both the practical and educational side. The pupils in Toronto deposit each year more than one thousand dollars on an average for each school. They withdraw more than half that amount. The fact that the largest accounts are withdrawn in the winter time, and especially at Christmas, proves two things:—

"The money is used for winter clothing and fuel, and also to purchase Christmas presents for the friends of the depositors."

"There is no foundation for the statement sometimes made that the savings bank makes the children penurious. Wastefullness is a greater evil than thrift. Many parents have reported this winter that they would not have been able to keep the familly supplied with necessaries if it had not been for the savings of their children in the Penny Bank. The lesson received by the parents in this way in many cases gives them the tendency to save for themselves."

"Our school children have now nearly $70,000 on deposit.

"Our schools," said the inspector, "have put an average of more than 1000 each into the Penny Bank. In Penny Bank deposits Toronto stands third on this continent, New York and Pittsburg being first and second. To be known as a thrifty city is good advertisement for Toronto."

Mr. Hughes told of two boys saving enough money in the Penny Bank to buy a lot. Their father had advanced them enough to build a house, and so they were into real estate while still among their school books. Another boy's savings had started his father in the business of a peddler.

Teachers are Enthusiastic

One interesting development of the school banks has been the holding of a supper once a year of the managers and assistants in the schools of the Penny Banks. This annual event affords an opportunity for a species of "stock-taking" and for the exchange of ideas inculcated by the experience of the previous twelve months. At this year's reunion the various speakers, in many ways and with many examples, emphasized the truth of a "penny saved is a penny gained," and of the lesson of many little things amounting to a large one.

Everybody praised the Penny Bank Public school principals were the first permitted to speak their tributes. Here are snatches of what they said—

Doan, Dufferin School—"Many nations have gone down to destruction through lack of thrift. The chief time needed in Penny Bank work is for making up the ledger, and any boy can do that."

Hicks, Queen Victoria—"Better for children to save for a bicycle than to spend their money on candy. The extra features of the school work help to round out an education that was formerly too bookish."

Smith, Rose Avenue—"The work of the Penny Bank takes very little time. One of our boys has a large paper route and deposits $11 and some cents at intervals."

Hendrie, Alexander Muir School—"At the bottom of all, this banking leads to something better than saving money. Children usually spend their savings wisely."

A Coming Capitalist

Bennett, Lansdowne—"My seven-year-old boy shovels snow and goes errands for the neighbours to earn money to put in the bank, and he won't withdraw it. We want the pupils to make provision for hard times."

Bulmer, Perth Avenue—"It was said that boys who saw others paying in large amounts wouldn't want to put in their small sums, but I find that boys put in small amounts without paying any attention to other boys."

Ward, Church Street—"It doesn't take much time to do the work for the Penny Bank, and the work is no trouble."

Bryce, John Street—"Weh ave 400 pupils, and we have given out about 340 books. Perhaps that's partly due to many of our pupils being Jews. I have taken the correctness of the boys' counting of the money for granted, and the bankerh as found the count the same as theirs."

Stevens, Manning Avenue—"Taking charge of the Penny Bank ledger has helped to get positions for several boys. A boy who had a propensity for eating candy and chewing gum often made deposits of these in the waste paper basket, but in 15 months he had $100 deposited in the Penny Bank."

Father Learned a Lesson

"By next year we hope to have the largest school in the city and have a gymnasium," said Miss Johnston assistant principal at Ogden school. "In our school the depositing in the Penny Bank leads to generosity, rather than stinginess."

"With some people in our district a 25-cent order for coal is almost a wholesale order," said Mrs. Warburton of Elizabeth street school, who told of a "Shacktown" family being able to buy coal and the drunken father learning to save because of the children Penny Bank accounts.

Trustee's Tributes

Trustee Dr. Bryans quoted Booker T. Washington's high opinion of the value of savings banks. His own children, he said, were taught to save and to give one-tenth of their savings to worthy causes.

"Citizens of Toronto and other people of Canada will never know what they owe to the president of the Penny Bank an dhis workers," said Trustee Rawlingson.

Nothing Did Good

Until She Tried "Fruit-a-tives"

Madame Rioux is the wife of M. Jos. Rioux, a wealthy manufacturer of lumber in St. Moise. Madame Rioux is greatly esteemed in her home town and her testimonial in favor of "Fruit-a-tives" carries conviction with it, as it is entirely unsolicited.

St. Moise, Quebec.

I have much pleasure in testifying to the marvelous good which I have received from the use of the famous tablets "Fruit-a-tives". I was a great sufferer for many years with serious liver disease and severe constipation. I had constant pain in the right side and in the back and these pains were severe and distressing. My digestion was very bad, with frequent headaches, and I became greatly run down in health. I took many kinds of liver pills and liver medicine without any benefit, and I was treated by several doctors but nothing did me any good, bloating continued. As soon as I began to take "Fruit-a-tives" I began to feel better, the dreadful pains in the right side and back were easier and when I had taken three boxes I was practically well. 150

(Sgd) MADAME JOSEPH RIOUX.

"Fruit-a-tives" — or "Fruit Liver Tablets" are sold by dealers at 50c a box —6 for $2.50—or will be sent on receipt of price. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

He will conduct evangelistic meetings in the Y. M. C. A. hall, commencing at eight o'clock. A short song service will be preached each meeting, conducted by Mr. G. W. Mulligan of this city.

THE 'PRENTICE BOYS HELD MEETING

Officials Anticipate the Lodge Going Ahead Rapidly.

The regular meeting of Jubilee Lodge, No. 7, Prentice Boys, was held last night in the Orange Hall, Bro. Wm. Carter being in the chair. Considerable business was transacted, and prospects look bright for the lodge going ahead and for an increase in membership before the coming 12th of July. It was decided to meet on the second and fourth Fridays of each month.

McGRATH'S POOR LUCK IN TORONTO

Local Sprinter Got a Bad Start in the Fifty-Yard Event at Olympic Carnival.

Fred McGrath, the well known local sprinter, took part in the 50-yard dash in the Olympic carnival in Toronto on Thursday night and did not get in the money class, having a bad break of luck. In the first place he was set back one yard for a false start, which, according to the Toronto papers, made him so careful that when the sprinters finally got under way he got a bad start and although he closed upon the leaders before the finish could not quite overhaul them.

MAY NOT SELL CANDIES.

Important Judgment Affecting Sunday Selling In Restaurants.

Toronto, April 11.—Justice Clute yesterday announced his decision in the stated case submitted to him by Magistrate R. T. Kingsford in the case of the King v. Henry Weatheral, who was tried for an infraction of the Lord's Day Act, and the city bylaw, under which he was licensed as a restaurant-keeper, by selling candies by the box, peanuts in bags, and soft drinks to customers, on Sunday, June 9, 1907. Weatheral was the keeper of a booth at Hanlan's Point, and claimed that he was within the law in selling the articles, with which view the magistrate differed.

The judgment in part says: "Under sub-section 7 of section 2 of said by-law, the defendant, as licensee of a victualling house, is only licensed to sell fruit, oysters, clams, or victuals, to be eaten in such victualling house. "I do not think that the mere fact that Weatheral holds a license as restaurant-keeper enables him to sell on the Lord's Day candies, peanuts and soft drinks, notwithstanding the statute. The question in each case depends upon a question of fact."

His lordship also answers in the negative a question as to whether a bona-fide restaurant-keeper can sell on Sunday candies, etc., in a parcel to be taken off the premises; and the question: "Can Weatheral justify selling commodities as aforesaid on the Lord's Day, notwithstanding the prohibition contained in the bylaw under which the license in question is issued?" is answered: "Yes," if sold as a restaurant-keeper; "No," if the restaurant license is only a cloak to cover the privilege of selling.

LAND FOR THE PEASANTS.

Members In Russian Douma Advocate Expropriation as Only Remedy.

St. Petersburg, April 11.—The conduct of the Russian Department of Agriculture was severely attacked in the Douma yesterday during the discussion of the agricultural budget. Dissatisfaction was expressed with the failure to accomplish greater results towards securing larger land holdings for the peasants, the adoption of modern scientific methods of farming, etc.

The spokesman for the Regenerationists, M. Efromoff, declared that the forcible expropriation of land was the only solution of the agrarian problem, but the Constitutional Democrats dropped their former battle cry, expropriation, in favor of a resolution demanding a better distribution of the land without specifying the method by which this was to be attained. The Opposition speakers recommended an increase of expenditures for the general development of agriculture. Russia, it was asserted, although the most extensive agricultural country in the world, ranks fifth on the basis of budget allotments for the help of agriculture, only 2 1-2 per cent. of the total income being given for the furtherance of this chief industry.

Prince Vassilchikoff, Minister of Agriculture, defended his Department, which he says had been demoralized by perpetual reorganisation and repeated changes in its leader.

Returned After Five Years.

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 11.—Returning to his home, near Jonesboro, Tenn., after he had been mourned as lead for five years, John T. Strong found his wife, now 32 years old, married to William Curtis, and two children born to this union.

It was decided to allow Mrs. Strong-Curtis to settle the perplexing matter by deciding between the two men. She chose her first husband, and now Curtis, who says he loves her, will institute formal proceedings to annul the marriage between himself and the woman.

Strong had been in the army in the Philippines.

May Renew the Subsidy.

London, April 11.—It is understood, though no official confirmation has been obtained, that the British Government has decided to renew the subsidy to the Canadian Pacific Empress mail service to the Pacific on certain stipulations.

The Postoffice Department intimated when the present temporary renewal was arranged the necessity of closer connections between railway and steamer services on the Pacific coast. This will presumably present no serious difficulty.

Coalition Probable.

Melbourne, April 11.—(C.A.P.)—The Government being defeated, Premier Deakin contemplates resignation, but is being urged to remain until the tariff is finally passed. If he resigns, Lyne-Fisher, the Liberal-Labor leader, will succeed, and a coalition is probable.

Senate Adjourns.

Ottawa, April 11.—Chief Justice Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, administrator, attended at the Senate chamber yesterday afternoon and gave assent to a number of bills. The Senate adjourned until May 6.

Lawyer Shoots Himself.

New York, April 11.—Charles A. Murphy, a prominent lawyer and real estate dealer, committed suicide in a room in the Astor House some time Thursday night.

EASTER FESTIVAL AT THE BARRACKS

Temple Band of Toronto Will be Here—Staff Captain Walton to Address The Meetings.

TO HOLD SUNRISE MARCH

The local Salvation Army corps are looking forwards with deep interest to the coming Easter festival. The officers have arrange for Staff- Capt. Walton of the Tarritorial Barracks, Toronto, to give an address on Saturday night and at the three services on Sunday. The Temple Band of Toronto will also be here and will render special music during the day. Several numbers will be rendered by a massed band of both corps.

The fact that the Temple Band is led by a youthful director, 17 years of age, John McGrath, will add interest to the visit of these musicians. Mr. McGrath who plays a cornet in the band is considered one of the best instructors in the Salvation Army. His brother is the travelling instructor of Army bands for the Dominion.

The sunrise march which was mentioned in a former issue will be held on Easter morning and from the interest that has been aroused amongst the soldiers there will no doubt be a full attendance.

THE ANNIVERSARY AT KNOX CHURCH

Rev. W. D. Reid, B.D., Preacher With Wide Reputation Coming.

The Rev. W. D. Reid, B.D., of Taylor Church, Montreal, who will preach to-morrow at the Knox Presbyterian Church, is one of the leading preachers in Montreal, in one of the largest churches, and at the present time is Moderator of the Presbytery of Montreal. He is not only a strong popular preacher but a man with a keen insight into the practical problems of the present day. He has studied abroad and has travelled in Egypt and Palestine and in Southern Europe. Twice during his pastorate at Montreal he has received unanimous calls to large churches in Glasgow, Scotland. He is a constant man as a preacher and lecturer. Peterborough is highly favoured in having the opportunity of hearing him on Sunday next at the Knox Presbyterian Church.

On Sunday morning he will speak on "Conditions for Spiritual Development." In the afternoon at the men's meeting he will speak on "The Second Mile." The music at this meeting will be in the hands of a male choir and orchestra. At the evening service Mr. Reid will speak on "The Man That God Calls a Fool." Special music has been arranged for these services and anthems, being "Thou Wilt Keep Him in Perfect Peace," in the morning with solos by Mr. Thompson. The evening anthems will be "Son of My Soul," "Rejoice in the Lord," and a solo will be sung by Mr. Duncan Campbell.

For Monday evening an exceptionally good programme is arranged including selections on the bagpipes by Rev. A. K. McLeod, Brighton. At this gathering Rev. M. Reid will give a popular lecture on a "Trip Through Scotland," illustrated by limelight views under the direction of Rev. Dr. Marsh.

IMPROVEMENTS TO OPERA HOUSE

Campbellford Opera House Gets a New Scale Williams Piano.

The opera house in Campbellford since Mr. R. H. Cole has become proprietor, has undergone many new improvements which have raised the general tone of the house. One change that has been appreciated is a fine new piano, which was purchased from the J. M Greene Music Company, and is a New Scale Williams.

"PARSIFAL"

Richard Wagner's Most Famous Festival Play to be Magnificently Presented Here Easter Monday.

No grander spectacle, no more sublime subject, no greater Christian lesson or more intense dramatic action, and no more beautiful or interesting story was ever embodied in a play in any period of the world's history than is witnessed in the magnificent world known mystic drama, "Parsifal." The story of "Parsifal," in somewhat varied forms is more or less familiar to English readers by their acquaintance with Tennyson's "Knights of the Round Table," or Walter Map's Welsh legend of the same subject. German scholars and readers have gained their principal knowledge of the story from the pen of their famous poet, Wolfram von Eschbach, who wrote his lengthy but wonderful poem before Wagner's time. French readers are similarly acquainted with the sacred theme through the medium of the grand work of Chetrein de Troyes. Other writers, poets and philosophers, of all climes and aged, have gloried in showing their genius in prose and poetry through the medium of this absorbing legendary story. Artists have vied with each other in perpetuating its glorious scenes upon canvas. In our own land to-day the famous paintings of Edwin Abbey grace the walls of the Boston library beautifully illustrating the "Quest of the Holy Grail." It remained however for the genius of the immortal Wagner to gather and study the many legends, myths and mystical stories pertaining to the Holy Grail, and with all this acquired knowledge, supplemented and aided by his own poetic nature and artistic temperament, to construct the spectacle of all spectacles, the drama of all dramas, the poem of all poems, now so universally known as "Parsifal." A production of this soul-stirring drama, commensurate with the requirements of so demanding a play, will be given at the Grand Opera House, Monday, April 20th, Correct historical costuming, architecture and appointments, as well also as scenic investment, will be a special feature of the production. A competent coterie of artists will be seen in the principal roles, and a well trained and intelligent corps of auxiliaries will also be used in this spectacular offering. All of the Baireuth costumes will be carried out except the time of commencing, which has been slightly changed. The dividing of the performance into two sections with a two hour dinner intermission has been eliminated. The only intermissions that will be given will be those of five to eight minutes duration between the acts, which are required to set the massive scenic accessories, but bwing to its length the performance will begin at 7.45 sharp, and will conclude at 11 o'clock. It is one of the rules of the performance —and the management gives every assurance that the rule will be strictly enforced—that everyone must be seated before the house is darkened, which means before the rise of the first curtain. Late comers will not be shown to their seats during the action of the play.

LETTERS READ DIRECT FROM INDIA

A Unique Meeting at the Murray Street Baptist Church Last Night.

A unique and exceedingly interesting evening was held last night at the Murray Street Church, under the auspices of the Mission Band. The different young people received names of missionaries, either in India or South America four months ago. Last night the roll of Baptist missionaries was called and the children and young people came forward and read their messages direct from the mission field.

The real names of those who took part were not mentioned at all, which gave a very realistic effect. The lecture room was filled and the closest attention given. An offering was taken up, which will be used for the purposes of the band. After devotional services Miss Florence Scott opened the meeting by reciting without any notes the names of the missionaries and their fields of labour. Every number on the programme was well executed and some of the little ones surprised their auditors by the masterful way in which they pronounced the long and difficult Indian words.

Miss Clara Kidd, Mrs. Miller, Miss Hope Miller and Miss Maude Titterson assisted in the musical part of the programme.

Cocanada, India—Rev. A. S. Woodburn, Norman Wilson; Dr. Jesse Allyn, Gladys Yelland; Miss Baskerville, Maud Evans; Miss Folsom, Helen Blade; Rev. Ralph Smith, Ray Scott; Miss Pratt, Helen Pringle.

Pithapuram, India — Rev. E. G. Smith.

Samulcotta.—Rev. H. E. Stillwell, Harold Matthews; Mrs. Stillwell, Mildred Martin.

Peddapuram—Rev. A. A. McLeod, Herbie Webb.

Ramachandrapuram—Rev. J. B. Stillwell, Roy Wilson; Miss Hatch, Florence Scott.

BURNS TO DEATH IN DUNNVILLE

Mrs. Fred W. Bates, Born at Lakefield, Loses Her Life—Well Known In City.

HAS RELATIVES HERE

Burned to death at Dunville, Ont., is the fate of Mrs. Stanley Bates. This unwelcome news was received this afternoon by Mr. Fred W. Bates, grocer, at 654 Stewart street, by telephone, but as yet no particulars have been secured. Mr. Bates, Stewart street, is a brother-in-law of the unfortunate woman, whose maiden name was Miss Ina McIlwain. She is well known in Peterborough County, having been born near Lakefield. She and her husband used to reside here.

At the time of her death, which was some time last night or this morning, her husband was in Penetanguishene, where he operates a bakeshop.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bates have five children. It is expected they are safe, as no word was mentioned of them.

Mr. Fred Bates believes that a gas explosion has taken place, as they burn natural gas there.

FINED FOR ASSAULTING HOTEL KEEPER

$10 or Twenty Days in Jail—Aftermath of Fracas in Royal Hotel Bar.

THE MAN WAS INTOXICATED

The man who took the law into his own hands on Thursday night last, and assaulted the proprietor of the Royal Hotel, Mr. Steve Holland, appeared in court this morning, and after pleading guilty, was fined $10, to be paid forthwith, or twenty days in jail.

Mr. Holland said he heard a noise in the bar on the night in question, and went in to see what was the matter. There he saw the defendant, apparently intoxicated, clamouring at the bar for more whisky. He informed him that he had had enough, and ordered him out of the hotel. The defendant refused, and pounded his fist on the bar, saying he would kill him. He ordered him out again, and the defendant immediately struck him over the eye with a glass tumbler, making a deep cut on his face.

The defendant had nothing to say, and was fined $10 or twenty days in jail. The fine was paid.

Fresh tea is all-important. Ten weeks after being picked in the tea gardens of the Island of Ceylon (the finest tea-producing country in the world) "Salada" reaches you. The flavour of tea consists in an essential oil, which deteriorates rapidly with age. In order to preserve the delicious flavour of "Salada" Tea it is packed in sealed lead packets (never sold in bulk), guaranteeing you a superior tea, in flavour, quality, purity and economy in use. 14

PETERBOROUGH WOMAN SAID TO HAVE BEEN FIRST WIFE OF KINGSTONIAN NOW ARRESTED ON BIGAMY CHARGE

He Thought The Tie Was Broken—Says He Was Told First Wife had Obtained a Divorce.

HE IS AN ENGINEER

Kingston, Ont., April 13.—(Special)—George Hepburn, Stuart street, aged 32 years, is under arrest accused of bigamy. The complaint was laid by his father-in-law, Edward Smith, of Storrington Township. He married Eva Smith on Jan. 2nd last, and has been living in the city since. He is second engineer on the steamer Advance.

It is stated that Hepburn was married eight years ago to Miss Annie Sandys, living near Peterborough. He left her two years ago. He says that some time before his second marriage he was advised by Peterborough lawyers that his wife had obtained a divorce and alimony against him. This, he thought, freed him from his ties.

A despatch from Kingston to the Toronto World, gives the following information about the case:

Twice married, although professing to believe that he has only one legal wife, is the plight of George Hepburn, of this city, arrested on a charge of bigamy.

Six years ago he married Annie Tandy, living near Peterborough, one child resulting from the union. Last year he left his wife, and he claims that in October, the legal firm of Hall & Hayes, Peterborough, wrote him stating that his wife had secured a divorce with alimony.

In January last he married Miss Eva Smith, Storrington, near here, and they have been boarding in the city since. The father of the second wife heard the news and swore out a warrant.

The accused is second engineer on the M. T. Co.'s steamer Scout.

Mr. M. J. Maher Presented With An Address Yesterday

Mr. W. S. Merrell, on Behalf of St. Peter's T. A. S., Presented Mr. Maher With Address on Leaving For Lindsay.

WAS A FAITHFUL MEMBER

Mr. Jos. Maher, who is representing the firm of Lang & Maher in their newly opened branch store in Lindsay, was presented with an address at the meeting of St. Peter's T.A.S. yesterday afternoon. He has been a faithful member of the society its organization 8 years ago. He has occupied every office within the gift of the society and at the time of his retirement was holding the position of recording secretary. While he devoted his attention to every department of the work, Mr. Maher was particularly interested in the young men and did everything he could to make the society's rooms pleasant for them. He was a lover of sports and encouraged the young people to engage in clean sports and held before them the true idea of sports.

In this connection he was for several years connected with the City Hockey League, giving his services for its advancement along the lines which were considered best. In many ways Mr. Maher will be missed by the society. As a trustee the judgment was always given after careful thought, and in the business of the annual picnic he was one of the most energetic. Mr. Maher's friends are confident that he will be appreciated in Lindsay as he has been in this city and that he will make a further success of the business he has helped to build up.

LABOUR CONDITIONS IN THE OLD LAND ARE VERY SERIOUS

Yesterday afternoon at 4.30 Dr. Dr. Poole, Veterinary Surgeon, Water street, arrived home from England, where he has spent the past four months studying at the Royal Veterinary College, London. The doctor left Peterborough on Dec. 14th with his wife and family. While in London he made his headquarters at Norwood, his former home.

He left Liverpool on the Empress of Britain on Friday, April 3rd, at 8.30 p.m., arriving at St. Johns, N.B., Saturday morning, April 11th, at 9 o'clock.

Dr. Poole states that the immigration tide at the present time from England is very strong. On the Empress of Britain there were 81 passengers, first cabin, 415 second and 900 third, the majority of these being immigrants in various social standing, looking for employment. An hour after arriving at St. John, the Allan Line steamers "Tunisian" and "Canada" sailed into port, each with an equal number of passengers.

"Everybody in England is talking Canada," said the doctor, "as at the present time labour conditions there are simply awful." He predicts that there will be many immigrants from the British Isles this year and that there will be no danger of a lack of labourers.

Dr. Poole as stated above spent his time studying the latest ideas in veterinary surgery known in the Old Land.

SATURDAY'S TEMPEST WORKS HAVOC WITH THINGS ON EARTH

This portion of the globe experienced on Saturday one of the most terrific windstorms of its history and it was indeed fortunate that it was not accompanied by any other disturbances from above. The gale was felt at its worst in the country where it was given a clean sweep across the earth.

Fences seemed to suffer most. In every township many of them were toppled over from the force of the wind. Trees were blown down and woodmen who valued their lives gave the axe and saw a rest on that day.

In the city some small accidents have been reported. A window in one of the stores on George street was blown out and came close to injuring a bystander.

A cab driver who visited St. Joseph's Hospital in the afternoon tells a story of an amusing character. He was sitting on the cab seat, but with a sudden gust of wind he found himself enveloped in the blanket and blown as far as the harness reins would allow.

The high wind also wrought havoc with the flag pole on the top of the George street Methodist church tower, which was blown from its fastening and was broken in fragments on the ground many feet below. Fortunately no one was hit by the flying pieces.

During the tempest the wind lifted the western portion of the roof on the shed of Mr. Geo. Hayward's residence on Albert street. The house was unprotected by any neighbouring structure and was caught in the teeth of the gale.

The Machine Telephone Company's wires in the vicinity of Stewart street became crossed, putting the machines in that district out of service until this morning.

QUARTERLY SERVICES WERE HELD

Rev. Mr. Burnham of Uxbridge, District Elder, Present.

The City Mission, Water street, held its quarterly services yesterday in the mission hall and there was a splendid attendance at both services. Rev. Mr. Burnham of Uxbridge, the district elder, had charge of the services and gave an inspiring address at each one. Mr. Luck, the local pastor, left for Toronto this morning in company with Rev. Mr. Burnham.

NOON DAY SERVICES COMMENCED

Large Crowd Heard Rev. W. D. Reid of Montreal Deliver an Address on Street To-day.

WAS AN INSPIRING SERVICE

The first of the mid-day services, which will be held daily this week, was held at noon to-day, at the corner of George and Hunter streets, and was attended by a crowd of three or four hundred people, who listened with close attention to the remarks of Rev. W. D. Reid, B.D., of Taylor Church, Montreal, who was the speaker for the day. The service lasted but fifteen minutes, and was as bright as the April sunshine, which streamed down upon the heads of the worshippers.

Rev. J. R. Webb, of Murray Street Baptist Church, acted as chairman, and prayer was offered by Rev. Canon Davidson, of St. John's Church. The choir of George Street Methodist Church, under the direction of Prof. McCann, led in the singing of the favourite old hymn, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross."

Rev. Mr. Reid's ten minutes' address was on the subject of power, especially spiritual power, and how to obtain it, and bristled with good advice and encouragement. He is a forcible speaker, with an agreeable voice and delivery, and his remarks were closely followed by the gathering.

MEETING WAS HELD SATURDAY AFTERNOON

A meeting of representatives of the civic and military bodies of the city was held on Saturday afternoon at the office of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., when arrangements were made for the visit of Sir Frederick Bordex to Peterborough in connection with the laying of the corner-stone of the new Armouries, which will take place on April 21. There were present Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P.; Col. Stevenson, Major Hayes and Capt. Mills of the 57th Regiment; Lieut. Leary and Lieut. Medonough of the 24th Field Battery; Capt. Johnston of the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons, and Ald. Broadbent and Elliott, representing the City Council.

It was decided that the Minister of Militia should be the guest of the military bodies until after the ceremony, when he will be looked after by the Council and citizens, and it is likely he will be tendered a complimentary dinner in the evening.

All branches of the militia in the city will take part in the demonstration.

INSPECTION.

In the matter of public sanitation, eternal vigilance is the price of efficiency. The communications of Mr. E. R. Stocker to the City Council and the Board of Education have attracted attention. Without for one moment considering whether the statements he makes in regard to defective plumbing are justified or not, the efficiency of our plumbing has been brought into question, and this fact is sufficient to justify the investigation the School Board has entered upon. Carelessness in other branches of building may result in only money loss, a trifle compared to the risk of life and health involved in defective plumbing. Plumbing must be in the same class as Caesar's historic wife—"above suspicion." A leaking roof may spoil a little ceiling but this defect is easily discovered and easily remedied. But house plumbing is, for the most part, concealed, and its defects are not so plainly evident. A plumbing system may present a fair outside, but within may be like the whited sepulchre of Holy Scripture—"full of rottenness, and"—the conditions to make—"dead men's bones." It is an intolerable thing to reflect that a family may be comfortably housed, sheltered from storm and cold, and sleep in apparent safety, and still be exposed to the insidious, imperceptible and deadly sewer gas, served out for absorption in the hours of sleep, if there is defective plumbing. The problem of effective ventilation of our school buildings, a sufficient supply of pure fresh air, is difficult enough, and its failure dangerous and unwholesome enough; but it is nothing to the deadly conditions created by defective plumbing — there is danger to health, and, through impaired health of death. We cannot be too careful of our plumbing, either in our homes or public buildings, especially school buildings. There may be nothing in the complaints made of defective plumbing and inefficient inspection; but, if there is even a suspicion that both are not absolutely of the best that can be provided, there is ground for investigation. Even if investigation shows that these complaints are unfounded, and that our plumbing is perfect in character, and our inspection efficient, there is no harm, but great good, done. We shall be relieved of the doubt which has been raised, and the consequent feeling of security will amply repay any trouble taken to ascertain the true conditions. Speaking of inspection, the question arises whether our electric wiring is carefully enough looked after. There is a right way and a wrong way of doing both plumbing and electric wiring. Let us provide that the one shall be done and the other avoided.

VINDICATION.

The Whitney Government has shown a splendid capacity for swallowing itself upon matters it declared itself upon when in opposition. It denounced legislative and administrative acts of the Liberal Government and declared that if the Conservatives got power they would make sweeping changes. It denounced the act taxing corporations, and other similar acts, and promised to remove the stain from the statute book. It has not only retained these, but is gloating over its success in financial administration.—boasting of a surplus which, with its extravagant expenditure, it certainly would not have had, but for the sources of revenue provided by a Liberal Government, and denounced by the Whitney Government when in opposition. For years and years, Hon. Mr. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer, when in opposition, declared against all surpluses. He also declared that the Dominion trust funds could not be considered an asset, as they could not be converted into cash. Now, the Dominion Government, as the Liberals contended it could do, has decided to pay the balance due the Province on account of these trust funds, over to the Province in cash, and the Province has decided to accept them. This is only one instance in which the Conservative Government of Ontario has been compelled to recede from the position it assumed in opposition, a practical justification of the correctness of the contentions of the Liberal Government of the time — a vindication which possesses no better attestation.

FACING BOTH WAYS.

The Whitney Government is performing its double bare-back act—riding two horses at once—on the temperance reform question. It is trying to hold the anti-prohibition vote in the coming elections by holding to its three-fifths local option clause, and trying at the same time to hold the temperance element on the electorate, by the intimation that it is not wedded to the three-fifths clause and that it may do away with it. This latter may be a mere pretense, but that is no reason that it will not be accepted. The temperance people believed the Whitney party"s promise that if the temperance people would put out the Ross Government and install Mr. Whitney in its place, that everything would be rosy for the temperance people, and that the administration of the license law would be entirely removed from politics. This was done. The temperance people elected Mr. Whitney. The answer has been the three-fifths clause and the worst "spell" of political license administration that has obtained since the license system was established in 1876.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Perhaps, suggests the Hamilton Herald, (Independent,) the Whitney government was moved by the fear that if it placed the credit of the province behind the power municipalities there would not be enough left for the business purposes of Mackenzie & Mann.

THE REDISTRIBUTION BILL.

(Brantford Expositor.)

The Redistribution Bill has passed the Legislative Assembly and will certainly become law.

It has proved, upon close investigation, not to be the mild measure which it at first gave the appearance of being, as it affects no less than twenty-two constituencies outside of the additional members given to Toronto and New Ontario. It is therefore wide in its scope, holding within its folds wide possibilities for party advantage, and it ought therefore to have been dealt with, with the impartial machinery which under Sir Wiltrid Laurier has been provided at Ottawa, in fixing the representation in the House of Commons, and has for many years been provided in Great Britain when similar measures have been under consideration. It may be true that Mr. Whitney in his delimitation of the constituencies has not gone so far as many of his followers asked him to go; it is certain he has gone further than a non-partizan tribunal would have permitted him to go. This is made clear from the fact that no one change is calculated to benefit the Liberal party.

Many of the changes have left the inequalities of population, and the shapes of the ridings, worse than before, and in such cases it is impossible to conceal the object aimed at. Equally transparent is the purpose in view of dividing the city of Ottawa into two separate constituencies, while leaving Toronto with four constituencies, each electing two members. The over-representation given Toronto is particularly objectionable. In the Dominion parliament the city has five constituencies, electing one member each, with the result that in at least two of these constituencies the Liberal candidate has a fighting chance of winning. With the city divided into eight constituencies, there would be a reasonable assurance that a Liberal could be returned in at least three, but with four constituencies as at present constituted, electing two members each, a solid Conservative phalanx is assured. As a result the Liberals are practically disfranchised.

Not only is the representation to be given Toronto excessive compared with that given the other cities of the province, but it is excessive compared with that of Montreal, which city is given five seats in the Commons and six seats in Quebec Legislature, all elected on the single member basis, and yet Montreal is much the larger of the two cities.

In short, nothing which has thus far occurred is more calculated to shake the faith of the province in the good intentions of the Whitney government than this same Redistribution Bill. It had an opportunity, without much sacrifice, in view of its huge majority, to sit on a pedestal of political virtue, but it has preferred to wallow in the political mire.

THE THREE-FIFTHS CLAUSE.

(Brantford Expositor.)

Another effort in the Legislative Assembly to induce the Whitney government to do away with the three-fifths handicap in the Local Option act has met with defeat. True the government intimates that it is not wedded to the clause, and that after further experience it may do away with it, but this may be a mere pretense.

It has always been something of a mystery why the Whitney government which came into power at a time when the temperance people were turning from an agitation for provincial prohibition to Local Option, should have interposed this barrier in their way. In so doing they departed from a principle which had had been on the statute books of the province ever since Confederation, from the accepted practice in the United States, and from the usually accepted plan in other British colonies. It is not true, as Mr. Whitney has stated, that a bare majority for Local Option is un-British; the fact is the reverse.

The backward step on the part of the Ontario government is all the more remarkable at a time when something of a temperance wave is passing over both the Mother Country and the United States, and when in our own country there are many signs that an irresistible demand will ere long be made for more advanced legislation than has yet been given.

THINK INQUEST SHOULD HAVE BEEN HELD

Into Cause of Death of Railway Men at Kaladar—May Yet be Brought Into Courts.

At a meeting of the International Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen of America, held in Tweed on Saturday last, a resolution of condolence was passed and copies of it forwarded to Mrs. John Anderson and Mrs. Alexander Fleming, of Kaladar.

It is said that there is a growing feeling among railroad men and others in Kaladar and throughout the railroad division that an inquest should have been held to find just how much blame should be attached to the dead men in the accident at Kaladar. There is talk in some quarters of bringing the matter to the attention of the courts.

MR. RUSSELL SPOKE AT GOSPEL HALL

Had a Busy Day Yesterday — Many Addresses Given.

Mr. Douglas Russell arrived in the city on Saturday night and yesterday spent a very busy day. He addressed the Christians at Gospel Hall in the morning on "The Beauty of the Lord's Supper"; I. Cor., 11th chapter. In the afternoon he spoke to the sunday school on the importance of an early decision for Christ. At 4 o'clock at the Men's Meeting at the Y.M.C.A., a large number heard him on "Think, Have, and Know," and again at the Gospel Hall in the evening he spoke on "What Think Ye of Christ?" Those who heard him thirty-five years ago say he is just the same simple, earnest and inspiring speaker as when last heard here. At the meetings all his own hymns were used, and the audience soon got the swing and sang with real enthusiasm. To-night Mr. Russell will speak at the Y.M.C.A. hall and the singing will be all his own hymns. All are invited. Singing will commence sharp at 8 o'clock.

TO CLOSE THE QUILL LAKE BRANCH

Of Which Mr. Sanford Hall is the Manager—Toronto Bank Disappointed.

The Toronto Bank has decided to close its Quill Lake branch, of which Mr. Sanford Hall of Peterborough is the manager. The reason for this is given from the fact that the expectations of the Toronto Bank, that the C.P.R. would make Quill Lake a divisional point, have not been realized, the railway company having decided to run its line some distance south.

Mr. Hall will be home in the course of a few weeks.

YOUNG MOTHERS

A mother who is in good physical condition transmits to her child the blessing of a good constitution; sickly, ailing mothers, the reverse.

The tiny babe brings to her a living responsibility. At such a time too great care cannot be taken to build up the mother's general constitution, and restore her feminine system to a healthy, normal condition. The greatest assistance that any woman can have in accomplishing this all-important work is

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. M. Gilmer, of West Union, S. C., writes to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

"I was greatly run down in health, suffering from a weakness peculiar to my sex. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I was not only restored to health but am the proud mother of a fine baby girl. I wish every sick and ailing woman would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial."

Mrs. Paul Oliver, of St. Martinville, La., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For years I suffered from the worst form of female troubles, and the doctor said I could not get well without an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to perfect health, and I have the sweetest little baby girl. I will never cease to praise Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with the worst forms. Why don't you try it?

PIANO SHOULD RECEIVE PROPER CARE

A Few Notes From "Musical Canada" on How to Keep it in Good Condition.

EFFECTS OF THE WEATHER

The care of the piano is a question that concerns almost every household. This instrument is no longer an article of luxury, designed exclusively for the professional musicians, or the well-to-do of musical taste, or indeed to be purchased as a parlour ornament, but has become an actual necessity, both as to the proper education of young people, and to the development of musical taste in the home circle, and so throughout the world. The pianoforte is the most useful instrument we hav. Where, formerly, one would have to develop his musical taste away from home, and in public, now, thanks to the pianoforte, recreation and education through music is found around the fireside at home.

The piano has a very delicate mechanism and it has no greater enemies than dampness and extreme and sudden changes of temperature. The most delicate parts being made of wood, the fittings and joints all being adjusted with great care and precision, it is evident that dampness will cause these parts to swell, while extreme heat will contract them. Therefore never keep a piano near an open window, especially when the weather is damp, also never keep it near a stove, register or radiator. Do not keep the piano too near an outside wall. It it is not convenient to place it against an inner wall, keep it out as far as possible. On bright sun-shiny days, the piano will be helped if the top lid is thrown back to allow air circulation in and around the action. If not used constantly, open the fall board, as the ivory keys will become yellow if deprived of light too long.

Moths, the enemy of all felts used in connection with the mechanism, may be kept away by the use of moth balls. The tuner, if requested, will place them so they will not interfere with any of the action parts. Lastly the tuning of the instrument should be left in the hands of a competent man.

THE FORESTERS RECEIVE COMMUNION

Attended St. Peter's Cathedral Yesterday Morning.

His Lordship Bishop O'Connor said mass and afterwards complemented the society on the showing it made and on its regularity in receiving communion thus living up to the laws of the church and caring for the spiritual welfare of its individual members. Mr. Thos. Lane acted as marshall.

MANY TRAMPS COMING INTO THE CITY

Are Loafing Around C. P. R. Station—Sleep in Box Cars and Engine Cabins.

During the past few weeks this city has been visited by an army of tramps who have begun their annual transcontinental tour. One of the employees of the C.P.R. who works around the station all night, said that there was an average of three tramps a night found in box cars and many more have been seen sleeping in the sheds in the adjoining vicinity. One of the knights of the road who no doubt is an old timer, was found sleeping in the cabin of the yard engine. The tramps are mostly young fellows, coming from the east and are making their way to Windsor where they cross the line.

QUAKERS GETTING OFFERS FOR EXHIBITION GAMES

The Quakers will hold a meeting tomorrow night at 7.30 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. to decide upon their course in the Midland League this year. All members of the club who are interested are requested to be on hand, as the number present will decide whether the team plays in the league or not.

Secretary Ray P. Best has received word from two Toronto teams for a game on Good Friday—the Britannias and the All Saints'. He received a telegram from the latter this morning asking for a game, but as the Riverside Park grounds are under water, there is no hope that the match will be pulled off.

TOM SLATER, CRACK WALKER, IS HERE FOR THE BIG CONTEST

Tom Slater, of Oswego, N. Y., one of the estar attractions in the big walking match, commencing on Monday of next week, and one of the most famous heel and toe artists on the line, arrived in the city to-day at noon, ready for the biggest sporting event in the history of Peterborough. He is, as always, in the pink of condition, having figured in six races since the big six-day event in Kansas City, in February, and is as hard as nails.

Slater is an athletic-looking young man of twenty-eight years, and looks as if the strenuous life of the professional walker has thoroughly agreed with him. He is quiet and unassuming andm although he willingly talked of his track feats to the sporting editor of the Examiner, he did so in a modest way, and did not speak boastingly of his exploits.

Slater took part in the big race of a week ago, in Trenton, N. J., where he was second to Hoagland, finishing only nine laps behind the Auburn, N. Y., man, and covering 77 miles.

His first walking race was in Auburn, N. Y., four years ago, with Hoagland. Slater had been a runner previously, but was not satisfied with the progress he was making in that line, and decided to try the walking game. His first race was with Hoagland, and was a ten-mile away go which Slater was defeated. He was not satisfied, however, and two weeks later won from Hoagland in a ten-mile walk, at Syracuse, N. Y.

Last year Slater won the six-day walking match at Fall River, Mass. There were thirty-seven starters, and Kearney, of Boston, was second. The contestants had to walk twelve hours per day for six days, and when midnight came on Saturday night, Slater had covered 319 miles. The same year he defeated Eddie Weir, in a ten-mile race at Oswego, beat Jimmy Fraser, of Jersey City, in twenty miles at Jersey City, and also defeated Geo. Klubertanz, in a fifteen mile walk. Slater tried a handicap race in Buffalo, in which he was to walk twenty miles, while two men were to walk ten miles each. He was defeated by half a lap, although he had gained a lap at the end of the first ten miles.

This year his first race was in Covington, Kentucky, where in a hundred mile event, he beat a field of seven starters by six miles. The match took place in a roller skating rink.

The big Kansas City walk was the next, and Slater was second to Hoagland, covering 271 miles, while the Auburn man got away with 274. Slater pays Hartley a great tribute, for his plucky work in that event, especially for his great feat of covering 45 miles in the last nine hours.

Since the Kansas City race, Slater has had two races with Hoagland, in Buffalo, beating him in a five mile event, and losing the three mile. He beat Jack Olcott, the old English walker, at Trenton, in a ten mile race, and then finished second in the six-day event.

Slater is confident of winning here, and looks fit enough to carry off a big share of the money.

MIDLAND BASKETBALL TEAM COMING

Here on Friday Evening—Locals to Practice To-night.

The Midland Basket Ball team will play here on Good Friday evening. Peterborough won from Midland last year by a very narrow margin. The tickets have been placed at 15 cents each, so that all may have the opportunity of seeing this good game.

The following men are asked to turn out to practice to-night at 9.30:

1st Team—Wallace, Cressman, Darling, Ray Best and Stewart Laing.

2nd Team—Sutherland, Weatherstone, Campbell, E. Best and Loomis.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

CAPTAIN HURD TO BE MARRIED THIS WEEK

To Captain Curlew in Montreal—Staff Captain Goodwin Will be Bridesmaid.

Staff Captain Goodwin is leaving tomorrow morning on the C. P. R., for Montreal, to attend the wedding of Captain Heard and Captain Curlew. Staff Captain Goodwin will act as bridesmaid, and Captain Dunlop of Montreal, will assist Captain Heard. The captain is well known and popular in Peterborough, and delivered a lecture in the local barracks some time ago. He announced then that he was resigning his commission, and was going into field work. Staff Captain Goodwin was the officer in the Montreal Barracks, six years ago, is well known in that city. She was a teacher in the training school at Toronto, when Captain Curlew was a cadet.

The wedding will be performed in Montreal Citadel at eight o'clock, by Rev. W. D. Reid, who preached at Knox Church yesterday.

STOCKS, CROPS AND RAILROADS

Past Week Generally a Quiet One—Prospects for Good Yield Of Wheat

EXPECT RECORD BREAKER

New York, April 13th. (Special) — While the past week in the Stock Market has been a generally quiet one, as reflected in the transactions on both the New York Stock Exchange and the Consolidated Stock Exchange, it has by no means been devoid of interesting developments. On the contrary, there have been several happenings, the nature of which under ordinary conditions would have exerted a pronounced influence on the security values generally and would have led to an active speculation. Chief among these were the efforts made to keep the Erie Railway Company from going into the hands of receivers and the publication of the Government crop report, showing the condition and acreage of winter wheat and rye as of April 1st. Although perhaps the Erie episode attracted for the time being more general attention and was mainly instrumental in causing fluctuations in the stock market, the presentation of the Government's figures concerning the crops referred to was of more far-reaching importance as bearing upon the financial and commercial situation of the country at large.

Considerable time will elapse before the winter wheat and rye crops are harvested, but even at this early date it is apparent that, in the case of winter wheat at least, this season's yield will be fully up to that of last year and considerable above the average for the past ten years. The condition of winter wheat, on April 1st, as reported by the Government, was 91.3, which compares with 91.1 on December 1, 1907 and 89.9 on April 1st of last year. Under the old system of estimating crops, this would give a yield of winter wheat of 486,927,000 bushels, although under the new formula the yield is reduced to 410,111,000 bushels. These figures compare with 493,974,000 and 421,957,000 bushels respectively on the corresponding date of last year. It will therefore be seen that the winter crop this year is fully as large as that of last year, while with anything like favourable weather conditions between now and harvesting, it will in all probability run ahead of the returns for the previous season. As a matter of fact, it is reliably estimated that this years out-turn of winter wheat will prove a record breaker.

HOLY WEEK SERVICES AT ST. PETER'S CHURCH

Religious Ceremonies Connected With Passion and Death of Christ—Concludes on Sunday.

Holy week marks the close of the Lenten season, which commemorates the fast of our Divine Lord preceding His passion and death. The Catholic church has always celebrated this season, of which this week is the climax. The footsteps of Christ are followed from Palm Sunday (yesterday) until His resurrection on Easter Sunday morning.

The services for the week are as follows:

Thursday—8 a.m.—Pontifical high mass, sung by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor. At this mass the holy oils, which are used during the year, will be blessed. At the conclusion, the Blessed Sacrament will be taken to the repository in the vestry, where it will remain until Friday morning. 7.30 p.m.—Prayer in the vestry.

Good Friday—9 a.m.—The mass of the presanctified and veneration of the cross. 3 p.m.—The way of the cross. 7 p.m.—The Way of the Cross and passion sermon. A portion of the real cross will be venerated.

Saturday—7 a.m.—Easter blessings, followed by high mass at 8 a.m.

Sunday—Masses at usual hours. Pontifical high mass will be sung by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor at 10.30 a.m., at which the Papal benediction will be given. 7 p.m.—Pontifical vespers.

SHORT HISTORY OF KNOX PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Has Made Great Progress Under Rev. H. J. Keith.

In view of the anniversary services at Knox church yesterday, a short reference to the history of the church should prove of interest. It was on the 6th of June, 1905 that at a meeting held in Knox church it was decided to become an organized congregation under the supervision of St. Paul's church. Thirty-three names were placed on the roll and a session of five elders was constituted, two from St. Paul's church.

Up to October, 1906, about sixty-five names were added to the roll and in that month a meeting was held in which it was decided that on January, 1907, Knox church should become an independent congregation and call its own minister. Two months later, on March 3rd, a call was extended to Rev. H J Keith, who accepted and was inducted on April 11,1907.

Since his induction, 126 names have been added to the roll and four new elders have been elected. A Young People's Guild has been organized and has shown great activity. Financial matters are in excellent condition and the Sunday school, under the efficient superintendence of Sheriff Hall, has seen great increase, reaching as large an attendance as 173.

INDIANS LOYAL TO THE GREAT WHITE MOTHER

Would Not Begin Journey on May 24th—Coming East to Ottawa.

Vancouver, April 13. — (Special) — Chief Joe Capilano has just returned from Chilliwack, where he attended a meeting of chiefs and representative Indians from all the points along the Fraser from Yale to New Westminster. This meeting endorsed the sending of a delegate to Ottawa to interview the Premier and Cabinet. Similar endorsation was obtained a couple of weeks ago by Chief Joe from a large representative gathering of Vancouver Island Indians. Naas and other points are also expected to be represented. It is also expected that there will be nine or ten delegates altogether. Some of the delegates proposed to start on May 24, but to this Chief Joe objected strongly. He said that he had shaken the hand of the King and he would always observe as a proper holiday May 24, which the King had set aside as a memorial day for the Great White Mother, who had passed away, and which all loyal Indians would observe as Victoria Day, as the King had directed. The date for departure to Ottawa of the delegation of chiefs has therefore been fixed for May 26.

MINISTER PRESENTED WITH GOLD HEADED CANE

On Saturday afternoon Rev. H. J. Keith, pastor of Knox Presbyterian church, was made the recipient of a beautiful gold-headed cane, the donors being Mr. and Mrs. H. McCannon, who leave on Thursday for the Northwest. The cane was a handsome one with an appropriate inscription, and emblematic of the first anniversary of the church.

Mr. McCannon is one of the Board of Managers of the church.

Says War Is Inevitable.

Washington, April 13.—Debate on the naval appropriation bill in the House of Representatives Saturday revolved itself in the main into a discussion of the possibility of a war between the United States and Japan.

Mr. Hobson of Alabama pleaded for four battleships instead of two for the next fiscal year, and pointed out that from now on the United States should have a fixed policy with regard to naval construction.

A war between the yellow and white races, he regarded as inevitable, and he asserted that Japan's present military activity was with a view to the supremacy of the Pacific and as a natural consequence there would be a clash at arms with the United States.

Imprisoned by Ice.

Dunkirk, N.Y., April 13.—The crew of the fishing tug Banks, which had been caught in the ice jam out in Lake Erie since Friday morning, were all brought ashore yesterday.

They tell a harrowing story of battle for life aboard the tug and contending with a crippled wheel and a hole stove in her side. The tugs Desmond and Viola, are still fast in the ice. Relief parties went over the ice to them yesterday with food. The fires have been drawn and the men will have coal enough to keep warm for several days.

Unless a heavy wind moves the ice the imprisoned tugs may not be released for another day. Crews are aboard some of them.

Woman Fatally Burned.

Dunnville, April 13.—Yesterday as Mrs. Stanley Bates was bathing her babies in front of an open gas stove, her dress took fire and she was so badly burned that she died in the afternoon.

Mrs. Bates was alone in the house, the husband having left for Penetanguishene a week ago. She leaves four small children, the youngest being twin boys four months old.

Shooting at Hamilton.

Hamilton, April 13.—There was a shooting affray at the east end steel plant on Saturday. Pretre Dresabio and Tony Brown become involved in a dispute and the former chased the latter from the house, firing three shots from a revolver at him. The bullets went wild and Pretre threw the revolver to the ground.

The police arrested him on a charge of shooting with intent.

Denies His Confession.

Montreal, April 13.—William Sangster has now denied the confession he made to the New York police of having been one of the men who murdered Oscar Delorme, on the Black River road last October. He made a statement to this effect a few hours after his arrival in the city Saturday, to Sergeant-Detective Charpentier. He declared that he had made up the story in order to create a little excitement and also to obtain a free trip to Montreal. Up to the present there is nothing but his own confession to hold him.

Sangster will not be set at liberty, however, as he is now accused of having stolen $120 from a man named Lortie.

Found Drowned.

St. Catharines, April 13.—The badly decomposed body of a middle-aged man was found in the old Welland Canal, not far from the Canadian Henley course, yesterday. Coroner Jory ordered it removed for burial. The man had been in the water all winter. Several fingers fell off.

Poisoned by Matches.

Westbourne, Ont., April 13.—The little daughter of J. Demarais was poisoned by sucking the phosphorus from matches.

Prince's Portrait Damaged.

Quebec, April 13.—The portrait of H.R.H. Prince Arthur of Connaught, which Mayor Carneau received through the medium of Col. J. Hanbury-Williams, secretary to His Excellency the Governor-General, has been damaged in transit and will require to be touched up, after which it would grace the walls of the Council chamber.

London, April 13.—(C.A.P.)—A Sydney cablegram says it is reported that Premier Deakin will resign to-day. It is generally felt to be a good thing to put a Radical-Labor combination in office, uniting responsibility in power.

Increased Indemnity.

Halifax, N.S., April 13.—A bill introduced by Premier Murray passed the local House Saturday increasing the sessional indemnity from $500 to $700.

The Anniversary Services Were Held At Knox Church Yesterday

Rev. W. D. Reid, Taylor Church, Montreal, Preached Powerful Sermons Yesterday — Address To Men On "The Second Mile" In The Afternoon—Large Congregations.

In connection with the anniversary services at Knox Church yesterday, Rev. W. D. Reid, B.D., of Taylor Church, Montreal, delivered a very practical address at a largely attended men's meeting held in the afternoon. The congregations of other city churches were well represented and the service could not fail to be as profitable as it was interesting. Rev. Mr. Reid is a forcible, earnest speaker, and his short eloquent sentences carry conviction. His address was one entirely suited to the occasion, dealing as it did with the problems of every day life and the manner in which they should be met. His text was St. Matthew 5, 41, "And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain." This as the speaker explained, in commencing, had reference to the old Roman custom obtained originally from the Persians, that a courier bent on the ruler's business could commandeer the services of any person to help him on his way. Rev. Mr. Reid took the text to mean that people should accept the compulsions of life in a cheerful spirit, not to do things because they had to do them. There were many Roman couriers of compulsion in life, and one was that ninety-nine per cent. of the people were compelled to do hard work in order to earn their bread.

The speaker commented on the different way in which people met this compulsion and drew realistic pictures of the man who had no interest in his work, except that he had to do it—the one mile man as it were—as compared with the man who was interested and delighted with his work—the two mile man; the one mile housewife who was satisfied with her house if it would "do" and would rather attend a Ladies' Aid Society meeting than perform the humdrum duties of the household, as compared with the one who delighted in her home work; and the one mile minister who neglected his sermon until Saturday night, as compared with the clergyman who had it before him all week and had something worth while to offer his people on Sunday.

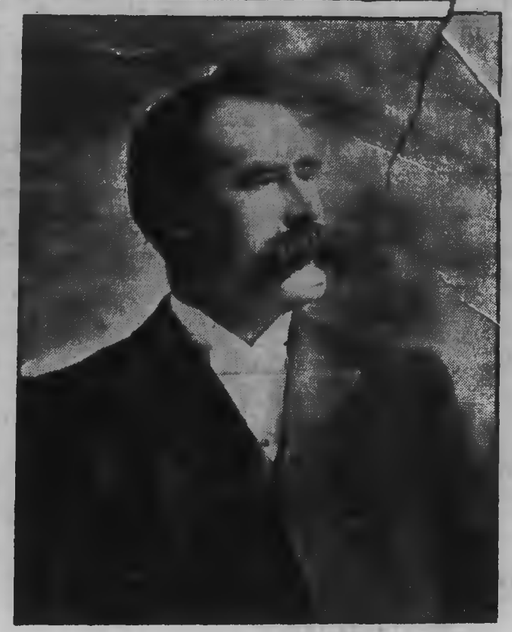
The Roman courier of adverse circumstances was also met in these two different ways, and the speaker illustrated the point by a touching reference to Henry Drummond, who although he lay dying for two years with a terrible disease, was bright and cheerful until the end, meeting his affliction with a two mile spirit.

The one mile spirit and the two mile spirit were found in the social obligations of life. There was the one mile man who was satisfied if he gave his wife all she required and didn't abuse her. The speaker pitied the one mile homes, and there were many of them, where each performed their several duties but did no more, where love was kept in the background.

There was a one mile religion and a two mile religion. In the first case, men went to church because they felt they were compelled to do so. They did not enjoy it, they were glad when it was over and some slept through the service and yet they went because they felt that it was right to do so. Rev. Mr. Reid advised such men to take their religion in the two mile spirit and they would find nothing bitter or uncongenial in it.

The same spirit was met in death and in concluding the speaker exhorted his hearers to be prepared so that they could meet the Roman courier of death without fear and in the two mile way.

Mr. Sheriff Hall presided at the meeting, which was opened with prayer by Rev. H. J. Keith. Before Rev. Mr. Reid's address, a quartette composed of Messrs. Campbell, Davenport, McCannon and Thompson, rendered a selection artistically. The choir was composed entirely of male voices.



REV. W. D. REID,
Of Taylor Church, Montreal, who preached at Knox Church yesterday.

"THE MAN THAT GOD CALLS A FOOL," THE EVENING SUBJECT

Verses 13 to 21 from the 12th chapter of St. Luke formed the text of the sermon, and the subject was:—"The Man That God Calls a Fool." The verses deal with Christ preaching in Palestine, and of His being interrupted during His sublime discourse by one of His listeners saying unto Him, "Master, speak to my brother, that he divide the inheritance with me." Christ reproved the man for his untimely question, and told the parable of the rich man, whose barns were stored to excess, and said "Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years: take thine ease, eat, drink and be merry; but 'God said unto him, thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee."

When the man broke in with his irrelevant remarks, Jesus was speaking on tremendously solemn things, telling those who had assembled to hear Him of the great persecutions they would have in the world, and of the sin against the Holy Ghost, for which there is no forgiveness in this world nor the world to come. It seems unfortunate that His conversation was so abruptly concluded, but the parable He told after is of untold value. There are many to-day like the man in the parable, and he was the man that God called a fool.

Two Lines of Thought

There are two lines of thought opened by the parable Christ told on that occasion. From God's standpoint the man was a fool, but, from a worldly standpoint, he was no fool. He had made a success of his life on his farm, and was, therefore, not a fool in the matter of ability. It takes a man of ability to farm successfully. But because he was wealthy was no reason why he was a fool, from a spiritual standpoint. It is when riches become the master of the man that they become a curse. They may be a blessing if they are used for the uplifting of the world.

Judging this man from the business standpoint, he was no fool. He was a man that must have had considerable common sense. And yet God Almighty looked down upon this man from Heaven and upon all his possessions, and called him a fool.

A Mere Animal

The man looked and talked as if he were a mere animal. He saw nothing but his grains, his money and his wine cellar. It's wonderful how much animal there is in the best of us. But man is a God-inspired being who is something more than a mere animal. And what a fool the man is who lives as if there were no God, as if there were no hereafter—who lives as a mere animal. And are we not surrounded by those who are living in simply the little present? Let us beware of the present, for anyone who is living like this may well be called, by Almighty God, a fool.

The man in the parable lived as if there were no God. He referred to his grain, to his money, to his soul. They were all God's, and yet this rank atheist stood there and called them his own.

Farmer Should Know of God

The man is a farmer, and if there is any man on earth that should realize the existence of God it is the farmer. He sees the great miracles of God day by day, and for this man, amidst it all, to say, "my corn, my barn, my soul," such a man may be well pronounced a fool.

There are men who say they are self-made men, who claim all the powers that have made them the success they have achieved, as their own.

Everything is God's

Everything is God's. The wind is His, the lightning is His, all is His, and it is God to Whom all success is due for everything. Even our powers are His. The man who contradicts this is a fool.

There are men who look at their gold and say, all this is mine to have, to hold and to keep.

"Methinks," said the preacher, "the demons in hell must laugh at such a man."

Against the reasoning of such a man claiming all this money for himself, are contentions of Socialists and Nihilists, and, indeed, they seem to have some good ground for their dissatisfaction when the employers in large cities often cut down the wages when the times are hard and when they know the men cannot get work elsewhere.

The Man's Soul

The man spoken of in the parable proved himself a fool when he said, "Soul, take thine ease, eat, drink and be merry."

What man can feed his soul with corn? Man can never be satisfied until he satisfies his soul in God. How can a man satisfy his soul on mere things of this world? Communion with God, living with God, likeness to God—these are the only things that can satisfy the soul.

In conclusion, the speaker urged those present that might to go home and talk to their souls, and to see what condition their souls were in, and become Christians.

"May we be preserved from the folly of the man that God calls a fool."

The Trent Canal Advocated As A Sportsman's Waterway

By Kelly Evans at a Meeting Held In Bobcaygeon—His Views on The Question.

TO PROTECT THE GAME

Bobcaygeon, April 1. — A meeting took place in the town Bobcaygeon, this afternoon, at which business men, boatmen and farmers were well represented to hear Kelly Evans and Oliver Adams of Toronto give an account of the past year's work of the Ontario Fish and Game Protective Association throughout the Province.

Previous meetings have been held at Kingston and Lindsay within the past ten days, towns situated on the route of the Trent Valley Canal, and Kelly Evans has in each case roused much enthusiasm and interest by advocating a policy of the Trent Canal, when completed, being made a great sportsman's waterway joining the Bay of Quinte to Georgian Bay, by the Government properly protecting the game fish of that region.

He pointed out to the meeting at Bobcaygeon that there was little chance of the town becoming a manufacturing or business centre, and that the greatest opportunity in sight was taking advantage of the beautiful location occupied, if, in addition, could be added the attraction of really good bass fishing, and so attract visiting tourists and sportsmen in large numbers.

Once the Trent Canal was completed, if the residents along its route would only properly protect the game fishing, a perfect fleet of houseboats, steam yachts and boats of all kinds would pass through the region, dependent on the residents for their necessary supplies.

Large sums of money would be spent and added prosperity enjoyed.

The speakers were assured by the local president that Bobcaygeon could be depended upon to send a full delegation to the convention at Toronto on the 21st inst.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY ON SATURDAY

The Case Was Adjourned Until Thursday Morning.

Darcy Dunlop, Jr.'s name was called three times in the police court this morning, but Dunlop did not appear for half an hour. He was charged with being drunk and disorderly on April 11th, and pleaded guilty. The chief asked to reserve judgment until Thursday morning, as he wanted to have the other persons who were mixed up in the row, in court, and the magistrate granted his request.

OLD PEOPLE OF PETERBOROUGH NEED VINOL

It Strengthens and Vitalizes.

With old age comes feebleness and loss of power; the organs act more slowly and less effectually; the blood is thin, sluggish and watery; digestion is weak and food is not assimilated as it used to be.

Vinol repairs worn tissues and checks the natural decline. It tones up the digestive organs, aids assimilation, makes rich, red blood and strengthens every organ of the body. In this natural manner Vinol replaces weakness with strength.

Vinol is not a patent medicine but a delicious cod liver preparation which contains all the medicinal body building elements of cod liver oil in a concentrated form, taken from fresh cods' livers, the useless oil eliminated and tonic iron added.

It is because we know so well of what Vinol is made that we offer to return money if it fails to benefit. McDermid & Jury, druggists, Peterborough, Ont., also the Market Drug Store.

Many Listen to the Forceful Address Delivered by Him.

Mr. Douglas Russell, the evangelist, addressed a large number of men at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday afternoon. The address was an appeal to men to live up to the best ideals which were possible only by following Christ, interspersed with many references to incidents of old friends whom he made, or which occurred during a previous visit to Peterborough several years ago.

Miss Howell sang "Under His Wings" in a manner appreciated by all present.

Young Lad Heavily Fined For Stealing Money From Y.M.C.A.

Pleaded Guilty—Fined $30.50 or Three Months in Jail—Uncle Paid Fine—Charge Was Not Laid by Y.M.C.A. Officials.

LARGE CROWD IN COURT

In the police court this morning the young lad, who pleaded not guilty to a charge of stealing $30.00 from Mr. W. A. Brundrette, at the Y. M. C. A., and a silver chain from another young man, pleaded guilty to stealing the money this morning and the chief did not wish to press the other charge. His Worship, after considering the case, fined the young lad $20 and costs amounting to $30.50, of three months in jail with hard labour.

The court room was crowded this morning, as the young lad took his seat in the prisoner's dock. He did not appear at all concerned, and took very little interest in the proceedings.

Mr. E. A. Peck, who appeared on behalf of the prisoner, made a strong plea in his behalf, and asked for leniency.

Mr. R. E. Wood, Crown Attorney, pointed out the jeering attitude in which the boy had looked upon the legal proceedings, and after reviewing the case thoroughly pointed out the necessity of impressing upon the boy the enormity of his offence.

The uncle of the boy also spoke and apparently told the whole story. When he had finished his Worship told him that he had made the case stronger than ever against his nephew.

His Worship then imposed a fine of $20.00 and costs, amounting to $30.50, which was paid by the boy's uncle. The magistrate wished it understood that the charge was not pressed by the authorities of the Y. M. C. A. The chief had heard many complaints of the petty pilfering that was going on, and thought it necessary to put a stop to it. He didn't think that the boy was at all innocent, and said he had used a religious institution, where the members had sufficient confidence in one another as to be careless about the protection of their clothing, to obtain money. He thought the boy was mean, untruthful, dishonourable and cowardly in his actions, and trusted that he would become a better boy in future.

Separation Of Queen's Must Be Decided On This Year

If She Will Get Half Million Dollar Interest in Carnegie Pension Fund—Many in Kingston in Favour of Change.

PRINCIPAL GRANT'S VIEWS

Kingston, April 13. — (Special.) — The medical faculty of Queen's has not yet given its expression of opinion upon the proposed change in the constitution of the university, suggested by the arts and science faculties, which have petitioned the board of trustees in the matter. More information is sought. The petition does not show just how much of the Carnegie pension fund Queen's would receive. One source states a hundred thousand dollar share, while another says half a million, interest in the foundation. The latter figure is understood to have been mentioned by Mr. Pritchett of New York, president of the foundation executive.

Many leading Presbyterians connected with Queen's are asserting themselves in favour of separating the university from church ties. They say the late Principal Grant was right after all—that he had looked far into the future when he formulated his plans in 1900 to 1901 for making Queen's a non-church university. What Dr. Grant saw then, they are beginning to see now, and some are very outspoken in asserting that the future of Queen's will depend upon its being set free from its church connection. The Presbyterian General Assembly did not guarantee anything to Queen's beyond recommending it to the generosity of the Presbyterian people throughout Canada, Manitoba, Knox and Montreal Presbyterian colleges are all seeking endowments, and hence Queen's University stands only one of four institutions that are appealing to the church for big subscriptions.

Those who know, say that very few who have subscribed to the present endowment fund would withdraw their subscriptions if the university constitution were changed. Nearly all the subscribers are friends of Queen's, and graduates, and broad-minded men. There would be disappointment, perhaps, if separation did occur, but if it did, the move would be regarded in the best interests of the university. The matter of change in the constitution has to be decided this year if Queens' it to gain membership on the Carnegie foundation.

DOUBLE VALUE RECEIVED FROM EXAMINER "ADS."

A Striking Tribute From Expert Authority to the Effectiveness and Neatness of Examiner Advertisements.

The Clothier and Haberdasher for April, 1908, contains a page of reproduction of the best and most effective advertisements of the month, selected from the newspapers of the county. There are thirteen advertisements reproduced in miniature, and of these, no fewer than five were taken from the advertising columns of the Examiner. This is certainly high tribute to the skill and care taken by the Examiner in writing, arranging and displaying the announcements of its advertising patrons. Accompanying the page of illustrations is a page of letter press, giving the salient points of merit of the advertisements shown. The advertisements reproduced are those of the following firms: H. LeBrun & Company; Ed. Huff, Tailor and Draper; Laig & Maher; Lindlaw & Oleo, and Cressman. The moral is that advertisements placed with the Examiner not only receive the best and most effective display, but have the benefit of the widest circulation among the largest constituency of readers of any one, or even two, newspapers in the district, reaching both townspeople and country people.

FROGS ARE SAFE IN MAY AND JUNE

Over in Victoria County—Lindsay Frog Catchers are Objecting.

An order-in-council has been passed prohibiting the catching of frogs in Victoria county during the months of May and June. Lindsay frog catchers think this is unfair discrimination against their rights, as these amphibious reptiles may be caught during these months everywhere else in Ontario. Still, what is their loss is the gain of the frog catchers who every summer make their living down the Otonabee, and ship from here to New York.

CHANGES AT THE GEORGE STREET CHURCH

Cost is Estimated at $2000—To Enlarge Seating Capacity.

The George street Methodist church is to be remodelled so as to give a larger seating capacity, as it is at present inadequate, and the work will be commenced in a few days. The work will cost in the neighbourhood of $2,000, and the Ladies' Aid Society of the church will endeavour to raise this amount.

188 New Members Received Into The T. A. S. Yesterday

Largest Meeting in the History of St. Peter's T.A.S.--Were Initiated and Encouraged by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor.

THAT "1000 MEMBERSHIP"

The first fruits of the "1000 membership" movement which the members of St. Peter's T.A.S. inaugurated two weeks ago were harvested yesterday afternoon when 188 new members were duly initiated. It was without exception the largest meeting in the history of the society and the assembly hall at St. Peter's School, chosen for the occasion, was taxed to its utmost. It was estimated that nearly 600 members were present and the cause of total abstinence was given a fresh impetus such as has not been experienced since the society was formed.

Besides the important duty of receiving the new members, reports were received from the committees in charge of the new work which were most encouraging. The effort will not be relaxed until the desired 1,000 members have been secured and from the results that have already been attained it is believed that the goal will be reached sooner even than was expected. The 188 new members took the pledge in a body, being initiated by Bishop O'Connor.

A pleasant feature of the meeting was the presence of His Lordship Bishop O'Connor who to use his own words was "not only surprised but astonished" by the large attendance of members of the society. He expressed his gratification with the work that not only had been done in the past but the new and more extensive lines which are now being pursued. He referred to the elevating influence which the T.A.S. was exerting in the parish and the effects on the welfare and happiness of many homes has long since been felt and thus the society influences the parish spiritually, morally and temporally. It gave him great satisfaction to witness the results of a special effort to obtain a membership of 1,000 and it would be a proud day for himself and the whole parish when this had been attained.

His Lordship admonished the new members to carefully reflect on the step they had taken and to remain true to their pledge.

The committees will continue their work of securing new members with a new zeal and energy.

"Onlooker" Makes Plea For Saving The Menzie Property

Thinks It Should Not Be Cut Up For Dwellings—As Site For Public Library.

NOW IS THE TIME, HE SAYS

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Is there no power under Heaven that will prevent one of the prettiest spots in our city from being covered up by the dwellings of men? Are we, in this city, so lost to a sense of the beautiful, that we will allow a place that we once pointed to with pride to be torn down or converted into a terrace of mechanical homes? As a site for a public library this Menzies property would seem to be ideal.

Within two blocks of our new Collegiate, right on the path of our Normal School students, and within easy reach of any citizen who has time at all to devote to reading.

How proud our citizens would be to have a library that could be found without employing a guide, as is almost necessary with the present state of affairs!

It would be worth while to grow old in this city if one could think of spending the long summer afternoons under the shade of those trees, where he might sit and read with works of reference so near at hand.

Is there another place in this city that could be made so inviting at such little expense?

Already the work of excavation has commenced, but it is not too late yet and if prompt action is taken by those intrusted with our public library funds, or our city fathers, there might be something done. I am not so sure that anything can be done, but I do know that the men who owned the property hesitated long before breaking it up, and in order to prevent actual loss, were forced to do so. Let us have an expression of public opinion at once, and not be found wailing when it is too late.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am,

Yours truly,

"ONLOOKER."

SAVE THE CHILDREN

Insure Them Good Health.

Ninety per cent. of children, under twelve years of age, are being poisoned and parents don't realize it.

Irregular bowels are the chief cause. You parents know that your bowels should move every day. You know you must be as regular as clock-work, or the blood will become tainted.

Don't you realize that the children must be as orderly in getting rid of the waste matter of their system?

Then, if you find that any of the little ones go two or three days without action of the bowels, don't run to castor oil, senna tea, calomel, cascara or harsh "liver pills." Those simply purge the child—strain the bowels.

"Fruit-a-tives" are the ideal medicine for children. They are fruit juices and tonics in the form of a pleasant tasting tablet. "Fruit-a-tives" stimulate the liver, causing more bile to flow. It is the bile, given up by the liver, which moves the bowels. "Fruit-a-tives" regulate the liver and bowels, and thus completely cure constipation. They sweeten the stomach, and are the finest tonic in the world to build up the system and make children plump and rosy. 50c a box—six for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your dealer does not handle them. "Fruit-a-tives" Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

DISASTROUS FIRE SPREADS RUIN

Flames Destroy Whole Chelsea District in Boston.

ESTIMATED LOSS $3,000,000

Fanned by Fierce Wind Blaze Spread With Awful Rapidity—Four Lives Were Lost—Fifty Persons Injured —Thirteen Churches, City Hall, Public Library, and Twenty Business Blocks Destroyed.

Boston, April 13.—The greatest fire that has scourged any part of the Metropolitan district in ten years yesterday and last night devastated the manufacturing, tenement and retail business sections of Chelsea, burning over more than one square mile of territory, and levelling many of the city's best structures.

The fire started at 10.40 a.m. Half of the Boston fire department's strength, and steamers from a dozen other cities and towns went to the aid of the helpless Chelsea department.

The fire originated in the marshes in the rear of the Boston Blacking Co.'s works on West Third street, among large quantities of rags that were being dried there.

A terrific gale from the northwest, which at times had a velocity of 60 miles an hour, communicated the fire to the buildings of the blacking company and carried shingles, embers and myriads of sparks from these to a score of wooden buildings, most of them of cheap wooden construction.

The place of origin was almost in the extreme southwest section of the city, and the fire cut a path to the end of Maverick street at the extreme southeastern end of the city, which borders on Chelsea Creek, and about one mile and a quarter from the point where the conflagration began.

Among the structures destroyed were thirteen churches, two hospitals, the public library, city hall, five schoolhouses, twenty business blocks, nearly a score of factories and upwards of 300 tenements and dwelling houses.

Among the places burned were: Front Hospital, Children's Hospital, Fitz Public Library, St. Stanislaus Polish Catholic Church, First Baptist Church, Central Unitarian Church, St. Luke's Episcopal Church (old building), First Methodist Episcopal Church, Elm street Synagogue, Walnut street Synagogue, Chelsea Presbyterian Church, People's Afro-Methodist Episcopal Church, Fourth street Universalist Church, Fifth street Congregational Church, Shurtleaff street Methodist Episcopal Church, Second Adventist Church, New England Telephone & Telegraph Co.'s central offices, Austin & Young's cracker factory, Chaplin & Soden Car Companies shops, Rosenfelt Bros', three-storey rag-picking factory, and the Tidewater Oil Co.'s three immense tanks.

The streets over which the flames rushed included Carter, Maple, Spruce, Arlington, Ash, Walnut, Poplar, Chestnut and Cherry to Broadway. From Broadway the fire spread to Bellingham Hills. From Summer street, it cut another pathway, running diagonally, through Third street, Everett avenue and Fourth street to Bellingham street.

The flames reached Broadway, the principal street of the city, at a point between Third and Fifth streets, and destroyed the Masonic Hall, Oddfellows Hall and the Bennett block.

The flying embers and the showers of sparks were carried across Chelsea Creek to the East Boston district, and the East Boston engines were obliged to return from Chelsea to protect property in their district.

A militia call by Mayor Beck of Chelsea brought out the first company coast artillery to guard property moved into the streets from buildings in the path of flames. Col. Wood, commanding the marine at the Charlestown navy yard, volunteered the services of the men of 105th company, and Rear-Admiral Swift also sent out all the men on board the receiving ship Wabash. Those sailors were not commanded by officers, but were instructed to give their services wherever needed.

Marines with fixed bayonets held back the crowds while the militia and sailors helped families remove their goods. Advance squads of the militia and police warned out families living in the path of the fire, which leaped over block after block with astonishing rapidity.

Two lives are known to have been lost, and at a late hour last night it was reported that two other persons had perished, one a woman, having shot herself in a frenzy over her inability to save her property.

From 50 to 75 persons were injured.

In the confusion attending the situation, accurate estimates of the loss were impossible. The city police estimated it at nearly $10,000,000.

The fire raged before a 45-mile an hour gale for more than six hours, defying the combined fire departments of Chelsea and several nearby cities, and a large detachment of Boston firemen and apparatus.

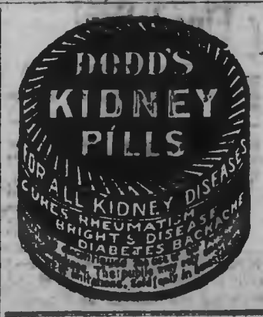
The fire area, which was in the form of an eclipse a mile and a half long and half a mile wide at its broadest part, extended diagonally across the city from a point near the boundary between Everett and Chelsea to the waters of Chelsea Creek.

It was useless for the firemen to attempt to check the onrush of the flames before the gale, and their main efforts were to prevent a spread of the blaze upon either side.

Their last stand was taken at Chelsea Square late in the afternoon, and for hours a doubtful battle was waged. At 9 o'clock word was passed that the firemen were winning, and with renewed energy the contest was pressed. At 10.50 official announcement was made by Fire Chief Spencer that the fire was under control.

The great majority of the buildings were of wood and were completely destroyed, but structures of other material were almost as quickly and thoroughly incinerated by the fierceness of the blaze.

All the banks, more than three-quarters of the churches, half of the business blocks and nearly all the schools were wiped out. One hospital and a day nursery were destroyed. In the turmoil many of the sick and infirm found difficulty in obtaining assistance, and several of them had narrow escapes.



ASSASSINATED BY STUDENT.

Polish Governor Shot Down While Receiving Delegation.

Lemburg, Austria-Hungary, April 13.—Count Andreas Potocki, governor of the Austrian Polish Province of Calicia, was assassinated yesterday afternoon by a Ruthenian student, Mierosiap Sjezynzki, by name, while giving an audience to a delegation of students.

The assassin fired three shots from a revolver, all of which took effect. The governor soon afterwards died, but first asked his secretary to inform His Majesty at once.

"Tell him," said the dying man, "I was his most faithful servant."

The assassin did not resist arrest. When lead through the governor's ante-chamber he said to the Ruthenian peasants who were waiting for an audience, "I have done this for you."

The assassin's brother, who had been informed of the plan to kill the governor, committed suicide shortly before the murder.

The affair has caused a great sensation throughout the monarchy. The Potocki family is among the most prominent aristocrats of Polish blood. On learning of the tragedy, the Emperor sent a message of sympathy.

Many Ruthenians have been arrested, but none as yet implicated in the assassination. Sjezynzki said he thought it his duty to avenge the Poles for the opposition of the Potocki government.

FISHING IN GREAT LAKES.

Two Treaties Signed at Washington—To Determine Boundary.

Washington, April 13.—Secretary of State Root and British Ambassador Bryce Saturday signed two treaties, negotiated recently between the United States and Great Britain.

One provides for a commission to determine the boundary between the United States and Canada and the other regulates fishing in the great lakes and contiguous streams.

The boundary commission will be charged with the work of resurveying certain sections of the boundary line and determining disputed questions in that connection.

It is understood that the fishery question also is placed in the hands of a commission by the terms of the treaty.

Prayers and Parades.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 13.—The primary elections throughout Pennsylvania, held Saturday, were marked with bitter political battles in several sections of Western Pennsylvania. In a number of districts factional fights complicated the situation, and all the tactics known to politics are being resorted to.

Supporters of local option have played a prominent part in the campaign and thousands of school children paraded the streets in the vicinity of the pooling booths Saturday carrying inscribed banners and singing for the success of local option candidates.

In the churches and homes services were held at which prayers were offered for the victory of local option.

Shot by Burglar.

Frank, Alta., April 13.—Constable G. S. Wilmot, R.N.W.M.F., was discovered dead and cold in a pool of blood at seven yesterday morning in the rear of the Imperial Hotel. A shot hole as big as a teacup was in the right side of the neck.

There has been an epidemic of burglaries lately, and Wilmot, who is a young man, was on guard, and is supposed to have received a shot while attempting to arrest a burglar.

NOT MANY CHANGES IN CABINET

New Imperial Cabinet Received With Favor in London.

WILL CAUSE FOUR ELECTIONS

Two Members Go to the House of Lords—Winston Churchill Goes to the Board of Trade—May Have a Hard Fight For His Seat In Manchester—The Other Seats Are Considered Safe.

London, April 13.—Official announcement was made last night of the new Cabinet appointments. They are as follows:

Herbert Asquith, Prime Minister and First Lord of the Treasury.

David Lloyd-George, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Lord Tweedmouth, President of the Council.

Earl of Crewe, Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Reginald McKenna, First Lord of the Admiralty.

Winston Spencer Churchill, President of the Board of Trade.

Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Education.

John Morley, Secretary of State for Indian, and

Sir Henry Fowler, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, have been made peers, but retain their present offices.

Col. G. S. E. Seeley has been appointed Under-Secretary for the Colonies.

Lord Lucas, Parliamentary Secretary of the War Office.

F. D. Acland, Financial Secretary of the War Office, and Thomas R. Buchanan, Parliamentary Secretary of the India Office.

Having been fully anticipated in well-informed political circles, the few changes which Mr. Asquith made in the old Campbell-Bannerman Cabinet caused no surprise. There had been some speculation as to whether the new Premier would think well to dissolve Parliament, and he would have been fully justified, in assuming the Government under somewhat unusual circumstances, in taking the course of appealing to the country for a new mandate. He has, however, evidently decided otherwise.

His aim in composing the Cabinet seemingly has been to avoid as far as possible any bye-election in constituencies where the faith in Liberalism is wavering.

The changes as announced will only necessitate four bye-elections, of which heretofore held respectively by John Morley, Walter Runciman and Sir Henry Fowler, may be considered safe. Winston Churchill's re-election in Manchester, however, is considered decidedly doubtful. Until won by Mr. Churchill, after one of the most notable contests thirty months ago, this seat had been for a decade a Conservative stronghold.

It is interesting to note that before giving the chancellorship to Lloyd-George, Mr. Asquith offered it to Mr. Mosley. Mr. McKenna, the new Admiralty chief, is credited with being an advocate of economy in the navy.

Some further appointments outside the Cabinet will be announced after the King's return to London.

The condition of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman is reported by his physicians as being unchanged.

The appointments to the Colonial Office meets with the widest approval. Earl Crewe's tact, kindness and ability have been generally recognized, whilst Col. Seeley is agreed to be an able Minister. The newspapers have received the Cabinet with great favor.

It is understood that Premier Asquith will himself make the coming budget statement, although he has resigned the chancellorship, there being a precedent for the course.

The Earl of Elgin is said to be chagrined at the loss of the Colonial Office, and Lord Tweedmouth's downward promotion is due to the Emperor's letter incident and to general dissatisfaction over his administration.

Mr. Churchill has issued a bold fighting address to voters of Manchester, pinning to his mast, the whole Government legislative program, and even the unpopular licensing bill in its integrity.

It is reported that Mr. Lloyd-George has resolved to throw to the winds the prescriptive law which forbids a Cabinet Minister from participating in an election contest, and that he is going to Manchester to speak in the campaign for Churchill.

Rioting In Trouble.

New Westminster, B.C., April 13.—Rudyard Kipling was roundly condemned at Saturday night's meeting of the Westminster Branch of the Asiatic Exclusion League. A number of statements made by the bard in his series of "Letters to the Family," being objected to by anti-Orientals.

Representations will be made direct to the offender, while statements contradicting his conclusions with respect to the need of the Asiatics in this province will be scattered broadcast.

KILLED IN HURRICANE.

Tragic Results of Saturday's Storm in New York.

New York, April 13.—Five men are known to have lost their lives, a number of boatmen are reported missing and dozens of persons were injured in a furious windstorm which set in here Saturday afternoon. The wind's velocity, according to the local weather bureau, averaged between forty and fifty miles an hour, but at times was as high as sixty miles.

Pedestrians suffered much discomfort, besides being in constant danger from falling signs, shutters, awnings and other articles torn from their fastenings. Two men met death from this cause, an expressman and a policeman. A boat containing three men was seen to upset in Pelham Bay. Those on shore could do nothing, and were forced to see the men drown.

The force of the wind on the city streets may be judged by the fact that it swept Louis Spector, a four-year-old boy, from the roof of a five-storey apartment house, to which he had ventured. The lad suffered a fractured skull.

A runaway, due to the flying dust blinding a horse and stinging his sides, was another strange incident of the storm. It resulted in the severe injury of Mrs. Bertha Straus, 63 years old.

Incoming shipping report heavy weather at sea.

The local weather men said the high wind was due to the steep barometric pressure between two rainstorms, one on the coast and the other central over the St. Lawrence Valley. A low area of pressure was suddenly displaced by a high area of pressure, and this caused the high winds.

TOO MANY DEATHS.

Royal Commission Will Enquire Into Use of Anaesthetics.

London, April 13.—A royal commission is to be appointed to enquire into the deaths under anaesthetics in England and Wales.

The records of these deaths for the years 1902 and 1906 inclusive were 148, 140, 154, 163 and 183.

The duties of the public vaccinator are rapidly disappearing in many small towns.

The inhabitants avail themselves of the conscientious objectors' declaration act and therefore escape the vaccination of themselves and their families.

The prejudice against this form of innoculation seems to be spreading everywhere.

New German Cruiser.

Kiel, Germany, April 13.—The armored cruiser Bluecher was launched from the Imperial Navy Yards at 11 o'clock on Saturday in the presence of Prince Henry of Prussia and many high officials of the Admiralty. Gen. Baron Von Der Goltz, commander of the army corps at Koenigsberg, delivered an address. Countess Bluecher christened the warship.

The cruiser is built entirely of steel, with a displacement of 15,000 tons. The estimated cost of construction is $6,915,000, of which $4,625,000 will be spent on the hull and machinery, while her artillery will cost $2,125,000 and her torpedo armament $165,000. Her complement will total 790 officers and men.

$50,000 Jewel Burglary.

San Francisco, April 13.—Some time during Friday night and in the best patrolled district of the city, thieves entered the jewelry store of P. Lundy, 744 Market street, and robbed it of diamonds, watches and other jewelry, amounting to $50,000.

Entrance was made by cutting a hole through the partition that separates the store from a candy shop. The safe was drilled and blown open with nitro-glycerine.

The robbery is believed to be the work of eastern crooks, many of whom have arrived in the city with the idea of operating while the battleship fleet is visiting this port.

One of the Heroes of Civilization.

New York, April 13.—Hundreds of surgeons and physicians were among the guests who greeted Dr. Robert Koch, the German bacteriologist, at a banquet tendered him in the Waldorf-Astoria by the German Medical Society. Andrew Carnegie was one of the speakers. He placed Dr. Koch in the list of the heroes of civilization.

All-Red Route Report.

London, April 13.—(C.A.P.)—The all-red route committee will report immediately, according to The Scotsman. It is believed the Treasury objections to the financial part of the scheme remain unanswered. Lloyd-George's promotion to Chancellor of the Exchequer, however, encourages some speculation of possible arrangements.

Hospital Burned.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., April 13.—Fire Saturday destroyed the Northwestern Hospital. The nurses prevented a panic and 30 patients were carried out in safety.

Carl Sorenson was under the influence of ether on the operating table when the fire broke out.

A Tragic Death.

Victoria, B.C., April 13.—Seized with an epileptic fit while waiting for his supper, which he had just ordered, William Hooper, a member of the firm of Hooper Bros., mill owners, expired suddenly on the sidewalk outside the restaurant.

Veteran Sportsmen Of Peterboro' And Their Club

References From The Rod and Gun—The Officials Of The Ketchecum Club.

WHERE THEY GO TO HUNT

The April number of the Rod and Gun contains a brief but interesting account of the etohecum Hunt Club, including excellent cuts of Mr. Harry Winch and his dogs and Mr. Harry LeBrun. The article is as follows:

The sportsmenn of Peterborough, Ont., are fortunate in being able to enjoy their sport not too far from home. A drive of forty miles from their fine city takes them to a great chain of beautiful lakes where they are in the wilds of nature and can fish and shoot as much as the laws allow them. For thirty years some of the best known sportsmen of the city have been fishing and hunting around the lakes which are named Ketchecum, Spencer and Bottle and these give them the finest of scenery as well as the best of fishing.

Almost fifteen years ago the sportsmen ferquenting the place formed themselves into a club entitled the Ketchecum Club. They have built a club house, a large boat house and taken other means to secure their own comfort while enjoying the outdoor life to the full.

The club house is open in early October, when the members enjoy fine trout fishing. They can visit the club as they please, usually staying a week or two, the average number at the camp at one time being a dozen. Success has generally attended the hunters and last season they obtained twenty deer.

The president of the club, Mr. Harry Winch, is a veteran hunter and well known amongst sportsmen as indeed he should be, having hunted big game for forty-four years. Mr. Winch is as famous a fisherman as he is a hunter. Horses and dogs are his delight, and he never has less than a dozen of the latter about him. He is likewise a successful breeder of fancy poultry. As showing the benefits to be gained from the open air life Mr. Winch in appearance has not aged a day since he was thirty, and time has apparently passed him by untouched.

The captain of the club, Mr. H. LeBrun, has been hunting for thirty years and we have the pleasure of giving his portrait, accompanied by his fine dogs.

Mr. Alex. Simpson has started the dogs for the party for over thirty years.

There are many advantages to be gained from a club of this character. Circumstances often forbid a long trip, and in such cases the sportsmen can take advantage of hunting territory well within touch of civilization. Others can no longer venture to incur hardships, and feel that though the day in the open may be strenuous enough, they are sure of good food and shelter at night. Of course sportsmen in many centres are not so well situated as those of Peterborough, and in the course of the many years they have been visiting this territory they have things pretty well fixed up. It must not be inferred from this that Peterborough sportsmen are in any sense desirous of obtaining their sport without the discomforts usually attendant upon the same, but the comfortable club house at night is more appreciated.

The crack American walker of Oswego, N.Y., who arrived at noon to-day for the big walking match.

THE COBOURG CLUB HAS ORGANIZED

Mulhall and Turpin Appointed Delegates To Annual Meeting.

Cobourg, April 13.—The meeting to re-organize the Cobourg Baseball Club was held Monday evening, and it was decided to enter the Midland Baseball League, if the prospects are favourable for a good league. Messrs. Mulhall and Turpin were appointed delegates to the meeting to be held in Port Hope on Good Friday. The following officers were elected:

Hon. Pres—J. B. McColl, M.P.
Hon. Vice-Pres—Sam Clarke, M.P.P.
Patrons—Messrs. Speers, Albertini, C. A. Minaker, W. J. Crossen, E. W. Hargraft, T. S. Chatterton, C. A. Munson, A. E. Wood, F. D. Boggs, Harry Field.
President—Jas. Bulger.
Vice-President—Wm. Dundas.
Manager—Thomas Mulhall.
Secretary—L. Wilson.
Treasurer—T. Bulger.
Executive Committee—Messrs. Jex, P. Clarke, F. Hining, J. C. Raymond and T. Mulhall.

It is altogether likely a town league will be formed this summer with a view to having a supply of material to draw on in the future. The league two years ago was a good thing—as was also the hockey league this winter—in bringing on young players.

Peterborough is importing players for the Midland League team. Would it not be better for them to see if the prospects for having a league were good. Port Hope is also doing the same.

Picton and Wellington have applied for admission to the Midland Baseball League, and it is understood that they have been practically assured of admission. Both the above clubs have first class mines and should make it quite interesting for the other teams in the league.

Pyramids by senior men.

TORONTO BOWLERS HERE TO-MORROW

The Canadian Bowling Club Team Will Play Locals.

A team from the Canadian Bowling Club in Toronto will be here to-morrow night to meet a picked team at the Peterborough Bowling Club's alleys. The team will include Archambault, the crack Toronto bowler, who is known all over the continent; Neil, one of the speediest bowlers in Canada, and other well-known trundlers, who will take a lot of beating. The local team will be a strong one, and, on their own alleys, promise to regain the honours they lost in Toronto on Friday. A good game will be seen in any event, and a great deal of interest is being taken in the visit of the Toronto men.

A JUNIOR GUILD LEAGUE PROPOSED

A Meeting on Thursday Night to Discuss The Matter.

An attempt will be made Thursday night to form a junior guild league among the churches of the city. A meeting will be held in the Y.M.C.A., at which all the junior guilds and boys' clubs are asked to have representatives. Mr Wilkie of Knox Church Boys' Club is interested in the formation of this league, and believes the other churches could be represented by teams which would make it successful. Besides Knox church, there is the Boys' Club of All Saints', and the junior guilds of St. Andrew's, St. John's, St. Paul's and the other churches of the city. The matter will be carefully considered on Thursday night, and if a sufficient number of teams are entered, the league will go ahead. The age limit will likely be placed at 17 or 18 years.

NINE TEAMS WILL BE REPRESENTED

Bloomfield, Picton and Belleville May Come into Midland Baseball League.

The annual meeting of the Midland Baseball League will be held on Friday afternoon in Port Hope, and one of the most interesting meetings in the history of the league is expected. Eight or nine teams will be on hand clamouring for admission, as Lindsay, Peterborough, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Cobourg, Bloomfield, Picton and Belleville will all have representatives on hand for the meeting. Manager Johnston and Corney Burns will represent Peterborough.

SKATING AND CURLING LAST WEEK

Oshawa Rink Had Good Ice on Friday, April 3rd.

A gentleman who was recently in Oshawa has a story about the skating rink there that has Peterborough and the surrounding town beaten. On April 3 a game of curling was played in the evening, and following, there was an hour's skating. The caretaker of the rink said the curlers could have had another game the following morning if there had been no skating.

THREE RUNNERS TRAINING WITH FRED SIMPSON

Give Promise of Long Distance Men for Road Race.

Fred Simpson, speaking of his running confreres at Hiawatha, says that the Muskrat brothers and young Tobico give promise of making distance men. Although the weather has been unfavourable for training Fred and his three understudies have been doing as much work as they can under the circumstances. Tobico and the Muskrat boys are understood to be looking out for the Examiner road race next autumn.

Measureless Influence of a Positive Cure

NO JUDGE OR JURY DEMANDS MORE THAN THE CREDIBLE TESTIMONY OF LIVING WITNESSES

From the "Toronto Globe."

No case in court was ever more clearly proven by an army of credible living witnesses, who speak from actual knowledge and experience, than has been the fact that Psychine is effecting some of the most wonderful cures of throat and lung troubles that the world has ever known. The evidence is on record in thousands of cases over the signature of those who have voluntarily given their experience and statement for the benefit of their fellow-sufferers.

Here is the testimony of a well-known Toronto gentleman:—

"I and a number of my friends join in testifying to the wonderful power of Psychine for Throat and Lung Troubles. In my own case, where all ordinary remedies and doctors' prescriptions failed, I tried Psychine. A complete cure was speedily effected. My cough ceased and my throat and lungs were entirely freed of disease. My own doctor has advised me to use Psychine and Oxomulsion. Psychine accomplishes all that is claimed for it, and as a tonic it has no equal. This statement I am prepared to substantiate under solemn oath."

GEO. SMITH.

99 Lakeview Ave., Toronto.

Mr. Smith is the respected president of the Smith Mfg Co., Limited, and to those who know him he is a remarkable living example of the saving power of a great and priceless medicine.

PSYCHINE is as nearly a positive cure for all throat and lung and stomach troubles, wasting diseases and all forms of chronic or acute diseases, which other remedies have failed to cure, as it is possible for medical skill or medical sceince to produce. For sale at all druggists at 50c. and $1.00 per bottle. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, LIMITED, Toronto.

FISHING NUMBER OF ROD AND GUN

An Elaborate Spring Number—Wolf Hunting Stories.

With the advent of April the majority of sportsmen turn their thoughts to fishing, and "Rod and Gun and Motor Sports in Canada," published by W. J. Taylor, Woodstock, Ont., has published a Spring Fishing number for the month. There are stories of fishing in Ontario, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Alberta and British Columbia, while an article descriptive of Kalibi—the new rod wood—is of deep interest to fishermen. A fine survey of the whole question of International Control of International Waters, by Mr. C. H. Wilson, is worth careful perusal, embodying as it does a long and careful study of the whole question from both sides. A paper on Guides and Their Patrons, written from a guide's point of view by a veteran guide, ought to lead to a controversy as exciting as that on dogs versus still hunters. Wolf hunting, moose hunting, deer hunting and deer preservation are but a few of the many good things in the number, while How One Settler Helps the Deer should prove as widespread in its interest as the former paper by the same settler on How One Settler Treats the Deer. Indeed, the many excellencies of the number are apparent from the opening paper to the closing page.

THORPE HAS RECORD NOW FOR MILE

English Lad Covered Distance in 5.30 on The Y.M.C.A. Track.

Chas. Thorpe, the English runner, who has joined the Y.M.C.A. Harriers, the other night knocked ten seconds off Ernie Wilson's time for a mile on the indoor track, which is 32 laps to the mile. Thorpe covered the distance in 5.30, and this is the mark which Trainer "Dick" Baker wishes his men to get out and try to beat during the coming week. A mile in 5.30, with almost no training, is travelling some, but the mark won't stand long when the men get into shape. Thorpe is a very promising runner, who will be remembered by his showing at the indoor meet last autumn, when he finished only a few feet behind Hilton Green in the three-mile handicap.

SIMPSON IS WITH THE HARRIERS

He Has No Thought of Joining Tom Flanagan's Irish Canadians.

The interview with Fred Simpson, which appeared in Saturday's issue of a contemporary, was somewhat misleading. It is true that Tom Flanagan of the Irish-Canadians would like to have the fleet-footed Hiawatha runner added to his string, but Fred has no intention of joining the ranks of the Irish. He is a member of the Y.M.C.A. Harriers and will run under their colours this season, and much as the I.C.A.C. would like to have Simpson, they will have to do without him.

T.A.S. BALL CLUB TO BE ORGANIZED

Meeting Called for To-morrow Night to Consider the Question.

From present prospects the T.A.S. Young Men's Literary Society will be represented in the Intermediate League by a strong team. A meeting has been called for to-morrow night for organization purposes and all those interested should be present. There is apparently plenty of material for a good team for this league, and the boys are deeply interested and if all arrangements can be made a team will be got together. Mr. Leo Dersoher is one of the members who are looking after the team and every encouragement should be given him by the other members.

SURE SIGN OF SPRING AND COMING OF AUTUMN

When the Newsboys are After the Marbles—And the Back Yard is Being Cleaned.

When the newsboys play marbles; when the honk-honk of the wild goose is heard at night overhead; when the backyard is being cleaned—by these signs ye shall know that spring, gentle spring has—came. Just so. And when the man about town hies him to the warmth of the tavern; when the beauteous damsel departs from the Lakeside resort to the solitude of her suburban home, and when the backyard is just as dirty as ever again,—we know that autumn has—went.

DEBATE BETWEEN TWO GUILDS IS ARRANGED

Knox Church and Park Street Baptist Young People Will Meet in Wordy Battle.

The much-mooted debate between the young people's guilds of Knox and Park street churches is assured for Monday evening, April 27, at the Park street church. The subject is, "Resolved, That Asiatic Immigration Into Canada Should Be Prohibited." It has been promised to take place for some time, and now that the date has been settled, the friends of both sides will await the meeting with interest. Park street church has the negative side, and Knox church the affirmative.

MORE EASTER BEEF ON THE MARKET THIS WEEK

Farmers Selling Their Choicest for Local Shops.

Easter beef is the feature at the market these days, and from the specimens that have been weighed so far, the people will have a fine selection from the various shops to choose a dainty cut. Mr. R. A DOLLAR BILL

A farmer out in Kansas,
About five years ago,
Went into town one day to spend
Some of his hard earned "dough."
"And in a merry jest," and just
To show his printing skill,
He printed his initials on
A bran new d-o-l-l-a-r b-i-l-l.

He spent that dollar that same day
Down at the village store.
He thought 'twas gone for ever then,
And he'd see it no more.
But long before that year rolled by
One day he went to fill
A neighbour's order, and received
That same one d-o-l-l-a-r b-i-l-l.

Once more he spent that dollar bill
In his own neighbourhood;
Where it would do himself and friends
The most amount of good.
Four times in two years it came back,
As some bad pennies will.
And each time he'd go out and spend
This marked one d-o-l-l-a-r b-i-l-l.

Had he been wise that dollar might
Be in his town to-day,
But just about two years ago
He sent it far away.
The people who received it then
I know have got it still.
For 'twas to a mail order house
He sent his d-o-l-l-a-r b-i-l-l.

No more will that marked dollar come
Into the farmer's hands,
And nevermore will it help pay
The taxes on his land.
He put it where it never can
Its work in life fulfil.
He brought about the living death
Of that one d-o-l-l-a-r b-i-l-l.

HUNTER ST. WATER MAIN REPAIRED

Men Worked Throughout Saturday Night At Break Near the Mill.

HOSPITAL HAD NO WATER

The waterworks department had a number of their men working at the break in the water main on Hunter street east for twenty-four hours, from Saturday evening at six o'clock to Sunday evening at the same time. The location of the break was just east of the Rapid Tool Company's plant. It was occasioned by the pressure of the earth which filled up the gully through which the water ran from McAllister's mill. The men worked through Saturday night and Sunday with intermissions only for meals. The job was anything but an easy one, as the water had flooded the hole. The break placed the east city residents at a disadvantage and St. Joseph's Hospital was without water. The work was finished at 6 o'clock yesterday.

BURLEIGH TO BUY ROAD SCRAPERS

By-law to Appoint Pound Keepers and Fence Viewers—New Auditor Appointed.

REGULAR COUNCIL MEETING

Examiner Special

Apsley, April 14.—A meeting of the Burleigh and Anstruther Council was held in the town hall, on Saturday, April 4th, 1908.

Present, C. R. D. Booth, reeve, in the chair; Councillors Stone, McCauley, Lean and Windsor. The minutes of last meeting were read and adopted.

Moved by Councillors Lean and Windsor, that the county clerk be authorized to strike off from tax sale all lots previously sent in by township clerk too late to treasurer; also Island No. 1 and 71, Burleigh, and charge amount to this municipality.—Carried.

Moved by Councillors Lean and Stone, That Peter Windsor's taxes, $17.55, be remitted.—Carried.

Moved by Councillors Windsor and McCauley, That Cecil and Travis Sherwin's taxes be remitted, provided they do work to the amount, on their own road at Mount Julian; to be subject to approval of councillor McCauley. If not done to be charged against lot.—Carried.

Moved by Councillors McCauley and Windsor, That collector's roll for 1907 be received and adopted.—Carried.

Moved by Councillors Windsor and Stone, That the Rev. H. Garbutt be appointed auditor, in place of W. Spence, who refused to act, and if Mr. Garbutt will not act, then the clerk is to nominate another, and that the corporate seal be attached to this motion, to give it the effect of a by-law.—Carried.

Moved by Councillors McCauley and Windsor, That three steel road scrapers, medium size, be purchased for the municipality.—Carried.

A by-law to appoint poundkeepers, fence viewers and pathmasters, for the year 1908, received its several readings, was passed, sealed and signed by the reeve and clerk.

Council adjourned to meet at call of the reeve.

NATURAL BEAUTY OF SCOTLAND REVIEWED WITH ILLUSTRATIONS IN A LECTURE AT KNOX CHURCH

Rev. W. D. Reid Conducts His Audience Through Historic Scotia's Romantic Fields and Picturesque Highlands.

MOST ENJOYABLE JOURNEY

The managers of Knox Presbyterian church could, possibly, have chosen no better means of celebrating their first anniversary than they did by securing Rev. W D Reid, of Montreal to give a lecture on "A Trip Through Scotland." In every respect it was the most enjoyable evening that could have been looked for. There have been many illustrated lectures given in the city, but it is doubtful if any was as popular as that of last night. This was largely due to the personality of the lecturer and to the manner in which he led his audience on a short but interesting trip through storied Scotia. Himself a Scotchman and acquainted by travel with almost every nook and cranny in his native land, Mr. Reid was thoroughly capable of dealing with the subject he had undertaken. But it was more than these facts which contributed to the evening's enjoyment, for Mr. Reid is naturally a humourist and has a fund of anecdotes and experiences which only a person of his disposition would acquire. With almost every illustration he had an interesting story, an historic reference or an unusual geographical connection which lent a charm that only those who were present could thoroughly appreciate.

Rev. Mr. Reid held the attention of his audience for over an hour and the feeling displayed was that the trip was terminated before the conclusion was even thought of.

Before the lecture was begun the pastor, Rev. H J Keith, who acted as chairman, called upon the following to contribute the introductory portion of the programme:—

Selection on the bagpipes, by Rev. Mr. McLeod, of Brighton.
Piano solo—Miss L Charles.
Vocal solo—Mrs. Greenslade.
Reading—Mrs. Patterson-Mowry.
Vocal solo—Mr. John Barr.
Mixed vocal quartette—Miss A Carr, Mrs. Greenslade, Messrs. D Campbell and Greenslade.
Vocal solo—Mr. D Campbell.
Bagpipes selection—Rev. Mr. McLeod.

The numbers were appropriate for the occasion, being of a Scottish character, and reflected credit on the talent of the individual entertainers.

The Lecture

In beginning his descriptive journey, Rev. Mr. Reid said that Scotland for its size, is the most historic country in the world. Every foot of its ground is held in reverence by Scotchmen because of the many sons who have given up their lives for their country and for their faith. In starting out, Mr. Reid crossed the border, first stopping at Jedburgh Abbey. It would be impossible to detail the speaker's wanderings from the border to the northern-most point in the country. As he went along, by stories and accounts of his experiences, he incidentally, but vividly, conveyed the natural characteristics of the cautious and canny but true hearted county folk to his hearers. He lucidly depicted the old border warfare that dated back to the times of Douglas and Robert Bruce and others, the bravest hearts that ever beat for Scotland. The story of Robert Bruce, whose heart lies buried before the altar in Melrose Abbey, that historic pile which is now crumbling into ruins after centuries of ravage by weather and war, this oft repeated story was retold with a charm which Mr. Reid's recital gave it. Similarly his references to other castles were presented in an unmistakably entertaining style.

Edinburgh and its famous castle, impregnable to assault, Holyrood Palace, St. Giles' Cathedral, Rosslyn Chapel, Linlithgow Castle, the City of Glasgow, Dunbarton Castle, the Sentinel of the Clyde and grand old Sterling, these were a few of the places mentioned. He also passed through the old homes of Scott and Burns, entered the pass of Killiecrankie and reverted to the slaughter of the MacDonald clan in their homes at Glencoe, the most disgraceful act of the reign of William of Orange.

Romantic Scotland

The trip included short journeys through some of the most beautiful of Scotland's romantic valleys and gorges, along the heather-clad hills and across picturesque streams where travellers long to rest, entranced by the rugged magnificence of the scenery. Thus did Rev. Mr. Reid conduct his followers and guide their footsteps through a land famous in song and story, in its natural grandeur and in the simple lives of its people of to-day.

At the conclusion he was tendered a hearty vote of thanks on motion of Messrs. R Morrison and H. McCannon.

MR. LOWRY STICKS TO THE HANDBOOK

A Question as to Which Authority is Correct—A Reply to "Equinox" and "Amicus."

HAS NEVER LEFT THE EARTH

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—After reading the anonymous "aquibs" in the Examiner of Thursday, the 9th inst., signed "Equinox" and "Amicus," I was reminded of a turkey who strutted in the farmyard without a rival, until he became quite conceited, and challenged a crow to a test of speed. Finding himself left far behind in the race when he came to the finishing point, he said in an angry tone to the crow, "See here, did it ever occur to your muddy ou're as black as the deuce and as ugly as sin?" The writer of these has found that my previous letter cut deep; that "the words of the author 'twere vain to assail, and so he endeavours to injure the man." However, when he bestowed upon me the title of "Agitator" (which he has evidently coined), he deserves credit; for I am well satisfied that my remarks have agitated the peaceful waters of someone's self-sufficiency and caused them to "cast up mire and dirt." Indeed, it seems to have forced them to turn out with a "muck rake" at this season, when other folk are busy with a garden rake.

As to the "altitude" of the two different parties, it matters little, as neither will ever attain sufficient "elevation" to form an independent opinion on such a subject; and with that part the public is not concerned. It will be seen that it is simply a question which authority you choose. Whether Dr. C. A. McCurt, Professor of Astronomy in Toronto University, the editor of the R. A. S. Handbook, whom "Equinox" says is mistaken; or some other astronomer. For my own part, I am satisfied to take the Handbook, as it is carefully compiled from the Nautical Almanac issued from the Greenwich Observatory, which is the guidebook of the mariner and British commerce on the seas the world over.

"Amicus" advises me to remain on the solid earth; but this is unnecessary, as I have never left it or been at sea—in argument or otherwise, and have never spent "A Night in the Skies," for either pleasure or profit. I may not have F.R.A.S. after my name, but that is no reason why my "smattering" of astronomy should not have placed me in the "ascending mode," and enabled me, from the study of creation, to form a better conception of the Creator.

"For deep this thought impressed my mind,
Through all His works abroad,
The heart benevolent and kind
The most resembles God."

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain

Yours sincerely,
S. W. LOWRY.

AGONIZING PILES

Cured By Zam-Buk.

Mr. F. Astridge, of 3 St. Paul street, St. Catharines, Ont., says: "For five years I suffered untold agony with protruding piles. No one knows the suffering one has to endure, only those who are so unfortunate as to have them. The pain was so great at times that I would almost scream. I went down in weight and had no appetite. I tried everything I heard of for piles, but got no relief. I went to several doctors, but they would give me little hope of ever getting rid of them, and I finally gave up in despair. One day a friend gave me a sample of Zam-Buk salve and told me of someone who had been cured. I decided to try it, and the relief I got was encouraging. I bought a box, and the piles kept on diminishing and the pain was getting less. I used three boxes and am now completely cured. I wish I could have got Zam-Buk years ago; it would have saved me a great deal of misery. One thousand dollars would be none too small an amount to give for such a cure as mine. I wish I could convince every sufferer of the value of Zam-Buk."

Zam-Buk cures cuts, burns, chapped hands, cold sores, itch, ulcers, eczema, running sores, catarrh, piles, bad legs, abscesses, face sores, spring eruptions, and all skin diseases. It is good also for rheumatism, sciatica, etc., when well rubbed in. Of all druggists and stores: 50c., or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

NO REGIMENT FOR CITY OF EDMONTON THIS YEAR

Lt.-Col. Edwards Receives Reply From The Government.

There will be no infantry regiment organized in Edmonton this year, says the Edmonton Bulletin. Lt.-Col. E. B. Edwards, who communicated with the Department of Militia regarding the matter, has received the following reply from the Minister of Militia:—

"I am in receipt of your letter of recent date, relative to the formation of an infantry regiment at Edmonton, and in reply have to inform you that it is impossible to proceed with the organization of this regiment at present, but it is very likely that when the establishments for 1908-09 are taken up, the organization of the regiment will be authorized."

A NOVEL CELEBRATION

The arrival of Spring will be celebrated in a novel way this year by McDermid & Jury, the enterprising druggists.

On Saturday of this week they will distribute $50.00 worth of choice fresh garden seeds, among their customers.

Every customer purchasing 50c worth of goods that day will be given five packages of seeds, and the first 12 persons who bring in flowers or vegetables grown from these seeds, will each be given a prize of $1.00 in cash.

In addition to this they are offering many Bargains in Hair Brushes, Hot Water Bottles, Perfumes, Tooth Brushes, Toilet Articles, etc.

Ford's famous Chocolates will also be made a special feature on this day and a box of Ford's Butter Scotch will be given free with every pound of their Chocolates.

Among other attractions will be the presentation of 10 Pretty Swiss Bedroom Clocks, to the first 5 ladies purchasing $5 worth of goods, after 7.30 a.m. and another 5 clocks to the first 5 farmers' wives purchasing $5 worth after one o'clock, noon. These clocks are not toys but good serviceable clocks, worth from $1 to 1.25 each

When this firm announce an event of this kind, they carry out every promise and we would recommend all our readers to call on them on Saturday and get some of the good things they are offering.

CHANGING SENTIMENT

Oliver Goldsmith's Deserted Village

Goldsmith in his "Deserted Village" spoke of a certain chapel where those who "went to scoff, remained to pray." So in life, one often laughs at what he does not understand, and later, when he does understand, his laugh turns to praise. There were some who doubted the merits of Newsbro's "Herpicide," the scalp germicide and hair dressing; but since they have tried it they are now among its best friends and strongest endorsers. Herpicide kills the germ that eats the hair off at the root, and the hair then grows again. As a hair dressing it is incomparable. Try it. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes — 50 cents and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

LONGBOAT'S BROTHER INSANE

Simon Longboat Said to Have Gone Violently Insane—Taken to the Hamilton Asylum.

Brantford, April 14.—Simon Longboat, the younger brother of Thomas Longboat, is reported to have gone violently insane. This morning Constable Lottridge, of the Reserve, called on Supt. Smith, of the local Indian office, to have the brother of the famous runner committed to the asylum at Hamilton. Longboat, it is said, was in a dangerous state, and attacked the residents of the house where he lived. He required strict watch, and will be removed to-day.

A HANDSOME PICTURE THROWN ON THE CANVAS

Many See "The Two Orphans" at the Crystal Yesterday Afternoon And Evening.

"The Two Orphans," one of the pictures produced on the canvas at the Crystal this week, is considered by many, who saw it last night, to be the most beautiful that has yet appeared. The story, as told by the various scenes themselves, is a most pathetic one. It is made more so by Mr. Wm. Bowman, who explains, in his admirable and original style, the different changes flashed on the screen, so that the emphasis of each scene is fully grasped by the audience. The picture, too, has a moral and leaves its effect.

Undisputed Facts About
Zutoo

Zutoo tablets are now recognized as being without doubt or question, the best and only safe remedy on the market for headaches and colds.

They have practically displaced all other cures, and are now the only one used to any extent.

The reason is doubtless found in this further fact.

Zutoo tablets not only cure headache and colds but, unlike many other remedies, do not affect the heart, nerves or stomach.

. . . The . . . Red Heart.

By TEMPLE BAILEY.

Copyrighted, 1908, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

Fay Woodward, finishing a rollicking class song with a crash of chords, whirled around on the piano stool and faced the group of girls who were presiding over the mysteries of fudge-making in a chafing dish.

"It's a tragedy," she said; "that's what it is."

"What?" came the interested chorus.

"The case of Caroline Krebs."

"It sounds like the headlines in an evening paper," murmured Eloise Hillman, sniffing the chocolate scented air automatically.

Fay, ignoring the interruption, went on. "She's a nice little thing, and I hate to see her unhappy."

"Maybe she is just silly and sentimental," said Beatrice Drake, who was stirring the bubbling mixture. "She seems awfully young to have a real affair."

"She is twenty," Fay informed them. "It's her fluffy curls that give her that baby look. And she has known him since she was five. He proposed to her when she was fifteen, and they became engaged this fall just before she came here to school."

"Who is he?" asked Eloise, with interest.

"The young man Caroline Krebs is engaged to, and I am worrying about them."

"Why worry?" asked a fourth girl, who, buried in the cushions of the couch, had hitherto said nothing.

"Because I am not like you, Kitty. I can't curl up like a cat and let life roll past me. Caroline Krebs is my roommate, and she is handling her love affair badly, and as her friend and a philanthropist in general I want to set her straight."

THEN FAY FALTERED OUT THE STORY.

Kit sat up. She was fair and fat, with dimples that were out now in full force.

"What's she doing that's wrong?" she demanded.

Fay leaned forward and spoke impressively.

"Girls," she said, "she is making him a red satin heart for a birthday present."

"A red heart!" came the chorus.

"Yes. A pincushion. And she is stuffing it with sawdust, and it is as fat as—as—Kitty!"

"Oh—oh!" came from the couch. But Fay proceeded:

"She is going to send it to him, and she can't see that any man with an ounce of artistic blood in him would be repelled by a fat red thing with pins in it!" And Fay's graceful hands swept out in a gesture of despair.

"Perhaps they are two of a kind," said Eloise.

"No. And that is where the tragedy comes in. He sends her bits of poetry that he writes—exquisite bits. He knows the real thing. But she doesn't. She just goes on stuffing that heart and planning to write a verse onsit:

"Roses red and violets blue,
His heart to her is ever true."

Kitty, on the couch, shrieked, "Fay, you are stretching it!"

"No, I am not," Fay said. "I tried to make her buy one of those old ivory medallions that we saw in the shops, but she looked at me so seriously and whispered, 'He likes to have me make something!'"

"Lovely!" ejaculated Kitty. "If a man loved me that way"—

"The fudge is ready," cut in Beatrice. And for the next few minutes they gave their attention to the luscious squares.

"I am going to take a plate of it to Caroline," said Fay as she left them that night. "She couldn't come in. She was too busy sticking white pins into the red heart."

"Cheer up!" Kitty called after her. "You may reform Caroline yet."

But Caroline, bright eyed over her gift, did not look as if she needed reform.

"Isn't it pretty?" she asked, holding up the heart as Fay came in with the plate of fudge.

Fay eyed it dubiously.

"Do you think a man would like it?" she asked.

"Oh, Arthur would," said Caroline; "he has such good taste."

"I sent a man a present once," said Fay craftily. "I bought a bunch of violets. The florist packed them so that they would keep fresh. It was a very simple gift, but he liked it awfully."

"Yes," said Caroline, sticking the last pin firmly into the heart. "I am sure he must have liked it. But Arthur always wants me to make things for him."

So Fay gave it up.

"He'll be disillusioned, and she will be unhappy," was her decision, "but I can't help it."

It was three days after Arthur's birthday that Caroline came to her roommate with a note.

"I can't understand Arthur," she said, and her lips were quivering. "He seems to think my present was a joke."

"Oh," gasped Fay understandingly.

"He says that he showed it to the boys, and they laughed over it, and that he was glad I had such a sense of humor and that it was such a dear little fat heart. And I thought it was beautiful. Oh, dear"— And Caroline's head was pillowed on Fay's sympathetic shoulder. "I worked so hard, and it was so pretty," she sobbed, "and they just laughed."

"Send him something else and tell him this was just a funny forerunner," Fay suggested.

But Caroline was obstinate.

"I won't," she said. "He ought to like the red heart, and if he doesn't I can't help it."

"And if something isn't done at once," Fay told her four chums as they sat that night kimono clad in Beatrice's room, "those two hearts won't beat as one."

Kitty, plump and pretty, in pink, murmured from the pillows: "Let's send him something and make him think it is from her. Then tell her, and she will be too proud to confess that it wasn't her selection."

"We'll do it," said Fay enthusiastically, "and now what shall it be?"

The product of their combined taste and genius went in a violet colored box by the next morning's mail, and when Arthur Moore opened it two days later he gasped.

"By Jove, the dear little girl" he said. "Look here, Richards!"

His classmate peered over his shoulder.

"Violets, ribbon tied; the ivory medallion of Browning you have been wanting and that exquisite verse of Mrs. Browning to cap it. She must be a clever girl, Arthur."

Arthur pondered.

"It's not for her cleverness that I love her, Richards," he said, "and, after all, I am not sure but that I like that little red heart best. Think of the work of her dear little fingers!"

And something of this he said in his second note.

"I can't understand what he means by two presents," Caroline said to Fay, and read what he had written.

Then Fay faltered out the story.

"We thought we would send him something artistic and tell you afterward," she said.

Caroline smiled at her pityingly.

"You see, you didn't know Arthur," she said. "He always likes things that I make."

"And, oh, girls, what do you think he said?" Fay asked the eager girls who clustered about her just as she was going to morning class.

"Tell us," they clamored.

Fay quoted glibly:

"'The violets are faded, and the medallion hangs over my desk, but close to my heart is the little red heart, the work of your own dear hands.'"

"Well, of all things," said Eloise and Beatrice, "such a man!" But Kitty, pretty Kitty, murmured, with all her dimples out:

"Roses red and violets blue,
My heart to you is ever true."

Although court plaster is useful in protecting small scratches or abrasions of the skin from harm, it should not be used over any considerable cut or wound in process of healing. This will heal much faster if simply covered with a bit of soft linen, held in place at the ends with strips of surgeon's plaster.

"JOHN BULL'S ELDEST"

JAP AUTHOR DRAWS SATIRIC PEN PICTURE OF CANADA.

Dominion Institutions, Customs and Characteristics Criticized in Humorous Vein—Says Canadians Are Negligent of Family Duties — Has Very Vast Estate—Does Not Notice Faults—Deficient in Imagination.

One of the results of the recent difficulty between Canada and Japan has been the publication of a Japanese book containing some rather curious observations, and reflections upon Canada and Canadian affairs. The book is entitled "John Bull's Eldest Born," and consists of a series of letters, addressed to an official of the Japanese Government, and purporting to be written by one of those young men Japan sends abroad to study conditions and customs in foreign lands.

In these letters the author gives us a satiric picture of Canada, its institutions, customs and characteristics. Sometimes the picture seems a bit overdrawn, and at others the satire seems rather obscure; but even when flagellating our most cherished illusions the author shows a spirit of such good humor, and withal so much friendliness and genuine admiration, that it is difficult to take umbrage. In any case these letters are not without interest as showing the impressions of a representative of a very old civilization, as well of a nation with which we are evidently destined to have large dealings in the future. A translation of the first letter, in which the writer, personifying Canada under the title of Mr. John Beaver, deals with certain aspects of our national character, etc., is given herewith:

To the Marquis Hashibito, at the Court of the Son of Heaven:—

Illustrious Masuro:

In pursuance with your august commands I set myself to the task of giving you some account of Mr. John Beaver, his household, and affairs, trusting that if my performance jump not with your expectations, your condescension will impute it, not to the insignificance of my intentions, nor any lack of zeal in commission, but to the meanness of my abilities. Know then, most honorable Lord, that I arrived in safety at Mr. Beaver's country, and was received with much ceremony and some pomp. Many of Mr. Beaver's household officers were on hand to greet me, and so great was their solicitude for my health, and so vigorous their efforts to acquaint themselves with my business, and facilitate me therein, that I was touched to a degree. But in time these ceremonies were over, and I was graciously given the freedom of their master's household, and here I have dwelt some space, making observation of many things, and reflecting deeply upon them.

As you have already heard, my Lord, Mr. Beaver owns a very vast estate, well diversified with wood and water; and upon it he grazes many cattle and raises much grain and other fruits of the field. Also of towns he owns not a few; and in these he has many people employed in diverse industries. Indeed, his estate is so vast, his enterprises so manifold, that no words of mine are big enough to describe them.

Also, I fear I will be able to give you but a very inadequate picture of Mr. Beaver himself, for his personality betakes of much of the indefiniteness and heterogenity of his possessions.

Imagine, then, a young man of some stature, ruddy of face, and sturdy of limb—a strong, ambitious, self-confident man, full of enterprise and energy, and withal as deliberate in his motions as a machine; and as tireless, in spite of his great wealth—or perhaps because of it—this young man is as industrious as a farmer, and in many respects as thrifty as a village merchant. A very glutton for work, and full of plans for the improvement of his estate, he is always busy—so busy, indeed, that he takes no time to cultivate the graces of life. In short the young man has all the virtues of his sire, our very good friend, Mr. John Bull—and, alas! none of the old gentleman's fine vices.

Mr. Bull, as you know, is a great worker and a fine business man; but also he is a man of some sentiment, and loves his hour of relaxation and social fellowship. When the toils of the day are over, he is not above resorting to the village ale-house and indulging in the delights of boon companionship. Open-hearted, free-handed, his temper mellowed by the years, he enjoys the convivial moment. None is fonder of the long and windy argument with his neighbors; and none can sing a lustier stave. And if sometimes the old gentleman gets in his cups and sets the neighborhood by the ears, yet, because of the greatness of his heart, he always retains the respect of the world. But young Mr. Beaver wastes not his time nor substance in the village tavern. All his thoughts are focussed upon the problem of making money, and ever more money, though to tell the truth he is not at all avaricious, for he does not seek money for itself but as a means of improving his estate. All day he rushes about as if possessed with a demon of energy, and in the evening he shuts himself in his office and labors over plans of new enterprises and improvements till the night is far spent. Indeed, the young man's love of work and lust of achievement has become a sort of besetting sin with him.

As you might imagine, Mr. Beaver, being thus absorbed in business affairs is often grossly negligent of his family duties. True, he keeps a good house and never stints his wife in money matters; but for all that his attitude to his wife and children leaves much to be desired. When he took unto himself his present wife she was a fine, pleasant-mannered young woman, famed for her industry and thrift and of good repute for virtue; though there were spiteful rivals who declared that she had previously compromised herself by an outrageous flirtation with Sammy Longshanks. But be that as it may, Mr. John was much enamored of her sunny ways, and her brilliant rendering of his favorite song Economy, and after a fervent courtship he made her mistress of his household, gave her a very liberal allowance, and then went back to his work.

At first the young wife took great interest in her household affairs, and labored hard and earnestly to keep things clean and bright, and never wasted a penny. But when she found that her husband was quite indifferent to her doings, she lost interest, and gradually fell from grace. Like many another young woman, brought up in a poor if honest family, and suddenly placed in control of a great house and much money, and left to her own devices, she couldn't withstand the insidious assaults of prosperity. Ere long she contracted a love of ease and luxury, and grew fond of extravagant display, splendid equipages, balls, masquerades, wine, graft and other unseemly things. Also, not finding in her husband the affection a young wife expects, she sought it elsewhere, and surrounded herself with a galaxy of gay young sparks. And so lightheartedly she pranced down the primrose path of dalliance, corrupting herself and all John's household, growing greedy of lewd gossip, and learning to cap the most lascivious tale with a fantastic invention of her own prurient imagination, showering John's money upon her favorites, becoming ever more free in her speech, and loose in her manners, till her conduct has become the scandal of the whole community.

But Mr. Beaver is still too absorbed in his businesses to notice any faults in his spouse, or the grave disorders brought upon his household by her grotesque extravagance and wantonness. And what is very strange even the very pointed hints of his neighbors, and especially of his sire, John Bull, do not seem to stir his suspicions. It would almost seem as if the young man thought so well of himself that it is quite impossible for him to imagine that he could make a mistake, in so simple a matter as that of choosing a wife. But be that as it may he affords another illustration of the truth of the saying that the husband is the last man in the neighborhood to know his own dishonor.

And if Mr. Beaver is an indifferent husband, he is also an unsatisfactory sort of father, for in his treatment of his sons he shows the same lack of sentiment. Although reputed to be wealthier in proportion to the size of his family than his neighbor, Sammy Longshanks, he does not spend on the education of one of his sons one-half what his neighbor does; and more than that, when he looks over his estates and thinks of the improvements he would like to make, he often grudges the money he does spend for this purpose. About the only way to induce him to make adequate provision for the education of his children is to persuade him that good schooling makes his sons better workers and money-getters.

Certainly the young man has little of that love of wisdom, per se, the ancients had. Self-made, and bumptiously satisfied with the results of his own work, he realizes not the limitations of his outlook upon life; and, finding in his business enterprises full play for his not very wide range of faculties, he looks with disapproval upon those of his sons who would grasp at new aspirations and larger ideals, and dare to imagine that the purpose of life might be more fully fulfilled by seeking to unfold and round out all their powers and faculties than by concentrating their thoughts and energies upon the business of making money. But what would you expect of a man so strong and domineering, so much in love with himself, and so full of the pride of possession? Quite naturally he expects his sons to trim themselves to his own peculiar pattern, and follow in his well-proved, if austere and colorless way of life; and naturally, too, he regards with the resentment always felt towards the incomprehensible those who cannot or will not adapt themselves to his rigid moulds, and, as it were, would set themselves up to be better than the old man. To the former he is not lacking in consideration; when he thinks about it he sets them up in life, though less as matter of sentiment than of business—much as he might, for instance, set up a new barn for his cattle. But for the latter he has only a harsh countenance or good-natured contempt; and as you may readily imagine many of them run away from home at the first opportunity. Indeed, the man's capacity for alienating the affections of his sons is so great that nearly one-half of them have left him to take service with their Uncle Sam.

But happily for his peace of mind Mr. Beaver is too deficient in imagination to ever arrive at the idea that the desertion of his sons might be a reflection upon himself as a parent; and he is too deficient in sentiment to worry over his loss. In the smug complacency born of the contemplation of his own distinguished virtues, he dismisses his truant sons from his thoughts, and sends forth and brings in a lot of foreigners, and puts them to work on his farms and in his workshops, and rubs his hands as if he had done a great stroke of business. "If I kept these addle-pated sons of mine at home," he growls, "they would only idle their time and dream dreams and see visions, and worry one with demands for interpretations thereof. Let their Uncle Sam take them if he can make use of them; and good riddance of bad rubbish, say I. These foreigners will serve my turn. They'll work hard, want little, and never trouble with silly questionings. I'm a business man first, last and all the time; and there's no sentiment in business. If my sons are not satisfied with being treated on business principles I can get lots of hired men."

But of Mr. Beaver and his business-is-business philosophy, and the strange things that have come to pass because of his practice of it, I shall have more to say anon. In the meantime, most worshipful master of the multitude, accept by these presents my humble and heartfelt felicitations. May your ancestors fill one-half of heaven, and your posterity crowd the other half.

(Signed), COUNT IKKIDIU.

IMPRISONED IN THE SEA.

Cases of Living Men Entombed in Sunken Ships.

A striking example of one among the many strange accidents that befall sailors was reported the other day from Newcastle, N. S. W.

The barkentine Kate Tatham turned turtle in a gale, and one of her crew was shut up in her hold. The survivors, who had climbed on her keel as she heeled over, naturally took it for granted that he was drowned. What was their surprise, therefore, to presently hear faint knockings from beneath their feet, evidently made by their imprisoned comrade.

Help was at hand, and a hole was cut through the ship's bottom, when the man was hauled out, little the worse for his terrible experience. He had, it appeared, been kept alive by the air which had been imprisoned in the hull when the vessel capsized and, which, becoming compressed as the water rose, had eventually stopped its further encroachment. He had used a balk of floating timber to support himself.

His imprisonment lasted for two hours, and in the cabled reports sent to England the incident is characterized as unparalleled. This, however, is by no means correct. There are several cases on record of men having lived in similar circumstances in the hulks of capsized ships not hours only, but days, the most remarkable authenticated instance being that of Captain Engallandt of the Erndte, who was rescued alive ofter an entombment lasting altogether eleven days and eighteen hours.

During this period the derelict, drifting bottom uppermost, was sighted by the masters of several vessels, all of whom, however, passed nonchalantly by, none imagining for a moment that the semisubmerged and capsized hulk contained, shut up in its vitals, a living man.

Eventually the Erndte drifted ashore near Dantzic, and Captain Engallandt was taken out alive, although greatly emaciated.—Pearson's Weekly.

London's Public Places.

There are fifty-six theaters in London, of which eleven are licensed by the county council, and two, Covent Garden and Drury Lane, have letters patent. London also possesses forty-eight music halls, twenty of which have no licenses for sale of intoxicants. Altogether there are 848 places licensed for public entertainment. This number includes art galleries, mission halls, hotels, polytechnics, public baths and skating rinks.

London's thirst is looked after by 4,988 public houses. In addition there are 278 hotels and restaurants, of which 105 naturally are found in the west end and sixty-two in the city. There are 1986 beer houses and 2,708 off licensed premises. Altogether there are over 10,000 separate premises licensed for the sale of intoxicants.

Appetites of Woodsmen.

Here are some figures from a lumber camp up in Greenwood which give an idea as to the appetites of husky woodsmen. There are thirty-five men in this crew, and the cook reports that he makes each day 300 large biscuits, 150 doughnuts, 30 pies, bakes 6 quarts of dry beans, with potatoes, vegetables, etc., in proportion. A large beef creature is eaten every five days. There is something to be explained in that item of thirty-six pies daily for thirty-five men. Probably the boss gets the extra one.—Kennebec Journal.

Words Men of Science Use.

In the columns of the London Times a dispute continues to be waged stoutly in regard to the language commonly used by men of science. The chief point insisted upon is that there is not in science any truth so abstract that it cannot be expressed in plain and clear English. The man of science who takes refuge in technical terms, such as zygotes and gametes, sporozoicites and gametocytes, is, the correspondents allege, really confessing to a lack of education.

Coffee in France.

Dr. Fernet, an eminent French physician, is quoted by the British Medical Journal as an authority for the statement that the use of coffee has increased in France to such an extent that it is now common for the people of that country to drink a quart or more of a decoction of coffee daily. The habit is especially common among laboring women, great numbers of whom are received at the hospitals for treatment for disorders solely attributable to it.

Effect of the Big Guns.

Considerable damage has been done at Dover, England, by the firing of the heavy guns from the forts which have been erected to protect the national harbor. The town crier was sent around the town to advise the inhabitants to leave their windows open, but upon the firing of the nine inch guns the vibration was so great that in many cases portions of the ceiling fell, many ornaments were knocked down and broken and windows were cracked.

"AS GOOD AS DEAD."

Heart Disease that Baffled the Cleverest Physicians Gives Up the Fight—Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart Wins Again.

It isn't a bit of boast to say that Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart works miracles every day. A Toronto lady, living on Queen street west, was given by her doctor "till morning at most to live," and when the life cord seemed just about to snap this great remedy was suggested as a last resort—and it saved the life—stopped the pain inside of 30 minutes, and today she is enjoying excellent health free from all heart suffering. CHURCH TIME.

Quaint Ways of the Early Dutch Settlers in the New World.

As early as 1659 the Dutch settlers at Kingston, N. Y., erected with their own hands a little church building and dedicated it the following year. When a regular minister arrived from Holland the same year, writes Mrs. Nellie Urner Wallington in "Historic Churches of America," he found himself a dominie with a membership of but sixteen souls and a salary paid in wheat, which was then legal tender among these humble tillers of the soil.

In 1694 a bell was imported and gave such pleasure to the members of the little parish that they used it to announce the hours for meals for the farmers of the neighborhood.

The observance of one quaint custom was reminiscent of their former life in Holland—the announcement by the gray haired sexton between the ringing of the first and last church bells that the hour for service had arrived.

From door to door he traveled, rapped loudly and cried, "Church time!"

Notices of all kinds, whether of funerals, christenings, weddings or merrymakings, were handed first to the sexton, who in turn gave them to the clerk, who stuck them on the end of the bamboo pole which he kept for that purpose and reached them up to the dominie.

At the termination of the service, as in other Dutch churches, the deacons took up the collection with long poles having little velvet bags hung on the ends and a tinkling bell to wake the sleepers to the responsibilities of a contribution.

THE DUCK SHOVER.

A Man Who Gets Things on the Bounce and the Nod.

An amusing dialogue occurred between Judge Willis, K. C., and a plaintiff who sued a man for the value of a quantity of grain supplied.

His honor said he had received a letter from the defendant, who said he could offer only half a crown a month. "That," continued his honor, "will take six years to get rid of the debt."

Plaintiff (emphatically)—I would willingly forgive a poor man, but when you find he is a "swanker" and doing every one in the neighborhood it puts your back up. [Laughter.] We have to cut things very fine in order to get a shilling or two, and then these gentry come "swanking" about the country as if they were toffs. I am told by others that he is nothing more than a "duck shover." [Laughter.]

His Honor—A what shover? [Loud laughter.]

Plaintiff—Duck shover, your honor, a man who gets things on the bounce and the nod. [Renewed laughter.]

His Honor—You mean a man who gets people to let him have things on credit by representations that are not correct? Is that what you mean to convey by your big phrases—duck shover and so forth? [Laughter.]

Plaintiff—That's it—duck shover and swanker. [Renewed laughter.]

An order to pay 5 shillings monthly was made.—London News.

For Husbands.

A clergyman took down a small volume.

"This is called," he said, "the 'Instructions of Ptah-ho-Tep.' It is one of the very oldest papyrus writings known. It gives among other things advice to husbands, and that advice is as good today is it ever was. Listen."

And he read:

"'If thou be wise, furnish thy house well.

"'Woo thy wife ever, and never quarrel with her.

"'Nourish her daintily.

"'Deck her out, for fine dress is her greatest delight.

"'Feed her upon sweets.

"'Perfume her.

"'Make her glad with praise.

"'Adorn her with jewels, feathers and the skins of beasts as sumptuously as thy purse will suffer.'"

How Much He Thought About Her.

They were on their way to the theater, and she was tremulously happy. She felt that the words she longed to hear would be spoken that night, and the idea made her almost dizzy with delight.

"Mr. Sampson," she said softly, "why do you wear that bit of string upon your finger?"

"Oh," replied Mr. Sampson, taking it off, "that was to remind me of my engagement with you tonight."

It wasn't much, but it was enough to take away the delightful dizziness.—London Chronicle.

The First Advertiser.

"I wonder," he murmured, "who could have been the first manufacturer to advertise. It is an item that would fit in well here."

"There is no extant data on the subject," said the farmer, "but I have every reason to believe that the hen is the person you are looking for."

The World Goes On.

We all imagine that our work is important and that no one can do it as well as we do, but the world has been constantly improving in spite of the fact that every man dies at the end of a short time.

An Expensive Commission.

The public service commission of New York city will require $1,005,000 for its expenses during this year. Eight hundred and fifty thousand dollars of this will be for salaries, $50,000 for rentals and telephones, $25,000 for employees and counsel, $100,000 for contingencies, rapid transit studies, special services and investigations. The remainder is wanted for supplies, instruments, maps, prints and advertising.—New York Herald.

A GOOD NAME

EVERY one desires to establish for himself a good name, but it takes time to win the confidence of your fellow men. Truth and perseverance are the alternate rungs on the ladder of success, and he who reaches the top must make no false step.

There are hundreds of cough medicines with all sorts of names, each claiming to be the best, but the test of time will prove whether or not they have established the right to be called the best.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has had thirty-five years of sale and use, and has cured coughs and colds under all conditions, in all countries and climates, and the verdict today is that it has no equal.

Careful selection of the drugs, intelligent and skillful compounding, the entire absence of opium, chloroform, or any other harmful ingredient, and the absolute purity of every article that goes into its composition, has built up and sustained its good name.

These are the things you should remember, and the next time you want a cough medicine, it is worth while to see that you get Chamberlain's and secure the virtues which a good name implies.

Every dealer who sells a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy guarantees it to give satisfaction or he will refund the money.

Price, 25c. Large size, 50c.

ENGLISH RED TAPE.

War Office Methods and the Test of a Mountain Gun.

The story that a gun of marvelous possibilities invented in England may be sold abroad owing to the apathy of the powers that be is not altogether surprising.

Whitworth refused Napoleon III.'s offer of $50,000 a year for life to go to Paris and manufacture his cannon for the French army, but perhaps our war office was not so faddy then as now.

Some little time ago a new gun for hill fighting was offered and was sent out to India to be tried. It was dragged up steep hills, rushed down rocky defiles, left for a week at a time in mountain torrents—in fact, submitted to all the tests which a veteran officer accustomed to war with the hill tribes could suggest.

The report was satisfactory in every respect, but a war office genius blandly asked if the gun had been dropped down a precipice. It had not.

The war office was horrified and amazed at the neglect of so elementary a test. The gun was now dropped down a precipice with the inevitable result—its internals were irremediably damaged.

How was it possible, the war office asked, to accept such a weapon? And the army of India was left to potter along with obsolete weapons because this new arm would not stand impossible tests.—London Sketch.

AWAY BELOW ZERO.

The Awful Cold That Comes With Eighty Degrees of Frost.

It is difficult to form any conception of the degree of cold represented by 80 degrees of frost that at times prevails in certain parts of Russia. Sir Leopold McClintock tells us how in one of his arctic expeditions a sailor was foolish enough to do some outdoor work at precisely this temperature. His hands froze, and when he rushed into the cabin and plunged one of them into a basin of water so cold was the hand that the water was instantly converted into a block of ice.

At 25 degrees, Dr. Kane says, "the mustache and underlip form pendulous beads of dangling ice. Put out your tongue, and it instantly freezes to this icy crusting. Your chin has a trick of freezing to your upper jaw by the happy aid of your beard. My eyes have often been so glued as to show that even a wink was unsafe."

During a theatrical performance given by the crew of his ship at an inside temperature of 30 degrees "the condensation was so excessive that we could barely see the performers. Their hands steamed. When an excited Thespian took off his coat it smoked like a dish of potatoes. Any extra vehemence of delivery was accompanied by volumes of smoke."

A Wrong Diagnosis.

The small boy with the big bundle of papers was observed to be moistening some of his stock in the street fountain.

"Ah, my lad," said a benevolent old gentleman, "it does me good to see such an illustration of cleanliness."

"What do yer mean, boss?" asked the boy as he stared up in wonder.

"Why, aren't you trying to wash the mud spots off the edge of your papers?"

"No, boss; you are way off. You see, some of dese papers is two weeks old, an' if I dampen 'em up a bit people will think they are just from de press an' never think of lookin' at de date. Good graft, old sport! Say, some day when I am a captain of industry I'll give you a job."

But the benevolent old gentleman had died.

The Order of St. Patrick.

The "most illustrious Order of St. Patrick" dates only from 1783, says a London writer, when it was founded by George III., and is not to be compared in age with "the most ancient and most noble Order of the Thistle," which, dating from a remote antiquity, was revived by James II, in 1687. The curious thing about the bands, or ribbons, of these two orders is that St. Patrick's is blue of the hue that may be seen in the "hackles," or plumes, in the bearskins of the Irish guards, though it suggests the blue bells of Scotland, while the sash of the thistle is a dark green, suggestive of Erin's verdant isle. On state ceremonies these two orders are frequently confounded.

LAST WORDS.

Thoughts That Marked the Passing of Some Noted Men.

There is a collection of "last words" of celebrated men which contains many beautiful and startling phrases. Whether they were really uttered by the men to whom they have been credited, says the Berliner Post, is another matter. "Thus the words of Augustus, 'The comedy is at an end—did I play my part well?' are known to nearly every reader. The collection of last words of great physicians published by 'The British Medical Journal' gives Haller credit for saying, 'The artery beats—it beats no more,' and says of Nothnagel that he wrote: 'The night of July 6, after a violent attack of angina pectoris, * * * I will die of arterial calcination.' Cooper, Bright and Brodie died with blessings upon their lips, and Darwin, looking death calmly in the face, said, 'I really do not fear death.' Locolz's last words were flippant: 'Au revoir, gentlemen: At the autopsy we will meet again.' None of these classic sentences, however, impress one so much as did the words of one of the few mortals who to our knowledge went into the unknown with minds undimmed. He was an old man who had lived a good and full life. With his last breath he said: 'It is not yet time. I want to stay'—that was the voice of nature."

The Next Duty.

"What is my next duty? What is the thing that lies nearest to me?"

"That belongs to your everyday history. No one can answer that question but yourself. Your next duty is just to determine what your next duty is. Is there nothing you neglect? Is there nothing you know you ought not to do? You would know your duty if you thought in earnest about it and were not ambitious of great things."

"Ah, then," responded she, "I suppose it is something very commonplace, which will make life more dreary than ever. That cannot help me."

"It will if it be as dreary as reading the newspapers to an old deaf aunt. It will soon lead you to something more. Your duty will begin to comfort you at once, but will at length open the unknown fountain of life in your heart."—George Macdonald.

He Drew.

A very pretty girl had a bashful artist for a sweetheart, but he would never come to the point. One night after he had made a desperate attempt to test her feelings she looked at him in a very significant way.

"What do you mean by that?" he asked, with a startled look.

"Do you profess to be an artist?" she replied evasively.

"Yes."

"Do you think you are a good one?"

"I flatter myself that I am."

"Well, I don't think so."

"Why not?"

"Because you cannot even draw an inference."

He did, though, and now they draw conclusions.

Victims of Heredity.

It has been shown that criminal tendencies depend on heredity and social and physiological circumstances. The most important of these is heredity. Just as no amount of ambition will enable a man to write a Shakespearean drama if he have not the talent, so it is preposterous to expect in a child of vicious parents, brought up among vicious surroundings, that moral tone which would characterize the finest type of humankind.—Strand Magazine.

Precious Models.

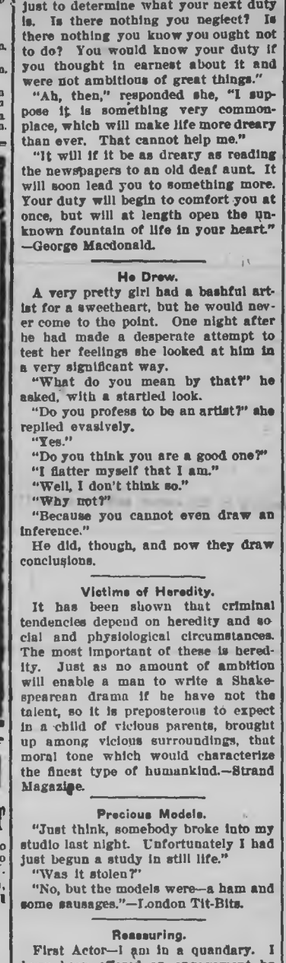
"Just think, somebody broke into my studio last night. Unfortunately I had just begun a study in still life."

"Was it stolen?"

"No, but the models were—a ham and some sausages."—London Tit-Bits.

Reassuring.

First Actor—I am in a quandary. I have been offered an engagement by two managers, and I don't know how to act. Second Actor—Well, don't worry. They'll soon find it out.



The Colored Neglige Shirt is the popular shirt to-day.

A short time ago neglige shirts were worn only in summer.

Now the best dressed men wear them all the year round.

They find them much more comfortable for daily use, than a stiff-bosomed shirt.

Not only are they more comfortable, but they wear longer, because they make fewer trips to the laundry.

It is not the use of a shirt that wears it out it's the laundry that does it

DREAM FOOD.

Hasheesh, the Strange Drug That is Used in the Orient.

Hasheesh, that strange drug which has given our language its word "assassin"—a man so frenzied by the drug that he accomplishes murder—is used by the Persians, Turks and Egyptians in a manner akin to the use of opium by the Chinese. It is the product of a plant grown in large quantities in the Peloponnesus (southern Greece) in the district about Tripolitza. The plant grows to a height of about four feet, and its branches are thickly covered with small leaves and studded with tiny seeds.

The entire plant, stalk and branches, is cut within a few inches of the root and laid out in the sun to dry. The branches are then rubbed to separate the seeds, and these in turn are ground into a fine powder, which constitutes the drug. The drug has the power of inducing sleep and producing pleasant and fantastic dreams. Continued use of hasheesh renders its devotees wild and reckless and results in a complete wreck of their mental and physical constitution.

For this reason the Egyptian government prohibited the importation of the drug and entered into a convention with Greece to prevent its exportation from there to Egypt, where the consumers of hasheesh are very numerous. The drug is practically never used in Greece, but is now exported to the various ports in England, Austria, France and Italy, and from there much, no doubt, ultimately finds its way to Egypt.

BRIGHT SAYINGS.

A Little Batch of Stories Related by an Englishman.

The sultan of Turkey had sent the queen of Spain a diamond bracelet. She had the stones reset in earrings and called the fact to the attention of Fuad Pasha, the Turkish envoy.

"His majesty," replied Fuad, "will be delighted that your majesty gives an ear to what comes from Constantinople."

To the same Fuad an Englishwoman impolitely said, "How many wives have you?"

"The same number as your husband, madam," said the wily Turk. "The only difference is that he conceals one of his and I do not."

When Robert Lowe married and said, "With all my worldly goods I thee endow," he grumbled to his wife afterward, "And at the time I hadn't a brass farthing."

"Oh, but, my dear, you forget there is your genius."

Lowe replied, "Well, you cannot say I endowed you with that."

In a much older story Frederick the Great is represented as saying angrily to the English ambassador of the day, "England is now without an ally upon the continent except God."

Sir Hugh Elliott instantly replied, "Yes, sire, but God is an ally that demands no subsidy."—From "Rambling Reminiscences," by Sir Henry Drummond Wolff.

What Might Have Been.

Lord Rosebery in an address at Glasgow university some years ago gave utterance to the following interesting speculation:

"Had the elder Pitt when he became prime minister not left the house of commons he could doubtless have induced George III. to listen to reason, introduced American representation into parliament and preserved the thirteen colonies to England. The new blood of America would have burst the old vessels of the constitution and provided a self adjusting system of representation. There would have been no war of separation, no war of 1812, and finally, when the Americans became a majority, the empire would perhaps have moved solemnly across the Atlantic and Britain become a historic shrine, the European outpost of the empire."

GOOD TASTE IN DRESS.

Particular Attention Paid to Shoes and Gloves.

If you would dress in good taste, pay particular attention to shoes, gloves and veils, to nicety in the matter of neckwear and to trifles that give pretty finishing touches to a plain costume.

The woman who is dressed in good taste is not always the one who spends the most on her clothes, but rather the one who can afford so few frocks that she sticks to plain modes and colors best suited to her.

The woman who will give a little thought to the matter of dress manages to spend less money and get better results and service than the careless, indifferent woman who is content to wear "just anything."

A woman's gown is one of the indexes to her character. If for no other reason, it should merit careful consideration.

Some women always dress loudly, always wear the extremes of fashion and even exaggerate extremes.

If checked cloth, pointed shoes, short skirts or long coats are in style, they insist on broader checks, more pointed shoes, shorter skirts and longer coats than the fashion prescribes.

In other words, everything is exaggerated, so that people will think that they are not only right up to fashion, but also a little ahead.

Women who dress in this manner suffer because such things indicate certain character qualities—inordinate vanity, an overestimation of one's importance, superficiality, foolishness.

Character is estimated by little things, and when people seem to spend most of their energies in thinking about themselves it is taken for granted that they are not much good for the solid, substantial things of life.

People who are given to thinking too much of themselves always think too little of others.

They are proverbially selfish, and selfishness is instinctively despised by every one.

WET WEATHER SHOE.

Flap Prevents Melted Snow Entering Interior of Shoe.

A good idea in storm boots is shown in the accompanying illustration. As every one knows, the fault with so called storm boots is that, although they protect the feet from cold, they do not prevent snow and slush from entering the interstices formed by the lacing. In a short time the snow is melted by contact with the foot, and the resultant water finds its way down to the stocking. In the shoe shown here this objection is overcome by providing a flap which overlaps the lacing and clamps on the side of the shoe. It will be obvious that it would be impossible for melted snow to work into the interior of a shoe provided with such a covering. The snow that adheres to the fastening would melt and drop down the side of the boot.

The Box Couch.

The box couch has long ago proved its convenience. Either as an emergency bed or clothespress it has no equal—indeed, it is a piece of furniture that few housekeepers can dispense with.

As absolute perfection is not yet come to earth, the box couch is not exempt from flaws. About the only serious one, however, is the persistency with which dust will sift inside, no matter how closely shut is the lid.

One clever woman has overcome this so much to her own satisfaction that her remedy is worth trying.

Over the lining she tacked white kitchen tablecloth, with the shining side turned in. A strip about two inches wide was also fastened all around the edge, so that when the lid was down it acted as a close flap over the opening.

The bottom of the box was then lined with a heavy yellow paper, which may be easily removed and freshened.

These simple precautions are marvelous dust deflers and make it possible to use the couch to hold gowns or even white waists without their being wrapped, as was formerly necessary.

Mrs. Palmer Now Collects Coins.

Coins, medals and clasps with "associations" attached are being sought by Mrs. Potter Palmer, for "once a collector, always a collector." She has gathered old French furniture for years, and her collection makes beholders envious. She has turned to porcelains, and many of her treasures are precious enough to break other collectors' hearts. Her London house is filled with rolls of tapestry, statuettes and pictures, some of which have not been taken out of their wrappings since she bought them. It probably is a satisfaction to her to know other art collectors didn't get them and won't as long as her money lasts.

That Tired Feeling

Mr. F. H. Leard, Saskatoon, Sask., writes: "I have used Burdock Blood Bitters as a blood builder and think it is an excellent remedy. Everyone should take it in the spring to cure that tired feeling that comes to so many at this time of the year."

The Best Spring Medicine

Indigestion in Spring

Miss B. Bradley, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "Last April I used three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters, as I had indigestion and very thin blood, I tried everything before taking the B.B.B. which I think is an excellent spring tonic."

LAW AND LITERATURE.

Writers Who Might Have Won Reputation at the Bar.

The old connection between law and literature was strengthened by the late Sir Lewis Morris, who practiced as a conveyancer in Lincoln's Inn while he was establishing his reputation as a poet. There have been several poets who have abandoned the steep places of the bar for the slopes of Parnassus, but the late Sir Lewis Morris is the only poet of repute who has found the tasks of conveyancer not incompatible with the cultivation of the muse. R. D. Blackmore, the author of "Lorna Doone," practiced as a conveyancer for several years. Sir Walter Scott, speaking of himself and law, said, "There was no great love between us, and it pleased heaven to decrease it on further acquaintance." Most of the poets who have sprung from the legal profession appear to have entertained the same unfavorable view. Cowper, who was a fellow pupil of Lord Thurlow in an attorney's office, was called to the bar at the Middle Temple, but he quickly yielded himself to the charms of literature. Denham was a member of Lincoln's Inn, and Thomas Gray, the author of the famous "Elegy Written In a Country Churchyard," studied for the bar, but neither of these got beyond the apprenticeship stage. Barry Cornwall was a solicitor.

A HOMESICK PIONEER.

Poetic Plaint of One of the Early Settlers in Missouri.

In wonder the people of today read of the persistent cheerfulness with which the pioneers went about the business of settling the great west. Nevertheless it somehow gratifies the weakness of human nature to know that there was now and then a wearer of the deerskin leggings and coonskin cap who grumbled.

One early settler who went from a snug New England village to the fever haunted prairies along the Missouri was moved to put his complaints into rhymes, one of which has survived and is now carefully preserved by the descendants of the early settler, who live surrounded by the peaceful prosperity and comfort of a Missouri farm right in the heart of the anathematized prairie:

Oh, lonesome, windy, grassy place,
Where buffalo and snake prevail—
The first with dreadful looking face,
The last with dreadful sounding tail—
I'd rather live on camel hump
And be a Yankee Doodle beggar
Than where I never see a stump
And shake to death with fever'n ager.

Judging from the last line, one might conclude that an acute attack of "ager" had suddenly prevented him from continuing.

Pie in England.

Pie came to the fore in England many centuries ago. It originated in the form of mince pie and was used in the celebration of Christmas. In its primitive stage it was baked in a deep sided dish, lined and covered with rolled out dough. The filling was of forcemeats, richly sweetened and spiced. This spicing and flavoring stood for the presents which the wise men bore to the Christ in the manger. For years and years this custom of having the Christmas minee pie prevailed, but finally it was denounced far and wide by the Puritans as a form of idolatry, and the government after parliament had suppressed the celebration of the birth of Christ took steps to stop the baking and eating of the mince pie. Eventually saner reasoning led to the taking off of the ban, and the pie eating custom was renewed.—London Standard.

Firm Resolution.

Dave Saddler was a brave Confederate soldier who was in the hospital at Richmond and who, in spite of his sufferings, always took a cheerful view of the situation. One day when he was recovering a visiting minister approached his cot and tendered him a pair of homemade socks.

"Accept these," said he. "I only wish the dear woman who knit them could present them to you in person."

"Thank you very much," said David gravely. "But I have decided that I never shall wear another pair of socks while I live."

The preacher protested, but to no purpose, and finally he sought out the boy's sister to tell her how foolishly the invalid had behaved.

"Why," exclaimed she, "both his feet have been shot off."

Toronto Minister Gets New Material For Making His Sermons.

A new and ingenious idea has found its way into the pulpit in Toronto. As practiced so far it has been a phenomenal success not only in the harvest of spiritual benefits but in the attraction of large congregations. The scheme is so simple. The rector announces that he will discuss the foibles of the sex. First it is the feminine. Then it is the male. He proposes to do it with the help of those who suffer from the foibles. He announces that he will receive anonymous information from any wife who chooses to write down the defects of her lord, and then he marshals the grand array of accusations thus obtained into one comprehensive and telling lecture to man on his behavior. He goes about the lesson for the softer sex in just the same way.

It's great. The good wife writes down what she doesn't like about her husband's antics and sends the letter unsigned to the pastor, thus having the faults complained of held up to all who have ears to hear. Nobody knows but she just who is the delinquent, except that the delinquent probably hears later on what the man in the pulpit has said about him and his wicked ways. In the same way the suffering husband is given an opportunity to obtain a general condemnation of a particular case. Already the list of things charged up to wives by their husbands by this process has grown to alarming proportions, and is matched only by what the wives have to say about their natural protectors.

As to these latter, they are bullies, gruff, selfish, conceited, pool players, smokers, drinkers, things without backbone, neglectful, flirts, and they don't tell things to their wives. Every known form of male and female frailty has found its way into the list direct or by suggestion. Of course, the material furnished is enough for a sermon or for many sermons. The husband or the wife, having written a letter with its invoice of faults, goes to church to hear it read, and takes the offender along. It means a church jammed to the doors every time, and each Sunday provides material to keep the congregation guessing all week. "Tell your troubles to the policeman" is no longer the standard remedy in Toronto. It is "write to the minister." It is a much better remedy, because it not only helps the patient and reforms the delinquent, it also helps the doctor.

THE "HUNGRY YEAR."

People Who Came to Canada Died For Want of Food.

The suffering and privation of some of the newly-arrived emigrants to our country recall the traditions of the "hungry year," handed down to us from past generations. In 1788, only a few years after a number of United Empire Loyalist families had settled in the Bay of Quinte district and a few farther west in the county of Northumberland, the crops failed altogether, and the winter that followed was most inclement and severe. The snow was unusually deep, and the deer, upon which the settlers depended largely for meat, became thereby an easy prey to their rapacious enemies, the wolves, while men were perishing with hunger.

The late Henry Ruttan, a gentleman for years prominently known, in an address delivered before the Agricultural Association at Kingston in 1846, alluded as follows to this trying time: "A great scarcity of provisions prevailed for two or three years consecutively, in consequence of failure in the crops, and what brought on the famine or scarce year was the almost entire destruction of the deer by wolves. The snow lay upon the ground from December until April at a depth of from four to five feet. In the month of February of the last of these years a gentleman whom I knew intimately sent all the way to Albany, in the State of New York, a distance of more than two hundred miles, for four bushels of Indian corn, and this was brought all that distance by two men on snowshoes. It took them some time to accomplish the journey, and a part of the corn was necessarily consumed by the men on the return trip. The residue of this precious cargo was pounded into meal in the hollow stump of a tree, and formed a staple article of food for the family."

The Stone of Destiny.

"The Stone of Scone was a sort of seat, wasn't it?" asked the smatterer.

"Yes," replied the student, "a sort of a rock-in-chair."—Kansas City Times.

Ex-Premier of England Expresses Views on Decay of Nations.

Decadence was the subject of the Henry Sidgwick memorial lecture delivered by Mr. Balfour at Newnham College, Cambridge (Eng.), recently, and on which the ex-Premier made some significant remarks.

"Why should civilizations wear out and great communities decay, and what evidence was there that in fact they did?" he asked. Though antiquity, pagan and Christian, took a different view, it seemed easier to understand progress than decadence.

Decadence was always complicated with and often acted through other more obvious causes. It was in vain that historians enumerated the public calamities which preceded and no doubt contributed to final catastrophes.

We felt that some of those diseases were of a kind which a vigorous body politic should easily be able to survive, that others were secondary symptoms of some obscurer malady, and that in neither case did they supply us with the full explanations of which we were in search.

"Consider, for instance," he went on, "the long agony and final destruction of Roman imperialism in the west, the most momentous catastrophe of which we had historic record."

Rome fell, and great was the fall of it. But why it fell, by what secret mines its defences were breached, and what made its garrison so faint-hearted and ineffectual—that was not so clear. What grounds were there for supposing that we could escape the fate to which other races had had to submit. If civilizations wore out and races became effete, why should we expect to progress indefinitely? Why, for us alone, was the doom of man to be reversed? To those questions he had no very satisfactory answers to give.

A new social force had come into being. If in the last hundred years the whole material setting of civilized life had altered, we owed it neither to politicians nor to political institutions; we owed it to the combined efforts of those who had advanced science and those who had applied it. Scicial change, all the greater because its object was not change, but knowledge, and its silent appropriation of this dominant function amid the din of political and religious strife was the most vital of all the revolutions which had marked the development of modern civilization.

Referring to democracy, he said it was an excellent thing, but though quite consistent with progress, it was not progressive. Its value was regulative, not dynamic; and if it meant, as it never did, social uniformity, instead of legal equality, we should become fossilized at once. Movement might be controlled or checked by the many; it was initiated and made effective by the few.

"The conclusions at which I provisionally arrive," added Mr. Balfour, "are that we cannot regard decadance and arrested development as less normal in human communities than progress; that the internal causes by which progress is encouraged, hindered or reversed lie to a great extent beyond the field of ordinary political discussion, and are not easily expressed in current political terminology; that the influence which a superior civilization, whether acting by example or imposed by force, may have in advancing an inferior one, though often beneficent, is not likely to be self-supporting—its withdrawal will be followed by decadence, unless the character of the civilization be in harmony both with the acquired temperament and the innate capacities of those who have been induced to accept it; that as regards those nations which still advance in virtue of their own inherent energies, though time has brought perhaps new causes of disquiet, it has brought also new grounds of hope; and that whatever be the perils in front of us there are so far no symptoms either of pause or of regression in the onward movement which for more than a thousand years has been characteristic of western civilization."

Busy and Beautiful.

It is interesting to know that it is possible for a city of 280,000 inhabitants, and mostly factory employees, to be free from dirt and noise. This is the case with the Japanese town of Nagoya, says A. H. Edwards, the author of "Kakemono." It is a town full of porcelain and fan factories, cloisonne works and cotton mills. The gateway of the cloisonne works leads down a wooden passage into a tiny court—a garden set round with the workshops of the factory. It is not larger than the front lawn of a suburban house, but the skill of a Japanese gardener has planted a whole mountain side with forests of pine and bamboo, has spanned with an arching bridge the stone gray stream at the mountain's foot. From inside the tiny matted rooms, no bigger than bathing boxes, which shut in three sides of the garden, the illusion is complete. And the shade and coolness of the imaginary forest and stream bring a sense of calmness and repose, of quiet peace and beauty, to all the many workers of the factory. It is a living landscape growing unspoiled in the heart of a workshop in the center of a manufacturing city. It is a town of sunny streets and pure, fresh air, whose trees are green.

Does Like Like Like?

They were at supper. During the meal the young man with the voracious appetite discoursed eloquently on things in general.

"Do you know, Miss Dash," he remarked, "I think there is a very intimate relation between our food and our character. I believe, don't you know, that we grow like what we are most fond of."

The fair girl smiled sweetly.

"How interesting!" she murmured. "May I offer you some more ham, Mr. Blank?"

She stretched her hand out to take a chocolate cream, but he removed the tray and passed her the acidulated tablets.—London Tit-Bits.

Do not neglect to keep your boots polished. You can always shine at one end if you cannot at the other.

The First Coffee.

The Dundee Advertiser tells the following story of the discovery of coffee as a beverage: "Near the middle of the fifteenth century a poor Arab was traveling through Abyssinia, and, finding himself weary and weak from fatigue, he stopped near a grove; then, being in want of fuel to cook his rice, he cut down a tree, which happened to be covered with dead berries. His meal being cooked and eaten, the traveler discovered that the half-burned berries were very fragrant. He collected a number of them, and, on crushing them with a stone, he found that their aroma increased to a great extent. While wondering at this he accidentally let fall the substance into the can which contained his scanty supply of water—lo! what a miracle. The nearly putrid water was almost instantly purified. He raised it to his lips; it was fresh, agreeable, and in a moment the traveler had so far recovered his strength and energy as to be able to resume his journey. The lucky Arab gathered as many berries as he could, and, having arrived at Aden, in Arabia, he informed the mufti of his discovery. That worthy divine was an inveterate opium smoker, and had suffered for years from the influence of that poisonous drug. He tried an infusion of the roasted berries and was so delighted at the recovery of his own vigor that in gratitude to the tree he called it cahuah, which in Arabia signifies 'force.'"

A White Rainbow.

A correspondent of The Standard, writing recently from Devises, says: "At about 11 o'clock on Sunday morning, in bright sunshine, and an almost clear sky, I saw what I can only describe as a white rainbow. Straight opposite the sun was a perfect arch which appeared to be composed of thin, white cloud, but showed, though faintly, the prismatic colors. I can only suppose that it was due to the sun's rays shining upon very minute particles of moisture suspended in the air. The bow was visible for considerably over an hour

Treed by Wolves.

From dusk to dawn, with the thermometer below zero, clinging to a slim tree, while a pack of 20 ravenous timber wolves kept up an incessant chorus beneath, was the recent fate of Tom and Patrick Murphy, two trappers, in Silver Mountains. They started off into the woods, and before they had gone far they heard the baying of wolves, which gradually became more distinct. They thought but little of the matter until they realized that the wolves were on their tracks, following them at a good speed, but two shots failed to scare off the leaders, so the Murphys got into a tree just in time, as the leaders made a snap at them. In their hurry to reach safety Tom tore off a portion of his clothing and, without food or overcoats, the men were kept in the tree all night.

When morning came, the wolves scattered out of sight, but the men managed to pick off nine of them, for which they collected $135 in bounty.

The Honor of an Indian.

It is for you to show in your own lives that the honor of an Indian is not for sale, the word of an Indian something more than an empty form of speech; that you care for your parents and friends and your country, not because you expect to get something out of them in the way of reward, but because you are ready to give to them whatever they need at your hands. If you can accept this for yourselves and believe it of others and say so plainly, you will do good to your country and your fellow men beyond all power to calculate.

The Roman Forum.

The Forum Romanum, the first that was erected in Rome, served equally for the purposes of trade and all public meetings as well as for the administration of justice by the consuls and other Roman magistrates. Later on, when the fora numbered some eighteen or twenty, they were divided into two classes, some for public meetings and the proceedings of the law courts and others for the various requirements of trade. The Roman forum corresponded to the agora, or market place, of the Greeks, and no Roman city was without this important center of judicial, political and commercial life.

Rats Grind Off Their Teeth.

A curiously marked stone has been found at Colebrooke, Devonshire, England, in the middle of a wheat rick, and geologists who have seen it express the opinion that the markings on the stone were caused by rats using it to grind their teeth, which otherwise grew to an inordinate length.

Some rats have been even known to starve owing to their teeth getting too long.

CANADIANS WHO EMIGRATE.

Protest Against Continual Drain of Dominion's Stalwart Sons.

A New York paper recently stated that there were as many Canadians living in the United States as in the Dominion, and deduced therefrom the conclusion that Canadians, judged by their actions, had as much love for Uncle Sam's country as for their own land. If true, this statement might seem to have a rather portentous significance—and, unfortunately, it contains rather too much truth.

At the last census, the Canadian-born population of the United States was 1,181,788, of which number 786,561 were of English-speaking origin, and 396,127 of French-speaking origin. But, as the census officials point out, these figures do not reveal the total number of persons that might properly be ranked as Canadians. On a very conservative estimate, at least one-third of this number represents heads of families, and, taking five as the average family, we are driven to the rather disturbing conclusion that there are nearly 3,000,000 people properly belonging to Canada, yet living in the United States—or nearly one-half the present population of the home country. If we take account of the children and grand-children of the older generations of Canadians who migrated to the States, it is probably not far from the truth to say that there are as many people in the States who ought to be Canadians as in the home country.

At the time of the last census, Canada was sending more people to the United States than any other country, except Germany; and, though some of our politicians have assured us that the exodus has ceased, convincing evidence of this is wanting. Ever since the consummation of Confederation, the migration to the States has increased at a much faster rate than the growth of our population; and, if the prosperity of the past few years has checked the tendency, there is still a large annual migration to the big republic.

In some respects, Canadians would seem to be a short-sighted people. While we declare that the greater need of the country is a larger population, we rear and educate at considerable expense large numbers of young men, and then let them go to the States. One might imagine that it would be better policy for our Governments to attempt to promote conditions calculated to keep our own people at home, than to spend millions bringing in foreigners. Certainly the Government would do well to appoint a royal commission to investigate the problem, and consider the possibility of a course of action calculated not only to stop the exodus, but to reclaim the Canadians living in the States. True, the Government has, by establishing immigration agencies in the States, attempted something in this direction; but a public commission might throw a large and much-needed light on the problem.

In any case, in a country like Canada, where political policies determine economic conditions to so large an extent, it is well within the sphere and duty of the political authorities to attempt to find a solution for a problem which in its last analysis is a problem of economics—or creating economic conditions offering opportunities as good as those in the United States.—Montreal Standard.

Mixed Marriages.

There is a great deal of apprehension in the Eastern part of the Dominion over the probable attitude of the Roman Catholics on the mixed marriage question, especially as Easter approaches with its solemn obligations. It is even stated that the Pope's recent drastic decree will be promulgated in America. It is said, in fact, that after Easter, all mixed marriages that have not been celebrated before a Roman Catholic priest and two witnesses will be considered invalid, except in German, for which a special provision was made some time ago.

It has long been held, however, in the Province of Quebec, that the marriage of two Catholics by a Protestant clergyman was invalid, even under the civil law. Such invalidation has been pronounced by several of the judges of the superior court, and even the higher tribunals have confirmed this decision. These decisions hold substantially that persons who are adherents of a church must conform to the rules of that church concerning marriage. Of course they always have the alternative of recanting their religious views. For instance, a person may make a declaration that he or she renounces his or her membership in the Catholic Church and accepts the doctrine of some Protestant body. That of course settles the matter, as the Catholic Church does not pretend to hold people who wish to leave.

So long, however, as two parties are members of a church, a civil law ordains that they must conform to the provisions laid down by that church for the celebration of marriage.

Canada Is Exempt.

The British Board of Agriculture has just made a concession to the Canadian Government's contention regarding freedom of disease in Canadian herds. It was recently announced in the cable despatches that since the outbreak of the foot-and-mouth disease in Scotland the importation of hay and straw from a large number of countries had been forbidden by the British authorities to prevent the further introduction of the disease, and that Canada was one of the countries from which it had been forbidden to import fodder.

A message from Lord Strathcona to the Minister of Agriculture confirms the fact that the British authorities are taking precautions, but Canada has not been put on the prohibited list. The message says: "Have been closely watching and in communication with Board of Agriculture since outbreak of disease in Scotland. An order received to-day contains a long list of countries from which importation of hay and straw is prohibited, but Canada is not included. Have also been so assured by the Board of Agriculture. (Signed) Strathcona."

Changing Customs

215,000 new residents were welcomed into Canada in 1906. ¶ Steel buildings have come within the last decade. ¶ Just as wonderful has been the change in the making and selling of shoes—the coming of the Goodyear system of stitching, and the price-stamped SLATER SHOES. ¶ Skilled mechanics appreciate the difference between Slater Shoes and the others. They know the value of the proud "Seal of Certainty" on a pair of $5.00 Slater Shoes. It's the difference between skilled and unskilled labor.

ROPE SUPERSTITIONS.

Odd Beliefs About the Cure of Cancer and Mumps.

"Yes, I am heartily glad that execution by hanging is passing out of existence," said the jailer of twenty-five years' service. "Not only was hanging by the neck a grewsome, horrible affair to me, but it was always followed by a host of requests for a bit of the rope with which the hanging was done. Of course, these requests came mostly from ignorant people, but they were no less of a nuisance on that account. Oh, no, they didn't want bits of the rope for morbid reasons, but because they firmly believed in the old superstition that a bit of rope used in a hanging would cure cancer if rubbed on the affected part. None of them ever came back to report whether a cure was effected, but I reckon if there had been any cures I would have heard of them.

"That isn't the only rope superstition, by the way. In Maine, where I came from, some folk always use hempen rope for the mumps. A piece of it is tied around the waist of the sick person, so that the disease will not creep to any vital part, but remain in the face. The superstition is observed by a few people of this day, and if you go into small remote country towns in Maine you will see hempen ropes hanging in the corner grocery store, bearing a label, 'Ropes For Mumps.'"

The Scent of Flowers.

As a rule the scent of flowers does not exist in them as in a store or gland, but rather as a breath, an exhalation. While the flower lives it breathes out its sweetness, but when it dies the fragrance usually ceases to exist. The method of stealing from the flower its fragrance while it is still living is no new thing, and it is not known when it was discovered that butter, animal fat or oil would absorb the odor given off by living flowers placed near them and would themselves become fragrant.

THE IMMIGRATION QUESTION

Mr. Monk Arraigns Present Government Immigration Policy.

TOO MANY UNDESIRABLES

Bonus System a Mistake—Canada Is the Dumping Ground For Thriftless —Animated Discussion In the House — Case of Doukhobors Quoted—Treaties With U. S.— Col. Worthington Is Curious.

Ottawa, April 14.—In the House yesterday Dr. Sproule read a press despatch from Washington to the effect that Secretary Root and British Ambassador Bryce had signed two treaties between the United States and Great Britain. One provides for a commission to determine the boundary between the United States and Canada and the other regulates fishing in the great lakes and contiguous streams. The boundary commission will be charged with the work of resurveying certain sections of the boundary and determining the disputed question in that connection. It is said that the fishery question also is placed in the hands of a commission by terms of the treaty.

Dr. Sproule asked if the Government was in a position to give any information on this subject. Had they any control over the appointment of commissioner or over their selection, especally on behalf of Canada?

"I have just received a telegram stating that these two treaties have been signed," replied the Prime Minister. "One refers to the boundary. It is not contemplated to establish new boundaries, but simply to mark again the boundaries and describe them on the maps. The second deals with the fisheries. In contiguous waters we have had difficulties for many years owng to there being a close season on one side and none on the American side. By the treaty, all contiguous waters will be put under a commission which will make regulations for the fisheries. The appointments on the British side exclusively belong to the Government of Canada."

Mr. Monk asked if the Government will lay on the table the two agreements arrived at, also the correspondence connected with them. He cited a London cable to The New York Herald, dealing with Canada's attitude, and added that he judged from this that there must be considerable correspondence.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that, as a matter of course, as soon as the ratifications of the treaties had been exchanged and the Government received them, they would be communicated to the House as well as the correspondence.

"I have not seen the article to which Mr. Monk refers," added the Prime Minister, "but I have seen articles in American press to the effect that there are some other questions as to what negotiations are pending. This correspondence, of course, cannot be brought down until the matter is concluded."

Mr. Lennox asked about the report that a new order-in-council had been passed relating to seed grain in the Northwest.

Mr. Oliver replied that an order-in-council had been passed to carry out the views of Parliament, it having been found that the requirements were not as large as had been anticipated, and that sufficient grain had been purchased to fill those requirements.

Mr. Boyce (Algoma) asked if the application for seed grain had been received from the people in Northwestern Ontario and, if so, would the Government grant the same assistance as was given to farmers in the Northwest provinces.

Mr. Oliver answered that such applications had been received, but as conditions were not similar to those in the Northwest, no assistance could be given.

Mr. Bergeron asked when Judge Cassels would begin his investigations into the Marine and Fisheries Department, and whether, in the meantime, the Minister of Marine was conducting enquiries.

Mr. Brodeur replied that he was investigating for his own satisfaction.

affairs of the department as they arose from day to day. This investigation was not being made under oath.

Mr. Blain called attention to the enormous death rate on the G.T.P. Railway, some 42 workmen having been killed on one section by reason of negligence of the construction company and the use of low grade explosives.

This was a question of considerable seriousness, admitted Mr. Graham. The National Transcontinental Railway Commission had charge of this work and was responsible to the Government, but the death rate was so high as to demand investigation. Discussing the question with the chairman of the commission, Mr. Graham had been told that a great many deaths were due to carelessness of employes, who, through continual handling of explosives, became oblivious to danger.

W. F. Maclean said that some years ago a similar condition arose on the construction of the C.P.R. It was a question of hospital facilities. Action was taken by the Government and the condition was corrected in some way. It was necessary that some authority should intervene. The contractors had no financial interest, except perhaps to bury the men killed. He was glad that the Minister of Railways proposed taking some action.

Col. Tisdale said he had no idea that such a condition existed. In remote districts it was hard to get juries that would not be indifferent.

Mr. Conmee, speaking as a railway builder, ascribed the high death rate chiefly to carelessness and not to the explosives used. He differed with Mr. Maclean about the indifference to contractors. Accidents were a considerable loss to them and they took proper measures to avoid them.

Mr. Cockshutt said the loss of life on the G.T.P. had been out of proportion to any similar work in Canada. Prompt action should be taken.

Replying to Mr. Smith (Nanaimo), the Minister of Justice said five provincial acts, all of British Columbia, had been disallowed by the Federal Government. Four of them related to immigration and were disallowed because they were re-enactments of statutes which had been previously disallowed; the fifth, relating to Supreme Court, because it limited scope of selection by governor-in-council.

Col. Worthington enquired if any fortification were in course of erection at, or near, Quebec or Levis. What was the nature thereof, and whether the works were being constructed by the British or Canadian Government?

"I hope," answered Sir Frederick Borden, "that question will be dropper. It is not one that would be put in any Parliament of any country. If the leader of Opposition desires information confidentally, I will give it to him."

"Drop it," called several members, but Col. Worthington did not immediately comply.

That Canada had been paying bonuses on a large number of undesirable immigrants, and many others who passed out of the country shortly after their arrival, was pretty conclusively proved yesterday afternoon by F. D. Monk (Jacques Cartier) who, in a moderate arraignment of the system moved, on going into supply, that the time had come to cease paying a bounty to agents for bringing in immigrants. He laid down the principle that none but the most desirable people should be admitted to Canadian citizenship and that we should be in no hurry to fill up our wide acres.

The experience of the United States should be a guide to Canada. That country had been attempting to restrict the immigration of foreigners.

The head tax had been increased and a commission of nine had been appointed this year to investigate in Europe this problem, but in spite of the increase of restrictive measures immigration to that country had been climbing up year after year amounting to over four millions in the past four years, and this without the inspection. In the four years mentioned over 47,000 were debarred from the United States.

Mr. Oliver admitted that Government did assist the Doukhobors, the bonus being given to defray part of their transportation, but the press and the people of Canada approved of it.

Armand Lavergne, Montmagny, declared that the Minister of the Interior had made a most inadequate reply to Mr. Monk. He read from the report of the Interior Department to show the heterogenious character of the immigration into the West. Since the Liberals came into power they had brought in sufficient immigration to populate sixty counties or only five less than in the Province of Quebec, and owing to the bonus system the class of British immigration included in this influx was not what it otherwise would have been.

"We had no socialistic movement in Canada until we encouraged the discontented elements of Europe to come to this country," said Mr. Lavergne.

"Absolute nonsense," declared Ralph Smith.

Proceeding Mr. Lavergne asserted that every police magistrate in the old country was an emigration agent for Canada. The policy of the Government was to make Canada a world-wide hospital, an immense penitentiary and a national lunatic asylum. He regretted that he had to choose between the party and his country in this matter, but he would choose his country and vote for Mr. Monk's amendment. Verville (Labor, Montmagny) moved the adjournment of the debate.

Sealing Steamer Sinks.

St. John's, Nfld., April 14.—Alarming news from the icefields reached here by the steamer Newfoundland. She reports the Grand Lake sunk at the ice, the men barely had time to escape. They are aboard the Vanguard. The Grand Lake had full cargo of 21,000 seals, which went down with the vessel 90 miles north of Funks. The accident was caused through the blowing clean out of the injection pipe. Two hundred and three men were aboard.

The Ranger has its bow completely beaten in. Her condition is critical. The Neptune was standing by her on the fifth. No definite news has arrived since.

Nothing has been heard of the Southern Cross. The Algerine's condition is bad.

The Newfoundland's crew had a terrible experience in Thursday's gale. The total catch is 20,000 less than previously announced.

AFTERMATH OF THE BIG BLAZE

Chelsea's Loss Now Estimated Under Six Millions.

EFFECTIVE RELIEF WORK

Insurance Companies Will Have to Pay $3,500,000—City to Be Re-Built at Once—Militia Preserve Order In the Desolated Streets—Tents For the Homeless—No More Deaths Have Been Reported.

Boston, April 14.—From the embers of Sunday's conflagration in Chelsea there arose yesterday a well-organized movement for aid and relief of the ten thousand homeless, accounting of the cost by insurance companies, whose representatives placed their losses at three millions and a half, and a determination by the city authorities to rebuild the three hundred and fifty acres swept by the flames where stood, before the fire, property valued at nearly $6,000,000.

No further deaths were reported yesterday and of the injured persons taken to the various hospitals, only two were believed to be in a critical condition. The three bodies which were taken to the morgue in Boston remain unidentified.

Revised figures obtained yesterday indicate that the losses were divided, according to the various classes of property destroyed, as follows:

Churches and schools, $525,000.
Public buildings, $475,000.
Factories, business blocks and contents, $825,000.
Dwelling houses, $3,750,000.
Total, $5,575,000.

The insurance of $3,500,000 is divided among about eighty companies.

There was comparatively little suffering reported among the fire victims yesterday. So prompt and efficient was the relief work begun Sunday, that practically no one was without shelter during the night. Yesterday the relief work was taken up by those who handled the Massachusetts fund for San Francisco sufferers. Early in the day Mayor Beck issued an appeal to the country, but after a conference with Acting Governor E. S. Draper, the appeal was amended so as to include only the state. Announcement was made that $15,000 had been raised by subscription in Boston before noon: In addition, the City of Chelsea appropriated $10,000, and a resolve for $100,000 from the state was introduced in the House of Representatives. Many nearby cities announced the starting of subscription papers and the city governments of others will hold special meetings to take action on the matter. A message received from President Roosevelt early in the day expressed sympahty and volunteered the services of the army and navy.

In the meantime the local organizations, such as the associated charities and the Salvation Army, were perfecting their work and they professed entire ability to find temporary quarters for all the homeless.

The burned district was closely patrolled yesterday by the state militia. The work of the guard, however, consisted mostly in keeping people from venturing too near the standing walls. There was very little property remaining to be guarded, so thoroughly had the area been swept by the flames. In fact, the underwriters who viewed the ruins yesterday, saw no prospect of salvage of any description. One street, Broadway, was cleared and opened to the general public and as it led straight through the heart of the ruins, a steady stream of people moved through it all day. A few of the ruins smoked lazily during the day and two more oil tanks caught fire and burned themselves out. Other than this there was little left of the fire and the visiting apparatus was sent home.

There were numerous deeds of heroism. Crazed, weak women, leading children, stopped in their reckless, unheeding flight to lend aid to their less fortunate neighbors. On this hill had gather a number of men and boys who were watching the advancing flames. As soon as it became known how dangerous was the fire they ran through the streets breaking in doors and ordering the frightened women into the streets.

Heaving against the door, a man smashed his way into the house. Threats even could not move them. The women explained that a little boy, sick with diphtheria, was upstairs. Tearing upstairs the man gathered up the little fellow, who was too sick to realize his danger. Wrapping his overcoat about the child to protect him from the sheets of blazing embers that were flying, this man marshaled the family in front of him and raced down the street.

A passing automobile was held up with threats of violence, the little patient bundled in, and safety was assured for three or four more.

Scores of charitable institutions in Boston, wealthy citizens and departmental stores in Boston will advertise this morning for the homeless and destitute of Chelsea to come to them for aid.

Mayor Beck, together with Senator Alfred S. Hall of Revere, put in hard work along Suffolk street, rousing the residents and getting them to move their belongings.

Mayor Beck lives at the extreme west end of the street and early in the day it did not look as if the fire could work down that way at all. At 4 o'clock the mayor's new house was in flames and in ten minutes it was a pile of ashes.

As a last resort when water failed, firemen resorted to dynamite and blew up houses in the path of the firefront, but this only provided kindling for flames that leaped a block length.

THE EQUIPMENT OF THE ARMY

Australia to Manufacture Her Own Rifles and Ammunition.

FACTORY BUILT AT LITHGOW

Cordite and Shells Will Be Undertaken Later On—Government Hopes to Be Practically Independent of Great Britain in the Matter of War Material for Defence Purposes—Purchased 20 Acres.

Ottawa, April 14.—A report from the Canadian Trade Commissioner in Melbourne, received yesterday, brings word that the Australian authorities have set about the erection of a small arms factory of their own at Lithgow, New South Wales, to manufacture rifles of the latest type of the British War Office. Later on the manufacture of shells will be undertaken.

The Government has also purchased twenty acres of land near Melbourne for a cordite factory. The plans of the Australian Government in these regards are to make the Commonwealth independent of the Mother Country, so far as rifles and ammunition are concerned.

TRIED TO DITCH TRAIN.

Fast Express Had Narrow Escape From Train Wreckers.

Elmira, N. Y., April 14.—A desperate attempt was made last night to wreck a westbound passenger train on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railway, near Lowman, about seven miles east of this city, by piling ties on the track. The ties were placed across the rails and then laid from the top of these to the roadbed between the rails.

The train, which is due in this city at 6.40, was running sixty miles an hour. The obstruction was on a sharp curve and close to the river.

The locomotive ground one of the ties to pieces and shoved the others along on the rails. When the train was stopped a similar obstruction was found on the eastbound track and a freight train was due.

Balting Berlin's Mayor.

Berlin, April 14.—Allen Huber, Berlin's Socialist mayor, who has tried in every possible way to turn municipal matters topsy-turvy, received his quietus last night at a special meeting of the council.

While criticizing the purchase of a horse for the scavenger system, he was called a liar by Ald. Lang.

The mayor asked a policeman to look the alderman up and the policeman refused. "Well," said he, "all I can say is that you are a liar too."

The council will by bylaw cancel his salary, and he will be given to understand that he cannot run the town according to his unreasonable views, and that he must take into consideration the other municipal representatives.

HOME ISOLATION IS BEST METHOD OF DEALING WITH INFECTIOUS DISEASES; EXCELLENT PAPER READ BY DR. McNULTY

At Board of Health Meeting This Morning---Dr. McNulty Advocated the Above Method of Treating the Problem ---His Paper Dealt With Findings of Sanatoriums in England and Germany in Regard to the Inefficiency of Hospital Treatment.

Municipality Should Establish a System of Home Isolation in Which the Cost of Trained Nurses Would be Provided by the City—Hospital Tents.

The feature of the Board of Health meeting this morning was a splendid paper read by Dr. McNulty on the best methods of dealing with cases of infectious diseases. The speaker had evidently taken great pains with the preparation of the subject, and his remarks were listened to with interest and profit by the members of the Board. At the conclusion of the paper a hearty vote of thanks was passed to him.

Following was the paper:—

Gentlemen,—I think it is full time that a systematic and concerted effort should be made to evolve some definite plan of dealing with infectious cases in our midst. We have enjoyed almost complete immunity from this class of disease for the last three years and it is very largely owing to this fact that no headway has been made in regard to formulating a plan of procedure in the event of an epidemic arising. This Board and the local press have lately resuscitated the question and in the hope that something definite may soon be accomplished, I wish to place before you the more recent opinions of those who have made the subject a special study. These opinions are so at variance to the commonly accepted views of the question that they will come as a surprise to most of you, but they are so formed on careful observation and prolonged study as to be beyond contravention, and it follows that a complete revision of our methods of isolation seems inevitable. The two main conclusions that have been fairly drawn are:—

1. That hospital isolation, after long years of trial, has utterly failed in controlling either the incidence or mortality rate of scarlet fever.

2. That this disease has increased in prevalence almost pari passu with increased provision for its isolation.

Life Long Study

These are the conclusions drawn by sanitarians in England who have spent a life time in the study of the question. In that country each county is divided into rural and urban districts over which Medical Health Officers are appointed. In probably one-half of these districts isolation hospitals have been erected, and in the government returns it has been found that those districts with isolation hospitals invariably have a higher percentage of cases and higher percentage of deaths than those districts without hospitals. While this seems somewhat paradoxical the facts admit of ready explanation. In dealing first with those districts without isolation hospitals it has been noted that an epidemic of infectious diseases arises with a fairly marked degree of regularity. Every four or five years, or sometimes longer, a great number of cases suddenly crop up, rigid home isolation is followed, and the epidemic, after a varying time, subsides, to be followed by another period of almost complete immunity. Such in fact has been the experience of this city. Three years ago, both scarlet fever and diphtheria, were very prevalent; some of the cases were, at that time, treated in the hospitals, but many of the cases were taken care of at home, and it was only when the hospitals refused further admission, that the epidemic subsided, and now for three years we have enjoyed almost complete freedom from these two diseases. This circumstance of periodic outbreaks, and subsequent periods of immunity, has been noted repeatedly in dozens of health districts in England, in which no isolation hospitals existed. The disease in these epidemics is mild in its nature and the mortality low.

Prevalent Diseases

In the hospital districts, on the other hand, these diseases have been consistently prevalent, year after year, the form of the disease more malignant and the mortality higher. In accounting for this, at least, one factor is manifest in the "infecting cases," which so frequently results from the aggregation of patients in hospital wards, patients, who, after their discharge from hospital, diffuse infection and generate "return" cases; in fact, the hospital feeds itself with patients, and thus converts an epidemic disease into a continuous or endemic one. Of course, an effort is made in every case to render the patient and his clothing free from infection before his discharge; but in the case of scarlet fever, we have not as yet discovered the causative germ, and so we do not know the exact conditions under which it exists, the length of its life's history, nor is there any certain

"MERRY WIDOW" HATS ARE BARRED FROM CHURCH

Kansas City, Mo., April 14. — (Special.)—The Rev. Anton Kuhls, priest of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church in Kansas City, has just placed a ban on the "Merry Widow" hat.

"Do not wear these huge hats in the church," he said to the young women of the parish. "Those in the rear cannot see the altar if such hats are worn. Any one coming to church with such a hat will be requested to leave it with the sexton."

BAPTISTS TO MEET IN BROCKVILLE IN BIG CONVENTION

The Interprovincial convention of the B.Y.P.U. will be held in Brockville from April 16 to 18. The prominent leaders in the young people's work will give addresses. There will be several delegates from the United States.

The delegates from Peterborough are Messrs. Jno. Hardwicke, Jas. Ellis, Walter Garbutt and Miss Amy Hardwicke, from the Murray street church, and Mr. Lincoln Brace from Park street church.

SYMPATHY FROM COMRADES OF THE LATE RICH. BOYLE

Mrs. Richard Boyle, relict of the late Rich. Boyle, has received the following letter of condolence, from some of the members of the Second Canadian Mounted Rifles, by whose side the deceased fought during the South African War:

Dear Mrs. Boyle,—We, the undersigned comrades of your late husband, in the South African War, wish to convey to you our deepest sympathy in this, your hour of trouble in the recent bereavement of the loss of your late husband. As a comrade and soldier, we always found in him a true and genial friend. Hoping that our Heavenly Father will guide and comfort you through your trouble.

We remain

Yours sincerely,

Comrades of the late R. Boyle, Late Second Canadian Mounted Rifles.

HEAVY CANOES FOR HUDSON BAY CO. IN THE NORTH

The English Canoe Company is making another shipment of Hudson Bay Canoes. There are sixteen being sent as a part of a large order. They are extra strong canoes, as they are built to carry freight and to withstand more than ordinary rough waters. Their destination is Missinaibie, and the employees are very busy with this order added to the regular work.

CONTRIBUTION ON THE DIPLOMACY OF GREAT BRITAIN

THE WARSAW FOLK ARE BUILDING THEIR HOPES ON STENNER

MR. CHARLES STENNER,
An English Soldier for seven years, who is now here training for the big walk.

USED PROFANE LANGUAGE ON G.T.R. PLATFORM

About 5.30 o'clock last evening Jas. King, a stranger in the city, was arrested at the G.T.R. station by P. C.'s McGinty and Newhall. The police had received a telephonic message from Mr. Sandy, the local agent, who said King was intoxicated and was using profane language in the presence of the waiting passengers on the platform. The officers took him to the police station and locked him up. He assured the policeman that he was quite harmless, and began to sing.

This morning in the police court he was charged with using profane language in a public place, to which he pleaded not guilty.

Conductor Jobbitt of the Lakefield train told of warning King three times to stop swearing, and finally had to order him off the platform.

King told a very pathetic story. He brought a friend down here from Port Perry, paying his fare and hotel bill. Yesterday he was broke, and asked his friend for money, but was given drink. He then went to the G.T.R. station to see his friend off, and was giving his opinion of him when arrested. King promised never to appear again, and was allowed to go.

THE ENGLISH POINTER WAS QUICKLY RESTORED

A local gentleman lost a handsome and valuable English Pointer on Friday night. On Saturday fied "Lost" ad. column of the Examiner inserted an ad. in the classified. The usual results followed. On Sunday the dog was restored to its owner. It had been found by a lady who had seen the ad. in the Examiner. It didn't take long, because the proper medium was used.

THE DEATH OF A PROMINENT MAN OF FENELON FALLS

Fenelon Falls, April 14.—(Special)—Henry Austin, one of the best known and most highly respected of the citizens of Fenelon Falls, died last night about midnight, at the age of fifty-six years. Mr. Austin has been identified with the business interests of this place for over a generation, being a member of the firm of Mrs. Dougall, Brandon & Austin, the largest dealers in farm produce and stock in this portion of the Midland district. He is survived by his wife, one son and four daughters. Mr. John Austin, of Kinmount, the well known lumberman, and Mr. Thomas Austin, who has served several times as a municipal councillor, are brothers.

BOX CAR LEAVES THE RAILS AT BLEZZARD'S, RUNS THE TIES, TAKING FIVE OTHERS WITH IT

After running along on the ties for nearly a quarter of a mile, a box car of freight going east on the Belleville section of the G.T.R., went into the ditch, and five other cars left the rails with it. The accident occurred to a double-header freight about 2 o'clock this morning, a mile this side of Blezzard's station. It left Peterborough shortly after midnight, with engineers Bonesteel and McConnell in charge of the engines.

As for the cause of the accident, no definite report has been received, but on examination, the spot place was plainly evident where the wheels of the car first left the rails. The ties, which were said to be nearly all old ones, and about to be replaced, were badly cut up. Of the six cars that left the tracks, three of the a could be easily put back to their usual position, but two of them were lying on their sides in the ditch, and the last one was standing at an angle of about 45 degrees. The engineers did not notice any disturbance, and when the break occurred, believed it to be the usual parting of the cars on the track. The men in the van also did not feel any shock as the car bumped along on the ties.

Auxiliary at Work

A despatch was sent to Lindsay for the auxiliary, which was soon on the scene. It was believed it would take the whole day before the wreck was cleared up, as several of the cars were laden with lumber and flour. There was no delay caused in the passenger service, as the Lakefield train was sent to Blezzard's and the passengers from Belleville came on to Peterborough by transferring. On this account the train to Lakefield was cancelled for the morning.

Secret Of The Great Success Of The Late Charles Lindsey As A Prosperous Canadian

Mr. Charles Lindsey, whose death took place in Toronto, is an example of the manner in which settlers in Canada may and can succeed, by taking advantage of every opportunity to turn their industry to account. Mr. Lindsey became a prominent journalist, and developed into an important author. Before he came to Canada from England he was engaged in journalism. But on his arrival in Canada he naturally did not fall at once into congenial employment. But, animated by the spirit that should possess all earnest new-comers to Canada, he took what employment offered. Mr. James Stevenson, city, who was a resident of Port Hope in 1840, when Mr. Lindsey was a resident, tells the Examiner that the future eminent journalist and author worked on the shoemaker's bench in the same shop as Mr. Thomas Routtree, who at that time lived in Port Hope, ultimately removing to Peterborough.

Coincident with his cobbling, the future distinguished journalist and author contributed to the columns of the Port Hope Guide. If Mr. Lindsey had been like a great many of the misfit Old Country immigrants, he would, because he could not at once get a situation as managing editor of the best newspaper in Canada, have gone back to England in disgust, and have written letters to the Times, black-listing and blackguarding Canada. But he showed the spirit that spells success. He was glad to maintain himself by the labour of his hands till he got a foothold in the country and could rise by the work of his brains.

Young Man Heavily Fined For Peddling Without A License

Elijah Billings, who was arrested some time ago on a charge of selling rugs without a license, and remanded until to-day, was fined $50.00 and costs, or twenty days in jail, by Magistrate Dumble, in the police court this morning. Mr. G Gordon appeared for the defendant and Mr. L M Hayes represented the city. The young man who was found with Billings, and who was supposed to be a witness, was not present.

Mr. Gordon asked for an enlargement, and admitted that the sale of rugs took place. Mr. Hay said he had the witnesses in court, and urged to have the case go on.

Two women in court told of the defendant offering them rugs for sale, but they did not buy. He said they were made in Toronto.

Harry Fowler said he saw Billings going from house to house selling rugs.

Chief Roszel, who made the arrest, said, that on last Tuesday afternoon he met a man on McDonel street, carrying rugs from door to door. He said he was taking orders. On Bethune street he saw Billings doing the same thing, and he had a buggy full of rugs. When he asked him a few questions about the rugs, Billings became very smart, so he (the Chief) asked him to come to the city clerk's office. He did not have a license, but said he travelled for a Toronto house.

His Worship pointed out that the bylaw was to protect local tradesmen, who pay taxes to the city. He then fined Billings $50.00 and costs amounting to $55, to be paid forthwith, or 20 days in jail. He allowed the fine to be dropped if Billings took out a license, and the defendant decided to do so.

Y. M. C. A. Boys Are Already Planning For The 1908 Camp

The boys of the Y.M.C.A. are planning big things in connection with their annual Summer Camp. It is proposed to make it the biggest and best camp ever held at Sandy Point time. All boys who are interested and it is probable that Lindsay and Port Hope Y.M.C.A.'s will also be represented by a large number of campers. A camp re-union will be held in the gymnasium on Tuesday the 28th of April, in the evening. The Gym. will be transformed into a camping ground for the night and there will be something doing all the time. Everything in connection with the camp will be discussed.

PETERBORO LADY DIES IN CHICAGO

Had Only Been Ill Two Weeks--Telegram Received This Morning.

Word was received in the city about noon to-day by Mr. Martin McFadden of the sudden demise of his sister, Mrs. Richard Irwin of Chicago, Ill. She had not been well for the past two weeks, but the intelligence of her death will be learned with deep sorrow and regret. She was 56 years of age and lived in Peterborough until 1870, when she went to Chicago. She was well known in this city among the older residents. She leaves to mourn her loss besides her husband, two daughters, both married, and one son.

Mr. McFadden, a brother of the deceased, and Mrs. Geo. Ball, a sister, leave on the C.P.R. to-night for Chicago to attend the funeral, which will probably take place Friday morning.

Represents The Government In Settling Immigrants With Farmers In The County

The work of Mr. Geo. H. Howson, Dominion Government Immigration Agent for Peterborough, continues to do good work placing immigrants among the farmers. Of the last party that came west, after landing, ten had tickets for Mr. Howson, who immediately placed them with farmers in the county. Not only that, but he has also of late placed thirty men who were without work in the city in good homes in the country to help in the farm work.

Mr. Howson at present could place about one hundred men in a week's time. The majority of those he places on farms turn out well, but those who do not hold their places and get the nomadic fever, receive but little encouragement after their first or second failure.

ALD. MORGAN AND JOHNSTON HAVE THE USUAL BICKERING OVER FIRE HALL MATTERS

East City Alderman Thought the Whole Fire, Water and Light Committee Should be Removed —Discussion Over New Chemical Wagon.

"SLEEPS IN THE FIRE HALL"

At last night's meeting of the city council, Ald. Morgan and Johnston clashed swords over fire hall business, and Ald. Buller also had a hand in the fray, which, however, ended happily.

Ald. Morgan said that he felt like moving that the new hose cart be passed up to the Historical Society. It was bought at considerable expense, but no chemical cylinder had been procured for it, and it had not been used since it was placed in the hall. It had never been in working order, and, he thought the whole Fire, Water and Light Committee should be removed, and a new one appointed in its place.

Ald. Johnston explained that the cart in question had been purchased because the chief had said that it was needed. There was nothing to prevent its being used, whether the cylinder was in it or not, and the latter had not been purchased because it had not been decided just what was best under the circumstances.

Ald. Morgan moved, seconded by Ald. Elliott, that the Fire, Water and Light Committee purchase a cylinder, and have it placed in position on the cart.

Ald. Johnston explained that it would cost some money, and would have to be looked into, and at the request of the mayor, Ald. Morgan changed his motion, to read that the committee should look into the matter and procure information as to the cost, etc. In this form it carried.

"Ald. Morgan must sleep down at the fire hall," said Ald. Buller. "I think the Fire, Water and Light Committee should get their information first hand and not second hand from Ald. Morgan."

"Men like Ald. Buller, who are new to the council," retorted the East City alderman, "shouldn't imagine they know it all."

New Brigade

Ald. Johnston referred to the change in the fire hall brigade. He wanted to state, that after making inquiries into the matter, he found that it was going to make a great deal of difference, in regard to the insurance. There was $2,500,000 of insurance in the city, and the re-organization of the brigade would save the mercantile interests from 20 to 25 per cent., and save 5 to 10 per cent in the residential risks. He wished this put on record, in order that it might reduce some of the prejudice which apparently existed in regard to the re-organization of the brigade. "I believe that an attempt is being made to put the scheme out of business, but I am going to stay, with it to the finish."

Ald. Morgan, as usual, differed with the Fire, Water and Light chairman. He referred to the fact that when East City was the village of Ashburnham, with no water service, it had been stated that the rates would be reduced from 10 to 12 per cent., when water was protection, but the rates didn't come down.

"I don't believe it will make one particle of difference in the rates, whether we have a new brigade or not," he said, in concluding his speech.

REV. H. J. KEITH,
Whose salary has been raised by the sum of $200 on occasion of first anniversary.

OUT WITH THE PLOUGH IN NORTH MONAGHAN TO-DAY

Ploughing has already begun in North Monaghan on a rather extensive scale, according to Mr. John Brown, the reeve, who was in the city yesterday. Among the farmers who are out are Messrs. F E Wilson, Thos. Hunter and Geo. Graham. The land has now dried fairly well and the ploughing is being done on comparatively low land.

HOUSECLEANING NOW THE CRAZE IN WOMEN'S WORLD

Housecleaning! Dust! Turmoil! No wonder poor man is looking worried, for in his own little kingdom a tyrant has begun the work of disturbing the natural order of his household. His better half, leagued with the Gold Dust twins, or Monkey Brand soap, helmeted like a Hindustan, armed with broom, suster and water pail, with sleeves rolled up like a stevedore, has commenced the annual campaign against dust, dirt and disorder.

Spring, the days when man likes to rest at ease, is transformed into a period of anxiety and distress.

Meal time is now the dread hour of the day, for that means a trip home. A man may find his hat out on the crab tree, his coniest chair on the real balcony, his tobacco jar in the attic. If housecleaning has got to be, there should be an understanding that it will be delayed until midsummer, for then man might be himself on a fishing trip on the banks of the canal, or an outing with his only friend "Tige," through Wallis' Grove.

Dreamers have come to the conclusion that there is a close connection between a bargain sale and housecleaning. This is generally conceded to be a fact, and scientists are engaged in experimenting with methods for destroying this microbe, and thus providing to some extent a little earthly peace for man.

Agostino Scarizzo has returned to the city from his native sunny Italy after spending the winter with his family. He went home last autumn, and yesterday arrived back in Peterborough, bringing his family, about seven in all. The family will reside in the city.

YOUNG MEN OF T.A.S. TO GIVE A CONCERT

Friday, May 1, has been chosen for a concert to be given under the auspices of the Young Men's Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S. A fine programme is being arranged, of which further particulars will be announced later.

To Take Her Departure

—Queenie Grant, the young girl who was recently sentenced to a term in the Mimico Reformatory, left this evening in charge of Mrs. Johnston, of Toronto, who was sent by the Government.

Hours Of Meeting Have Been Arranged For The Farmers And Labourers

Farmers and labourers, who want to arrange with labourers and farmers for work, are requested to call at the Examiner office on Saturday afternoon, at 1.30 o'clock sharp, and on Saturday evening at 7.30 o'clock During the last week the Examiner has been instrumental in bringing the farmers and labourers together, so that six of the latter have obtained work. Farmers residing in South Monaghan, Douro, Smith, Otonabee and near Springville, have secured labourers.

There are still a number off names at the office of those who want to get work, and also a number of farmers desiring help, so that by calling on Saturday at the above mentioned hours both parties will be brought into direct contact.

In the meantime, there are two farmers residing a few miles from the city, who want men at once. They must be experienced and must be willing to travel on the next train. Their addresses may be obtained at the office of the Examiner.

NEIGHBOURLY ADVICE.

The Review is purporting to print a series of articles on New Ontario. If the one published yesterday is a fair example, the series is of very doubtful value; for yesterday's is an absolute untruth, in both innuendo and statement, from beginning to end. If we might venture to tender some advice to the Review, it might be suggested to the editorial writer to draw the long bow with a little more discretion. While we give our evening contemporary as stiff a business competition as possible, we should not like to see it unnerved by an expensive libel suit. One who knows the facts in connection with the Review's article of yesterday can easily see that Mr. O'Brien, if he took the Review's article seriously, would have very good ground for action at law.

THE WEST NOT ALL.

In a census of the farm land, field crops and live stock of Ontario, Quebec, and the Maritime Provinces, taken through the medium of the post office, during the summer months of 1907, it is shown that there has been an increase of 2,677,992 acres in the farm lands cleared in the five provinces in six years; an increase of 1,535,679 acres in all field crops, including 333,398 acres in mixed grains, and 1,128,256 in hay; an increase of 799,603 in the number of milch cows and other horned cattle; and a decrease of 699,814 acres and of 10,639,604 bushels in wheat—the latter being ascribed to larger and cheaper production of this cereal in the Northwest Provinces. The figures, on the whole, are gratifying, as showing that Eastern Canada is making some progress along general lines of farming, and especially in dairying, but it is to be hoped that the next few years will show a much greater rate of progress, especially in Quebec. Such an increase is certainly promised, now that immigration is beginning to favour the older provinces, small as yet though the volume may be.

CONFESSED FAILURE.

The present session of the Dominion Parliament, and the preceding, have been employed by the Conservative Opposition in making vague charges of scandals in connection with Government administration. Conspicuous have been the land scandals, and the name of Mr. Ames, M.P., of Montreal, has led all the rest as a scandalmonger. In the House, before the public, in the Public Accounts Committee, and in the party press, it was boasted that exposures of the most damaging character would be made of the methods of granting timber limits, which would involve the official honesty of a former commissioner of Crown Lands, now a member of the House, and that members of the House on the Liberal side would be shown to be connected with these exposures in a most damaging manner. The time of the committee was practically monopolized by the fishing operations of the Opposition. Witnesses were called, and subjects gone into beyond its jurisdiction. Matters were carried to the point where it was logical to call Mr. Turiff, the ex-commissioner, who was in a position to give conclusive evidence. But the Opposition had reason to know that his evidence would ruin their cause, and they refused to call him. Mr. Turiff insisted upon giving evidence, and he was called by Mr. McLean, a Liberal member, and at this point the Opposition case suddenly collapsed. When the committee convened, after an adjournment, Mr. McDonald not being able to be present, Mr. Ames, who had been the head and front of the scandal campaign, pleaded that the proceedings should be brought to a conclusion—at the very point where there was every prospect of getting at the truth. He insisted upon no further investigation into timber scandals. The point to be remembered is that the forces of the Opposition were brought to bear upon the charge that Liberal members secured unfair advantages through Mr. Turiff's favour when he was Lands Commissioner. The Opposition refused to call the man who could prove their charges, if well founded, thus confessing that their sole desire was to throw dirt, with the hope that some of it would stick. The timber scandal collapsed, from the Opposition point of view, and they wanted it abandoned, but the Liberals had been falsely accused, and they decided that investigation into charges so recklessly made must continue, and be effectively disproved. By trying to balk investigation into timber matters, Mr. Ames and his Conservative allies have confessed their failure to establish the truth of their timber lands scandals. The less the Conservative party says about the manner in which public lands have been given away, the better for their reputation.

SHOULD KEEP HIS WORD.

In a recent issue the Review, apropos of the provincial obligation incurred by aiding railways says:—

"It seems to us the day of handing out such gifts ought to be at an end * * * The policy of increasing expenditure to fit the people for the struggle of world-wide competition is a good one—much better than bonusing doubtful and unnecessary railways."

Hon. Mr. Whitney declared himself quite as strongly against bonusing railways and he has signally broken his promise the present session. His action in guaranteeing a $2,500,000 loan to the James Bay Railway—a railway to practically parallel and compete with the Government Railway when extended to Hudson Bay—was made in the face of an explicit amendment moved by himself in 1904 in the Legislature, is direct contradiction of his action in making the huge guarantee mentioned. Mr. Whitney may boast of being bold enough to be honest, but he is hardly honest enough to be consistent. A minister's word implied or expressed should be as good as his bond. His ipse dixit should be a guarantee of good faith.

CARE OF OUR TIMBER.

Hamilton Times.

According to Mr. Southworth, Clerk of Forestry for Ontario, the Liberal policy of conserving the Province's timber has had excellent results; and we now see that although it was bitterly opposed by Whitney when in Opposition, even the small sum asked for to pay the salary of the clerk of forestry being voted against, he has been constrained by strong public opinion to take up and carry on the work. The fire-ranging system was adopted in 1885, and has saved much timber from destruction by forest fires. The general Forest Reserves Act of 1899 established a policy of withdrawing lands unsuitable for farming and devoting them to timber production. The Ross Government left over five million acres of reserves, and the present Government has paid the Liberal policy, which it once so strongly opposed, the compliment of setting aside about four and a half million acres more in the Nepigon Reserve. Mr. Southworth estimates that the 10,437,320 acres now in reserves contain 40,000,000,000 feet of pine, and that "when all the land unsuited for general farming or that from its location at the head waters of important streams should be kept forest covered is placed in reserves, Ontario will have a permanent forest of forty to fifty million acres. That is promising. But there is much to be done yet. The reforestation of denuded areas is a herculean task, and one which calls for the pursuance of a well-defined policy through many years. How to prevent fires is a question offering no little difficulty. But the fact that the party which fought against doing anything when in Opposition is, now that it has attained power, ready to adopt the policy of timber preservation, which it denounced, is most encouraging.

JEKYLL AND HYDE IN POLITICS

The Toronto World, which has been a very consistent friend of the Whitney Government, published on Saturday two statements that, taken together, are startling. In one The World says—:

"Premier Whitney NEVER needed a campaign fund other than TRUST IN THE PEOPLE.

"Premier Whitney does not need any other campaign fund NOW."

In the other, written after the Canadian Northern guarantee had gone through. The World says:—"A very busy day preceded the last moments of the Assembly, and the 'dying hours' of the past week must be confessed by the warmest admirers of the Conservative party to have somewhat lowered the eminence of the record established since 1905."

What do these somewhat obscure sentences mean? Has the Purity Fund been recruited from some tainted source? Is Mr. Whitney going to the country leaning on some other arm than that of the people? Here are two rather significant indications of the extent of the Premier's opportunism. In the character of the good Dr. Jekyll Mr. Whitney on April 23, 1904, moved a resolution protesting against the granting of a bond guarantee to the James Bay Railway. His amendment, as reported in The Mail and Empire, provided "that the guarantee of the bond issue do not apply to the mileage of the road between Toronto and Mara Township in Ontario County. He briefly stated his position against granting further public aid to railways in the older and more thickly settled districts of the Province."

As the wicked Mr. Hyde, Premier Whitney, on April 11, 1908, put through the Legislature a guarantee of the same railway's bonds to the extent of a million and a half for "terminals." A large part of that money will be spent in the heart of Toronto, which can certainly claim to be one of the older and more thickly settled districts of the Province." The World no doubt had this cynical breach of the former Conservative policy in mind when it spoke of lowering the record.

Another story of broken faith is told by a glance at the lake law reform resolution passed by the Government on Saturday, with its indefinite proposal of law reform some other day, and at Mr. Whitney's attitude toward law reform when on April 23, 1904, he moved a resolution "condemning the action of the (Ross) Government in regard to law reform, and especially with regard to the Attorney-General's neglect to keep the promise of April 27, 1900, that the Government would bring in a bill to enlarge the jurisdiction of the County Courts. Since then no adequate action has been taken to implement the promise made then. Meanwhile the question has been agitated in vain by various law societies, etc., in the Province." The people of Ontario, declared Mr. Whitney, would not wait much longer for a simplification of law methods, and for a reduction in the expenses of legal procedure.

And now, exactly four years after thus beating the big drum of censure, Mr. Whitney—having filled up the measure of his years in office with a scandalous Gerrymander—leaves law reform till a more convenient season. The Premier of Ontario has proved that he is a near relative of Mark Twain's friend, who was a young man of rare promise and much rarer fulfilment.—Globe.

LONGSHOREMEN KICK.

Declare They Will Not Work Under Present Bonus System.

Montreal, April 14.—The trouble here in shipping circles does not appear to have all disappeared, and Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux will again be here on Wednesday to have a talk with the longshoremen. The trouble seems to be the bonus system, which the shippers appear to be determined to keep in operation.

The men say that it happened last year that men working for two or three different companies the same day would not be able to keep their accounts straight, and many of them pretend to have lost money during the season.

Mr. Polequin, interviewed yesterday, said the longshoremen would not work under the bonus system this year. The men wanted 30c. to 35c. an hour. If they had to start on 27 1-2c to 30c. an hour there was no knowing what they might do later.

William Robb, manager of the Shipping Federation, being seen regarding the threat of the longshoremen, that they would not work under the bonus system, said it was not a matter for the federation to deal with. The companies would have to deal with their own employes in the future as they had done in the past. The employers had decided, some time ago, to continue the bonus system, as it had prevented "hold-ups" in the autumn, and he did not know what the workers were going to do about it.

ASQUITH'S CABINET.

Several Further Important Appointments Are Announced.

London, April 14.—Premier Asquith yesterday completed the reorganization of the Ministry as follows:

C. F. H. Hobhouse, at present Parliamentary secretary of the Indian Office, becomes financial secretary of the Treasury.

C. F. G. Masterman, Liberal member of Parliament for Westham, becomes Parliamentary secretary of the Local Government, and Thomas McKinnon Wood, Liberal member of Parliament for Glasgow, becomes Parliamentary secretary of the Board of Trade.

The Marquis of Ripon remains Lord Privy Seal, but at his request the Earl of Crewes, Lord President of the Council will be the leader in the House of Lords.

T. J. McNamara, now Parliamentary secretary of the Local Government Board, becomes Parliamentary secretary of the Admiralty.

Sent to the Central.

St. Thomas, April 14.—Wilbur G. Slaughter, who was found guilty on a charge of keeping a disorderly house, was yesterday sentenced to the maximum penalty of one year in Central Prison on that charge, and was found guilty on the charge of supplying liquor to Indians and sentence deferred.

In suspending sentence, however, on the second charge, Magistrate Glenn informed Slaughter that when he was freed from the Central Prison at the end of the year, if he returned to St. Thomas he would be re-arrested and sentenced to six months and probably fined $300, which is the maximum penalty for supplying liquor to Indians.

Earl Grey In Washington.

Washington, April 14.—Earl Grey, Governor-General of Canada, and Lady Grey, who have been visiting Bermuda, will arrive in Washington to-day and will be guests of the British ambassador and Mrs. Bryce in the embassy for several days.

Lady Sybil Grey, their daughter, spent a few days in Washington last week, the guest of Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Bacon.

The Ambassador and Mrs. Bryce will return from Virginia, where they spent the week-end. Earl Grey and Lady Grey will be guests of President and Mrs. Roosevelt at luncheon tomorrow.

May Clear Murder Mystery.

New York, April 14.—By the arrest of Frank Monato at Huntington, Ind., the mystery surrounding the murder of Julius Rosenheimer at Pelham Manor, N.Y., June 18, may be solved.

Mr. Rosenheimer was secretary of the London Needle Co., and resided on a handsome estate at Pelham Manor. With his wife he was strolling among the shrubbery of his grounds at dusk, when two men jumped from behind a clump of bushes and beat him to death.

Found Mother Dead.

Blenheim, April 14.—Mrs. Annie Dyer, a woman whose husband is a sailor, at Port Burwell, met a sudden death at her home at Ridley, six miles from here, Saturday night. She put her three children to bed in the evening and was not seen alive again. During the night the eldest boy was awakened by the continual crying of the baby on account of its mother not being in bed, and he arose and found her dead upon the floor.

Lockjaw Follows Injury.

Ingersoll, April 14.—Lockjaw, following an injury sustained over a week ago, caused the death Sunday of Walter, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Holmes. On Friday, April 3, the lad had his foot crushed by a wagon, but he continued to improve until Friday last, when lockjaw set in.

Drowned In Detroit River.

Amherstburg, April 14.—Henry Sellers, employed on a dump scow, fell to the bottom of the scow as the grates were opened and went into the river with rocks and mud and was drowned. He leaves a wife and four small children.

RUGBY HOCKEY ATHLETICS | SEASONABLE ....SPORTS.... | BOWLING BASKETBALL CURLING

Hurtubise Has Agreed To Meet Frank Kennedy

Wrestling Bouts Will Take Place Here And In Toronto---"Gene's" Good Record.

SOME LOCAL ATHLETES

The decision of Eugene Hurtubise, the Peterborough giant rugby player and ex-champion amateur heavyweight of Canada, says the Toronto Star, to abandon the amateur ranks and meet Frank Kennedy, the light heavyweight wrestler, in two matches, one here and the other in Peterborough, comes as a complete surprise to Toronto sportsmen. When Hurtubise turns over the leaf, amateur sport in Ontario loses a well-known figure.

Hurtubise as a wrestler and rugby player is probably as well known in Ontario as any athlete ever turned out in Peterborough, and that is saying a good deal when the best includes such good men as Bill Crowley, the hockey, rugby and lacrosse player; Fred Whiteroft, the hockey player; Freddie McGrath, the sprinter; Fred Simpson and Ernie Wilson, the runners; Art Burr, the Calgary runner; Gout Gauthier, the wrestler; Chris. Graham, the boxer, rugby, lacrosse, and baseball player, and others, not overlooking Dave Hartley.

Hurtubise is Rough

Hurtubise, with his six-foot four of bone and sinew, made his presence felt on every football field. He might not have been a brilliant football player, but, when it came to close, effective work in the scrimmage — "inside" football, according to Chaucer Elliott's vocabulary—Gene was there, and strange to say, many's the man took the count when he bumped into the elongated French-Canadian. They all tried to get even, but Hurtubise took the retaliatory offerings without a squeal, and handed back more.

He Defeated Banty

On the mat, Hurtubise was just as rough as he was on the field. He won his bouts by brute strength. Banty Russell, the sturdy Argo scrimmager, gave Hurtubise a battle once, but he had to succumb to Hurtubise's brawny arms, and those who saw him gather up Beckman, the New York amateur heavyweight, and crush him into submission in one bear-like embrace will never forget it.

Hurtubise is now under suspension by the C. A. A. U. for playing rugby with the Peterborough team against Montreal. He was the captain of the team which won the O.R.F.U. championship.

In Kennedy, the Peterborough lad will meet a wrestler whose chief stock-in-trade is roughness and an ability to stand punishment. When they get together the battle will be a fierce one, and one worth going far to see.

Kennedy After Edmunds

Kennedy, not content with his match with Hurtubise, is still sore on Art Edmunds, the 225-pound champion, who beat him in a handicap bout at the Labour Temple last week. He wants another whirl at "The Pocket Hercules," but he won't meet him in Toronto, as the following letter and challenge addressed to the sporting editor will show:

"I will meet Art Edmunds of Toronto and agree to throw him four times in an hour, straight hold only barred, at any place agreed upon outside of Toronto, the match to be pulled off on or before April 20. I would prefer to meet Edmunds in Hamilton or London. I will not wrestle him again here, because I cannot get fair play here. At the bout in the Labour Temple I could have thrown him in the hour, but the crowd displayed such a degree of unfriendliness toward me that I dare not go on and win, lest I should suffer personal injury. So confident am I that I can do what I undertook to do — throw Edmunds four times in an hour—that I enclose $50 to bind a match for $150, to take place at Hamilton or London, and leave the selection of the place and date to you if Edmunds accepts."

Frank Kennedy.

W. A. Bailey Is The Latest Entry In Six-Day Walking Race

W. A. Bailey, the well known writer of post cards, is the latest entry in the walking race. He writes as follows:

George Stevens, Esq., Peterborough.

Dear Sir.—I desire to enter the walking race, which opens at Brock street rink on Monday, April 20th, and, as an Englishman, desire fair play and a clear start. I was the winner of the big walk held on the Giants' Causway, from London to the Woolwich Arsenal, in 1899. I think you should measure the track four feet from the pole, and I would like to meet Hogan, the champion walker of America.

Yours
W. A. BAILEY.

Peterborough, April 11th, 1908.

Hoagland, the American champion is expected to-morrow or Thursday, and, Blake, the coloured walker from Florida, will be along about the same time.

The Otonabees Beat All Splits At P. B. C. Alleys Last Night

The Otonabees, the Peterborough Bowling Club's team, which played in Toronto last week, rolled a match game last night with clan Gutterson's "All Splits," and when the smoke had cleared away, Tommy Boyd's bunch were found hanging tightly to five straight victories, a grand total of 3,309 pins, and a total majority of 274 pins. Boyd and Wareham were tied for high honours, getting 863 apiece, while Gutterson was top man for his team, getting 764. Following was the score. Frost and Rose had to drop out after the first game.

Y. M. C. A. Enthusiasts Will Organize a Club.

A meeting of the Tennis Committee and all interested in the game of tennis, in connection with the Y.M.C.A., will be held on Wednesday night at 8.30, in the parlour. The committee who have it in charge are Messrs. J Clark, R F McWilliams and A E Dey. A club will be organized and officers elected.

BE A MANUFACTURERS LEAGUE

The Factory Teams Will Play Baseball This Year.

A meeting will be held in the Oriental Hotel to-morrow night, at 8 o'clock, for the purpose of organising a manufacturers' baseball league. A team, representing the Auburn Woollen Company, is already in the field, and it is understood that other manufacturing teams are ready to enter. A strong league of four clubs could easily be formed, and there seems no reason why the promoters should not go ahead with the scheme. All those interested are asked to attend tomorrow night's meeting.

ANOTHER ENTRY FOR THE WALKING MATCH

Mr. Alfred Cooney, 61 Years of Age, Says He Will be Starter.

Mr. Alfred Cooney called at the Examiner this morning and stated that he was an entry for the walking match next week. Although 61 years of age, Mr. Cooney says he still feels young, and that he will not finish last in the race, anyway. He has had no particular training, but does plenty of tramping.

Mr. Cooney resides on Chambers street.

THE PLANTING OF TREES

Should Not be Too Many Varieties—How the Pruning Should Be Done.

SPRAYING VERY NECESSARY

Canadian Dairyman

Very thrifty trees should be selected when setting a young orchard and these should be procured as near home as possible. Do not plant too many varieties. Trees planted with a view to profit should not be set more than 30 feet apart, and should be headed not more than two feet from the ground. This may be called a low-headed tree and is the ideal tree for profit.

Pruning should be done by cutting back the new growths each and every year fully one-half. The lower limbs should be so cut as to leave the terminal bud on the top side of the limb, and, in this way, training the limbs with an upward tendency. Not much pruning will be necessary apart from the cutting back. By heading a tree low and keeping it well cut back, it will bear earlier and more abundantly. The tree is more easily sprayed and the fruit more easily picked. It is not so apt to be destroyed by wind storms, on account of it being near the ground where the wind has less effect upon it than it does when trees are tall. From the standpoint of labor alone, the low-headed tree is a necessity, as well as a thing of beauty which is always a joy forever.

"Somebody may say, "What about cultivating around these low trees?" Cultivating can be very easily done until the tree is several years old. After it becomes difficult to get near the trunk with the plough and harrow, leave a strip two feet wide on each side of the trees without cultivation for by this time the roots have extended far beyond the top, and cultivation will be just as effective a little farther away from the trunk as it would be very near it, from the fact that the feeding fibres are out at the ends of the roots. Grass should be cut on this uncultivated strip of land at least three times during he season.

In growing fruit for profit, trees should be thoroughly sprayed at least three times during the season, and four would be better. It neither costs money nor takes time to spray. This sounds strange, but it is true. The outlay in cash for material and team hire is more than made up by the increased quantity and quality of the fruit. Any school boy who knows anything about a good apple can figure that out. The time lost in spraying is more than made up by the differente in the time it takes to grade good, clean, well-grown fruit, and poor, scabby, badly grown fruit. On second thought this must be apparent to any person.

Toronto, N.S., April 14.—Hon. John Lovitt passed away yesterday afternoon after an illness of several months, cancer being the cause of death. About a month ago he came home from Ottawa and has since remained confined to his residence.

During the past year Senator Lovitt had been under physicians' care most of the time and had undergone several operations. Senator Lovitt had the reputation of being a very wealthy man. He was formerly president of the Bank of Yarmouth.

Shot Tobacconist.

Montreal, April 14.—Alphonse Martineau, a tobacconist on St. Antoine street, had a close call last evening. While counting his cash two unknown men entered, and while one of them pretended to want something the other made a dive after the cash.

When Martineau resisted one of the rascals whipped out a revolver and fired, the ball entering the storekeeper's left breast. The wound will not be fatal. The robbers disappeared.

Attacked by a Dog.

Strathroy, April 14.—While crossing the road yesterday to visit a neighbor Mrs. Frank Ivor was set upon by a bird dog, which made for her throat.

Mrs. Ivor pushed the brute off, but he came back the second time and sunk his teeth into her hip, making an ugly gash. Dr. Simpson was quickly summoned, and cauterized the wound. No serious effects are anticipated, although she will be laid up for an indefinite period.

Discovery on Dreadnought.

London, April 14.—It is announced that a new discovery in connection with the turbine engines of the Dreadnought has resulted in a great increase of speed.

In a 12-hours' trial just held, the battleship averaged 20 1-2 knots, which is only one-half knot below her designed speed.

Fire at the Foster Mine.

Cobalt, April 14.—Last night fire totally destroyed the machine shop and assay office at the Foster Mine. The loss is $3,000. The fire is supposed to have started from defective electric wiring.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Unchanged—Hogs Are Easier at Chicago Market.

LONDON, April 13.—London cables are steady at 13c to 14c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 11c per pound.

Toronto Junction Live Stock.

TORONTO JUNCTION, April 13.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 59 carloads, composed of 1114 cattle, 60 hogs, 49 sheep and 170 calves.

Exporters.

Export steers sold at $5 to $5.75, the bulk selling at about $5.50; export bulls sold at $4 to $4.75 per cwt.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots sold at $5.40 to $5.60; loads of good at $5 to $5.35; medium, $4.75 to $5; common, $4 to $4.50; cows, $3.50 to $4.40.

Milkers and Springers.

A few milkers and springers sold at from $30 to $60 each.

Veal Calves.

Prices for veal calves were easier at $5 to $6 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep sold at $5 to $5.50 per cwt.; yearling lambs, $7.50 to $8 per cwt.; spring lambs sold at $5 to $9 each.

Hogs.

Gunns, Limited, report hogs 10c per cwt. lower, at $5.40 for selects, fed and watered, and $5.15, f.o.b. cars at country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, April 13.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards West End Market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending April 11 were 2060 cattle, 264 sheep and lambs, 4780 hogs and 1236 calves.

The offerings for the local trade this morning were 1300 cattle, 250 sheep and lambs, 2550 hogs and 300 calves.

This being the Easter market, the attendance of buyers was unusually large, including some from Quebec and Ottawa, and there were also present a few exporters. The weather was favorable, and the condition of the market was all that could be desired by both buyers and sellers, and especially by the latter, in showing their stock. The supply of cattle was much smaller than was generally expected, and, as the bulk of it was superior in quality to what generally is offered, a much stronger feeling prevailed, and prices advanced ¼c to 1c per lb. for top grades, while in a few odd instances some fancy figures were paid.

Sales of small lots of choice yearling lambs were made at 7c to 7¼c, and good at 6¼c to 6¾c, while choice lots of sheep sold at 5½c per pound. The supply of spring lambs was also small, which met with a ready sale at prices ranging from $5 to $8 each. There were a few extra choice, milk-fed calves on the market, for which the demand was good, and sales were made at 8c to 6½c per pound; but some holders were asking as high as 7c to 7½c per pound. Good calves sold at 5c to 5½c, and fair at 4c to 4½c per pound. A weaker feeling developed in the hog situation, and prices show a decline of 25c to 35c per 100 pounds since this day week. This was due to increased supplies and in sympathy with reaction in prices of 2s to 3s per cwt. for Canadian bacon in Liverpool last week. The demand from local dealers and packers for hogs this morning was good, and an active trade was done. Selected lots sold at $7 to $7.25 per 100 pounds, weighed off cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, April 13.—Cattle—Receipts, 2000 head; fairly active and steady; prime steers, $6.00 to $7; shipping, $5.75 to $6.50; butchers', $5 to $6.25; heifers, $4.90 to $5.15; cows, $3.25 to $5.50; bulls, $3.50 to $5.25; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $4.75; stock heifers, $3 to $3.75; fresh cows and springers, good, active and strong, common dull, $20 to $55.

Veals—Receipts, 250 head; active and steady; $5.50 to $6.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 12,600 head; slow and steady; heavy and mixed, $5.40 to $5.45; yorkers, $5.30 to $5.45; pigs, $4.50 to $5.05; roughs, $5 to $5.20; stags, $4 to $4.50; dairies, $5.25 to $5.40.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 10,400 head; active; sheep steady; lambs 25c higher; lambs, $5 to $8.40; a few $8.50; yearlings, $7.25 to $7.65; wethers, $7 to $7.25; ewes, $5.25 to $6.50; sheep, mixed, $3 to $6.60.

Two Thousand Drown.

Shanghai, April 14.—Disastrous floods are reported to have occurred at Hankow, in the Province of Hu Peh and it is stated that 2,000 persons have been drowned. Seven hundred junks were sunk or wrecked.

The floods are due to an unexpected freshet, which caught the people unexpectedly in the middle of the night.

Commission Declined.

Port Arthur, April 14.—A deputation, consisting of all the ministers of the city and some business men waited on the police commissioners with a petition signed by themselves urging the total suppression of houses of prostitution.

They addressed the commission at great length, but were finally informed by the authorities that they were handling the problem in the very best possible way. The commission declined to close the houses.

"Physician" Goes to Jail.

Windsor, April 14.—J. E. Harrington, convicted by Magistate Bartlet of violating the Ontario Medical Act by selling medicine when not a registered physician, was taken to Sandwich jail for thirty days, in default of a fine of $25 and costs.

Harrington defended his own case against the charge brought by Special Detective Ross of the Ontario Medical Association, who investigated the defendant's "herb and root remedies."

CONGO ANNEXATION.

Great Britain Will Deal With Question In June.

Liverpool, April 14.—If by June next Belgium has not annexed the Congo Independent State on acceptable terms the British Government is determined, with the co-operation of the American Government, to take measures which will compel the Congo Government to observe its treaty rights, which have been openly and persistently violated, was the announcement made yesterday afternoon by E. R. Morel, secretary of the Congo Reform Association, at a meeting of this body.

To Probe New York.

Albany, N.Y., April 14.—Governor Hughes yesterday signed the bill of Senator Page, providing for an investigation into the Government of New York City. The law authorises the governor to appoint within thirty days, a commission of fifteen persons to enquire into the city government in New York and suggest legislation, and in its discretion, draft a new charter and an administrative code for the city.

The commission has authority to delve into all departments.

Evangelist Russell Has Many Attentive Listeners

Opens Series of Services at the Y. M. C. A. Last Night—Speaks On Christ's Atonement.

SINGS SANKEY'S HYMN

The first week-night meeting of the series to be held by Mr. Douglas Russell, evangelist, was held last evening in the Y.M.C.A. hall, where a large number listened attentively to an address on the fifth chapter of the Epistle to the Romans. Mr. Russell mentioned the fact that sin came by Adam, a man whom God created. He placed special emphasis on the man, and not a monkey or tadpole. Man sinned, and God provided the Remedy in the person of His Son, Who was before all things, and by Whom all things exist. Peace having been made by the precious blood of Christ on Calvary, God could then, as now, give peace on the ground of the work of Christ. When a man gets God's peace, he enters into grace, and, as the spies brought back to Moses a good report of Canaan, shown by the bunch of grapes, so God gives His holy spirit to every believer in Christ, as the first fruits of the glory that is yet to come.

Mr. Russell said that in the year 80 A.D., the Epistle to the Church of Rome declared that, being justified by faith, they had peace, not on the ground of working for it, but by grace through faith. A man had once asked of the Lord, "What must I do to inherit eternal life?" The evangelist showed the meaning of the term by a very amusing illustration. A son of a wealthy farmer asked his father what he must do to inherit his property. The father answered that it was his by birth, and he could not do anything. It was his, and he must work it out. So God, in Christ, to every believer, has given His whole estate, and makes them joint heirs with Christ.

The whole address cannot be given, but it was most inspiring and forcible throughout. A cheery song service was given prior to the address. Mr. Russell sang a song which Mr. Sankey had asked him to sing every place he went in America. It is a very beautiful hymn, but as yet only in manuscript. To-night Mr. Russell will sing again, and also lead the song service. A cordial invitation is given to all to attend. The song service commences at 8 o'clock.—Com.

NEW LADIES' LODGE TO BE FORMED

In Connection With the Loyal True Blues—To be Known as "Watch Tower, No. 277."

HOLD MEETING TO-MORROW

The new lodge of Loyal True Blues, organized on April 1, will hold its second meeting on Wednesday evening, April 15, when very important work will be taken up, including the installation of officers and the White and Scarlet Degrees.

The meeting will be conducted by the district organizer for Peterborough county, which appointment was recently given to a local member. This organization is represented as making very rapid strides throughout the county, and several new lodges have been organized recently.

It is proposed to organize the ladies in a lodge entirely for themselves in a few weeks. This new lodge will be called "Watch Tower, No. 277," and a list of members elected to office will be given after the installation meeting.

ELECTIONS DUE ABOUT JUNE 9

No Reason to Revise Former Forecast in Spite of Double Meaning Statements

Examiner Special.

Toronto, April 14.—A few days ago I forwarded you a despatch announcing that the date of the provincial general election would be on, or about, the 9th of June. There is no reason to revise this forecast, even though Mr. Whitney has been making statements with a double meaning. Liberals should not allow themselves to be deceived or lulled into false security by Mr. Whitney's hints that the elections may be in June and they may be in September. He casts forth this doubt for Liberal consumption, but reserves the facts for confidential communication to his own party. The facts are that the Whitney Government intends to bring on the elections about the 9th or 11th of June, or within a week, either way, of these dates. Don't believe the September election story. It is only suggested to put Liberals offf their guard.

CENTRAL PARK SERVICE ON FRIDAY

The Massed Choirs of the City Will Lead In The Singing.

On Good Friday afternoon, the Ministerial Association will hold an open air service in Central Park, at 3 o'clock, and not at 5 o'clock, as stated in a former issue. A massed chorus of the members of all the church choirs in the city will lead in the singing. Several of the ministers of the city will take part, and it is hoped that a large number of the citizens will attend.

PARK STREET BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE MEET

A Temperance Subject Under Discussion —Interesting Meeting.

The session of the B.Y.P.U. of the Park street church last night was very interesting. The subject was "J. B. Gough," the great temperance orator, and the session took the form of a temperance meeting. President C. Barrie gave an interesting address, followed by Messrs. H. Lincoln Bruce and Herb Reid. A number of others took part in what proved to be a profitable meeting, with a large attendance.

MARTIN AND EMERY'S Production of PARSIFAL RICHARD WAGNER'S MYSTIC FESTIVAL PLAY

Characters in "Parsifal," Grand Opera House, Peterborough, Easter Monday, April 20.

"PARSIFAL"

It was in the year of 1857, that the immortal Richard Wagner first conceived his idea, relating to the grand possibilities contained in the legend of the "Holy Grail," for a wonderful spectacle and drama. It was not until twenty-five years later, namely 1882, that his idea was carried out to his satisfaction, and the world was given the glorious work of "Parsifal." It is said that his first intention was to present "Parsifal" simply as a dramatic production, but was induced later to change his mind, and produce it in combination music form. By his doing so, the world gained two grand productions, instead of the one. It will forever remain as the grandest of all music compositions. It will as surely stand for all time as the grandest drama ever written. It requires a trained mind, a cultivated musician, to enjoy the music of Wagner. One must thoroughly understand a thing to equally enjoy it. But the simplest tyro in dramatic experience can understand the exquisite story of "Parsifal," and understanding, cannot fail to enjoy it. It is this very quality, simplicity of the story and plot, that endears the play of "Parsifal" to the hearts and sould of all those who witness it. There are no social problems to dissect, neither are there any intricate or mysterious actions seen on the part of any of the characters in the play. But as a spectacle that appeals to the visual senses, as a play that in its very naturalness, soulful heart interest, absorbing and thrilling plot, that brings the colour to the cheeks with healthy excitement, that quickens the heart's action with every ennobling instinct and interest, watching the gradual unfolding of the beautiful story, it stands without a peer in the dramatic firmament. Such is "Parsifal," the play that required a quarter of a century of its author genius' life to make it what it is to-day—the drama of the world.

The "Parsifal" engagement here is for one performance, at the Grand Opera House, Easter Monday, April 20th.

THE FARMER GOT GOOD WEIGHT

The Scales Were Out Thirty Pounds to The Ton.

The market scales are out of commission to-day, while the weights are being re-adjusted. It was stated that they were weighing thirty pounds to the ton too heavy; thus the farmers were getting the better of the deal. Market Clerk Bull is waiting on customers at the Peter Hamilton Company's scales to-day.

SONS OF SCOTLAND, CLAN ALPINE CAMP

Meeting To-night for Initiation—Followed by Social Evening.

A meeting of the Sons of Scotland Clan Alpine Camp, will be held to-night, in the Orange Hall Simcoe street, at eight o'clock, for initiation. The feature of these meetings is the love for Scottish song and poetry, which is characteristic of those attending. The skirl of the bagpipes and the sweet strain of the fiddle will again be in evidence. All Scotsmen are invited.

SPLENDID PICTURES OF CHAMPIONS

Photographs of the Rugby Club and Strathconas Attract Attention.

The centre window of Merrell and Meredith's establishment has attracted a lot of attention to-day, because of the two large group pictures that are used in the decoration. They are pictures of the Peterborough Rugby Club, champions of the senior series of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, and the Strathcona, champions of the City Hockey League. Both are large pictures and are most tastefully arranged. The work was done by the Mendell Studio, and is a credit to that establishment.

TEMPLE BAND HERE FOR EASTER

Has a Membership of 32—Lead by Youthful Musician—Splendid Programme Has Been Arranged.

WERE HERE TWO YEARS AGO

The Salvation Army Temple Band, of Toronto, which will arrive here on Saturday night next, to take part in the Easter festival is recognised as one of the finest musical combinations in the Dominion of Canada.

The band, like all other Salvation Army bands, consists entirely of working men, none of whom receive any remuneration for their services, but rather contribute to the upkeep of the band.

The complete set of first class silver-plated instruments the band possesses, are the property of the Salvation Army Temple Corps, and are almost all Salvation Army make.

During the year 1906 the band successfully toured through Eastern Ontario, visiting the following places, Peterborough, Tweed, Carleton Place, Ottawa, Smith's Falls, Montreal, Kingston, Gananoque, Napanee, Deseronto, Picton, Trenton, Cobourg, Port Hope and Oshawa.

The men comprising the band represent between them about 500 years of soldiership, and 332 years of service as bandsmen. A number have been Salvationists all their lives.

Of the thirty-two men nearly all are converts, and all are Army made instrumentalists.

Four of the bandsmen have completed over twenty years' of service as Salvation Army soldiers.

A programme of twenty-nine numbers, vocal and instrumental, has been arranged and printed. The programme shows a cut of Staff Captain Walton and the Temple Band, giving their names and the instruments they play. The programme also gives a short note about the band.

All kinds of tea deteriorates with age. The flavour consists in an essential oil which decays. Take only fresh tea, and it only in the sealed lead packets of the "Salada" Tea Company. On account of its delicious strength a pound of "Salada" will go as far as a pound and a quarter of other teas.

PROGRESS OF WORK ON NEW ALL SAINT'S CHURCH

Work of Excavating Going On—To be Finished in Few Days.

The work of excavating for the new All Saints' Church began last Friday, and is being pushed forward rapidly. It is expected this portion of the work will be finished in a few days, and it will be followed by the foundation.

FOURTH ANNIVERSARY OF MR. H. T. ADAMS' OPENING

This week, Mr. Harry Adams, of the Ladies' Furnishing Store, is celebrating the fourth anniversary of his opening out in business. His daily store news this week will be found unusually interesting to ladies, Mr. Adams states that he has received many tokens from the public of their approval, since he began business for himself. The outlook for his goods this season, he says, is satisfactory —in fact, better than the "hard time" talk would bear out.

Music and Drama

TOM MARKS' COMPANY

The Tom Marks Dramatic Company opened a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House last night, presenting an Irish comedy drama "Major O'Hara." There was a big house and the piece was well put on in every respect. The company is well balanced, all the members being actors or actresses of unusual talent. The specialties were high-class and were received with great enthusiasm.

Marks Bros. will hold the boards every night this week with matinees on Friday and Saturday in a repertoire of high-class plays. They should have bumper houses. Tonight the "Hypocrite" will be presented.

Tom Marks announced last night that he would give $25 to any couple who would have their marriage performed on the stage on Friday and Saturday night.

Sec.—Miss Marion Coon.
Cor. Sec.—Mr. Ormond Gervan.
Treas.—Mr. Wesley Crowe.
Pianist—Miss M. Spear.

By-law Fixing The Solicitor's Salary At $900 Was Passed

Special Meeting of the City Council Was Held Last Night---Ald. Morrow Given Two Months Leave of Absence---Ald. Bradburn Finance Minister

A short special session of the City Council was held last night, at which several matters that required attention before the next regular meeting were taken up and disposed of. Among them was the bylaw fixing the salary of City Solicitor Hall at $900, and the granting of two months' leave of absence to Ald. Morrow, who is going to England. His place as chairman of the Finance Committee will be taken during his absence by Ald. Bradburn, who was appointed last night. There was some cross-firing as usual between Ald. Morgan and Ald. Johnston in regard to firehall matters, and Ald. Buller, who thought the Fire, Water and Light Committee should receive their information first hand instead of second hand from Ald. Morgan, was informed by the latter that he should wait until he had been in the Council a while before he imagined that he knew it all.

There were present Mayor Rush, Ald. Johnston, Tovey, Elliott, Morgan, Buller, Bradburn, Gillespie, Turner, McIntyre, Neill, Morrow and Phelan.

The following communications were dealt with:

Reports were read and adopted from the Committee of the Whole, and the Fire, Water and Light Committee. These reports have already been reported in these columns.

On motion of Ald. Morrow and Phelan, a bylaw was passed fixing the salary of City Solicitor Hall at $900.

Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald. Morrow, that Ald. Morrow be given two months' leave of absence, and that Ald. Bradburn act as chairman of the Finance Committee. —Carried.

Ald. Bradburn referred to an editorial that appeared in Saturdays' issue of the Examiner, in regard to the proposed change in the run of the local train, making Havelock, instead of Tweed, the terminal point. He agreed with the writer of the editorial that the loss of the trade of the district east of Tweed would be felt, and moved that a resolution be passed, asking that the C. P. R. make no change in this train, but have it run through to Tweed as usual. Ald. Phelan seconded the resolution, which was carried unanimously.

The Board of Trade, it is understood, will also take the matter up.

A deputation, composed of Messrs. G. M. Roger, G. Walter Green and other ratepayers, was present, supporting a petition for a sewer on Park street, north of McDonel street. Mr. Roger, who was the spokesman of the party, explained that there was water service on the street, but no sewer, and that a number of houses would be built there, provided accommodation for sewage could be secured.

The matter was referred to the Board of Works.

The Council adjourned at 9.20 o'clock.

Rev. H. J. Keith Receives An Increase Of $200 In Salary

Informed of the Practical Appreciation of His Untiring Efforts At Anniversary Last Night—Presentation to Mrs. Keith.

A PLEASING FUNCTION

The celebration of the first anniversary of Knox Church is now over and the congregation and pastor must feel pleased and gratified with the splendid success of the two days' meetings. The visit of Rev. W. D. Reid, of Montreal to assist in the services on Sunday and in last night's concert, added to a great extent in the achieving of such splendid results. The congregation did its share of the work. A fine programme was prepared and their efforts in this connection were fully appreciated. The people also showed their interest by the pretty manner in which they decorated the church. In every particular they displayed a zeal and eagerness which they have always manifested in the past and which could not but bring about the desired results.

A particular pleasing feature of the concert last night was a presentation to both Mr. and Mrs. Keith. Rev. Mr. Reid was asked to represent the congregation, and at an opportune moment he surprised the pastor and his wife and those of the audience who were not aware of what was to take place. Mrs Keith was the recipient of an elaborate marble clock, the gift of the Ladies' Aid Society. On behalf of the managers and the congregation Mr. Reid then announced to Mr. Keith that his salary had been increased by two hundred dollars.

Successful Work

In conveying this announcement to the pastor, Rev. Mr. Reid congratulated him on the sucess of his work in the new church. Inducted only a year ago, it was a remarkable showing that the congregation should make this grant and this fact was in itself sufficient recognizance of the pastor's efficient services. Mr. Reid expressed the wish that Mr. Keith would celebrate many future anniversaries with his people.

Rev. Mr. Keith was effected by the kindness of the managers. On behalf of his wife he thanked the ladies of the Ladies' Aid Society and for himself expressed his sincere gratitude to the managers. It was a great pleasure and recompense to feel that his people appreciated his efforts in their behalf. And referred to the assistance he had received from every department in the church. In conclusion he hoped to receive the same help in the future and thus united for the good of the church the first year's success would be duplicated.

The presentation of the stereopticon views was under the direction of Rev. Dr. Marsh.

Board Of Health Orders Sewer On Harvey Street To Be Built

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Health was held this morning when a number of matters of routine business came up. There were present Dr. Burnham, Chairman; Dr. Young, Dr. McNulty, Messrs. James Edgar, Jas. Murty, and Dr. Bingham, Medical Health Officer.

A communication was read from the Canadian General Electric Co. calling the attention of the Board to the fact that the sewer on Park street had become blocked up and the sewage was running back into the company's premises.

Messrs. O'Connell & Gordon wrote on behalf of Nicholas Renzetti asking that the time given him for placing his property on Charlotte Street in a proper sanitary condition be extended past the first day of May, owing to the fact that he had some heavy liabilities to meet at this time.

There was some discussion on this point and on motion it was decided to notify Mr. Renzetti that he is given until May 15 to attend to the matter.

Mr. Rose of Harvey street waited upon the Board and asked that a sewer be built on that street. He explained that the sewer had been blocked. He had built a new house on the street, and would like very much to see a sewer built.

It was moved that the City Council be asked to construct a sewer on Harvey street from Smith street to Antrim street and on Antrim street from Harvey to Water streets, upon sanitary grounds as a local improvement.

It was moved that Mr. J. P. Metheral be notified that he must have his house on George street, opposite Central Park, connected with the sewer before May 15th.

EASTER NUMBER OF THE WAR CRY

Local Corps Has a 1000 Copies for Sale —Peterborough Man Sold Largest Number of Christmas Copies.

The officers of the local Salvation Army Corps here have received 1,000 copies of the Easter War Cry, to offer for sale. The pile stands high in the hallway, and it seems almost impossible for the outsider to realize that these will be sold before Easter, but the officers are confident that every number will be disposed of before Friday. The Easter War Cry is a credit to the Army, and to those who have purchased the special numbers each year, at Christmas and at Easter; one can see the vast improvement one number has over the last. The Easter War Cry has a very beautiful front page, and contains twenty-four pages of solid reading, including the following stories: "With the Maple Sugar Makers," "Eastertide Customs and Memories," "A Tragedy in Seven Acts," "Slick Jim, a Bowery Tough," and several other interesting articles comprise the Easter number.

One of the soldiers of the Peterborough Corps, won the picture of General Booth, for the largest number of sales of the Christmas number, and the local officers hope to come out ahead for the Easter number.

CLOSING MEETING OF THE LITERARY SOCIETY

Of Collegiate Institute to be Held Tonight in St. Peter's Hall.

The Collegiate Institute Literary Society will hold its closing meeting tonight in St. Peter's School Hall, at 8 o'clock. The principal part of the programme will be an Oratorical contest. FEW POINTS ABOUT CALF RAISINING

What is Necessary to do to Take Proper Care of Them.

Canadian Dairyman

Every human mother, who is fit to be a mother, knows that if her baby is allowed to remain wet and uncleanly, it will soon grow sickly. The bovine baby is strictly amenable to the same law. Every calf raiser must have seen the ill effects of allowing calves to lie in their own voidings and urine. A farmer was once showing us his stock. His horses were bedded down with an abundance of straw. His calves were lying in filth and moisture that made us indignant to behold. "What are you raising those calves for?" we asked. "To make cows of them," he replied. "Oh no, you are not. You are raising them to be weak, sickly failures," was our answer. He confessed to us that he had lost a good many calves, but he never had thought that the way he had kept them was the cause.

Turn a calf or a pig out in the woods and it will find for itself a bed of dry leaves in a clean place, and they will keep healthy, if they have food enough.

In my own calf stable every winter are from 25 to 30 calves. Around the outside, next to the wall is a feeding alley. Then comes a row of stanchions, the only place on the premises where I use a stanchion. Then comes the open ample room, with a dirt floor. This is covered every day, and, if necessary, twice a day, either with bright, dry straw or shavings. This floor is sprinkled night and morning with a good disinfectant. The calves are fed in these stanchions, with skim milk, fresh from the separator, in clean tin pails, twice a day. Then they are given a feed of oats or barley meal, followed by alfalfa hay. All this consumes an hour, say. Then they are let out of the stanchions to run at will on the floor. Twice a day they are let out in the big barn yard to have a run and play. Fresh water is kept standing before them, on the floor of the stable, all the time.

Mr. Geo. W Henley, of the Rathbun Lumber Company, Deseronto, is in the coity for a few days on business.

Dear Sir,—I saw in your paper the other day a suggestion for the aldermen, to see that the city watering carts be out in time for the dust. But the dust is put before the carts and the disagreeable accompaniments. Cannot something be done to have the nuisance stopped?

DR. McNULTY READS PAPER AT BOARD HEALTH MEETING

means of ascertaining whether the discharged patient is infected or not; in fact, it is impossible to fix a time, when infection after scarlet fever cases, and so it has been repeatedly observed, that a fresh series of cases arise in the home or neighbourhood, to which a discharged patient has been sent. For this reason these diseases are forever present, and once an isolation hospital has been established in a district, to cope with an epidemic, it is practically never afterwards able to close its doors or cease from its labours.

To appreciate the ensuing facts, it must be understood that the severity of all infectious diseases depends upon two factors, the virulence of the individual germ, and the strength or resistance of the patient. Germs differ in their strength, just as human beings do, and, as we may have a robust, powerful man, or a weakly, delicate one, so we may have a strong, violent germ, or a weak, almost harmless one. An infection with the former would induce a severe, probably fatal, attack of the disease, whereas, an infection with the latter would be followed by a mild attack. The second factor, the resistance of the patient, also comes into play; a strong, healthy man or child, exposed to infection by a weak germ, would probably not contract the disease at all, only the more delicate of those exposed would become ill, and so, in a general way, the varying severity of infectious diseases depends upon the variation in virulence of the germ, and the variation in the strength of the patient. It is from this fact that, in mixing up mild cases with severe cases in open wards, the symptoms of the former often become aggravated; the mild cases contract the more severe form, and, in fact, convalescents have been re-infected by a freshly admitted patient ill with infectious trouble in a more virulent state. For this reason the mortality in hospital districts is higher, as shown by statistical reports. It is segregation, and not aggregation, of patients that is desired, and this has so far been recognized by the French physicians, that in an endeavour to overcome this defect of hospital isolation, each patient in the hospitals of Paris is placed in a closed glass cubicle. In fact, an ordinary case of scarlet fever has a better chance of speedy recovery at home, if proper nursing is provided, and the risk of the infection spreading in the household, however poorly circumstanced it may be, is not nearly so great as is generally believed. For example, in the districts without hospitals, more than half the cases notified were single cases, that is, only one case in the household, which proves that effective isolation at home is possible, when supervised by an intelligent person. This disease is no longer characterized by its old terrors, and yet much of the old dread attaching to it remains. Thirty years ago, the reported mortality was estimated at from seven to ten per cent., but of late years it has only varied from one and a half to two per cent. In fact, the type of the disease has become so mild that many cases escape notification altogether, and herein lies, in a large measure, the explanation of the inefficiency of hospital isolation as a preventive measure. Virulent attacks may follow in those exposed to infection from a mild case, the germ of a mild case attaching itself to a susceptible person might engender a severe form of the disease; in this way great mischief is wrought by mild, unrecognized, ambulatory cases. In over fifty per cent. of initial cases in households, there has not been the semblance of any direct exposure to the infection of a notified case. In other words, the disease has been derived from an unascertained source, and so hospital isolation, or no hospital isolation, the real diffuser of infection, the transient, unnotified case, remains untouched.

In hospitals are placed not the patients who most commonly spread the disease but others who would in any case be kept under observation and more or less effectively isolated, at least from other households. Until some reliable method of locating unnotified cases is evolved, hospital isolation must obviously be ineffacious. Another important fact repeatedly noted is the incapacity of mass children, who have successfully steered through the initial stages of an epidemic, to resist the "return" type of infection. A more virulent type of disease is fostered by the aggregation of scarlet fever patients in isolation hospitals, (and so a child admitted with a mild attack, which the other children of the household were able to resist, becomes contaminated in the hospital with a more virulent germ, returns home after a varying time, diffuses the germ of a more virulent type, which this time is able to overcome the resistance of the other children and so a fresh series of cases develop. This sequence of events has been repeatedly observed in the quarter of a century that isolation hospitals have been on trial and has led the medical health officer of Sheffield to write "that our scarlet fever hospitals must be regarded as a last resort for those unfortunate patients who cannot be possibly treated in their homes."

From the foregoing fact it follows that houses from which patients went to hospital presented subsequent cases more often than those in which patients remained at home. Even before the removal of the patient the rest of the household have been exposed to infection, exposed in fact very often before the physician has been called in, and then whether fresh cases appear in the household or not does not depend on the removal of the patient, but on the resistance or state of health of the others in the family. No object is sequestering a patient at great cost in an isolation hospital after he has come in contact with the rest of the household; treatment can be as effectively carried out at home if a trained nurse is in attendance, and in addition the disturbance of removal, and the patient's usual dread of a hospital, have a depressing effect on the case.

Then again mistaken diagnosis sometimes occurs, the patient may be hurried away to the hospital, suffer the consequence of isolation and probably contract, or in any case brought into hourly contact with real infectious cases. This grave danger would be rendered impossible if the patient was intelligently isolated at home and the progress of the case carefully observed. Besides of what use would an ordinary isolation hospital be in the presence of an epidemic; no hospital or ordinary capacity could afford accommodation for all the cases. The plans for the proposed local hospital allow for between twenty and thirty beds, but no great purpose would be served in isolating twenty or thirty, if one hundred or more were affected in the city. In addition a very grave danger attaches to the isolation of cases of scarlet fever and diphtheria in the same hospital, the danger of "cross infection." The scarlet fever patient in his weakened condition might easily fall a prey to diphtheria, and the diphtheric patient might as easily contract scarlet fever, when both are kept under the same roof no matter how carefully otherwise kept apart. The danger is still further enhanced if we must at the same time afford accommodation for other infectious cases such as mumps, chicken pox, measles, etc. A patient would be fortunate indeed who could safely run the gamut of these additional infections.

These are some good points that practically all who have given the subject special attention are agreed upon. A medical investigator, officially appointed, looking into 35 000 cases of scarlet fever, reports adversely on hospitals. The same applies to diphtheria, the prevention and cure of which rests upon the antitoxine treatment, and not hospital isolation. The British Medical Journal and the Lancet advocate the appointment of a Royal Commission to look into the whole question, as does also the Society of Medical Officers of Health and the Congress of the Royal Institute of Public Health. They ask the question whether isolation at very considerable cost to the community, of a disease in which no-one can fix with certainty the time when a patient is free from infection, is worth the labour and expense involved.

The above facts apply to hospitals as they exist today. The fault may be with the system of administration and not be inherent in hospitals themselves. One can imagine the ideally conducted hospital, to which scarcely any of the above objections would be applied. Such a hospital would be on the cottage system, with a separate building and separate nursing staff for each class of infectious trouble, to have in fact, no communication whatever between the buildings allotted to the various diseases, the buildings to have terrazzo or tile floors and polished cement walls to allow of frequent flushing with the hose and Antiseptics. Each patient is to be kept separate from other patients to avoid infection. This might be done by giving each a private ward or enclosing him in a glass vehicle. Nurses have to be allotted to the mild cases and to be kept apart from those outtending the more severe cases. Patients not to be discharged directly to their homes but sent to convalescent institutions and kept there under observation for some time. Such a plan as this would be expensive in the extreme but if adopted would probably overcome many of the objections raised against hospitals as particularly now-adays conducted. But there is no hope or expectation of the money being found for such an ideal place, and as to otherwise meet conditions as they exist. The following is an alternative [illegible]

1. Active sanitary administration and effective method of disinfection.

2. Intelligent home isolation, the municipality to supply the nurse, and in diphtheria the antitoxine, in the case of indigent patients, and also to pay the wages to the breadwinner of the family and keep him at home to pay his board outside and allow him to continue at work.

3. In exceptional cases, in the homes of dressmakers, school teachers, hotels, etc., to have patient removed to a hospital tent, a number of which should be always available and placed under the care of a nurse and medical health officer, or attending physician; double walled tents with kitchen outfit are supplied for this purpose, are warm and comfortable even in mid-winter and can be thoroughly disinfected after each case.

The arrangement of the fine points of this plan is left to the sanitary medical health officer. The equipment to accommodate in tents a few cases of each class of infectious diseases should always be immediately available; arrangements should be entered into with all resident nurses and a list of their addresses kept; a good supply of antitoxine should be always on hand, and as the details be perfected as to allow of prompt and decisive action on the appearance of the early cases. The cost to the municipality of this plan would be 1-4 to 1-3 the cost of maintaining an isolation hospital; such has been the result where the two methods have been composed. With a less cost and a more effective control of these diseases. I submit that we should be guided by the experience of those in a wide field and put into practice these more advanced measures. L.I.

WAS PRESENTED WITH A GOLD LOCKET

At the last regular meeting of the above society, Mr. Jno. J Hanrahan was the recipient of a handsome gold locket, being the prize offered to the member securing the greatest number of new members, during the past six months. The locket was suitably engraved, and the presentation was made by Rev. P J Kelly, County Chaplain, on behalf of the donor of the locket, Bro. M J Maher. Mr Hanrahan made a suitable reply in acknowledging the receipt of the well earned prize.

OFFICERS MET LAST NIGHT

Committee Appointed to Meet Committee From Council to Arrange Programme.

WILL HOLD RECEPTION

The officers of the 57th Regiment held a meeting in their mess rooms last night regarding the laying of the corner-stone of the new Armouries. The commanding officer was in the chair, and there was a splendid attendance on the part of the officers. It was decided that a committee from the officers should meet a committee from the City Council this evening and arrange a programme and a banquet for the coming ceremony. The officers also decided to hold a reception, assisted by their wives, after the laying of the corner-stone. This ceremony promises to be an historic event for this city, and the programme for the day will be announced later.

PREMIUMS GIVEN WITH STROUD'S TEA

How Such Liberal Offers Can be Made By This Progressive Company.

The proof of the tea is the drinking of it. This was the reply of Mr. Stroud, of the Stroud Tea and Coffee Company, importers, when asked by the Examiner how the firm could afford to give free, a handsome cup and saucer with every pound of their 30c, 40c, 50c, or 60c tea, (Japan, black, mixed or green,) or coffee, purchased on Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, April 15th, 16th and 17th. Mr. Stroud explained that these gifts are one form of advertising, and that the return would come from the increased demand for their teas and coffees once the people had an opportunity of using them. "A test of their quality will be so eminently satisfying to every purchaser that the consumption and demand will increase to such an extent that the profits will easily cover the outlay implied in the handsome gifts offered. A good article like our tea or coffee has only to be used once to be used always. All who are induced by the bargain days' free gifts to buy our teas will become regular customers. The proof of our teas is in the drinking. That is why and how it pays to offer a handsome gift to every purchaser of Stroud's unequalled teas and coffees."

FIVE CANDIDATES AT THE DINNER TABLE TO-DAY

Unique Circumstance at the Munro House at Noon To-day.

In the dining hall of the Munro House to-day, five aspirants for political honours and parliamentary seats, found themselves grouped around one table, and showed by their actions a singular unanimity in the matter of "grub," even if they differed widely in political opinion. They were Mr. P McNulty, Liberal nominee for the Local Legislature East Peterborough; Mr. James Thompson, his Conservative rival for the same House and constituency; Mr. J A Sexsmith, Dominion candidate for East Peterborough; Mr. J H Burnham, his running mate for the same parliament in the West Riding, and Mr. G A Gillespie, who was nominated as Liberal candidate for the Legislature in West Peterborough to-day.

CITY OF FIFTEEN THOUSAND IN DANGER OF BEING SWEPT AWAY BY ADVANCING FLOOD

Special from J. R. Heintz & Co.

Helena, Mont., April 15.—As a result of a break in the Great Hauser Lake dam, on the Missouri River, late yesterday, a flood is rapidly advancing upon Great Falls, a city of 15,000.

It is believed that the Heaton & Montana smelter, one of the largest in the world, is doomed. The smelter is situated on the river bank and employs 1,508 men. Their men were working all night erecting a wing dam around the smelter.

Town Under Water

Cascade, a town of 400 population, 69 miles from Helena, and 23 miles north of Craig, is under water, and is in danger of being swept away. The river is thickly strewn with debris.

EMPLOYEE OF CORDAGE WORKS RESCUES MAN FROM PERILOUS POSITION ON THE C.P.R. BRIDGE

Under the influence of liquor a stranger was rescued from a dangerous position on the C. P. R. bridge on Monday evening. Mr. Robt. J. Weir, who resides on Burnham street, East City, was returning home from the Cordage Works, a few minutes after 6 o'clock. When crossing the bridge he noticed a man at the end of the first span, in danger of the 4.48 express from Montreal, which was about a half mile distant, over an hour late.

On either side of the bridge, at the east end, there is a stone abutment, the top of which is within a few feet of the rails. The man was sitting on this, facing the track, with his head supported on his hands and knees.

Mr. Weir hurried towards him, and had considerable difficulty in getting the man clear of the track, as he was tall and heavily built. Mr. Weir succeeded none too soon, and in every probability the man would have met serious injury, if not death, if by any chance the train had passed and he in the position in which he was found. His head was directly in the way of some of the projections of the engine or the steps of the coaches.

Gum Factory Will Soon Be Started In Peterborough

Will be Managed by Local Men—Premises Secured on Park Street—Machinery Coming From United States.

WILL EMPLOY MANY HANDS

With a gum factory in their midst, the people of Peterborough will have plenty of opportunities of having a good chew, and what are now pay a nickle for might be reduced to a cent.

A gum factory will soon be started in Peterborough, and the company is composed of local business men.

The building in which the gum will be made is situated on Park street, and is a solid brick structure, formerly used as a store. Mr. Joseph Bayette of this city is the president of the company, and will be the general manager. The machinery to be used in the manufacture of the gum is of the latest design and is being imported from the United States. It is expected that the company will employ many men, and it will be a splendid industry for the city.

The directors of the company are all pried business men, and in all probability the new industry will be a great success.

Annual Meeting Of Cheese And Butter Makers' Association

General Discussion on Important Questions Connected With The Industry.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED

The annual meeting of the Cheese and Butter Makers Association of Peterborough was held this morning in the Council Chambers, with a good attendance of those interested in the cheese and butter industry. Mr. A H Campbell the President, was in the chair with Mr. H J Crowe, Secretary-Treasurer. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted and the following officers were elected for the coming year :—

President—Daniel Oakley, Norwood.
Vice-President—E Demorest, Lakefield.
Secretar-Treasurer — Ashley Andrews, Bensfort.
Assistant Sec.-Treas.—H Lackie, Frazerville.

A discussion was entered into, regarding the question of placing a membership fee and thus strengthen the Association that it might flourish to a greater extent than in the past. The matter was left undecided for the afternoon meeting.

Mr. D D Cameron, of Garden Hill, took up the matter of salting cheese, leading in a discussion, in which he answered questions from the assembly. He advised using a little less salt to obtain a fine velvety cheese. "Get rid of the moisture in cooking and cut a little finer," Mr. Cameron said. After milling, he advocated spreading out in the cage of first spring curds.

Referring to the testing of milk as a basis for payment, Mr. Cameron spoke of experiments made at the school during the past winter. Three hundred and twenty-five lbs. of milk were procured from two farmers; the test showed butter fat in the two lots at 3 per cent. in one and 4 per cent. in the other, and the rich milk gave 33 lbs. of cheese, while the 3 per cent. milk gave only 24 lbs. Both lots of milk were from Holstein cows. Many experiments of this nature were made and the results proved that the milk with high percentage of butter fat, showed highest percentage of casein and produced the most cheese. Mr. Ward, speaking of the Holstein cow, said he had seldom heard of that breed of cow giving such a high percentage of butter fat.

The first duty of cheese maker is to get out among the patrons and impress them to send their milk in the very best condition. Many producers do not like to see the instructor coming to visit them, but they are not so prejudiced against the maker and he can do more good than the inspector.

A yeasty curd is one in which the curd resembles yeast and to overcome this is one of the most difficult problems in the cheese industry. The use of acid makes this fermentation worse and great care must be used to procure good cheese in this case.

Mr. Campbell added to Mr. Cameron's words, urging the makers to guard against flies.

FARMER GOT INTO DIFFICULTY

Was Coming into the City With Wagon—Road was Covered With Several Feet of Water.

WAS PULLED OUT OF MIX-UP

A farmer, who was driving into the city yesterday from the south, had an experience that he will not forget for some time. The river has overflowed and the road was below the water. The farmer came along, his wagon loaded with all kinds of agricultural products, and drove into this pond. He did not realize his position until he was in the middle. He tried to urge the horses on, but the farther they went the deeper the water became. Two men, who had been watching the affair, started off in a punt and soon had the farmer and his horse and wagon out of difficulty.

CENTRALIZATION.

Hon. Mr. Whitney's courage and confidence in the justness of his cause are shown by his "graft" actions in regard to gaining an undue advantage by the gerrymander, and giving "Tory" Toronto eight members. On the same basis of population, Montreal would have ten members in the Quebec Legislature. It has six, or one to every 45,000 of the population. Toronto will have one member to every 26,000 of the population, not counting the resident members of the cabinet of eight members, who are de facto representatives of the city. This arrangement is not only palpable over-representation, but centralization of a kind hostile to the interests of the rural constituencies. Toronto has all the advantages implied in being the seat of government, and with eight members, and the eight cabinet ministers, practically a membership of sixteen, will exercise an undue influence in the Legislature of the Province, which is overwhelmingly rural in its constitution, interests, and legislative and administrative requirements. Under Mr. Whitney's gerrymander, the city of Toronto will be in a position to exercise an influence in the Legislature equivalent to the representation of sixteen country constituencies. Thus Toronto, with its lawyer and professional members, will have the whip hand over the farmer members of the Province. Centralization of authority and influence could not be much more complete than Mr. Whitney has provided for

SANE AND SENSIBLE.

If a man is drunk, take him home. That is the latest police order in Harrisburg, Pa.

"Drunkenness is a disease, and we propose to act from that viewpoint," says Mayor Meals, the new executive. "I have instructed my chief of police to see that plain drunks are taken home instead of to the lock-up. That kind of treatment will do more than anything else to make a drinking man ashamed of himself. I also propose that when a man gets hopelessly drunk in a saloon the proprietor of the place shall take care of him, and not throw him out into the gutter."

This is a sane and sensible stand and shows that some progress is being made towards a condition approaching real civilization.

GRATUITOUS GRAFT.

Hon. Mr. Whitney is not renowned as a humourist, but his solicitude for "provincial" rights has about it something positively funny or, at least, ridiculous. It even challenges the common sense of his own political friends. The Montreal Gazette, a staid and solid Conservative journal with the same sort of fondness for anything Liberal that a fox has for a chicken, thus reproves our own "prime minister":

Mr. Whitney, the Premier of Ontario, hints at appealing to the Parliament of Great Britain for amendments to the B. N. A. Act to protect provincial rights. Mr. Whitney at times does not appear to be as logical as he might be. The B. N. A. Act defines the powers and rights of the Dominion and province. The courts will, in the future, as they have in the past, put an end to legislation by either that invades the field of the other. What Mr. Whitney seems to want is not protection of provincial rights, but reduction of Federal rights.

Mr. Whitney wishes to claim a credit he does not deserve, by raising the cry of "wolf" when there is no wolf in sight, or for the matter of it, in existence. The Laurier Government has shown no hostility to provincial rights, but, if it erred it has erred in the paying direction, for the provinces, by yielding the main part of the demands of the provinces for increased federal subsides and has, moreover, shown no serious disposition to invade the rights of the provinces. As the world of constitutional government has had to look to Liberalism for the rights and privileges it enjoys—always bitterly combatted by the spirit of Toryism—so the provinces have always had to look to the Liberal party, as the depository of Liberal principles, to defend their rights as defined by the Act of Confederation. These rights have been seriously menaced and attacked by the Conservative party only. It is nothing short of sheer impudence, and "grafting" for undeserved glory, for Mr. Whitney to pose as the champion of provincial rights.

More proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cures sick women.

Miss M. R. Morin, 335 Ontario St., Montreal, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was in very poor health and doctored for months, receiving very little benefit. I had lost all ambition, was nervous, and subject to dizzy spells and painful periods each month.

"A friend suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as the proper medicine for me. I procured a bottle of this remedy and began taking, and before it was finished, I felt so much better that I continued its use and gave it a thorough test, with the result I am to-day well and a much healthier girl than I was three years ago. I have no more painful periods, dizziness or nervous troubles."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Legislation has been passed during the late session of the Legislative Assembly not only providing that in cities of a certain population, police magistrates are to be paid a salary not exceeding $2,000, and to be debarred from practice, but that, on and after January 1 next, all police magistrates in cities of 18,000 and over shall be put on this basis.

The law reform legislation which Mr. Whitney, when in Opposition, so clamourously demanded, has, after three years in cold storage, been put upon ice again—deferred to a more convenient season. Now, the Whitney Government could find time to perpetrate gerrymander legislation in the interests of its party; but it could find no time for legislation in the people's interests, by providing a reform of law procedure that would permit the people to get their rights by legal process without the burdensome toll of costs that now spells ruin for a poor man entering the lists of the law.

For some ten years, school savings banks have been in operation in this Province with uniformly satisfactory results. They have, however, not been officially recognized until the present, when authority has been given school boards to purchase the necessary supplies for the purpose. The system has been attended with so much success that it not only deserves the stamp of official approval, but more general adoption in connection with our schools. Apart from the educative functions of our schools, there is nothing so important as the development of habits that make for material solidity—habits of thrift and saving—making prudent and right use of means.

With the close of the late session of the legislature, and the end of the present parliament, the Liberal contingent in the Ontario will be without the parliamentary services of Mr. T H Preston, of Brantford, who will not again be a candidate for re-election. He was a most valuable member of the House, sound in his views and policy, and moderate and effective in their presentation. He was a man who as a private member made a large mark in public life, and was a public man of cabinet calibre. There are scores of members whose absence from the Legislature would be missed less than that of Mr. T H Preston, whom, by the way some favoured Peterborough people will have an opportunity of hearing when he addresses the Canadian Club on April 30th on "A Canadian Citizen in the Making."

THE CLOSE OF THE SESSION.

Brantford Expositor.

The Legislative Assembly of Ontario was prorogued Monday afternoon, and with it the first parliament of the Whitney Administration is brought to a close. Just when the elections will take place is not positively known, but despite the intimation of the Premier that they may be over by the middle of June, or may not be over until autumn, all the indications are that there will be a June election. June is a favourite time of the year for political contests and the active preparations being made by both political parties show what is in prospect.

It cannot be said that the session just brought to a close has been prolific of important legislation. True, there have been many measures, but most of these have been the product of the revising judges and are merely intended to consolidate and revise existing acts. The one measure of real importance was that for the redistribution of seats, and it is of a more drastic character than the Ministerialists have seen fit to represent. The boundaries of no less than twenty-two seats have been disturbed, outside of the additional representation which has been given Toronto and New Ontario, and it is possible within the folds of such a measure to conceals ome partizan advantage. The Whitney Government is strong enough to have resisted the temptation which such an opportunity offers, but it has proved itself very mortal, and has undoubtedly strengthened itself to the extent of eight or ten seats by the changes which it has made. It is a pity this should be the case, because a strong Government like that now in office might easily have set a precedent which all future Governments in this province would have been obliged to follow.

On the financial side the session has been marked by a continual expanse of expenditure, both controllable and uncontrollable, and the outgivings of the province now reach the startling total of $8,000,000. This tendency to extravagance is probably the most marked characteristic of the present administration and stands forth the more prominently because of the professions of economy made by its members while in opposition.

The other item of interest is the determination of the Government, despite powerful pressure from many quarters, to insist on the three-fifths handicap in Local Option elections. There is no justification for this stubbornness and there was no justification for the departure which the Government made when it changed the basis which has been on the statute books ever since Confederation.

For the Opposition, it is to be said, that although weak in numbers, it conducted an effective campaign under the leadership of Hon. A. G. MacKay, and that the latter demonstrated to the House and to the country, not only his great ability, but his capacity for hard work and close adherence to business.

Both parties will now enter with energy and determination upon the work of the campaign. The results of course, cannot be predicted with certainty. The Government has undoubtedly strengthened itself with the Redistribution Bill, but, on the other hand, it has undoubtedly alienated the temperance vote, and there will be many old-time Reform constituencies which will return to their former allegiance. It may be too much to expect a change of administration, as a result of the appeal to the people, but it will be a public misfortune if the ranks of the Opposition are not recruited to such an extent as to make the party under Mr. MacKay sufficiently numerous to be thoroughly effective.

The trip to Peterborough was accomplished in a like manner, and communication between Belleville and this city was unbroken.

MARKET CLERK BALL HAD A BUSY DAY

Owing to Readjustment of the Scales He Had To Go Some.

The new market clerk was a very busy man to-day. He had to watch the scales at the market and those at the Peter Hamilton works, where the weighing was done, as the former were being corrected. He had also the regular weekly market to attend to, and there was a little larger attendance than usual this morning. Between these four duties he had as much as he could attend to.

Splendid Turn Out Of The 57th Regiment Last Night

One Hundred Men Make Application to Join—Regiment Turns Out 213 Strong—Signal Corps Holds Practice—Orders for the Week.

PARADE NEXT TUESDAY

When the 57th Regiment held its second drill of the season last night in the Armouries, over one hundred men made application to join, but only forty of the number passed the rigid medical examination and came up to the requirements set down by the regulations.

There was a splendid attendance on the part of the members of the regiment, both officers and men, and the evening was spent in company drill without the rifles. The new recruits are rapidly picking up the turnings, and the officers are looking forward to having a much better regiment this year than last. The signal corps under Lieut. Higgins had a field practice last night in Central Park, and the men are becoming very proficient in their work, and are now able to transmit and read messages with great rapidity.

G Company had the largest turnout, and the rest of the companies followed close behind. The regiment turned out 211 strong, divided among the companies as follows:

A Company	21
B Company	27
C Company	22
D Company	21
E Company	24
F Company	24
G Company	33
H Company	15
Staff officers	5
Staff sergeants	3
Stretcher bearers	9
Signal corps	9
Total	213

Leading Of The Simple Life Of Family Of Twenty-two

Astonishing Lessons in Domestic Economy---Home in Two Houses ---Such a Life Justified.

Breakfast—1 gallon loaf; 1-2 pound margarine, tea.

Dinner—1 gallon loaf; 6d. bits of beef made up in a stew; 3d. potatoes.

Tea—1 gallon loaf; 1-2 pound margarine; tea, vegetables, or pieces cooked up.

This is the ordinary menu of a Wiltshire family who daily sit down to table to the number of seventeen. Supper is an unknown luxury.

It is a menu which makes one realize in good earnest that bread is the "staff of life." A little variety is introduced on Saturday an Sunday.

"Saturday's dinner," said Mrs. Curtis, the mother of a household, to a representative of "Lloyd's News" yesterday. "Well, there isn't a great deal on Saturday; the money's gone, you see, but sometimes on Saturday night I can buy two shillings' worth of beef and maybe a bit off bacon and cheese, which makes a good dinner on Sunday."

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis have brought into the world no fewer than twenty-two children and of these nineteen survive; and in spite of a daily diet consisting more of bread than anything else, they are growing up strong and hearty, and have such rosy cheeks as many London mothers would look at with envy, thinking of their own pale-faced little ones.

I found Mrs. Curtis, who though not as strong as she was, bears her burden of family cares and anxieties with wonderful courage and cheerfulness, nursing the youngest of the family, "the pride of the house," as well she named him, a bonnie, healthy-looking boy of eight months old.

"How do I manage?" she said. "Well, it's all in management, and yet I can't tell you how I manage."

"No, I don't plan the money out; there isn't enough coming in for that. We've just got to make it do. Why, one week my husband only brought in six shillings, and another week eight shillings, and that's for keeping of twelve.

"When he's in full work he gets 14s. a week, but it's been slack time most of the winter; indeed he's on slack time now. My eldest boy at home—Charley—is in the flour mill, and now the next, Frank, is working there too—he only began work about a fortnight ago; but now they give me 6s. a week each.

"Mabel and Lily are at the factory shirt-ironing, but the work's been so slack there; and sometimes they bring home as little as 4s. for the week; and Lily sometimes only 2s. 6d. It's been a terrible winter.

Gargantuan Loaves

"Then one of my girls—Rose there, she's twenty—I have to keep home to help. It's an extra expense, but I'm so often laid up. I've just been in bed a fortnight. I can't do the heavy work I used to.

"But we've ten at home that can yet earn anything; and it really does seem as if the bread alone took up all the money that was coming in. Three gallon loaves every day. Why, we use up 18s. worth of flour every week—that's 12s. worth for the week and 6s. worth more on Saturday for the next week. There's father going to make the dough now."

And Mrs. Curtis displayed a good-sized tin bath in which the dough for these Gargantuan gallon loaves was being mixed.

"Yes, we make all the dough ourselves, but we send it to the bakehouse to be baked—and that costs 2s. 6d. a week.

"Then there's 1-4 pound of tea every day, or should be—and then its not enough—and 1 pound of sugar; and 15d. a week for the baby's milk.

"And coal's so dear—1s. 6d. a hundred weight—I can't afford to have much. The wood's a bit cheaper and makes a good fire—specially with a bit of coal underneath; but there," added Mrs. Curtis, with a smile, "when I buy coal it seems as if I can't afford the wood, and when I buy the wood there is nothing left for coal.

"A busy life, you say? Well, it is busy. Five o'clock in the morning the kitchen fire is always lighted; and the most of that tea and sugar is used before six in the morning. A pound of sugar goes quickly with a matter of twenty cups of tea.

The Problem of Boots

"Then there's the little boots and stockings. Why, it seems sometimes as if it would take ten shillings a week to do both properly; but of course, we don't do it. Father cobbles them and keeps them going. And as to clothes—it seems as if I'm sewing and patching from morning to night.

"But Rose does all the washing. It comes pretty heavy on her, but I can't stand to do it now, with my arms so bad."

But Rose only smiled cheerfully, as if washing was the pleasantest thing in the world. And cheerfulness seemed the keynote of the family life, set perhaps by the merry baby boy on Mrs. Curtis' knee, who scattered his smiles in a generous spirit and was evidently the adored monarch of the home.

"The rent is 3s. 6d. a week, but that's for the two cottages — we couldn't get in one—two rooms in this and three in the other; but we've hardly got a bit of garden.

And then I was taken upstairs to see the bedrooms, all spotlessly clean, but with the beds packed so close there was little room for anything else.

"Looks almost like a hospital, doesn't it," said Mrs. Curtis, and she took me into the parlour to show me the photograph of her much-loved sailor boy and of her eldest son, married and living in Canada.

"I've only lost three children, and I've two daughters married, and living close by here in Warminster like myself. For I'm a Wiltshire woman, born and bred in Warminster.

"It's pretty hard work—like two families. But my children are very good children.

And one felt assured that, whatever else might be wanting in that little cottage home, there was plenty of love in it, and of that courage and cheerfulness and industry that do more than riches to build up a nation.—Lloyd's Weekly.

QUEBEC PAGEANT TO BE WONDERFUL

Four Thousand Performers Will Take Part—World Never Saw The Like.

THE LIST OF THE SCENES

Quebec, April 15.—(Special)—Nearly four thousand performers will be required for the grand pageant on the Plains of Abraham next July, to represent the leading heroic events in Canadian history. The grand stand, from which the pageant, with its background of river and battleships and distant hills, will be viewed, will accommodate 15,000 people. To enable all who desire to see the pageant to do so, several performances will be given.

At the State representation before the Prince of Wales, the tickets will probably run from $1 to $10 each, for it is intended to secure as large a return as possible of the cost for the benefit of the battlefields project. The public will be able to see other performances for 10c. to 15c. each.

Mr. Lascelles, master of the pageant, has given out the list of scenes to be produced. It includes Jacques Cartier planting the cross near the banks of the St. Charles; his carrying away of the Indian chief, Donnaconna; the court of Francis I., when Cartier, by command of the king, relates his discovery of the western country; Champlain receiving his commission at the court of Henry IV.; other scenes in the life of Champlain at Quebec; Mother Marie Incarnation teaching the Indian children; Mgr. Laval receiving the Marquis Tracy and his brilliant suite; Daumont de St. Lusson taking possession of the western country for the King of France; Frontenac receiving the messenger of Sir William Phipps at the Chateau St. Louis; Domard and his sixteen followers defending themselves against the Iroquois; and, finally, a grand tableau of all the historical personages, troops, etc., with warships of different nations in the background saluting the whole, and making, what Mr. Lascelles declares, will be such an assemblage as neither the old world nor the new has ever seen.

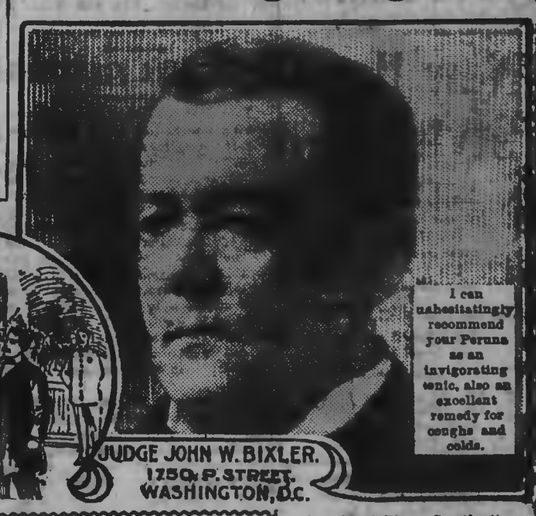
DISTRICT JUDGE U. S. COURT

Recommends Pe-ru-na as an Invigorating Tonic.

Judge John W. Bixler, formerly United States Circuit Judge, now United States District Judge, of Kansas, endorses Peruna.



JUDGE JOHN W. BIXLER.
1250 P. STREET.
WASHINGTON, D.C.

"I can unhesitatingly recommend your Peruna as an invigorating tonic, also an excellent remedy for coughs and colds."

Pe-ru-na Testimonials.

When any man or woman, out of pure gratitude, writes us a letter, commenting upon the benefits he has received from the use of Peruna, when he does this without any solicitation or remuneration of any sort, and furnishes us a recent photograph, so that his identity and responsibility in the matter is beyond question, then do we consider a testimonial available for our advertising purposes.

We are at the present time publishing many hundreds of testimonials. We give the name and address in full of each one of these people.

We have no use for, nor would we publish for any sum of money, a fraudulent testimonial. To do such a thing would be dishonorable from a moral standpoint, and commercial suicide from a business standpoint.

Tonic and Appetizer.

W. H. Parsons is ex-State Senator and ex-Special Judge of the Supreme Court of Texas, also Brigadier General in Confederate Army. In a recent letter from 925 H St., N. W., Washington, D. C., this prominent gentleman says:

"Upon the recommendation of personal friends and many strong testimonials of the efficacy of Peruna in the treatment of the numerous symptoms of the grip, with which I have been affected for four months past, I have been induced to undergo a treatment of this justly celebrated formula.

"I feel a decided change for the better after using it only one week. It is especially good in toning up the stomach, and has a decided effect upon my appetite. I therefore feel much encouraged that I am on the road to complete restoration.

"My numerous friends in Texas, where I have had the honor to command a brigade of her Veteran Cavalry, in a four-year war, may accept this voluntary testimonial to the merit of Peruna from a sense of obligation for its wonderful efficacy."

Appetite and Digestion Poor.

Mr. Charles Schweihs, Lexington, Texas, writes:

"I suffered from catarrh of the liver. What I ate disagreed with me. I was weak and feverish. I slept very poorly, had rush of blood to the head. I was very despondent, and took no pleasure in anything. My appetite was changeable, digestion poor.

"Your medicine made me well again, for which I express to you my heartfelt thanks. I firmly believe that for all who suffer in like manner it would have the same good effect."

Disordered Liver, Constipation.

Mr. W. O. Clement, Assistant Manager "Rome Georgian," Rome, Ga., writes:

"It affords me pleasure to voluntarily testify to the true merits of your wonderful Peruna.

"I have for several years been suffering from disordered liver and chronic constipation, for which I had tried a great many remedies, but none did me any good. My whole system was so thoroughly overcome that I was easy to catch cold, and the consequence was that a chronic case of catarrh was fast developing.

"I have been taking Peruna for six weeks and am happy to say that it has had the desired effect. My liver is in good condition, constipation disappeared, and I no longer feel any of the symptoms of catarrh.

"In truth I am now in better health and feel stronger than I have for several years and it is all due to the wonderful effects of Peruna."

Systemic Catarrh.

Mr. Moses F. Merrill, Route 8, Columbus, Kansas, writes:

"The improvement in my health has been wonderful. My bowels are regular as clock-work. I can now eat like other people and my victuals digest completely. I think I am cured of systemic catarrh.

"It has been a hard fight, but I came out victor. Many thanks for your kind counsel and management."

PARTICULARS OF THE ARREST

Of the Kingston Man Who is Said to Have Been Twice Married.

LOCAL GIRL FIRST WIFE

The Kingston Whig gives the following information about the alleged bigamy case there:—

On Saturday afternoon, George Hepburn, Pine street, was arrested by Police Sergeant Bateman on a charge of bigamy. The warrant for his arrest was taken out in the morning by Edward Smith, of Storrington, father of the second wife. The prisoner, who is thirty-two years of age, is a son of C W Hepburn, 30 Pine street, and was employed as second engineer on steamer Advance. He was at work on the above mentioned boat when placed under arrest. The prisoner protests that he is innocent of the charge.

It appears that about eight years ago the prisoner married a girl named Annie Sandy, in Peterborough, and lived with her for six years, when they separated. He states that he heard nothing more of her until he was notified by Hall & Hayes, barristers, of Peterborough, that his wife had secured a divorce and alimony from him. Hepburn stated that when he heard this he considered himself free to marry again, if he so desired. It is not known at present where his first wife is.

On January 2nd last, Hepburn was married to Eva Smith, daughter of Edward Smith, Storrington. The couple came to the city to live with his parents on Pine street, and everything seemed to be going along smoothly, until the father-in-law heard that he had been married before and his first wife was not dead. It is not known how he secured this information, whether Hepburn told him or not, but at any rate he did not believe the divorce story and had his son-in-law arrested, charging him with bigamy.

Very little is known about the case in the city and the arrest came as a great surprise. The case must have been spoken about among the parties concerned some days ago, as Mrs. Hepburn, No. 2, rented half of a frame house on Stuart street, owned by Andrew Tuttle, and has been living there for the past two weeks. It is also understood that the father-in-law and Hepburn had a quarrel during the winter.

Hepburn was arraigned in the police court, this morning, but was not asked to plead.

Crown Attorney Whiting appeared for the prosecution and asked that an adjournment be made in the case until Wednesday. J Mold. Mowat appeared as counsel for the defence and asked that bail be allowed, and it was fixed at $200.

Wife No. 2, visited Hepburn in his cell, yesterday, and brought him some oranges.

SHAREHOLDERS ANNUAL MEETING

Fuel and Cartage Company—To be Held On Monday, April 27.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Company, Limited, is to be held at the Bank of Montreal Chambers, Water street, Peterborough, on Monday, the 27th day of April, 1908, at eight o'clock in the evening. The business to be transacted will be, to receive reports of directors; to receive reports of auditors; to elect directors for coming year, and general business.

IRON ORE FROM MADOC TO MIDLAND

A Train Load Passes Through the City Every Week.

It may not be known to everyone that a train of iron ore passes through the city once a week, for Midland. It is brought from the iron mines near Madoc, and makes the long trip to Midland because of the fact that a large smelter is situated there. The trains cannot consist of more than eleven or twelve cars of the ore, owing to the great weight. It is even difficult for a double-header to pull that number of cars over this road.

INQUEST CONTINUED THIS EVENING

No Word From Prof. Ellis—Postponement Looked For.

The inquest into the cause of the death of W. Elgin Weaver, will be resumed at 7.30 this evening, in the council chambers. As yet no word has been received from Prof. Ellis, who was examining the stomach, and in case Coroner Gray hears nothing by to-night, the inquest will likely be postponed again.

REDUCED RATES FOR EASTER

On account of Easter the Grand Trunk Railway System will issue return tickets at single first-class fare between all stations in Canada, also to Detroit and Port Huron, Mich., Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Suspension Bridge, N. Y. Tickets good going April 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20. Valid returning on or before April 21, 1908. Secure tickets from any Grand Trunk ticket agent. 4deod84-2202

DRESS ACCIDENTALLY CAUGHT FIRE FROM THE GAS STOVE

How Mrs. Bates Lost Her Life at Dunnville—Well and Favourably Known Here.

FUNERAL THIS AFTERNOON

On the evening G.T.R. train, yesterday, the remains of Mrs. Stanley Bates, who was burned to death in Dunnville recently, were conveyed to the city. Mrs. Bates met her death while dressing two of her little children before the gas stove. Her back was turned towards the stove, when, without warning, her dress caught fire, and before it could be extinguished, she lost her life.

Mrs. Bates was only 29 years of age. Her maiden name was Miss Ina McIlwain, and she was a daughter of Mr. Matthew McIlwain, now residing in the city. Besides her husband and five children, she is survived by several brothers and sisters. They are, Robert, of Peterborough; William and Matthew, of Lakefield; Herbert, of Rainy River; Mrs. W Bates, of Huntsville; Mrs. Shobbrook, of Winnipeg, and Elizabeth and Effie, of this city.

She was very well known in the city, and her many friends will regret to learn of her unfortunate death.

The funeral was held this afternoon, at 3 o'clock, from the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. Fred M Bates, 654 Stewart street, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

Regiment Will Take Part In The Laying Of The Corner Stone

The laying of the corner-stone at the new Armouries on Wednesday afternoon next promises to be one of the most interesting ceremonies ever performed in this city. At the weekly drill of the 57th Regiment last night in the Armouries, it was announced in the orders that the regiments, with both bugle and brass bands, will parade in review order in the drill hall on the 22nd at 2 p.m. for the purpose of taking part in the ceremony. This being one of the most important ceremonies in the history of the regiment, the commanding officer, Lt.-Col. Stevenson, asked for a full attendance of the regiment. The men are looking forward with great interest to the coming event, and there will no doubt be an enthusiastic turnout. The regiment will hold a parade next Tuesday evening, and this will give the men an opportunity of drilling together. It is understood the 24th Field Battery of Peterborough and the Prince of Wales Dragoons will also take part in the ceremony, and there will be a garrison parade through the streets to the new Armouries.

LUMBER MILLS REOPEN NEXT WEEK; DEPARTURE OF THE ICE

The ice on Little Lake has almost disappeared. The only signs of winter remaining lie among the logs, which prevent the movement of the water. It is expected that within the course of a few days the ice will have all melted.

The McDonald Lumber Company informed the Examiner to-day that its mills would re-open next week for the season. The resumption of work always depends on the departure of the ice from Little Lake.

The Peterborough Lumber Company stated that it would re-open its mill next Monday, so that next week will see a large number of men employed in these two prominent industries of Peterborough.

A BLESSING TO MANY PEOPLE

May Mean Much Less Sickness Here When This Prescription is Known

IS A HOME MADE REMEDY

This is a message that will bring happiness again into many families and sunshine into the lives of hundreds of disheartened and discouraged men and women here. It requires just a little inconvenience, for it can't be bought already prepared. It is a simple home recipe now being made known in all the larger cities through the newspapers. It is intended to check the many cases of rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble which have made so many cripples and invalids and weaklings of some of our brightest and strongest people.

The druggists here have been notified to supply themselves with the ingredients and the sufferer will have no trouble to obtain them. The prescription is as follows: Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce and Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle. The dose is one tablespoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Recent experiments, even in severe hospital cases prove this simple mixture the remedy for Rheumatism, because of its positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It compels these most vital organs to filter from the blood and system the waste impurities and uric acid which are the causes of rheumatism. It cleanses the system, strengthens them and removes quickly such symptoms, as backache, blood disorders, bladder weakness, frequent urination, painful, scalding and discoloured urine. It acts as a powerful stimulant to the entire kidney and bladder structure, puts new life into them and invigorates the entire tract. It makes the kidneys clean the blood. The Dandelion will take care of liver trouble and constipation, and is fine for the stomach.

All the ingredients, states a well-know local druggist, are of a vegetable extraction, making it a safe and harmless prescription at any time.

Those who suffer and are accustomed to purchase a bottle of patent medicine should not let a little inconvenience interfere with making up this prescription. Wherever this becomes generally known, states a large eastern publication, it ruins the sale of the patent medicines and so called rheumatism and kidney cures, which is its best endorsement of virtue. 10

THE FIRST STIFF HAT IN THE WORLD

Was Made by Christy's, London.

The term "Christy," so commonly used to express a stiff hat, originated from the fact that "Christys," London, were the first makers of these goods. For over 150 years they have made hats of such merit as to be recognized and acknowledged by the trade all over the world as the leaders and originators of all that is high class and of sterling quality, both in style and material. So much has this fact been accepted by the world to-day that to say you are going to get "A Christy" means that you are wanting a stiff hat; both terms being synonymous. We note a big shipment of Christy's Celebrated Hats arrived in this city this week, consigned to Thos. Barrie & Co., their sole agents here—76 dozen in all—Barrie's also received five cases of "Hawes'" and two cases of "Stetson's" celebrated American Hats for Easter.

ALEXANDRA TUG FOR STONY LAKE

Will Soon be Completed in Lindsay—Practically a New Boat.

The "Alexandra" is coming up in fine shape, and when completed will make a magnificent tug. She is practically a new boat from stem to stern. With the present rate of construction, all should be ready for traffic in three weeks' time. Citizens, unless they leave these regions, will not be able to see the noble vessel plowing through these waters, hauling loads of logs and timber. As soon as navigation opens she leaves for Stony Lake, and will remain it those waters during the coming season. The old "Beaver," with her deep breath, will now have to do all the struggling in these regions.—Lindsay Post.

RENZETTI IN COURT AGAIN

Was Charged With Being Drunk and Disorderly—Fined $2 And Costs.

VAGRANT WAS REMANDED

About nine o'clock last night P. C. Newhall received a message to go over to the corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets. The officer, accompanied by P. C. Meharry, went over and ejected Nicholas Renzetti from the bar room of the Queen's Hotel, and told him to go home. Renzetti became very surly, and as he was going in the door he made a threat upon the officers, who were following behind. They waited outside and soon considerable scuffling and screams was heard inside. They opened the door to find Renzetti being held by several other Italians. His hand was bleeding profusely from a cut in his wrist, and he held a knife in his hand. P. C. Newhall took hold of Renzetti again and after taking the knife from him, he was brought to the police station, where his hand was bound up.

He appeared in the police court this morning, and was charged with being drunk and disorderly. He pleaded guilty through his counsel, Mr. G. Gordon, who asked for leniency.

His Worship reminded the counsel that Renzetti had been up before, and fined him $2.00 and costs or ten days. The fine was paid.

The New Silks

Awaiting Your Critical Inspection

The Beautiful New Silks of Spring For Shirtwaist Suits and Dresses

The soft, shimmering Silks, which now fill a vast expanse of counter here, eloquently proclaim the coming of Spring. Summer sunsets and rainbows and flowers are depicted in their colorings. Feast your eyes on them, caress them and be filled with their own sunny spirit. In design, in coloring and in textures these new Silks are the loveliest yet produced. Furthermore, the variety is the most extensive we have ever shown. Japan, France and America are here represented, and the range of textures runs from the exquisitely soft Chiffons to the rough Pongee. In addition to the fancy Silk there are, of course, full assortments of rich white Silks, the ever wanted Black Silks, plain Taffetas, etc. A complete stock in the fullest sense—nowhere such variety—both as to style and price.

INTEREST IN THE REVIVAL SERVICES

Mr. Russell Spoke—Gave His Belief as To Conversion.

Interest is increasing in the evangelistic services at the Y.M.C.A. by Mr. Douglas Russell. Last night he dealt in an effective manner with sin, and the means by which we may gain redemption. He emphasized the belief that in order to become Christians we must be born again. Men do not grow to be dukes because they grow and dress like them, and neither do they grow to be Christians. The birth is necessary in either case. The second birth gives eternal life. Christians are such only by their second birth, or being born again.

To-night Mr. Russell will speak on "Redemption, or a Broken Neck." To-morrow night the subject will be "An African Converted in a Desert." Last night he sang to the Welsh national air, "Home, Sweet Home," in a very effective manner.

CIGARS STOLEN FROM CELLAR OF RESIDENCE

Window Pane Broken and Sneak Thieves Were Busy.

The theft of two boxes of choice cigars from a Dickson street residence occurred last night. The fragrant Havanas were left on the ledge of the cellar window to keep them fresh, and during the night they disappeared. A pane of the window had been broken out, and the cigars stolen in that way.

No other things, so far as the owner could discover, were missing.

HE HAS GOT A GOOD LIVERY BARN

The livery stable in the rear of the Showden House, which was purchased from Mr. O. Eastwood by Messrs. Bruce Lee and Roy Cavanah, is now in shape for business. The new owners have secured an entirely new outfit, including two new hacks, and are buying several horses.

A Civic Officials' Important Statement

A Remarkable Case in which the Life of one of Toronto's Brightest Young Ladies was Saved as by a Miracle

From the "Toronto Star"

The following statement, by one of Toronto's best known and most popular Civic Officials, is given in a spirit of gratitude for the wonderful cure of his daughter. The name is withheld, as when given on a previous occasion it interfered with his public duties. The name will be furnished to and person desiring further information. He states :

"My daughter was pronounced a hopeless case of consumption by several eminent physcians of this city (Toronto.) She has been for years somewhat delicate and easily contracted colds and coughs. I was informed by physicians that nothing could be done for her, and that it was a hopeless case. I decided to try Psychine and Dr. Slocum's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil. Before she had finished the first two bottles of these preparations she was able to sit up in bed, and gradually become quite strong again. Before many months she was able to be out and apparently was in perfect health. I can assure you I feel very grateful for what these remedies have done for my daughter. Years have elapsed since, and she is in the enjoyment of good health. The relief was of a permanent nature. I shall ever feel grateful for these valuable medicines, and shall ever esteem it a favor to recommend them to persons similary afflicted. I consider it a duty that I owe, as a truthful recommendation may be the means of inducing some other sufferer to use Dr. Slocum's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Dr. Slocum's Psychine."

(Signed)———

PSYCHINE and Oxomulsion can always be relied on to cure when cure is possible. It is the greatest strength restorer and system builder known to medical science. Psychine regulates and tones up all the vital organs. It cures stomach troubles, aids digestion, destroys disease germs in the system, is the greatest and best of Spring Tonics, making the blood pure and rich and healthy, and giving renewed vigor and energy to those who are weak and tired and run down. It revitalizes every part of the system. It cures when all else fails. At all Druggists, 50c and $1.00. DR. T. A. SLOCUM, LIMITED, Toronto.

WANTS THE LIBRARY FARTHER SOUTH

Most of the Readers in the South and West, Says "Wanderer."

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—In last night's issue a writer, singing himself "Onlooker," advocates the property known as the Menzies property, as a good site for the public library. Perhaps it is for "On Looker," but not for the majority of the citizens of Peterborough. The majority of those who read are in the southern and western sections of the city. The library situated at or near the Central Park is far enough north, and where nearly every person in the city goes some time during the week. But let our city fathers go as far south as the Menzies property, and not one-half of those who now use the library would go as far as that to seek their reading they require. As a place for a library it is an ideal one, but it is in the wrong place. It ought to be down nearer the centre of the city. No more suitable place could be found than the vacant property either to the south or east of Central Park. It is about time the city fathers were waking up and making a move for a building. Why is not the old Bank of Montreal building a good property, and one which could be easily transformed into a suitable building for a public library, for at least ten years to come, and by that time the property could be sold at a good profit and another property secured, which would be more suitable,

Yours,
"A WANDERER."

TWO COMMITTEES TO MEET

Property and Reception Committees on The Slate.

There will be two meetings of council committees at the city hall to-night, both the Property and Reception Committees being slated to hold sessions. The Reception Committee will meet Mr. T. R. Hall, M.P., and representatives of the 57th Regiment, 24th Field Battery, 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons and the Board of Trade, to arrange for the reception to be tendered Sir Frederick Borden, on the occasion of his visit to Peterborough on April 22nd, for the purpose of laying the corner stone of the new armouries.

The Property Committee has considerable business to take up, among the things that will probably be dealt with, being the Isolation Hospital and Public Library questions. In connection with the latter Mr. Rich. Hall, one of the trustees of Nicholls' estate, will be present and confer with the committee.

At the regular meeting of the C. M. B. A. last night, letters of condolence were framed to be sent to Bro. John Cronin and family, on the death of his daughter, Mrs. Monahan, and to Bro. Cornelius Halpin, on the death of his son, the late Mr. Patrick Halpin, of Toronto.

Reminiscences Of The Midland Railway By An Old Employee

Mr. S. McIlroy Pensioned by G.T.R. --Is the Oldest Employee in Midland District--Helped to Build the Road---Bridge Carpenter Many Years----Inspected the Division.

HAD ARM TAKEN OFF

Forced by the new pension system, to retire from the activities of the fascinating railway life, was the fate of Mr. S. McIlroy, the oldest employee of the G. T. R. in the Midland district, and probably one of the oldest in Canada. He has seen the first tie of the Midland Railway laid, and still lives to witness the activities of the G.T.R. over the same road. He is acquainted with every roadmaster and superintendent that has ever had charge of that district, and was considered, in his early days, one of the most capable bridge builders and best all-round railway men that could be found.

Mr. McIlroy was born on a farm near Port Hope, and in the year 1857 he became very much interested in the construction of the Port Hope, Beaverton and Lindsay Railway, which was then being pushed ahead very rapidly. So at the age of 18 years he was first initiated into railwaying, and was so drawn towards it that he remained in that occupation until the 1st of February, this year, when he was pensioned off, having served sixty years of his life in railwaying. In 1871, he became a bridge carpenter, in the employ of the Midland Railway, and held the same position with the G.T.R. until his arm was hurt. He tells a story of a trip of inspection over the road, which serves to prove his ability as a bridge builder. He was ordered by Chief Engineer of the Midland Railway, to inspect the road from Port Hope to Lindsay and from Peterborough to Lakefield. Every inch of the road had to be walked over, so it took him about four days to accomplish the work. When the inspection was completed he sent in a report to the head office, which is now on the Engineer's files in the G.T.R offices, in Montreal. The report was thorough in every particular, and he received great commendation from the officials for his work. He knew the railway so well that he made a bet with a conductor of a train, running from Peterborough to Port Hope, that he would lie down in the baggage car and tell him whenever they passed over a bridge, culvert or road crossing. He won the bet.

An Unfortunate Accident

He was rapidly climbing in the employ of the railway, and would have probably, become one of the head men on the road, when an accident occurred which set him back for the remainder of his life, and almost finished his railway career. He was crossing in front of the roundhouse one day, at Port Hope, when he was struck by an engine that was coming out. Neither the engineer nor the fireman gave any signal. He was struck and knocked off the track, his arm was torn from his body, and he sustained several large cuts about the head and legs, marks of which still remain. On his recovery he was sent to Ashburnham to mind the railway gates; from there to Orillia, and then back to Peterborough, to the Simcoe street gates, which position he held until he was pensioned.

The big three-wheel drives, which are now on all modern engines, are nothing of a novelty to Mr. McIlroy. He claims that the first two engines on the Midland Railway were of this type, and were called the "Hope" and the "Lindsay." Then the company bought two more engines from the old Cobourg Railway, which they called "Queen" and "Havelock." Soon they had 18 engines, and each one was named after a station, but after that they were numbered.

Writes A Hand

Mr. McElroy stated that before he was hurt he could not distinguish one letter from another, and was unable to write. After he got better, and was sent out minding gates for the G.T.R., he began to study, and soon became familiar with the alphabet. He now writes with his left hand, and his writing is very good.

Since he has been pensithed, the aged railway man is always to be found about the station. He says he feels lost and lonesome, and hardly knows how to spend the day.

G. T. R. HANDLES MORE THAN 18,000,000 BUSHELS

Total Wheat Shipments From Canadian Ports on Lake Superior Was 38,000,000 Bushels.

The shipment of wheat from Port Arthur and Fort William in Canadian vessels, for the season of navigation, 1907, (aggregated nearly 33,000,000 bushels; the Grand Trunk carrying in connection with its elevators at Depot Harbour, Collingwood, Midland, Tiffin, Meaford, Goderich, Point Edward and Port Huron, over 18,000,000 bushels, or 39 per cent. of the total by Canadian and foreign vessels. For the preceding year, wheat shipments in Canadian bottoms aggregated over 32,000,000 bushels, of which 16,000,000 passed through the elevators at Grand Trunk ports above mentioned, or 36 per cent. of the whole.

DEPARTED WITH JAR OF MAPLE SYRUP

Stolen From Mr. Clifford Hancocks' Wagon on Saturday.

It was the case of a "slip 'twixt cup and lip" with Mr. Clifford Hancock, of Smith, on Saturday, when some unprincipled person walked away with his jar of maple syrup from a local hotel yard.

He brought a large glass jar with him to market and had it filled during the morning. He wrapped a newspaper around it and left it in his wagon while at dinner.

When starting out for home he first began to see if everything was alright, and placed his hand on what he thought was his syrup. The paper had the shape but was filled with nothing but air. Some person had "got wise," and stolen the jar of syrup, and, of course, did not return it.

You'll Enjoy every minute of it. Tom Marks Co., Grand To-night. Prices 10, 20, 25c

ONCE MORE WELL

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" ALONE CURED HIM

Clarence J. Placey is a farmer of Ulverton, Que., known as a man of integrity and good judgment. He writes in no uncertain terms of the great benefit he derived from taking "Fruit-a-tives" for a long standing kidney trouble.

Ulverton, Que.

I suffered for many years with kidney trouble, with bad pain in the back and all symptoms of disease of the kidneys. I took every known kidney remedy and kidney pill but nothing gave me relief and I was getting discouraged. I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I did so—and this medicine cured me when every other remedy failed. I used altogether fifteen boxes of "Fruit-a-tives" and from the outset they give me relief and I am now practically well again, no pain in the back, no distress, and all the symptoms of severe kidney disease have entirely left me. I am very thankful to be once more well and I freely make this statement for the sake of others who may suffer as I suffered and to them I say "Try "Fruit-a-tives." 151

THE ANARCHISTS ARE DOOMED TO DIE

Three Bomb Throwers at Barcelona to Be Executed.

MEN ATTACKED ALFONSO

Others Receive Long Terms of Imprisonment—One Attempted Suicide After Being Sentenced—Mother Slipped Knife Into His Hand—Saved by Guards—Three More Dynamite Bombs Found.

Barcelona, April 15.—Sentences were handed down yesterday upon Jean Rull and his accomplices, who were found guilty of complicity in the recent series of bomb explosions and Anarchist outrages, including the attempts to assassinate King Alfonso at Madrid and Paris. Jean Rull, Herman Rull and Maria Querrelto were sentenced to death. John Rull was given seventeen years, Amadeo Trille twenty-four years, and Francisco Trigueros fourteen years at hard labor. Raymond Burguet was sentenced to imprisonment for four months. Perello and Perals were acquitted.

After the sentences had been pronounced Burguet's mother slipped a knife into the hand of Herman Rull, with which he tried to commit suicide, but was prevented by the guards.

Three dynamite bombs were found in Angel's Square yesterday.

Kaiser Drinks to Health of Two Flags —Compliments Exchanged.

Berlin, April 15.—A despatch to The Lokalanzieger from its Corfu correspondent, dated Monday, says that Emperor William during the course of a luncheon given in honor of the officers of the British battleship Implicable, made the following toast:

"I drink to our two flags and I wish that they may ever be united in the welfare of the world's peace."

Captain Kerr, commander of the Implicable, whose father was Admiral Lord Walter Kerr, in response, replied:

"My father used to say with reference to Your Majesty that God had created a great emperor out of a man who had become a great admiral."

U. S. HOPS IN ENGLAND.

Imperial House of Commons Did Not Respond to Bait.

London, April 15.—After a brief sitting yesterday Parliament adjourned until April 27, for the Easter recess.

Sir Gilbert Parker tried to galvanize the House of Commons into a semblance of activity by urging action to stop the alleged dumping of American hops into England, but Mr. Lloyd-George, who made his first appearance as Chancellor of the Exchequer, pointed out, in reply, that Sir Gilbert's figures were greatly exaggerated.

In any case, he said, the matter was now a subject of enquiry by a commission and nothing could be done until this commission had made its report.

Advocates Empire Assembly.

Melbourne, April 15.—(C.A.P.)—At a meeting of the Imperial Federation League, Premier Deakin presiding, Sir John Quick advocated a quinquennial grand assembly for the Empire, each self-governing state having five representatives. The assembly should deal with questions requiring uniform action and its recommendation would not be legal until ratified by the local Legislature. The scheme is criticized as impracticable.

Revolutionist Sentenced.

New York, April 15.—Joseph Giordani, an agent of the firm of revolutionists, was sentenced yesterday to six months at hard labor in Sing Sing Prison, for having counterfeit Haytien money in his possession.

He was placed in the custody of U. S. Marshal Henkel, until May 15. Giordani was having the Haytien notes printed in New York to finance a revolution.

Smallpox Stamped Out.

Brockville, April 15.—The smallpox epidemic in Brockville, extending over a period of four months, has at last been completely stamped out.

The quarantine on the last patient was raised yesterday. The records show a total of 79 cases without a fatality.

TRAFFIC IN HUMAN FLESH

Montreal Labor Member Strongly Denounces Present System — Country Flooded With Beggars—Rights of Eastern Canada Must Be Considered, He Says—Another Attack on Hon. Dr. Pugsley.

Ottawa, April 15.—Mr. Bennett moved adjournment yesterday afternoon to discuss a question of urgent public importance relating to the dredging at Tiffin and Victoria harbor. He said that according to statements of Mr. Pugsley it was proposed to let contracts for dredging at these points without calling for tenders, at prices for which the same work was performed last year. Mr. Bennett said he knew something of the prices of last year, and he read from the report of the Civil Service Commission evidence that they were extravagant. In the past two years the firm of Boone & Co. had been paid over $2,000,000, Great Lakes Dredging Co., $1,350,000, and the Owen Sound Dredging Co., $850,000. And Mr. Pugsley had blandly informed the House that he had secured consent of his colleagues to giving contracts for work amounting to half a million dollars without calling for tenders.

Mr. Bennett challenged the Minister to produce the original tenders, upon which he would base his figures for the work. It would be seen that there were two tenders, one from the Midland Dredging Co. of which F. W. Grant is secretary-treasurer, and Penetanguishene Dredging Co., of which Dr. Spohn is secretary-treasurer, and both tenders were in the same handwriting.

For work at Midland the Grant Co. tenders at 53 cents and Spohn Co. at 57 cents. But there was a third tender, from the son of the member for Ottawa for 30 cents. Mr. Bennett charged that there was connivance and fraud between the Grant and Spohn companies, and he challenged the Minister or Prime Minister to have tenders laid on table.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier declared he had no authority to order the production of the papers, but Mr. Bennett thought Parliament was big enough to do it. Finally Mr. Bennett sent a page after the papers.

The whole thing, said Mr. Bennett, hinged on whether the scows were filled. The country paid inspectors who were never there. This had been proved in one case, and no one had been prosecuted for conniving at fraud.

Mr. Pugsley pleaded that the transaction was before the public accounts committee, and therefore could not be discussed in the House.

Mr. Bennett declared that the Midland matter had not been before the committee; papers had been moved for and brought down and in due course an investigation would be started.

Mr. Speaker ruled that if the matter was before the committee the discussion was out of order, but the decision was not accepted without protest. Mr. Lake pointed out that it would be possible to prevent discussion on any expenditures by having a supporter of the Government moving for the production of the papers before the public accounts committee.

After further discussion Mr. Speaker gave his ruling, declaring that if the matter was not being investigated by the committee, Mr. Benett was at liberty to go on.

Dr. Pugsley admitted the importance of the subject, and was not sorry that Mr. Bennett had brought it up. Dredging was becoming more and more expensive, and he believed that if the Government had not a plant it should have. It had been found that in the majority of cases it was advisable to pay for dredging work by scow measurement, and therefore the Government had to depend upon the honesty of the inspectors. There had been cases in which inspectors had not done their duty. One man appointed as inspector employed another to do the work. He was dismissed. The Minister said he had taken precautions to secure the full measure of work for pay given.

Mr. Blain of Peel expressed his strong dissent from the new doctrine laid down by the Minister of Public Works.

The Auditor-General had protested against the system of giving out large works without tender and contract. The Minister of Public Works in extending tenders of last year was but encouraging the system of collusion between dredging companies under which the contract was originally let. It was a system that the people of Canada would not endorse.

Dr. Sproule and the Hon. Mr. Pugsley had a verbal tilt at the evening session. Dr. Sproule was trying to get the attention of the Minister, who a portion of the time was engaged in conversation with F. B. Carvell. He stopped several times and at last he protested.

"If he had the instincts of a gentleman," said Dr. Sproule, "he would extend the courtesy of listening to what I have to say. I am talking of his Department."

The Speaker ruled the expression out of order.

Dr. Sproule withdrew, adding, "But I wish I had some other words to express the same sentiments."

Mr. Pugsley complained of Dr. Sproule's exhibition of temper, and asked for a ruling as to whether he was to be compelled to look at a speaker when listening to his address.

Mr. Speaker did not think that was a question on which the point could be raised.

George Taylor instanced a harbor in the Province of Quebec where a contractor got 75 cents a yard for dredging and sub-let the work for 15 cents. Not only that, the same contractor got 32 cents for filling in for a wharf, the scrapings being taken out at one side and dumped down on the other side of the dredge.

Mr. Conmee replied in heated fashion. Referring to Mr. Bennett's attack on the dredging contracts, he termed it slander and misrepresentation. As he proceeded to drive at the political record of the member for East Simcoe, he was called to order for wandering from the subject.

Mr. Conmee denounced the late Conservative Government for boodling and expressed the conviction that the party would never be returned to power.

Robert Stewart arose and explained that there was no such company as the "Stewart" Dredging Co. He himself had no interest in the Dominion Dredging Co. The insinuation that because he had a son a member of that company it had secured Government contracts, was false and unworthy.

This ended the debate.

Before the orders of the day, Dr. Sproule read a despatch from Washington that treaties between Great Britain and the United States relating to fisheries and boundaries had been presented by President Roosevelt to the Senate.

Dr. Sproule thought it strange that the Government had not come into possession of the documents.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said copies should be here soon. As soon as received they would be laid before the House.

The House at midnight adjourned over the Easter recess, to meet again on Tuesday. It had been intended to have a division on the anti-immigrant bonus resolution, but so many speeches were in prospect that it was decided to allow the debate to go over until next week.

Mr. Verville (Liberal-Labor, Montreal) resuming the debate on Mr. Monk's motion to abolish bonuses, said that dealing with it as a business proposition, while the excuse might have been offered in times past for the bonus system, it had certainly resulted in speculation in human flesh, and should be discontinued. It had enabled the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and other associations to flood the country with more sufferers and more beggars. Canada, as a field for settlement, was so well known that a bonus was no longer necessary.

Under the bonus system there had been no solicitation of immigrants for the booking agents instructed all passengers to say they were farmers. The result of this had been the armies of unemployed who had gone begging through the leading cities last winter. With all due respect to the west, said Mr. Verville, there was no element of fairness in the fact that two-thirds of the time of the House of Commons was taken up in discussing western affairs. The great cities of the east were entitled to more consideration, and they were being made the dumping ground for the indigent surplus immigration. Instead of granting bonuses to booking agents the Government should send to the old country a number of the successful farmers of the west, who could explain conditions in Canada and encourage the right class of immigrants to come to this country.

Mr. Verville read a number of resolutions passed by trades and labor organizations in Canada, protesting against assisted immigration.

Mr. Miller (Liberal, South Grey) spoke at length in praise of German-Canadians, but avoided discussion of the bonus question.

Dr. Chisholm contended that the main consideration was to get good people. There would be no difficulty to fill up the west. The difficulty in the end would be to get land for our own children. For seven years homesteads had been held for the Doukhobors, but one of Dr. Chisholm's neighbors, who had fallen ill after taking up a homestead, could not have it held for seven months.

Mr. McIntyre of Perth moved the adjournment of the debate, and at midnight the House rose for the Easter recess.

AFTER TREATMENT

He was surprised at how the sores healed—"I took your NEW METHOD TREATMENT for a serious blood disease with which I had been inflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians, taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, tightness of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the NEW METHOD TREATMENT for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. My boy, three years old, is sound and healthy. I certainly can recommend your treatment with all my heart. You can refer any person to me privately, but you can use this testimonial as you wish."

BRITANNIAS AND QUAKERS TO MEET ON GOOD FRIDAY

If it can at all be arranged, the Britannia Football team, of Toronto, will be here on Good Friday to meet the Quakers. The game will be played at the Exhibition Grounds on Friday afternoon.

This was decided upon at last night's meeting at the Y. M. C. A., where a number of the boys gathered to talk over the prospects. The Britannias are one of Toronto's best teams and it will keep the Quakers going to follow them. Ray Best wrote them last night and expects word in the morning.

The grounds have been secured for the game, and a large crowd is anticipated. The admission fee will be placed at 10 cents, and further particulars will be given in to-morrow's issue.

The Quakers will practice to-night, after 6 o'clock, on Central Park, when the following players are expected out:—McFadden, Evans, Doris, Archibald, R Best, Scrimshaw, Deforge, Millburn, Fitzgerald, Thorpe, Crough, Baker, Hagley, Dunnigan, Brodie, Sisson and any others desiring to get into the game.

The Quakers have a number of sweaters out among the boys, who have played with the club and who intend to discontinue, which are needed for Friday's match, and these may be left with Secretary Ray Best, or last year's secretary, at the Examiner office.

WILLARD A. HOAGLAND,
Of Auburn, N.Y., champion heel and toe walker of the world, who will be here on Saturday for the big six-day walking race which opens on Monday night

The Walking Race Is Creating Much Excitement In The City

The success of the big six-day walking race, which begins in the Brock street rink on Monday night, is now assured, and a great weeks' sport will be handed out. With Dave Hartley, Peterborough's champion; W. A Hoagland, of Auburn, N. Y, champion heel and toe walker of the world; Tom Slater, of Oswego, N. Y, one of the best distance walkers in the United States; Jas. G Graham of Buffalo, N.Y, holder of many records in the heel and toe line; S. L Brooks, of Toronto, formerly champion of Wales, Australia and New Zealand; Black, the southern negro walker, who made such a plucky showing at Kansas City, Jack Cooper, now of Toronto, and formerly of the Essex (England) Harriers, for which club he was second in the famous London to Brighton walk; Walter Harrow, of Sudbury, a former London, England, champion, with a record of 72 victories out of 80, and other equally well-known and accomplished pedestrians, all sure to start, the public can readily see that it is the greatest walking match ever held in Canada, and brings together perhaps the greatest collection of walkers that has met on this continent.

Then there is a large field of walkers who are not as well known, but who may make things interesting for the top-notchers, just the same. Among these, the most promising is Chas. Steiner of Warsaw, a former English army man, upon whom Warsaw people are building their hopes of winning the race. Others are Walter Bruce, the young Millbrook man who has been taking 50-mile tramps to Cobourg and back; Adolph Sharpe of Stirling, Ont., who comes here with a great reputation, and Billy Naugan, the Hiawatha Indian, who did a mile under wraps this morning in eight minutes. Peterborough is well represented, as in addition to Dave Hartley, Joe Dunn of the Machine Telephone Company, Harrison of the C. G. E., Chas. A. Stevens, and other local men will face the starter on Monday night.

The chief speculation here is as to Hartley's chances in the big event. With such good men as Hoagland, Slater, Graham, Blake, Harrow and Brooks, it is conceded that the local walker will have his work cut out for him, but Hartley is in better shape now than he ever was, as those who saw him perform on the Y. M. C. A. track last night realized, and when he cuts loose on Monday night the champions from across the line will have to look to their laurels. There is no doubt that Slater and Hoagland are grand walkers, but Hartley held them pretty well in Kansas City, and He was a sick man then, too, being in very different condition from the time he faced the starter in Missouri. One man, who is said to be a good judge of pedestrians, placed the standing as follows: Hoagland, first; Slater, second, and Hartley, third, but Hartley should get closer to the front than that on the showing he is making in his preliminary workout.

The strenuous contest opens Monday night at 7 o'clock, and the contestants will walk until 11 o'clock. The four hours will be a period of sprinting, which will pretty nearly kill off all the amateurs and weaklings before the timer's whistle brings the night's grind to a close. There is no doubt that the cracks will set an awful pace from the start, and at the end of the four hours the leaders will have gone at least 22 miles. The same hours will prevail on Tuesday night—7 to 11 o'clock—and then on Wednesday the walkers get away for a ten-hour grind, starting at one o'clock and finishing at 11. Many of the walkers who may have survived the finishing sprints of the first two nights, will go down in the gruelling of the ten hours on the sawdust, and from then to the end of the week it will be a battle of giants, and the last three days should produce tremendous excitement.

Many people, recognizing that every minute of the race will be exciting, are purchasing one dollar tickets, which admit the holder at any time throughout the race. This is the most satisfactory and economical way of attending the big meet, as those who have got these tickets will be charged 25 cents every time they enter the rink. The dollar tickets are on sale at many places throughout the city and are going fast.

The 57th Band has been engaged for the week, and will render choice programmes throughout the contest, adding to the gaiety.

Boyd And Frost To Bowl In Michigan State Tournament

Messrs. C. E. Frost and Tommy Boyd, of the Peterborough Bowling Club, leave to-morrow morning for Toronto, where they will join the party of Toronto bowlers who leave on a special car on Friday night for Detroit. The party will roll in the Michigan State tournament, in Detroit, in which nine Canadian teams are entered. Frost and Boyd may roll in the five man event, with one of the Toronto clubs, and in any event will take part in the doubles. The local pair are trundling in great form, and, although at Detroit they will meet some of the finest bowlers on the continent, they should make a good showing for themselves.

O. C. W. FOR MIDLAND LEAGUE

Will Reorganize Their Club This Week—Have Some Good Men.

The Midland Association Football League will likely be augmented this year by another Peterborough team. The Old Country Wanderers intend again to drop into the limelight in football. They will hold a practice on Friday morning and will then probably organize their club for the coming season.

The O. C. W. were in the game a few years ago, when they had gathered together a bunch of good players. Some of these are still in the city, and they, together with the new ones, should make up a team well qualified to enter the Midland League ranks.

W. A. BAILEY WILL NOT START

Says He is a "Degenerate" and Would Have No Chance to Win the Contest

W. A. Bailey will not be a starter in the walking race, and the letter received by Manager Stevens yesterday, which purported to be from Mr. Bailey, was evidently a hoax. Anyway, Mr. Bailey writes the sporting editor of the Examiner, as follows:

Sir,—I really could not afford to enter your walking contest, and I should have thought you knew the writing of

Yours truly,
W. A. BAILEY.

P. S.—Being a "degenerate" and having "dementiva or something or other," I would not have a chance against your Canadians.

W. A. B,
Peterborough, April 14th, 1908.

BRITT'S FATHER COMES TO THE RESCUE

The California Boy Defeated by Packy McFarland.

Jimmy Britt has again announced his retirement from the ring. His recent defeat at the hands of "Packy" McFarland on Saturday has put a quietus on his ambitions for the present. A despatch refers to the bout as follows:

"Packy" McFarland, Chicago lightweight, whipped Jimmy Britt in the sixth round this afternoon in their 20-round pugilistic contest at Colma. Britt was knocked to the floor three times in the fifth and sixth rounds by powerful right-hand blows on the point of the jaw. He took the count of nine twice, and after the timekeeper had counted five on the third fall, Britt's father jumped into the ring and waved McFarland away. McFarland outclassed Britt from start to finish.

Britt did not seem to gauge his blows, and displayed much weakness in the clinches and close fighting. McFarland had remarkable speed, his judgment of distance was good, and he displayed great punching power.

FLAHERTY IS BACK FROM YOUNGSTOWN

Arm Has Been Treated and Will be All Right Now.

"Yebbie" Flaherty returned on Monday night from Youngstown, O., after having his twirling arm treated by the far-famed "Bone-setter" Reese, of that city. His arm has been set right for the first time in two years, and has every promise of being as good as ever, although "Yebbie" has been given strict orders not to use it until May 1st, at least. Flaherty saw Harry Burridge and Jack Connors start out with the Youngstown squad for Hanover, where they will do their spring training. There were twenty-two in the bunch including six out fielders, so that Jack Connors will have his work cut out for him. Things are easier for Burridge, as the Youngstown team has released two catchers, relying upon the Peterborough backstop to make good.

BOYD'S SCORE OF 245 HIGHEST SO FAR

Looks Good Enough to Win Box of Cigars at P. B. C. Alleys.

It looks like Tommy Boyd for the box of cigars, given by the Peterborough Bowling Club, for the best single score in the week, ending to-night, making the third time in succession for the hook ball artist. Frost was the first to set a high mark this week, getting 225 and following it up with 227. McIlmoyle sent it up to 237, and there it remained until last night, when Boyd got 238. To make things sure this morning he rolled a game of 235, just nine pins below his own alley record.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

It looks like a great game of basketball at the Central Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday night, when Montreal will stack up against the Central seniors. The game at Peterborough last Wednesday proved a good work out for the boys, and they will have their final practice to-night with the Calydons, who meet All Saints in the preliminary at 8.15. The senior team was chosen from the Campers and Tongolas, as follows: Sievert, Tongolas; and Tompkins, Campers, forwards; Britton, Tongolas, centre; Walker, Tongolas, and Swanson, Campers, defence.—Toronto Star.

• • • •

A meeting has been called for to-morrow, in the Y. M. C. A. at 7.30 for the purpose of organizing a Junior Guild Baseball League, and all teams in the churches who intend to enter are requested to have a representative.

• • • •

All senior Y. M. C. A. men are urged to turn out next week, on Tuesday and Wednesday nights, for a final rehearsal for the exhibition, which will be given on Thursday night. Dumb bell drill and pyramid work and apparatus work will be the chief features.

• • • •

A meeting of all interested in lawn tennis will be held in the parlours of the Y. M. C. A. this evening at 8.30.

• • • •

A practice of the first and second basket ball teams is called for this evening at 6.30, and the following men are asked to be present, Wallace Darling, Cressman, Loomis and S. Laing, Sutherland, Weatherstone, Campbell, E. Best and R. Best. This will be the last practice before the great game with Midland on Good Friday evening, at 8.30.

• • • •

Is Lindsay to have a Midland League team this year? That is the question, and to settle it an open meeting has been called for to-morrow night (Wednesday) in the Y.M.C.A. rooms at 8 sharp. Everybody is heartily welcome and privileged to have their say. It is hoped a large number will be present. It's a shame to have the best town in the circuit left out of the league. The Midland League this year will be very successful. "The towns on the front are tired of the wild cat schemes that were used last season," said a local sport to-day, "and we are going in for baseball this year." — Lindsay Post.

• • •

The Intermediate League Baseball teams are requested to hand in the personel of their teams to the president, Mr. Jas. Laing, before Saturday.

• • • •

The Shamrocks have challenged the Beavers to a game of baseball on Good Friday. The Shamrocks have a strong team this year, and the Beavers will have to play some to defeat the Shamrocks. The Shamrocks team are: Kemp, p.; H. Wolfe, 1b; C. Fenney, 2b; J. Carew, s.s.; P. Armstrong, 3b; Brown, r.f.; Johnson, c.f.; H. Carew, l.f.

THE WEATHER

To-day was the warmest day up to the present in 1908. At noon the mercury had risen to 62 degrees in the shade. Yesterday it was 52 degrees, which held the record until to-day. The prospects, however, are that colder weather will follow.

ANOTHER MISSIONARY IS COMING

Miss Kingland to Accompany Mrs. Walton To Peterborough.

Since yesterday's announcement it has been learned that Miss Kingland, another missionary from the South African General Mission, will accompany Mrs. Walton to the city and address a congregation at Bethany Tabernacle in the afternoon of next Monday, while Miss Walton will speak at night. Both ladies represent the mission, of which Rev. Andrew Murray is president. It is both international and inter-denominational.

Friday being a Public Holiday the Barber Shops will be closed all day, but will be open late Thursday night. 2d-90

MAY BEGIN TEMPERANCE CAMPAIGN IN CITY

The Royal Templars Discuss Beginning Gospel Campaign.

The monthly open session of the Royal Templars of Temperance was held last night, with Rev. Mr. Coon in the chair. There was a fairly large attendance to hear an interesting address by Rev. A. H. Brace. Among the plans of the Templars is a gospel temperance campaign, to be held on Sunday afternoon at 4.15. The question is under discussion and will be settled in the near future.

Perhaps Sleepless, too!

You'll be a total wreck pretty soon, life will no longer be a pleasure. Just think of the days and nights of misery you must spend if not cured!

Won't you use Ferrozone? It's a nerve strengthener that really does cure. It acts through the blood. First, Ferrozone brings appetite—you eat plenty. This fills the blood with nourishment for the inner nerve cells.

FERROZONE

Instils strength into every part of the system. You get well—keep well—nervousness forever departs—because you have used Ferrozone. Avoid substitutes.

GRASS FIRE LAST NIGHT ON AYLMER STREET

Man Was Burning Leaves—Boys Saw Blaze and Sent in Alarm.

During the past few days the firemen have been called out twice to put out grass fires. Last night both hose and ladder wagons had a run up Aylmer street about 8 o'clock. When they arrived at the fire they found a man in a field on the top of a hill burning leaves, and part of the grass was on fire. The blaze was quickly trampled out.

It was afterwards learned that a crowd of boys further down the street had seen the blaze and sent in an alarm.

NO MORE FISH UNTIL THE MIDDLE OF JUNE

Close Season Begins To-day—Anglers Will Have to Wait.

To-day, April 15th, heralds the close season for bass and lunge fishing. For two long months the army of followers of Izaac Walton will have to hang up their fishing poles and dream of the future, when they may go in search of the finny tribe with impunity, and without fear of the stern inspector.

The close season is from April 15th to June 15th, both days inclusive.

"PARSIFAL"

A play as broad in its interests as humanity itself. Elaborate and spectacular in production, weird in its portrayal of the elemental passions, absorbing as a dream of the highest good, yet keen and intense in its appeal to the individual; such is the description of the Wagner wonder drama, which Peterborough playgoers for the first time are to see in its new English dress, at the Grand Opera House, Easter Monday, April 20. It is generally conceded to be a condition of dramatic art that human interests must be paramount, and this condition has been complied with in the translation of "Parsifal." Abstract ideas and poetic fancies are made real in the characters and experiences of living persons. The faith that good shall be the final goal of ill, forms the legend wrought out to certitude in the action of the play. The futility of low cunning, craft, duplicity and all the unlovely brood of the nether world, when opposed by the nobler intelligence which comprehends but disregards them all, is demonstrated in this thrilling drama, which centres around the personality of soldier sires, whom his mother would have made a shepherd of but whom destiny made a king. There is sound philosophy and true art in the final description of the personality of Parsifal.

A guileless fool—in the eyes of the foolish—not by wrath, nor by cynicism, nor by cheap worldly wisdom, but by pity enlightened.

As a spectacle "Parsifal" is a tremendous enterprise; the scenery is on a lavish scale and the illuminations and electric effects form a striking feature of the production. An augmented orchestra of twenty musicians will render the soul-stirring strains of Parsifal, as an accompaniment to the wondrous text.

The hour of commencement will differ from that of the former custom, the long dinner intermission having been eliminated, now permits of giving the play at one sitting. The curtain for the evening performance will rise promptly at 7.45. Auditors should be in their seats when the performance begins, as none will be seated during the action of the play.

FUNERAL OF MRS. GEORGE CURTIN OF SMITH

Mother is Mourned by Husband and Seven Children.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Geo. Curtin was held this afternoon, from the family residence on the 3rd concession of Smith, to the Lakefield Cemetery. After an illness extending over eight weeks, Mr. Curtin passed away on Monday morning. She leaves behind her her bereaved husband and a family of seven children, the eldest of whom is about sixteen years of ages and the youngest an infant. Mr. Curtin receives the sincere sympathy of his many friends in this hour of trouble.

STAINERS' CRUCIFIXION AT ST. JOHN'S

Is Being Presented on Good Friday for Third Year.

For the third year in succession, the choral work known as Sir John Stainer's "Crucifixion," being a sacred meditation on the passion and death of our blessed Lord, will be solemnly sung in St. John's church on Good Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The choristers have worked hard to give a really good rendering of this work, and last night's practice was fully attended and a great success. The final rehearsal will be held Thursday at 8 p.m., when all taking part are expected to be present.

WINDOW BREATHES THE SPIRIT OF EASTER

Mr. H. C. McDonald's Clever Work Attracts Much Attention.

Mr. H. C. McDonald, the well known window dresser of Rich. Hall and Son's establishment, has one of his characteristically clever window designs to illustrate the Easter season, that is attracting admiration from all who have seen it. The large window to the south contains a blossoming apple tree, upon the branches of which birds are perched. Easter lilies are apparently growing from the bottom of the window, while a pair of rabbits and a chipmunk add to the effect. The other windows are tastefully arranged, and the work is a credit to Mr. McDonald.

ARE BUILDING BRICK STABLE IN ITS PLACE

Wooden Structure Will be Replaced by One of More Modern Design.

Mr. T. Cavanah, proprietor of the Cavanah House, commenced excavation this morning for the new stable. It will be remembered that the old one, a wooden structure, fell a prey to the flames some time ago. The new stable will be a solid brick building, extending across the entire yard. The stable will be much larger than the old one, and capable of stabling many more horses. The bricks and lumber necessary for the work are piled up in the yard and building operations will be pushed forward very rapidly.

MR. GEO. A. GILLESPIE WAS CHOSEN

To Represent Liberal Party of the Riding of West Peterborough in Legislature—Enthusiastic Assembly.

The mass meeting held this afternoon in the Grand Opera House was a success in every respect. The chief speaker of the occasion was the Hon. A. G. MacKay, leader of the Opposition in the Legislature, who gave a forceful and eloquent address. Motions of confidence in the Federal Government and in Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. A. G. MacKay, were unanimously carried. Mr. Geo. A. Gillespie was nominated and accepted the nomination as the Liberal candidate for the Legislature in West Peterborough.

NEW YACHT NEARING COMPLETION

Being Built by Mr. Rye—Guaranteed Speed of 15 Miles Per Hour.

The new yacht being built by Mr. H. B. Rye for Mr. Gouley is rapidly nearing completion. It will have a 12-horse-power engine and a speed of 15 miles an hour. It will be 25 feet over all.

DOG WAS KILLED AT THE G.T.R. STATION TO-DAY

About noon to-day a collie dog, which had been playing around the G. T. R. station the greater part of the morning, was killed by one of the big engines. The dog had dashed towards the engine twice, the second time going underneath. When the engine had passed over it the dog was found in a horribly mangled condition, and one of the expressmen near by killed it by hitting it with a hammer.

DID PETERBORO PEOPLE SUFFER IN BOSTON FIRE?

Mrs. Thos. G. Ranton Lived on Devasted Broadway.

Mr. Jas. Sutherland, George street, is anxiously awaiting definite news from his daughter, Mrs. Thos. G. Ranton of Boston, Mass. Her residence is at 208 Broadway East, and her father believes her home may have suffered in the recent fire that swept through Broadway in the Summerville district. Mr. and Mrs. Ranton moved into their splendid new home about two months ago, and if it was burned they have suffered a great loss. Mr. Sutherland is in hopes that he will receive good news.

TWO OCTOGENARIANS HAVE PASSED AWAY

Both Lived Near Hastings and Were 84 Years of Age—Hastings News.

Examiner Special:

Hastings, April 16.—Mr. Michael O'Leary, an old and esteemed resident of Percy, passed away suddenly last Wednesday. He passed nearly his entire life in the above township, and leaves five sons to mourn his loss. He was 84 years of age and was buried on Friday at the Roman Catholic cemetery, Hastings.

Mr. William Hill passed away suddenly Saturday evening. He was 84 years of age, and had many friends in Hastings. The funeral took place on Tuesday.

Mr. John Barry of Michigan paid a hurried visit to Hastings during the past week.

Two of our local men cannot boast of being great syrup consumers, as they took a rather liberal supply and experienced very unpleasant sensations afterwards.

Mr. Thos. Chapman is seriously ill at present.

THE FIGURE.

How Too Much Fat May be Safely Reduced at Home.

"Oh, that this too, too solid flesh would melt!" cry the ladies nowadays as they try to squirm into a princess frock. How much would the too generously proportioned dame not give up for four inches less in the waistline, as she compares herself with the more fortunate one hundred and twenty-five pound sister. Various devices are suggested to arrest the flesh-producing tendency and keep the figure trim, including exercising, walking and dieting, as well as numerous patented remedies, but there are objections to all of these. Exercising is hard work and takes up precious time; dieting is distasteful and a real punishment, and most of the patent remedies are dangerous to health.

The very best thing for the overfat, whether male or female, is a simple home receipt: 1-2 oz. Marmola, 3-4 oz. Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, 4 3-4 ozs. Syrup Simplex, which can be obtained of any druggist at small cost. This should be taken a teaspoonful at a time after meals and at bedtime, and results will be both speedy and certain. This is a harmless mixture that cannot bring on any stomach troubles, nor cause the dried-up, wrinkled appearance of those who starve or take "patent reducers" to get thin. On the contrary, although it often takes the fat off at the rate of a pound a day, it is really very beneficial to the system, cleansing the blood and causing the complexion to become fair and beautiful. The cost of the three ingredients is a mere bagatelle, and one may, if one prefers, get them separately, and mix them together at home.—13.

Use British Flag To Carry On Their Kidnapping Schemes

Hundreds of Chinese Labourers Carried Off---Obtained Registration by Fraud---British Court May Confiscate The Steamer---Pitched Battle on Board.

Examiner Special:

Shanghai, April 16.—An extraordinary case is being tried in the British court here. The crown is applying for the confiscation of the steamship Maori King on the ground that she obtained fraudulent registration under the British flag while she really belonged to a rich Russian Jew named Ginsburg, who chartered her to a naturalized American named Zimmerman, formerly a Russian Jew.

Zimmerman and two low class Americans conspired to kidnap 1,200 Chinese coolies from Vladivostock under the pretence of taking them to a Chinese port. They were actually landed at Guaymas, Mexico, where they were handed over to a Mexican Railway and forced to labor. They still remain there.

The captain of the Maori King, a Britisher, even kept the engineers in ignorance of his destination. Zimmerman is one of the richest men in Shanghai. The case is proceeding.

The Maori King arrived in Guaymas, Mexico, in August, 1907, with more than a thousand Chinese and Russian laborers. During her voyage from the far east there was almost constant fighting on board, as the Chinese, who had been told that their destination, Mexico, was a city near Hong Kong, were furious when the truth dawned on them. They became alarmed at the length of the voyage, and threatened to kill one of the contractors who had remained on board. To save the man's life the captain had him locked up in his stateroom.

Later there was a pitched battle between the Russian and Chinese laborers. When the ship reached San Diego, Cal., twenty armed Americans were taken on board and acted as guards during the remainder of the trip.

On the arrival of the vessel off Guaymas, on the west coast of Mexico, the coolies took possession of the boats and tried to reach the shore, but were prevented by the Mexican authorities, who were appealed to for assistance. Then they were turned over to the Sonora Railway to work.

Brakeman Richard Newton Neglected To Close The Switch

Sent to Jail for Nine Months as Consequence of Criminal Negligence---Judge Says Rules Must be Obeyed.

Examiner Special.

Milton, April 16.—Richard Newton, the young C.P.R. brakeman, goes to jail for nine months for his disobedience to orders at Guelph Junction before dawn on March 11th last. He was found guilty by a jury in the Assizes yesterday of criminal negligence in opening a switch on the main line in the yard which resulted in the death of his friend, Engineer Charles Armstrong. Both he and Armstrong were neighbors in West Toronto.

Armstrong was taking a special train of Mystic Shriners to London from Toronto. Newton turned a switch that ran the engine on to the main line without orders and without looking to see that the yard was protected by the semaphore. The semaphore was down to allow the special to pass through without stopping, as it was late.

The jury were half an hour reaching a verdict. Their recommendation to mercy escaped the notice of the clerk till Mr. Justice Anglin, in answer to the plea of the young man's counsel, Mr. T. C. Robinette, K.C., agreed that the case was one where justice should be tempered with mercy.

"In dealing with your case I am dealing on the assumption that you have hitherto borne an unblemished character," said his lordship, imposing a sentence of nine months in Milton jail without hard labor.

"I quite understand that you did not anticipate any such results from your act of carelessness, as unfortunately followed from it.

"If I were to consider you alone I would be disposed to accede to your counsel's suggestion to allow you to go upon suspended sentence. But I have to consider not only you, but the great body of railway employes in this country and the public.

"It is absolutely essential in the interests of the public that it should be known throughout the breadth and length of this land that the rules of a railway company, formulated for the safety of persons traveling upon the railway, cannot be disregarded with impunity. Parliament has seen fit to penalize their disregard and to treat that as a crime, although no criminal intent be shown.

"I would be wanting in my duty, I would fail in my duty, as I regard it, if I were to countenance any view that such neglect as yours was, can be allowed to go unpunished.

"At the same time you are not a criminal in the ordinary sense, and that I think is well understood. To mark my appreciation of that I intend, if possible, to segregate you from the criminal class, and to see that you shall not get in contact with them more than is absolutely necessary."

TALKED OF HELL FIRE.

Judge Frightens Quebec Jury Into Giving a Verdict.

Quebec, April 16.—Ulric Barthe, editor of La Vigie (The Lookout), a semi-weekly French paper published in Quebec, was found guilty in a libel suit and condemned to pay $800 damages and costs.

Ald. Huard, the plaintiff in the libel suit, is the promoter of the early closing saloon law in this city, which came into effect some two years ago. In the heat of municipal politics La Vigie undertook to demonstrate that Ald. Huard was a hypocrite.

The attorney for the defence, L. A. Gannon, son-in-law of Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, took numerous written exceptions to the stringent ruling of Judge Lemieux.

When the case was given to the jury an extraordinary scene was enacted in the court-room. The presiding judge held forth the terrors of hell to the members of the jury who did not vote in accordance with their conscience. Turning to one member of the jury named Latulippe, who endeavored to get clear of the trial when the jury was being empaneled, on the ground that he was prejudiced, the judge called him by name and said: "You, Mr. Latulippe, on the first day of the trial, said you were prejudiced." Then he proceeded to lecture him.

The case will be appealed to a full court of the King's Bench.

IRISH AND NEW PREMIER.

John Redmond Says Attitude of Party Must Be Altered.

Dublin, April 16.—Speaking at a meeting yesterday afternoon of the United Irish League, John E. Redmond, the Irish Parliamentary leader, said the changes in the Ministry resulting from the assumption of the Premiership by Mr. Asquith had involved an alteration of the attitude of Ireland toward the Liberal party, and he did not think that British voters could support Winston Churchill in the approaching bye-election at Manchester.

Continuing, Mr. Redmond declared that the attitude of Premier Asquith and Secretary for Ireland Birrell toward home rule was a direct challenge to the people of Ireland and he warned Mr. Asquith to remember the fate of Lord Rosebery.

Ireland herself would have to force the home rule question to the front at the next general election, but there was nothing to be gained by withdrawing the Nationalists from Westminster.

Boy Crushed to Death.

Toronto, April 16.—Bennett Asher Qua, aged 14, son of Samuel Qua, traveler, was killed by a King street car which he tried to board while it was passing King street and Gwynne avenue yesterday morning. He was on his way from his home, 11 Gwynne avenue, to the technical school. The car had stopped at Tyndall avenue and was passing when the unfortunate lad, running across the street in front of the car, tried to get on the rear platform of the motor. He slipped and went beneath the trailer and motor and was terribly crushed. A brother was among those attracted to the scene and assisted in caring for the remains.

Coroner Orr will open an inquest at the residence at 10 o'clock this morning. A representative of the city legal department will attend on instructions of the board of control.

Yesterday's was the third trolley fatality with children as victims inside a fortnight.

Woman Wrecked Fence With Axe.

Chatham, April 16.—Madly swinging an axe, Mrs. James Fipley, Princess street, quickly demolished the fence between the properties of Rev. J. C. Richards and Mrs. N. Anderson on that street. The reverend gentleman objecting, rushed from his house and forcibly took the instrument of destruction from the woman, but found that the disciple of Carrie Nation would not be quiet until again given the axe. She then promptly completed the job. Mrs. Finley was landed in the lock-up, where her mental condition will be investigated.

Shacks Burned at Cobalt.

Cobalt, April 16.—The shack owned and occupied by George Ross, barrister of Cobalt, and formerly of Toronto, was burned to the ground yesterday morning, as was that of Zena Trudelle, next door, on the Nipissing property.

A NOVEL CELEBRATION

The arrival of Spring will be celebrated in a novel way this year by McDermid & Jury, the enterprising druggists.

On Saturday of this week they will distribute $50.00 worth of choice fresh garden seeds, among their customers.

Every customer purchasing 50c worth of goods that day will be given five packages of seeds, and the first 12 persons who bring in flowers or vegetables grown from these seeds, will each be given a prize of $1.00 in cash.

In addition to this they are offering many Bargains in Hair Brushes, Hot Water Bottles, Perfumes, Tooth Brushes, Toilet Articles, etc.

Ford's famous Chocolates will also be made a special feature on this day and a box of Ford's Butter Scotch will be given free with every pound of their Chocolates.

Among other attractions will be the presentation of 10 Pretty Swiss Bedroom Clocks, to the first 5 ladies purchasing $2 worth of goods, after 7.30 a.m. and another 5 clocks to the first 5 farmers' wives purchasing $2 worth after one o'clock, noon. These clocks are not toys but good serviceable clocks, worth from $1 to 1.25 each

When this firm announce an event of this kind, they carry out every promise and we would recommend all our readers to call on them on Saturday and get some of the good things they are offering.

WINDOWS ARE MOST TASTEFULLY DECORATED

Merrell & Meredith Have a Most Tasteful Display.

Messrs. Merrell and Meredith's show windows are attracting considerable attention, owing to the tasteful manner in which they have been dressed, by Mr. J. C. Freeland. Maple leaves and plants are profusely used in the decorative scheme, while the windows contain an artistically arranged display of men's clothing. In the large centre window appear large pictures of the Peterborough Rugby Club and the Strathcona Hockey Club, which add to the interest of the display.

NO MORE DANDRUFF

Newbro's Herpicide Destroys the Pestiferous Cause of Annoying Dandruff

Does your head itch? Is your coat or dress full of white flakes after dressing your hair? That's the effect of dandruff. Is your hair thinning? Are you beginning to get bald in spots? Are you already, in fact, rapidly becoming bald? If so, that is the effect of a measly little parasite that burrows in at the root of the hair, and throws up the scalp in dandruff, and eats off the hair at the root. Science's latest discovery is a destroyer of that pestiferous germ. That destroyer is contained in no other hair preparation on earth but Newbro's Herpicide. Try it, and be convinced. A delightful dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes — 50c and $1. No Strike This Season.

Cleveland, April 16.—Special meetings have been called by the officers of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association to be held next Saturday evening at all ports on the Great Lakes, where the organization has local branches to take up the pending controversy brought about by the decision of the Lake Carriers' Association to hereafter insist upon an "open shop" policy. The prevailing opinion among the engineers apparently is that there will be no strike this season.

Physician Cuts His Throat.

New York, April 16.—Dr. Alexander B. McWowell, a physician of 119 West 129th street, cut his throat with a razor and died soon afterwards yesterday. Just before death came he urged his housekeeper to summon medical aid.

The man was 35 years of age, a widower and had a son of five years. He had appeared in good health and spirits earlier in the day.

The council then adjourned, to meet on the 13th April.

Adjourned Meeting

On April 13th Council met, pursuant to adjournment, all the members present.

Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

On motion of Messrs. Garbutt and McKee, a by-law was introduced to prevent the obstruction of highways in the Township of Smith, which passed its several readings, and provides as follows:

1. No person, persons or corporation shall place, or cause of suffer to be placed upon any part of any highway, within the said Township of Smith, or over which the said township has jurisdiction, any building, material, lumber, produce or any tent or building, temporary or otherwise, without the consent of the council of said township.

2. No person, persons or corporation shall suffer or permit any vehicle of any kind to be placed, or to stand upon any part of any such highway, for a longer period than three hours, except in case of accident thereto.

Clause 3 provides for punishment by fine or imprisonment.

On motion of Messrs. Graham and Davis, a by-law was passed, providing as follows:

That no person shall bring, or permit upon any portion off that part of the West Communication Road, between the 3rd and 4th concessions of said Township of Smith, any traction engine whatever, or any vehicle of any kind carrying a greater weight than three tons, with provisions for punishment by fines and imprisonment.

Moved by Messrs. Garbutt and McKee, and carried, that the following claims be paid:

Moved by Messrs. Garbutt and Graham, that this councnil of the Township of Smith, hereby adopts the new road, "Dumble Avenue," on the southeast quarter of lot 1, east of the Communication Road in Smith, as a public highway, and directs the clerk to make application to the Grand Trunk Railway Company to permit the said road to pass and be graded over the line of the right of way, now out of use.—Carried.

The council then adjourned, to meet on the 29th day of May next, as a Court of Revision on the Assessment Roll for 1908.

The Value Of Having Well Kept Lawns And Grounds

How to Obtain a Good Lawn Which is the Most Important Consideration in the Planning of Grounds and is the Basis of the Whole Scheme of Decorative Gardening.

COVER WALLS WITH VINES

Canadian Dairyman.

There is nothing that gives so much character to country places and villages as the appearance of well-laid out and well-kept ground's around and about schools, churches and the homes of the people. Rural improvement of this kind not only affords pleasure to those who live in the vicinity, but it advertises the community to an extent that is not always appreciated. The private and public grounds of our people betray our ideals of comfort and beauty. Neglected country and village homes, as well as school and church grounds, ill-kept and unadorned, furnish the kind of national advertisement that we, as Canadians, do not want. Rural improvement is a striking advertisement of the progress of a country's refinement and the height of its civilization.

The influences of rural improvement are felt not only by the old folks but by the children as well for it is they who are the most susceptible to the beauties of natural associations. If children are constantly surrounded with influences that ennoble them, they will become satisfied with nothing less. In after years they will make better citizens, for habits acquired in childhood have much to do with the character and worth of the adult.

The practice of ornamenting home grounds increases the value of the property. This consideration alone should be sufficient to induce the land owners and the house owners of our country to beautify their homes and also the public and pleasure grounds of the neighborhood. The work of beautifying is neither difficult or expensive. Any farmer can make a good lawn and he can have an effective planting of shrubbery and trees by bringing native species from the woods or by purchasing common kinds from nurserymen.

In the planning and arrangement of such grounds, the lawn is the most important consideration. It is the basis of the whole scheme of decorative gardening. To get the greatest possible results from the lawn at the least possible cost, we must begin well.

A good lawn can be made on most any kind of soil but a rich, retentive loam is best. The permanent beauty of the turf depends largely upon the preparation and fertility of the soil, if it is not naturally rich, it should be made so. Apply manure liberally. Work this in deeply and evenly. Harrow or rake the surface and leave it smooth and even.

Small lawns may be made quickly by means of sodding, but seeding is usually practised. Sow the seed while the soil is freshly disturbed. Sow early in the morning and on a still day, and sow liberally and evenly. After sowing, rake and roll. A good lawn mixture is Kentucky blue grass, red top and white clover, equal parts by weight.

When the lawn is once established, it should be well cared for. Mow the grass often but do not mow too soon, nor too closely the first time on a newly-made lawn. It is not necessary to remove the clippings, if the grass is mowed frequently.

Trees and shrubs should be planted in harmony with the surrounding conditions. On school and home grounds, plant the largest at the sides and rear. The tallest kinds should be used in the background. Plant shrubs mostly in groups. Occasionally single specimens with individual characteristics may stand alone. Use a comparatively small number of kinds, and mass each kind by itself. Trees and shrubs may be planted so as to hide objectionable scenes. Private and pleasure grounds should not be treated as places simply for treasuring beautiful trees, for in the attempt to preserve individual specimens, we deform the grounds and destroy the effect.

The bare walls of houses, churches and school houses may be covered with vines. Notice the beautiful vine that clings to the church in the accompanying illustration, and imagine how bare the church would be without it. Vines are valuable, also for hiding insightly objects, fences, outbuildings, barnyards, and so forth. They may be used for shade and ornament over summerhouses and verandas. Old tree stumps and trunks may be covered with vines very effectively. Among our hardy vines are climbing roses, clematis, Virginia creeper, Chinese wistaria, Dutchman's pipe and honeysuckle. An excellent vine and one not appreciated as it should be, is the common grape vine. It is beautiful in foliage, graceful in habit and furnishes, in addition, luscious fruit.

No scheme of rural improvement is complete without flowers. It is a mistake, however, to plant flowerbeds in the middle of the lawn, except on formal grounds. Plant them in the foreground of shrub borders, in nooks and corners about the buildings, at the foundation of the house, at junctions of walks and driveways, and at the foot of rockeries, stone walls and fences.

The general arrangement of ornamental plantations should correspond with the architecture of the buildings. If buildings are large and architecturely ornate, such as public buildings on public squares, the artificial and formal may be adopted. On home grounds and around the ordinary country or village church and school, a more natural order of arrangement should be employed. Freedom from formality should be the rule. In front of the building, maintain an open expanse of green and plant trees, shrubs and flowers on the borders. The junction of roads and walks may be planted with shrubbery or flowers. Arrange, also, for comfort and protection. The buildings need shade in summer and shelter from winter winds. Be careful, however, not to shut out the view. In all the work of ornamental gardening, be determined to do a good job. Resolve this spring to have your church and school grounds the best for miles around, and have the grounds about the farm home even better.

GRAYSTOCK NEWS OF INTEREST

Maple Syrup Making is all the Rage Among the Inhabitants of the Community.

Examiner Special.

Graystock, April 15. — The dry, windy weather of the past week has dried up the land so well that some of our farmers are looking forward to begin on the soil in a few days more.

This burg is busying itself in getting its summer wood ready and everything in ship-shape order before seeding begins.

Maple syrup making is all the rage in our village. A large quantity is being made, and it will require a few express wagons and carters from the city to haul it away.

Mr. Ross Pickel has engaged at the cement company plant for the coming summer.

Mrs. Jos. Manley has returned to her home after a week's visit at her son's, Mr. Jas. Manley.

Mr. R. Robinson will soon take his departure for Westwood, where he will engage in the cheese-making with Mr. D. McCracken of that place.

Master Joseph Lomkershire has engaged for the summer with Mr. Sid. Rutherford.

Miss Edith Pickel is spending a two weeks' holiday under the parental roof.

Mr. Wm. Ruttel has leased the lower house of Mr. Walter Dickson on the Base line, where he will be near his work.

Mr. Fred Foot is at present at his father-in-law's, finishing the work on his woodshed, which he lately moved down from the Morgan farm.

Mr. Everton Manley has left our burg, having gone to live in the city for the summer.

STORY of RICHARD WAGNER'S MYSTIC FESTIVAL PLAY PARSIFAL

WITH SCENES of MARTIN & EMERY'S PRODUCTION

ADAPTED BY WILLIAM LYNCH ROBERTS

The First Lift of the Curtain

is on darkness made reverently impressive by the distant call of the watch guards summon to the camp warders. With the summon the rising god of day mounts the pathway of the sky and bids the weary Knights make haste to reach the Grail Castle's keep, lest lingering in the "foul domain of rankest pagan land," the narcotic seduction of insidious delights swerve them from their holy office and its purpose.

The good King Titurel, last of the Cappadocians, is dead. Amfortas, his son and Prince of the Holy Grail, reigns in his stead, but Amfortas, weak in that in which he should have been strong, falls victim to his own wild desire and the blandishment of Kundry's alluring seductiveness, and through his wounded conscience loses the mighty talisman, the Holy Spear. Klingschor's hand of evil thus gaining control of the mighty weapon, looks only to the satiation of his own devilish ambition to win the Holy Cup and with it the soul of the foresworn knightly warder, Amfortas. The smiling face of Sin, flitting before him on that pleasant path of dalliance, ever reminds him of his own downfall and impotence And from his egoism of suffering is born the Sorrow.

AT THE CURTAIN'S SECOND RISE, the blessed beauty of the world's fair morning time gives one kindly greeting. A forest glade, with the shadows sinking backwards to its depths before the radiance of the dawn; a sheltered mountain lake waking from its quiet sleep and smiling at the bright face of morning; a forester, with his attendants on their knees, with hearts uplifted to the giver of good. It is the dear old earth, just as we long ago dreamed it was, robed with beauty, bathed with romance, atmosphered with reverence, a paradise where it was natural for men and God to meet. Very swiftly the clouds that darkened this mortal life began to lower. Whirled as upon a gust of evil energy, the agent through whose instrumentality the master of ill achieves his schemes of ruin, sweeps into view, the pitiful and appealing figure of Kundry. As she flings herself, hopeless and helpless upon the ground, a sad procession winds its way through the forest. A band of knights bear their king upon a litter to the lakeside. A wound that laughs at the resources of royalty burns away his life, and he writhes in an agony that never sleeps. As this melancholy train disappears, a swan, its snowy plumage dabbled with blood, and its graceful form distorted with the death agony, flutters to the ground. The glory of the Summer dawn has quickly grown cold. Discords are flashing through the harmonies of things Against a background of rare natural beauty are already projected the blight of sin. Then the Deliverer appears. A mere youth, utterly untutored in the actualties of life. A company of passing knights at once set ringing in his childish heart a note which has never ceased to vibrate. Some day he hopes to be a knightly man, armored for all chivalrous adventure. For such a service far beyond every dream, his schooling now begins.

A storm of reproaches is showered upon him for having inflicted pain and death upon a helpless creature. Pity, for the first time, steals into his heart.

TEMPLE of THE HOLY GRAIL

THE REDEMPTION.

AMFORTAS

KLINGSOR

KNIGHTS OF THE HOLY GRAIL.

THE TEMPTATION

What a world this is into which he has come to play his part! Death and pain hovering over the animal creation; anguish and wretchedness brooding upon men! The sweet call of holy bells knolls through the air. The guardians of the Grail gather in reverent assembly. The wounded king utters a piteous lament. The life-giving chalice is unveiled and exalted, but the sacramental virtue seems to have strangely waned. The youth stands enthralled by the marvelous spectacle Its meaning he cannot fathom. His relation to it he does not discern. Some dim desire of doing something to relieve this incurable distress is now rising into his consciousness.

"Fare forth, thou Guileless One! Thou shalt yet add to the simplicity of the dove, the wisdom of the serpent. Thou art innocent because ignorant; and the Holy Spear, lost in Sin, shall be re-won in Purity and Sacrifice; and thou shalt become to the stricken King and Deliverer for whom he waits."

The curtain rose upon a world apparelled in beauty. It falls upon a world marred and tear-stained. But as its folds descend, in accents like an angel's voice, a promise floats through the air and fills the heart with a glow of hope.

The Deliverer has beheld the Sorrow!

THE THIRD LIFT OF THE CURTAIN reveals the gloomy recesses of that labratory of iniquity, where with devilish alchemy, those energies are brewed which bring destruction. In the shadows of the chamber are discerned the Master of Evil and his sad slave Kundry. Commanded to ply her arts for the ensnaring of the Deliverer she recoils in vain. Her pitiful shrieks for one who will strike off her chains, fall upon deaf ears. By an accursed sorcery, which she is helpless to gainsay, she is hounded to her loathed task. The hero is at hand.

Stung with a determination to win from the foul magician the sacred Spear, the holy talisman of life, and to heal the tortured king, he advances with bared sword into the gloomy haunts of darkness and challenges their defenders. With heroic prowess, he quickly smites the armed sentries who would bar his progress. Then the real struggle begins. Behind the grim fortress walls he discovers a vision of the most alluring beauty. A garden of ravishing delights spreads its enticements before him. This is the arena of mortal conflict. The rich hues of rare flowers, the soft perfumes, the alluring music, the bewitching loviness of a bevy of laughing girls, afford no outward suggestion of the deadly struggle which is at hand. The champion of the stricken King, seeking the talisman by which alone his task can be achieved, is beckoned within these inviting precincts. The cheer of the place is grateful. The simple sports and melodious voices of the maidens are congenial But their utmost arts cannot swerve him from his knightly quest, and with shrieks of laughter which echo that curdling peal with which Mephisto salutes the rush of Faust to the window of Marguerite, they disperse among the flowers. Like the voice of a herald, giving signal to lay lance in rest, Kundry is heard calling "Parsifal." Instantly sense and spirit grapple. With leonine power the man resists panther-like cunning and serpent-like fascination.

No false note of vulgarity is struck in this marvelous scene. Coarse temptation could find no response in so untainted a soul. Grossness is sedulously masked. Appeal is insiduously made to the purest emotions and the highest motives The solace of sympathetic companionship in life's loneliness, and the stimulus of comradeship in its noble quest, are pictured with magic art and melting persuasiveness. Deftly the temptkiss. That kiss burns like a whiff of pit-fire. It kindles a storm of baleful emotion. It illumines the earth with a lurid glare. The pull of the whirlpool that is coiling about him, the depth and the darkness of the gulf that is yawning before him, leap into consciousness. The sudden realization of personal contact with passion the horror that has blasted the earth, wakens an anguished pang of the very agony which racks the hurt King Through the rising mist which is fast beclouding his faculties, gleam recollections of his unstained boyhood, memories of his sweet mother's love, and the vision of Another, who suffered being tempted.

The struggle comes to closer grips. Like an electrometer in a storm, the whole being of the hero begins to quiver. Every passion is aflame. Volcanic emotion begins to play through his veins. Will he, too, be dragged, a pitiful slave, to those fatal caverns where Tannhauser made havoc of his knighthood? The growing intensity of this trial of strength, of which the panting breath, the strained speech, the swollen and corded muscles, the beaded sweat, are the only visible index, is indescribable. The suspense holds one breathless. The weaving of subtle coils goes steadily on; the stratagems of fiendish loveliness are remorselessly plied; deft snares are adroitly set. There is pleading, appealing, insisting, yearning in word, in look, in gesture.

A mighty spasm of heroic self-mastery and victory is superbly won. In the twinkling of an eye the glamor vanishes from evil like the irridescence of a burst bubble. The Temptress falls to the ground, spent and withered. The fair garden is transformed into a barren desert. Rocks and brambles replace the shrubs and flowers. The Master of Evil himself appears, and lunges the stolen Spear full at the hero's heart It floats in the air above his head and, grasping it in his eager hand, he becomes the possessor of the shaft which pierced the breast of that glorious Redeemer, in whose footsteps he aspires to walk. Trampling beneath his feet the shattered and hideous relics of sin, the helper of men passes on to his sublime task.

The Deliverer has tasted the suffering.

RHYTHMS OF PAIN, of wistful yearning, and of heart-sickness precede the final lifting of the curtain.

At length the years have wrought out their stern and refining discipline. On a fair Good Friday morning, the Deliverer toils up the castled heights, where the King lies in his agony, companioned by despair. All now are waiting. The attendants wait Kundry, the Enchantress, her foul fetters broken, waits. The King, calling upon death as the only comforter, waits.

For many a day the Grail has remained uncovered. The once unsleeping enthusiasm of the knights has wasted away. The chief of them makes his home in a retired cottage and wears out the years in humblest toils. The once "terribly beautiful" Temptress appears in the guise of an humble penitent.

It is Good Friday, the anniversary of the world's redemption day, and all nature seems to glow with the serene light of innocence, and to be pulsing with a new thrill of hope. Through the bright summer land a mysterious knight, cased in somber armor, draws near. The mystic Spear, the talisman of life, reveals him as Parsifal the long-looked-for Deliverer. The oil of consecration annoints his brow as the Grail King First of gracious acts, he bestows absolution upon the heart-broken penitent. Peace, heaven's holy guest, at last finds lodgment in that lonely, storm-shaken soul, and she sinks to the ground, overwhelmed with a thankfulness that can only utter itself in sobs of joy. The vanished glory begins to steal back into the pain haunted earth A holy light is brooding over the meadows. The flowers are taking on a freshened loveliness Tree and rock seem waiting to break forth into song For, on this great pardon day, so says the Grail Knight, Nature smiles instead of sorrowing, for the tears of the repentant sinners have besprinkled all her fields with holy dew, and all being is filled with rejoicing.

The Deliverer enters. With a touch of the Spear the hurt of the tortured king is healed. In his hands the crystal Grail glows with light and radiates vigor. The night is gone. The whadows lift. The goal of ages is reached. The dove that brooded over chaos in creation's morning descends. Beneath its white wings a new earth unfolds, from which tears, and stains, and gloom have passed away; and where abide the light of peace, the voice of melody, and the smile of God. And there shall be no more sorrow nor crying. Neither shall there be any more pain. The former things have passed away. The Deliverer has healed the woe of the world.

FUN WITH EGGSHELLS.

All Sorts of Things May Be Made With Debris of Easter Breakfast.

There is a rollicking lot of fun to be had out of eggshells and scraps of eggshell.

You may use whole eggs for the bodies of animals. If these should prove to be too heavy for that purpose, bore a small hole in each end with a sharp penknife and blow out the contents. Eggshells emptied in this manner will serve admirably in a number of instances.

Bits of twigs, matches or toothpicks make excellent legs and arms. The legs of a knight's horse may be made of pieces of twigs, and so may the legs and arms of the knight himself. In one animal, "Coco," a bit of a root was used for a tail, and a ridiculously funny tail it made too. Two pieces of timothy were used for antennae. Appropriately enough, chicken feathers are a great feature in this fun. They may be used for ears or wings or plumes or tails. In conclusion, use any and every material that is at hand. The more absurd it is the better.

Small scraps of shell fastened to the ends of the arms and legs make excellent hands and feet. Make all fastenings with sealing wax and paint features on your animals with ink.

The half shells may be fastened together in various ways—some slipped inside of the other and some fastened together so as to make a whole shell.—Woman's Home Companion.

A QUAINT OLD CUSTOM.

Sad Fate of Young Men Who Tried to Avoid Easter "Heaving."

A very peculiar English custom whose origin it is difficult to trace is that of "heaving," practiced on Easter Monday and Tuesday. Men would heave or lift women seated in chairs above their heads, and women would heave men in similar fashion. Those who refused to be heaved or to heave had to pay a fine. Sometimes men and women would hide away to escape the ordeal and the fine, and at times the result was disastrous—as, for instance, in the case referred to by Taylor in his manuscripts:

"1548-9. This yere & the tuesday after Easter hollydays two younge men of Salop whose names were Edmonde Reynolds & Robart Clarke were smothered under the hiding themselves from mayds the hill fallinge part the rof upon them."

There may have been many others who suffered more from evading the heaving, but history is silent about them.—New York Press.

THE BURNING OF JUDAS.

A Strange Easter Ceremony Still Practiced in Mexico.

Of the many ceremonies of Easter week the one which most excites the interest of the stranger in Mexico is that of the "Sabado de Gloria," the Saturday before Easter.

On that day the arch traitor Judas is held up to public execration by being burned in the shape of effigies stuffed with fireworks. These effigies are usually misshapen monsters and are hawked about the streets on the days preceding the "Saturday of glory." The artificers give free play to their fancy, and some of the results are, to say the least, astonishing. Most of the figures have horns, claws and other such appendages.

On Saturday morning the largest Judases are suspended on wires stretched across the streets and are burned amid the wild excitement of the crowds which gather to conduct and to witness the ceremony. — New York Evening Mail.

An Irish Easter Game.

In Ireland children play a game called "bunching eggs." This is played with a pan filled with sand or sawdust, which is set on a table, around which the children stand, each supplied with eggs. The eggs of each player are all of one color and are unlike those of the other players. The object of the game is for each player to so place the eggs standing upright in the sand as to bring five in a row touching each other. In turn each player pulls down an egg, sometimes filling out a row for herself, at others cutting off the line of an opponent. The one who first succeeds in obtaining the desired row calls out:

"The raven, chough and crow
Lay five in a row."

AN EASTER LILY

Once, in a mossy garden old,
The angel of the flowers
Walked in the silver mist of dawn
And watered it with showers.
He saw an Easter lily there,
Too beautiful to fade,
And changed its fragrant loveliness
Into a little maid.

BEHOLD HER ROBED IN FILMY WHITE.

Behold her robed in filmy white
Where in the church she stands,
The long stemmed lilies in her arms,
The Psalter in her hands.
Her face is lifted to the morn;
Its glory round her lies,
And all the brightness of the day
Is mirrored in her eyes.

On every altar in the land
The lilies bud and blow;
The air is heavy with perfume
From chalices of snow;
A dewy garland round the world
The blossoms stretch away,
But she is still the sweetest flower
That blooms on Easter day.

—Minna Irving in Leslie's Weekly.

Egg Rolling at the White House.

The egg rolling of Easter Monday at Washington is the most interesting of American Easter practices. The fete is held on the White House grounds, as is well known. Thousands of children are admitted to the broad green sloping lawn to indulge in competitive egg rolling, egg knocking and other games, a scene unrivaled in picturesque and happy interest. This Easter Monday celebration has been emulated in other places in America. In Atlanta, Ga., recently the park commissioners at their own expense procured 10,000 eggs, had them prettily decorated and bid them in one of the city parks, concealing them just sufficiently to give zest to a hunt, to which all the children in the city were invited.

Easter Clothes.

The idea of having new articles of dress for Easter seems to be the one custom which through the ages has been most lastingly preserved, and it is not very probable that all of the many young ladies who could not go to church on Easter without new bonnets or of the young gentlemen who so conscientiously visit their tailors a few weeks before Easter know of the old superstition that new apparel worn on Easter would bring good fortune in love affairs during the ensuing year. If they did, the crush at the tailors and the demands on the dressmakers would probably be something enormous.—Washington Star.

Easter at Christ Church School.

In London there is an old and felicitous custom on Easter Monday, when the boys of the famous Christ hospital school repair to the Mansion House to receive from the lord mayor what are known as "Easter bobs." Each "Grecian" receives a sovereign, and the others, according to their relative standing, are given coins of lesser value. Refreshments of lemonade and buns are served, after which the mayor and the civic authorities conduct the boys to Christ church, Newgate, where they hear a sermon.

The Origin of Easter.

The word Easter, derived from the Anglo-Saxon "Eastra," or, in Teutonic, "Ostara," the goddess of dawn or spring, whose chief festival was celebrated about the time of the vernal equinox, is probably of the same root with East, signifying "bright" or "shining." The Germans to this day call April the "Ostermonat."

Easter Observance.

Pokes, picture hats and tresses and fats,
Blushes and dimples, smiles and curls,
The girls see nothing but the hats,
The men see nothing but the girls.

—Puck.

Not What It Was Cracked Up to Be.

"Dear me," said Jane, "the newlaid egg
That cook has sent to me
I fear is not egg-sactly what
It is cracked up to be."

—New York Herald.

Easter on the Jordan's Banks

AMONG the numerous pilgrims who visit the Holy Land at Easter time by far the greater number are Russians, who hope to win Divine favor by taking part in the two great ceremonies of the Greek church in Palestine—that of the holy fire in Jerusalem and of baptism in the Jordan.

In the waters of the Jordan the pilgrim believes he will find sure ablution for all his sins. Therefore, after witnessing on Holy Saturday the descent of the sacred fire in the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, to the Jordan he wends his way. The distance from Jerusalem is about seven and a half hours' riding—as distances are measured in the orient.

Most of the pilgrims walk, but some ride on donkeys and horses and some on camels. The aged have to be held on to the backs of their beasts, and the women in many cases are suspended in baskets. The strange spectacle of these pilgrims marching to the Jordan for this baptismal ceremony is certainly unique, thousands of pilgrims of all ages and description traveling in a mighty band during the night through the narrow defiles of the mountains and across the dreary plains, illuminating the wild scenery with the glare of countless torches and startling the intense stillness of the desert air with penitential chants and harmonious melodies, like a living picture of the Israelites taking their departure from Egypt on just such a night and in just such a manner. The view from this plain to the Jordan is beautiful.

The procession reaches the Jordan before early daybreak. Immediately every one prepares to enter the sacred river. As the sun rises over the tops of Moab the river bank of the Jordan presents one of the most remarkable scenes in the world.

The pilgrims, disrobing in great haste and rushing down the banks, plunge into the river in an undistinguishable mass. The garments they wear are the white robes sanctified by the holy fire and which will eventually be their burial shrouds. Here are men of all sizes and seasons, from tottering octogenarians, aided by strong youths, to crawling babies, who are immersed by their parents. Some creep in cautiously, and others reflect before entering the muddy and treacherous stream. Others leap in almost wildly and swim like eels and then reappear upon the banks and repeat the performance three times. They all either dip or plunge in three times in commemoration of the Trinity. Many of the women enter upheld by three men, who duck them. Others only step in ankle deep and are baptized on the brink of the river. The men, with their dark hair of great length, present a strange appearance. Holding to the grass, they dip three times and then shake themselves like dogs.

AS THE SUN RISES OVER MOAB A STRANGE SPECTACLE APPEARS.

The site on the banks of the Jordan, held by the Russians as consecrated because of Christ's baptism having taken place there, is the last point where the river displays any charm before it narrows and carries away its brownish hued waters to the Dead sea. A wooden cross marks the spot declared by the Greeks to be that of Christ's baptism.

The pilgrims are not satisfied with bathing in the Jordan, but dip in garments which thereafter will be preserved as sacred, and even drink the turbid water not only out of their own hands, but also out of those of their fellow pilgrims. Then they fill their tin cans with the precious liquid to be taken back to Russia for baptismal purposes.

Witnessing this performence one recalls the Scriptural account of the multitude being baptized by John the Baptist in this very river, when "from Jerusalem and all Galilee the people came confessing their sins."

The religious ablution takes place soon after daybreak. After a short ceremony of consecration the pilgrims hastily prepare to march onward, the hospice at Jericho being their next resting place.

Their countenances are radiantly happy. They have attained the summit of earthly bliss, and their ecstasy is indescribable. Many eyes overflow with tears of joy, for they now feel confident that they have won eternal pardon by this climax to their pilgrimage. Henceforth they will travel with light hearts and glad faces, visiting holy sites on their way through the north of Palestine on to Haifa, where they will re-embark on their own steamers and return to Russia with newly consecrated lives and hearts full of peace and joy.

The long procession presents a picturesque appearance as it gradually passes into the distance, all its members being laden with long branches or with tufts of foliage gathered from the Jordan's banks, waving them above their heads as joyful trophies, while singing glad strains of harmonious chants in melodious tones. The aged lean on their branches as on walking sticks, and the backs of their beasts bear more of the precious verdure.

Thus does this strange pageant disappear from the valley as rapidly as it approached, leaving behind it only the silence and the solitude of the wilderness. This immense crowd of devoted human beings arriving in deep humility and leaving in gladness, shouting songs of triumph, has come and gone. But no trace of the visit is to be seen except the strewn leaves and the footprints on the clay banks.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Washing the Beggars' Feet.

Until almost modern times the ceremony of washing the beggars' feet, as performed by the Roman Catholic archbishop of Westminster, was observed in the Church of England. Every Easter Queen Elizabeth washed, dried and kissed the feet of as many poor people as she was years old. James I. and his successors appointed a deputy for the ceremony, but James II. performed it personally in full. After 1731 it seems to have been dropped, but in that year George II. delegated to the archbishop of York the duty of washing the feet of forty-eight beggars and presenting the royal gifts. The aged emperor of Austria still observes this royal custom, washing the feet of twelve old men on Maundy Thursday.

Sealed Tenders adressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tenders for Toronto Island Breakwater Extension," will be received at this office until Friday, April 24, 1908, inclusively, for the construction of an extension to the Breakwater on the South Shore of Toronto Island, in the County of York, Province of Ontario, according to plan and specification to be seen at the offices of J. G. Sing, Esq., Resident Engineer, Confederation Life Building Toronto; Charles Desjardins, Esq., Clerk of Works, Post Office Building, Montreal, and at the Department of Public Works, Ottawa.

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed form supplied, and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers

An accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Hon. the Minister of Public Works, for four thousand five hundred dollars, ($4,500) must accompany each tender. The cheque will be forfeited if the person tendering decline the contract or fail to complete the work contracted for, and will be returned in case of non-acceptance of tender.

The Department does no tbind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
FRED. GELINAS,
Secretary

King Edward Cheese Factory Is Frected In Ennismore

Season Opens With Bright Prospects—A Modern Building With Best Equipment.

CREDIT TO THE TOWNSHIP

Examiner Special.

Ennismore, April 15.—The first meetings of the patrons of the new King Edward Cheese Factory was held in the factory, on April 8th, and was largely attended.

Mr. S. H. O'Connor was appointed to the chair, and in a brief speech outlined the business of the meeting and also congratulated the proprietors on the modern factory they had completed.

The first business of the meeting was the naming of the factory. Mr. Jno. Young proposed the factory be called the "King Edward," and in a lengthy speech gave his reasons for thinking it would be an appropriate name.

Mr. Paul Costello proposed it be called "Ennismore." He thought that it should be called after the township it was in.

A vote of the meeting was taken, resulting in 70 in favour of calling it King Edward, and 30 for Ennismore, and the chairman pronounced that "King Edward" be the name.

The next was the appointment of officers for the coming year, resulting in the following gentlemen:

President—Patrick Y. Crowley.

Director s—(Wm. O'Neil, Emily; Richard White, Verulam; Jn., Brick, ad Thomas Cavanagh.

Salesman and Treasurer — Jno. Young.

Secretary—Paul Costello.

Auditors—Jno. Gannon and Dehhis O'Donoghue.

In conclusion, a few words about the building might be interesting. The factory in 60x25, with 12 foot ceilings, cement foundation and floors, with room for four vats and a curing room 25x25; an ice house at the rear, so regulated that it can be kept at the right temperature in hot or cold weather. The engine is a 22-horse power, furnished by the Polson Iron Works, of Toronto. All the piping and connections were done done by Mr. M. Conway in a very creditable manner.

The carpenter work was done by Mr. Samuel Young; and it is necessary of comment, as he is one of the best in the district. Messrs. Killen & Young are to be congratulated on &the modern factory and equipment which they have got in place. They begin the season under very favourable circumstances as they have over 80 patrons. They have secured the services of one of the best cheese makers in thus district, in the person of Mr. Rancier, who comes highly recommended.

Prize Winners In Dairy Farm Competition Describe Methods

Meeting Held at Thornhill at Which the Prizes Were Awarded—What Some of the Winners Have to Say of the Way in Which They Achieved Success.

THEY KEPT RECORDS

Canadian Dairyman

The competitors who won the prizes in the Dairy Farms Competition held last year, in the vicinity of Toronto, by The Canadian Dairyman and Farming World, were called upon to explain their methods at the meeting held at Thornhill recently, the day the prizes were awarded. One of the judges, having remarked upon the importance of farmers having some system of farm book-keeping, Mr. Levi Annis, the chairman, stated that when he first started keeping books he had been surprised by the results. They showed him that some items of his farm work, on which he had thought that he was making money, were not so profitable as some other branches of his farm work that he had been neglecting.

Mr. Annis said that he was a firm believer in the benefits derived through holding good farms' competitions. A few years ago he went out on Institute work with Mr. Simpson Rennie, who won the gold medal in a Good Farms' Competition, held a good many years ago. Everywhere he went he found that the farmers were anxious to meet Mr. Rennie, because they had heard so much about his farm. Some of these farmers when attending the Toronto Exhibition, had run out on the train, and visited Mr Rennie's farm. They seemed to look on Mr. Rennie almost with reverence, on account of the great success he had made of farming. Mr. Annis expressed a fervent hope that The Canadian Dairyman and Farming World would inaugurate further Good Farms Competitions.

Mr. George McKenzie, of Thornhill, who won the first prize in the competition, was loathe to desribe his farm methods in a meeting, when every person knew him and knew his farm. He promised, however, to contribute an article to The Canadian Dairyman and Farming World for the benefit of the readers of the paper.

Mr. D. Duncan of the Don, who won the second prize, stated that he had put up his first barn in 1868. Three or four years after he had added to it, and from time to time since, new buildings have been put up, or the other buildings enlarged. At first he was engaged in grain farming, but he finally saw that there was more money in dairy farming, and, on the suggestion of his wife, he went in for dairying.

Mr. Duncan stated that on his 350 acre farm, there are about seven miles of under drains. He has two silos, one of which is used for fall and summer feeding, and one for winter feeding. "I have fed silage out of one of these silos, when it was two or three years old," said Mr. Duncan, "and the silage was still in good condition. I prefer to feed silage in summer, as too much labor is required when you have to go into a field to cut a crop for the cattle. It is much easier to feed out of a silo. I aim to grow all my feed." Mr. Duncan thought that the judges had not treated him quite fairly in as much as they had not given him any points for farm bookkeeping and records, although he was in the habit of keeping records of the breeding of all his cattle, but not of the milk they produced.

The third prize winner, Mr. D. J. Clure, of Churchville, stated that the main product of his farm was cream and hogs. He has grown corn, but roots," said Mr. McClure, "because it requires too much labor. I find that silage gave me as good results, and that it is easier to feed. I grow about an acre of sugar beets each year to feed to the hogs. No person who grows corn is well equipped unless he has some kind of power on the farm. On my farm the dairy work is always given first attention. We start feeding at five o'clock, and are through by six o'clock. Last summer I built a cottage for the hired man, and I find that now that he keeps himself, it has lessened the work in my house very much.

"It is seven years this spring since I started dairy farming, and I am well satisfied with the results I have obtained. I keep books. They show me that during the last five years, my 14 to 16 cows have averaged me $86 each for cream alone. The returns from skim milk and calves can be added to that. My hogs have averaged me $400 a year.

"During the past five years, I have sold $562.45 worth of grain, and bought $414 worth of bran, shorts, and oil cake, leaving a balance of $238 in my favor. On my 100 acre farm, my cows have returned me an average of $1,250 each year, and my hogs, $400. I am glad that this competition took place, and I thank The Canadian Dairyman and Farming World for having inaugurated it." In answer to a question, Mr. McClure stated that he followed a four year rotation.

WAS A TOTAL WRECK FROM HEART FAILURE.

Heart disease is characterised by its stealthy approach and its variety of forms, yet in all its forms nature gives unmistakable signals which warn us of its presence.

One of the first danger signals announcing something wrong with the heart is the irregular beat or violent throb. Often there is only a fluttering sensation, or an "all gone" sinking feeling; or, again there may be the most violent beating, with flushings of the skin and visible pulsations of the arteries. You may experience a smothering sensation, gasp for breath and feel as though about to die. In such cases the action of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in quieting the heart, restoring its normal beat and imparting tone to the nerve centres, is, beyond all question, marvellous. They give such prompt relief, such speedy restoration to health that no one need suffer.

Mr. Darius Carr, Geary, N.B., writes: "It is with the greatest of pleasure I write you a few lines to let you know the great blessing your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have been to me. I was a total wreck from heart failure, my wife advised me to take your pills, and, after using two boxes I was restored to perfect health. I am now sixty-two years old and feel almost as well as I did at twenty."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receips of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

R. Colin, opening snow roads in R. Div. No. 2..... ... .29.25
Dr. J. Johnston, holding a post mortem examination on horse..... ... 5.00

It was moved by Messrs. Howden and Dobbin that the accounts of Messrs. C. Diamond, D Mahar, W J. Byers, Hy Carner, D. Doig and A Sanders be posted and paid. This was carried.

The accounts of R. Colin and Dr. Johnston were referred for investigation and the clerk was directed to render the acount of D .Mahar to the Peterborough Radial Railway Company.

It was moved that a committee consisting of the Reeve and Messrs. Howden and May are hereby appointed to investigate the matter of whether Cameron street west of Erskine avenue is a public thoroughfare and to also report upon the desirability of the municipality building a bridge as requested by Mr. Jackson. This was carried.

Moved by Messrs May and Dobbin that Mr. May may inform Mr. Hurley that this Council has no recourse in the matter of having Mr. Brown open a street through his property. This was carried.

A petition from Mr. Bruce Johnston and 52 others was presented and read asking the Council to widen out and grade that part of Erskine avenue north of the Grand Trunk Railway.

On motion of Messrs. Dobbin and Forester, the Reeve and Councillor May are hereby appointed a committee to investigate fully the matter of opening and assuming as a public highway that portion of Erskine avenue as requested by the petitioners and to report at next meeting of the Council. This was carried.

Moved by Messrs. Howden and May That all amounts of money expended as commutation of statue labour in excess of the amount due each Road Division in any year be charged to such division in the ensuing year and also if any money is still not spent in any Road Division at the end of any year the same shall be credited to such division in the next year and also all monies paid for snow shovelling be charged to the commutation account for each Road Division in which such snow shovelling is performed respectively save and except the money paid for clearing Park street drain. This was carried.

Moved by Messrs. Howden and Dobbin, That all Road Commissioners of the Township are hereby directed that the rates of pay to be given by them for labour and teams for doing road work during the year 1908 shall be as follows:—

For each man as labourer $1.50 a day of 10 hours, or 15 cents per hour for any portion of a day.

For each man and team with wagon plough, scraper, or working on the grader or other necessary vehicle or implement, $3.00 per day of 10 hours, or 30 cents an hour for any portion of a day. This was carried.

By-law No. 601, a by-law to appoint poundkeepers and fenceviewers was then introduced and finally passed.

The poundkeepers are—
Div. No. 1—Wm. Williamson.
Div. No. 2—R. Sanderson.
Div. No. 3—Harry Clark.
Div. No. 4—D. Doig.

The fenceviewers are:—Div. No. 1—John Fowler, F. Stinson and G. Ward. Div. No. 2—T Hunter, J McIntosh and J F Clarke. Div. No. 3—R Waterman, W Whitfield and J Armstrong. Div. No. 4—A Sanders, John Bell and John Williams.

On motion Council then adjourned to meet in the Town Hall on May 27th at 1.30 p.m. as a Court of Revision and for general business.

THE WATER IN CHEMONG LAKE HIGH

Danger to the Boathouses and Bridge—Some Signs of Spring.

Examiner Special.

Bridgenorth, April 15. — Spring is approaching slowly.

The lake has its winter garb on yet, but the water is very high. It will be higher yet, and it is a bad lookout for boathouses and the bridge.

Mr. Geo. Brown has returned, and has the hotel all ready for the summer trade, which will be appreciated. He is always welcome here.

The stonepile is not needed now, as the whistle blew on Monday morning which meant hurrah for the sawmill. there are lumber, shingles and lath to cut, which means a lot of men are needed to do the work.

The village is undergoing a general clean-up. Three store-keepers are applying the pain brush, and Mr. R. Hurd has built a new back kitchen while Mrs. W. B. Kelly is renovating her residence and making alterations.

Mr. Pope, caretaker of the park, is ready to clean up the park as soon as the snow is gone.

Mr. Hollingshead had a flag floating on his cottage. The first of the season.

WON HIS CASE.

Doctors Said He Must Die, But He Rallied Under South American Kidney Cure, and Diabetes Was Absolutely Cured.

A prominent legal light in a Canadian Western town treated and dieted for years for what the doctors diagnosed an incurable case of diabetes. He became so bad that he had to quit his practice, other complications setting in, and his sufferings were most intense. Almost as a last resort he tried South American Kidney Cure, and, to his own surprise, immediately began to improve. This is over a year ago. He continued taking this greatest of all kidney specifics, and today he is a well man. (36)

DECIDE TO SUBMIT THE TREATY

Newfoundland Fishery Question Subject of Arbitration.

FISHERMEN MAKE CLAIMS

Hague Court to Decide Treaty Between Britain and United States—State or Colonial Laws? —American Captains Complain of Their Arrest and Punishment — May Inspire Other Nations.

Washington, April 16.—The British and the United States Governments are planning to submit to the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague the task of interpreting the Newfoundland fisheries treaty of 1818. Ratification of the general arbitration treaty recently negotiated between the two countries will be necessary before The Hague court can be called upon to take jurisdiction, but this ratification is predicted in well informed quarters.

In settling this controversy The Hague Tribunal will have to decide whether state or colonial laws and regulations shall be permitted to interfere with the terms of a treaty. This latter question has recently confronted the American administration in the Japanese school question in California.

That under the treaty of 1818, Americans were granted the same fishing rights in Newfoundland waters as British subjects, is the American contention. The British view of this question is that Americans were given such rights only as British subjects then, or at any subsequent time, should possess. To accept this view, the American rights would be subject to change at the will of Newfoundland, expressed in the enactment of local regulations. Such regulations have been made, and each has been regarded by American fishermen as a grievous curtailment of the original unlimited privilege to fish. The attempted enforcement of these rights has resulted in the accumulation of claims on the part of the aggrieved fishermen, and these claims will be considered in the award of the arbitration. To this list of claims has been added those of two American captains of fishing schooners arrested last week and fined $100 each by the Newfoundland authorities.

The submission of this treaty to The Hague court will, it is believed, inspire action by other nations.

Boy's Heroic Deed.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, April 16.—A young Niagara-on-the-Lake boy displayed a courage and presence of mind the other day that merits for him a medal from the Royal Humane Society. The young lad in question is Allie Caughill, the young son of John Caughill of this place. While returning home from school, the lad saw Mrs. Stacey, an old lady, who is quite deaf, standing on the Michigan Central Railway tracks. The old lady had stepped onto the track to put on her rubbers, and being very deaf, did not hear a train approaching.

Quick as thought, young Caughill rushed up to the old lady, and was just in time to pull her off the track to a place of safety as the train whizzed by. No doubt the old lady would have been killed but for the prompt and courageous action of Master Caughill.

Not the Woman Wanted.

Brantford, April 16.—Detective A. C. Vaughan arrived in the city yesterday in connection with a case in which Mrs. Mary Logan, a colored woman, who is being held on suspicion of theft of $550 from a Portland (Oregon) man.

The long trip of the officer proved fruitless, as he was unable to identify the woman as Grace Reed, who is wanted in Portland. The case was dismissed. Mrs. Logan resides in London.

Detective Vaughan stated that he had worked on the case from Portland to Salt Lake City and from Toronto to London.

UTILIZED THE PRESS.

And Berlin Police Succeed in Capturing a Murderer.

Berlin, April 16.—The chief of the criminal branch of the police force, Herr Vannowski, is the hero of the moment.

Yesterday morning at 3 o'clock he arrested a man, Heider, the supposed author of a crime which caused more sensation than any in years past. On Wednesday morning last in the Thiergarten a package containing the remains of a man, mutilated beyond recognition, was found by a passing milkboy. On the next day many of the missing parts were found and enabled the victim to be identified as a Jew boy.

As much as possible of the face was put together and a ghastly photograph of the same has for the last few days figured in the bureau of the Lokal Anzeiger. On the fourth day Herr Vannowski was enabled to give the name of the victim as Blecher, a bootmaker's apprentice of nomadic and vicious habits. The police traced him to a low restaurant, which he had left in the company of a man at a quarter past four on Tuesday morning last.

Herr Vannowski, was now running on a hot scent, and all that remained for him to know was the street and number of the house and the name of the man. Aided by a young girl who had once been there, Berlin's Sherlock Holmes was led to the very door. Blood-covered clothes were found. A trunk, which probably contains the clothes, hands and feet, is missing.

This told the whole tale, but the murderer had fled. Herr Vannowski ordered patrols made, with such success that at 3 o'clock yesterday morning the murderer, Heider, returning from the fire which destroyed the famous old Garrison Church, was recognized by a waiter who was with the detectives and he was promptly arrested. He was found in a semi-helpless condition of intoxication.

Herr Staubenrauch, the new head of the police, in this matter pursued a new policy by giving the utmost publicity to all the developments, and as a result found the assistance given by the press invaluable.

FIRED BY INCENDIARIES.

Garrison Church in Berlin Was Completely Destroyed.

Berlin, April 16.—The keenest regret is felt by all classes at the loss by fire Tuesday night of the historical Garrison Church, with standards won by the blood of Prussians from the time of Frederick the Great onward.

Berliners have further cause for bitterness in the almost absolute knowledge that the conflagration, which completely gutted the building, is no accident, but probably another of the series of incendiary fires which already have been drawn attention to, only more daring, hundreds of others having been recorded lately, which the police appear to be unable to check.

It is supposed the fire was laid in the organ, which is a famous old one. It was full of flames when the doors were opened. Fire also broke out in two other places high up. It is quite possible that it was started through the roof, the same as all the other acts of incendiarism of late have been.

No less than 14 field marshals general and 50 generals are buried in the vaults of the church. The Crown Prince and Princess visited the ruins yesterday.

Rennie Was a Multi-Millionaire.

Brockville, April 16.—A cablegram received here by relatives yesterday announces the sudden death at Hong Kong of Alfred H. Rennie, a native of Brockville. He was a multi-millionaire and manager of the Hong Kong Milling Co., the first concern to take Canadian flour to the Orient.

Rennie was for some years private secretary to Hon. John Norquay, Premier of Manitoba, and was a member of the Colonial Government at Hong Kong.

His wife was Miss Moffatt of this town, niece of the late Major Walsh.

Will Investigate Roy Case.

Paris, April 16.—The Department of Justice has ordered M. Boucard, an examining magistrate, to begin an investigation of the case of Paul L. Roy, the Frenchman who is accused by his American wife, known as "Glacia Calla," of killing her brother, G. A. Carkins, last January at Newington, N.H.

Should a formal prosecution in France be decided upon it is understood that the depositions of witnesses would be taken in America and that it would not be necessary for them to come to France.

Fire at Petrolea.

Petrolea, April 16.—Fire early yesterday morning destroyed two small frame buildings at the east end of the town, one owned by Charles McManus of Retrolea and the other by G. A. McGillivray of London. Contents of both buildings were completely destroyed. The cause of the fire is unknown. Insurance is carried on both houses.

Says Reports Are Untrue.

Brussels, April 16.—The governor of the Congo Independent State has issued a reply to the British white book containing reports from British consuls in the Congo.

These reports, the reply states, are untrue, particularly the affirmation with respect to the exaction of taxes in labor instead of money.

Drifted In Open Boat.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, April 16.—The first engineer and the cook of the disabled steamer Sonora, which has been drifting helplessly in the gulf for a week, arrived in this city Tuesday in an open boat.

They traveled 250 miles at the mercy of the winds and currents of the gulf.

Improvements at Havana.

Havana, April 16.—A committee of the City Council has reported favorably on the plan submitted by Governor Magoon for the paving and sewering of Havana at a cost of $15,000,000.

Awarded Rhodes' Scholarship.

Kingston, April 16.—G. F. Fife, a student who graduated at Queen's in 1906, has been awarded a Rhodes' scholarship for the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, April 15.—(Special.)—About 200 head of butchers' cattle, 55 milch cows and springers, 1000 calves, 100 sheep and lambs and 800 hogs were offered for sale to-day. Trade was rather dull all round, but the prices of cattle were steady. There were only a few really prime beeves on the market, and these sold at 5¼c to 6c per lb.; pretty good cattle, 4¾c to 5c, and the common stock at 3¾c to 4c per lb., with the milkmen's strippers at 3½c to 4½c per lb. Milch cows sold at $25 to $60 each.

A few superior veal calves were sold at 6c to 8c per lb., but the great bulk of the offerings were young veals, which sold at from $2 to $4 each, or 3c to 4c per lb. There were only a few sheep in sight, and they were shorn of their fleeces, they sold at 5c to 6c per lb. There were about 80 spring lambs on the market, and prices ranged from $4 to $7 each.

The market for hogs was steady, owing to comparatively small supplies, for which the demand was good from packers, and sales of selected lots were made at 7c per lb., weighed off cars.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, April 15.—Cattle—Steady; prime steers, $6.60 to $7.

Cocaine Made Him Thief.

New York, April 16.—Franklin H. Gray of the Roxbury section of Boston, who said he was formerly a newspaperman of Niagara Falls, N.Y., was held by the grand jury yesterday on a charge of obtaining $465 worth of jewelry from the Wanamaker department store by means of a forged order.

Gray, who was being sheltered in a settlement house, until he could find work, admitted the truth of the charge in court and he said that cocaine had brought him into trouble.

Medified Bill Passes.

Albany, April 16.—The bill of the joint insurance committee, modifying the limitations upon the expense of securing new life insurance business was unanimously passed by the Senate yesterday.

It has already passed the Assembly and goes now to the governor.

Hobson's Amendment Defeated.

Washington, April 16.—Representative Hobson's amendment to the naval appropriation bill, providing for four battleships instead of two, as reported by the naval committee, was defeated by the House, 79 to 190. The result was received with loud applause.

Collingwood Will Enter Appeal.

Collingwood, April 16.—At a meeting of the Town Council it was unanimously decided to enter an appeal against the judgment of Justice Britton, quashing the bylaw fixing the license fee for hotels and liquor shops at $2,500.

Mayor Watson and John Birnie, K.C., were appointed to interview Hon. W. J. Hanna in respect to the question Thursday afternoon.

Law Against Big Hats.

Cincinnati, April 16.—At a meeting of the City Council Councilman O'Brien of the sixth ward presented an ordinance providing that any woman wearing a big hat at the National League Ball Park must remove the hat before the game commences in order that those men who have paid to see the game may be able to see it.

The Council referred the resolution back to the committee on law, of which O'Brien is chairman. The proposed ordinance provides for a fine of $50 for each violation of it.

Priests Locating Settlers.

Montreal, April 16.—The activity employed by the Oblate Fathers in getting French-Canadian families to leave the Province of Quebec to settle in the Northwest resulted in 16 French-Canadian families leaving Montreal under the guidance of Rev. Father Therrien of the Oblate Order. The colonists will settle in and around St. Paul de Metis, in Alberta, where there is already a French-Canadian colony of considerable proportions.

Most of the men included in the party that left were farmers in the northern parishes above Montreal, where the lands are very poor. Hardly any of them have managed to save more than a few hundred dollars.

The Oblate Fathers have quietly been carrying on a very aggressive campaign to get French-Canadians Catholic families to settle in the French colonies in the west, and have even made arrangements to have assistance given to poor families who might find the trip to the western provinces too expensive, and on their arrival they will also be helped to establish homesteads.

Will Ratify Treaty.

Washington, April 16.—The fisheries treaty between the United States and Great Britain regulating fishing in the lakes along the boundary line between the United States and Canada, yesterday received the favorable endorsement of the Senate committee on foreign relations.

Secretary of State Root went over the treaty in detail with the committee and also explained the treaty providing for the demarkation of the boundary between the United States and Canada.

Upon the conclusion of his remarks the committee decided to report the fisheries treaty, but final action on the other convention was postponed until another meeting.

Dead of Discharged Employe.

Northampton, Mass., April 16.—John Tracey, a discharged employe of the street department, shot and fatally wounded George F. Birge, superintendent of streets, in the latter's office yesterday and immediately returned home and shot himself. Tracey, who is 60 years old and married, was an employe of the street department for ten years. No cause for the shooting is known other than the discharge of Tracey Friday on account of lack of work.

Lena Ashwell Gets a Divorce.

London, April 16.—Mrs. Playfair, known on the stage as Lena Ashwell, was yesterday granted a divorce.

Lena Ashwell, who is a daughter of Commander Pocock, R.N., married Arthur Wyndham, youngest son of Major-General A. L. Playfair, who has also been on the stage since 1887.

THE LIBERAL LEADER AND THE LIBERAL CONVENTION; ALDERMAN GEO. A. GILLESPIE THE PEOPLE'S CANDIDATE

THE ABLE AND ENERGETIC LIBERAL LEADER OF THE OPPOSITION IN THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE

HON. A. G. MacKAY,
Who addressed the large and enthusiastic audience in the Opera House yesterday.

Hon. A. G. MacKay Given a Most Hearty Reception By West Peterborough Liberals at Grand Opera House Yesterday---A Stirring Address on Political Questions of the Day in Ontario Politics--- The Course Of The Opposition.

MR. GEORGE A. GILLESPIE WAS THE UNANIMOUS CHOICE

The convention of West Peterborough Liberals and supporters of Liberal principles, held in the Grand Opera House, on Wednesday afternoon was in all respects a gratifying success. There was a good attendance and the spirit of earnest determination that seemed to animate the convention augurs well for a vigorous contest at the coming elections. Mr. G A Gillespie, of the firm of White & Gillespie, Dairy Supplies, and alderman of the city, received the unanimous nomination, and frankly accepted it, expressing his determination to put up an energetic fight and conduct a clean campaign. He wished to win on his merits and on the merits of the cause he championed, or not at all. The first appearance of Hon. A G MacKay, Liberal leader of Ontario, created a most favourable impression. He made a splendid speech, necessarily curtailed on account of his having to take the afternoon train west, but he, nevertheless, delivered a statesmanlike address, dealing in dignified and argumentative style with the lines of cleavage in principle and policy between the Liberals and Conservatives in provincial politics, and effectively disproving the theory that there was no essential difference between the two parties—the Liberals broadly standing for popular rights and their opponents for autocratic exercise and centralization of power.

Organization

Mr. G M Roger, President of the Association, occupied the chair. The first business was the election of officers. A nomination committee was appointed, and after a short retirement presented their report with the following list of officers suggested, which was adopted:—

Honorary Presidents,—Hon. J R Stratton, Mr. Richard Hall, Mr. G M Roger, Mr. R R Hall, M.P.

President—Mr. J J Hartley.

Secretary—Mr. F D Kerr.

Treasurer—Mr. J J Duffus.

Members of Executive Committee for the several city wards:—

Ward No. 6.—Messrs. A Weir, Wm. Scott, Jas. Gillespie, Frank Conroy, Wm. Irwin, P Doris, Jas. Swanston, R M Glover.

The committee recommended that the members of the Executive Committee for each Municipality outside of the City be composed of the President, Vice-President, and Secretary of the several township organizations.

The report was adopted and the foregoing constitute the officers of the West Riding Liberal Association, with the exception of the township members of the executive, who are to be selected by the municipalities themselves.

On the platform, besides the speaker of the afternoon, were Messrs. J J

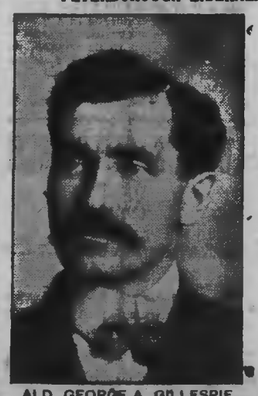
CHOSEN AS STANDARD BEARER FOR THE WEST PETERBOROUGH LIBERALS



ALD. GEORGE A. GILLESPIE,
Who Accepted the Candidature in West Peterborough for the Ontario Legislature.

ONE OF THE HONORARY PRESIDENTS OF THE WEST PETERBOROUGH LIBERAL ASSOCIATION

HON. J. R. STRATTON,

FIRST CELEBRATION OF EASTER ACCORDING TO JEWISH RITES WAS COMMENCED LAST NIGHT

The Jewish people in the city began their Easter services last night for the first time in the history of Peterborough. The meeting was held at Mr. Florence's home, Simcoe street, about 15 members of the faith being present. Mr. B Lastar conducted the services according to the law and was assisted by several other gentlemen. The books with the requisite prayers were secured from Toronto and were used in the service.

The Jewish Easter celebration extends for 8 days. During this time they eat only unleavened bread. The custom is a memorial of the flight of the Israelites from the land of Pharaoh after the tenth punishment had been visited upon the Egyptians. In their hurried flight, they took their dough before it was leavened.

This unleavened bread is obtained in the United States. The building in Toronto, where it was prepared in Canada, was destroyed by fire but a short time ago.

FORMER MURRAY STREET MINISTER IS COMING BACK FROM BOLIVIA

Climate There Does Not Agree With Health of the Rev. F. J. Scott—Been There More Than a Year.

FROM CANADIAN BAPTIST

The Canadian Baptist, the official organ of the Baptist Church in Canada, this week states that Rev. F. J. Scott, B.A., who has been labouring among the natives of Bolivia for more than a year, is returning to Canada again. It is learned that Mr. Scott has found that the climate is not agreeable with his health, and he has been forced to retire from the mission field.

Mr. Scott is well known in Peterborough, having been the pastor of the Murray street Baptist church for many years, which pastorate he resigned a little over a year ago to accept a call to the mission field of Bolivia. The reverend gentleman was an energetic worker among his parishioners and was very popular in the city.

It is expected that Rev. Mr. Scott will first go to Toronto, where he will be given another call.

It is hoped he will be able to come to Peterborough shortly after his return and give a lecture on his work in the foreign field, which would no doubt prove very interesting and instructive.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS OF WEST PETERBOROUGH LIBERAL ASSOCIATION

MR. F. D. KERR,
Local lawyer, elected Secretary of the West Peterborough Liberal Association yesterday.

FAMILY ALMOST ASPHYXIATED BY COAL GAS LAST NIGHT

A local coal dealer and his family had a narrow escape from being asphyxiated, and only for the distance the gas had to come it is probable three deaths might have occurred. Something went wrong with the furnace in the cellar, allowing the coal gas to escape, and all night it kept gradually diffusing itself through the air until the upstairs was reached. About 5 o'clock a member of the family awakened and discovered the trouble, and aroused the rest.

STANLEY FIFE, FIRST PETERBOROUGH STUDENT TO BE AWARDED THE RHODES SCHOLARSHIP

Matriculated From the Collegiate Institute in This City And is Now Attending Queen's University, Kingston.

WILL STUDY AT OXFORD

Mr. Gordon Stanley Fife, of Queen's University, and a former pupil of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute, has been awarded the Rhodes' Scholarship for the Provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan. His father, Mr. Jas. A. Fife, B.A., is now on the staff of the Edmonton High School, having left Peterborough two years ago, to accept the western position, after being teacher of chemistry and algebra at the local Collegiate Institute for seventeen years.

Stanley Fife attended the Central School, under the principalship of Mr. Jas. Smith, and on passing the entrance examinations, entered upon a successful course of studies at the Collegiate Institute. On graduating, two years ago, he went to Queen's University, where his college career to the present, has been marked by splendid achievements in almost every branch of his studies. Mr. Fife is an industrious student and closely applies himself to those studies in which his natural ability is not so prominent.

At the Collegiate Institute his talents displayed themselves in the classics and moderns. His fortes were English Literature, German and French, in which he excelled. English composition and history. The mathematical subjects were mastered by him with a little application. Mr. Fife was a prominent member of the Philomatheon Society, being president for one year, and was one of the ablest speakers that the society developed. He was also responsible to a great extent for the success of Collegiate Echoes, an editor of which he did good work.

Stanley was also prominently connected with the Cadet Corps, and manifested a military taste by being a member of the 57th Regiment. At school he was very popular, and his many friends will rejoice in his splendid success. He was one of the best junior workers in the Y. M. C. A. Stanley graduates in 1909. He will go to Oxford in the autumn. It is reported that Mr. Fife is studying medicine.

THE FIRST GOOD FRIDAY

And they crucified Him, and parted His garments, casting lots. . . And, sitting down, they watched Him there and set up over His head His accusation: THIS IS JESUS THE KING OF THE JEWS There were two thieves crucified with Him; one on the right and one on the left. Jesus, when He had cried with a loud voice, yielded up the Ghost, and behold the veil of the temple was rent in twain, from the top to the bottom and the earth did quake and the rocks rent, and the graves were opened and many bodies of the saints which slept arose and came out of their graves after His resurrection, and went into the holy city and appeared unto many.

SWEPT OFF END OF HIS PUNT BY LOW OVERHANGING LIMBS

Mr. Michael McCallum, living at 43 43 Smith street, near the bridge, over the river, was swept off the end of his punt into the water, and only with difficulty succeeded in getting to shore. Mr. McCallum was paddling around above the bridge looking for driftwood. The boat was passing under a tree, the branches of which were close to the water.

Mr. McCallum, standing at the end of the boat, did not notice the limb, and was struck by it and precipitated into an unsought-for icy bath. After some trouble he managed to reach safety, but had a narrow escape.

OTONABEE NAVIGATION CO. ADDS THE STEAMERS EMPRESS AND MANITA TO THEIR LIST

The Otonabee Navigation Company has announced the purchase of the two steamers "Empress" and "Manita" formerly owned by the Trent Valley Navigation Company, the sale being effected through the United Agency Company, Limited, of Peterborough. The Otonabee Navigation Company has also purchased the steamer "Monarch" from Messrs. Harris & McAllister, so that they will now have a line of boats from Bobaygeon to Rice Lake.

The "Water Lily" will, it is expected, run up the canal each day to Stony Lake, making about five of the principal landings. The "Empress" will still ply on Stony Lake as before, and the "Manita" will remain on the upper waters in the Bobaygeon district.

The Otonabee Navigation Company has now five steamers.

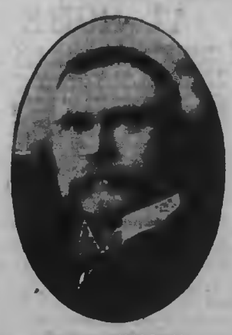
BOARD OF TRADE TAKING ACTION ON PROPOSED CHANGE OF TRAINS

Meeting of Railway and Canals Committee To-night at 9 o'clock —Desire Local To Run As At Present.

INJURIOUS TO THE TRADE

A meeting of the Railway and Canals Committee of the Peterborough Board of Trade will be held this evening, at nine o'clock at the office of the city engineer. The question to be discussed is the proposed change of the Canadian Pacific Railway, whereby the local train running to and from Tweed is to be cancelled, making either Havelock or Peterborough the stopping point. The Board believes that if such an alteration be made, it will have a rather serious affect upon the trade in Peterborough. It will, they claim, prevent business men from Tweed and points east of Havelock, from coming to Peterborough on the eight o'clock morning train, and returning again th the and if all points east of Peterborough are to be cut off by the loca making Peterborough their stopping place, the results will be more harmful, so that the committee to-night will discuss plans to attempt to have the trains travel as at present.

THE NEW PRESIDENT OF WEST PETERBOROUGH LIBERAL ASSOCIATION



MR. J. J. HARTLEY,
Who was yesterday elected President of the Liberal Association in West Peterborough.

Committee Decided Not To Give Rebate To The Market Clerk

At last night's meeting of the Property Committee, a letter was read from Mr. W. A. McIlmoyle, market clerk last year, asking for a rebate of part of the price he paid for the tolls, on several grounds. Mr. McIlmoyle was present and gave particulars concerning his claims. He made the assertion that the "Ocean Wave," a merry-go-round machine, had been driven off the market, thus depriving him of revenue and also claimed that the manner in which the chief of police had acted in the light weight butter episode, had had its effect upon the market. In addition he had run into some bad weather.

The committee decided to take no action in the matter. It was pointed out that nothing had been done to drive the Ocean Wave off the market, its owner was informed that he had to pay a license, and had taken the machine to another lot, paying the license on it there.

OBITUARY.

AFRAID OF THE CONTEST?

Hon. Mr. Whitney and his Conservative admirers and supporters are inclined to pay little attention to the criticism of his opponents, because hostile criticism is to be expected, and they will claim anyway that it will be prejudiced, and to that extent, wanting in point and value. But when Mr. Whitney's own friends condemn his official actions, one must conclude that these actions are considered bad, very bad. The Toronto World, in reviewing the work of the session, deals unsparingly with Premier Whitney's culmination of cowardice as the culminating feature of the session, the gerrymander outrage. It founds its condemnation on the gerrymander of Lanark, for the purpose of making a safe seat for Dr. Preston, the Conservative whip. The World says:

The change in South Lanark is effected by placing Beckwith in North Lanark and North Sherbrooke in South Lanark. In Beckwith the Grit candidate had twenty-eight votes and Col. Matheson ninety-seven. In North Sherbrooke the Grit candidate had 138 votes and Dr. Preston thirty-two. The transfer thus adds 175 Conservative votes to Dr. Preston's somewhat close constituency.

It is things like these that give a government a bad reputation, and persisted in, eventually wreck it. Had there been any necessity for it, and it is not a solitary instance in the redistribution measure by any means, one could pardon the yielding to circumstances. With a majority of 43, had Premier Whitney any fears of an adverse verdict with the people? With the hitherto excellent record of the party, did he fear the defeat of his admirable and highly respectable whip? Should that contingency have occurred, the rules of the game are to provide the defeated but important and necessary official with a safe seat elsewhere.

No one can suppose for a moment that such a thing as this can really help the party. If Premier Whitney had done nothing else, this is enough to convince a wavering Grit that after all Whitney is no better than his predecessors. And if Mr. Whitney attempts to justify the action, he can only have the sad reflection that his effort must tend to demoralize his party by lowering their ideals and their sense of righteousness.

The more this gerrymander by the Whitney Government is examined, the more it reveals evidence of the deep-seated purpose to secure party advantage, not by being honest, not by virtue of good administration, and good legislation, not by statesmanship, but by political trickery and political loading of the dice. The action of Mr. Whitney in taking this party advantage is an act of cowardice which should hearten the Liberals in the apparently hard fight that is before them. Mr. Whitney and his party gained power by false pretences. He has not lived up to his pledges, and he evidently realizes the fact that he has lost prestige by his failure, or else, with a majority of 43 in the House, he would not find it necessary to perpetrate the outrage of a gerrymander to give him and his party undue advantage in the country. Mr. Gillespie, the Liberal candidate, may have a stiff fight before him, but he will have different conditions from the last election. He will not have to count upon lukewarm Liberals, upon Liberals alienated by Mr. Whitney's false cries of corruption, where no coruption has been shown, and false promises on the temperance, license and other questions. The fighting ground has entirely changed. The Conservative chances throughout the Province were not thought good enough to win without a gerrymander, and that may prove a boomerang, when dyed-in-the-wool "Tory" journals, like the Toronto World, point out that "such a thing as this cannot really help the party." Mr. Whitney evidently fears the Provincial contest, when he runs to cover—under the shelter of the gerrymander.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Good Friday is the most solemn and momentous anniversary of the Christian year—solemn, on account of the tragic reminiscence it suggests, and momentous on account of the eternal import it conveys. It is the anniversary of an event which revolutionised the relations of humanity to Divinity. Much of the spirit of its observance is not only, not in sympathy with its import, but quite antagonistic. With many it becomes, or is made, a day of feasting, merriment and pleasure seeking. Who, even the basest or most thoughtless, would thus observe—in effect, celebrate—the anniversary of the death of a dear relative, say a mother? Christianity is either a tremendous fact or a tremendous dream. If we believe in it, we should aim to conform our acts to our belief. We need not wear sackcloth and ashes to mark Good Friday, but we can think of it in a spirit of solemnity, in keeping with its great significance,

Arranging For Militia Minister's Visit To Peterboro On April 22

At a joint meeting of the Reception Committee of the City Council, and representatives of the Board of Education, Board of Trade and Militia, held last night, arrangements were made for the reception to Sir Frederick Borden on the occasion of his visit to Peterborough next Wednesday. Ald. Elliott presided, and there were present Ald. Phelan, McIntyre, Turner, of the Reception Committee. Majors Clegg and Hayes, Capt. McWilliams of the 57th Regiment, Dr. Burnham, Mr. Robert Fair representing the Board of Education. Messrs. J. H. Burnham and T. Q. Quartermaine, representing the Board of Trade; Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P. and Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.PP

Sir Frederick will arrive in the city at noon and will be the guest of Mr. R. R. Hall, M.P., until 3 p.m. when he will be handed over to the military authorities, and entertained by them during the afternoon.

In the evening he will be tendered a banquet at the Oriental Hotel by the citizens. This was decided upon last night and arrangements are being made for the event, the tickets for which have been placed at $1.50. His Worship, Mayor Rush, will be in the chair and the following toast list was decided upon.

Toast list:—

"The King."

"The Governor General."

"Our Guest." Proposed by the Chairman. Responded to by Sir. Frederick Borden.

"Dominion House and Legislative Assembly" proposed by Mr. J. H. Burnham, responded to by Messrs. R. R. Hall and T. E. Bradburn.

"Peterborough Garrison" proposed by Hon. J. R. Stratton, and responded to by Col. Stevenson of the 57th, Major T. W. H. Young of the 34th Field Battery and Major Johnston of the 3rd Prince of Wales Dragoons.

A special committee was appointed to work out the details, consisting of Ald. Elliott, Phelan, McIntyre and Turner of the Reception Committee of the Council, Major Hayes, Capt. McWilliams and Major Clegg of the 57th regiment, Dr. Burnham and Mr. Robt. Fair representing the Board of Education, Dr. Morrison and Messrs. J. H. Burnham and T. Q. Quartermaine representing the Board of Trade, and Warden Thompson, representing the County of Peterborough.

On motion of Messrs. Hall and Bradburn, Ald. Elliott and Phelan, Major Hayes, were appointed a committee to look after the banquet.

Youth Insisted On Smoking While He Was Being Shaved

Because his customer would not take a cigarette from his mouth, a barber of this city refused to shave him and ordered him out of the shop.

This is what occurred in a local barber shop this morning. Several people were waiting to be shaved, many of them wanting to leave the city for the holiday. A young man in one of the chairs, well dressed and debonair, who was being shaved, lit a cigarette and began smoking while the barber was heating the towels. When he returned he asked the customer to stop smoking until he finished. This the young man refused to do, and was immediately ordered out of the chair. He became indignant, but finally had to submit, and washed the soap from his face himself. The incident caused much merriment, and the gay one soon made his way out.

ABBEY'S EFFERVESCENT SALT

Canadian Preparation That is Deservedly Popular.

The ability of Canadians to turn out an article which will not merely meet their own needs, but will attract and deserve the patronage of people outside of the Dominion, finds a typical example in the field of physical remedies, in the famous Abbey's Effervescent Salt.

Invented in England, this preparation was first appreciated at its true medicinal and commercial value by Canadians. It is manufactured in Montreal, and its consumption has been rapidly increasing during the past three or four years all over the Dominion and in the United States. It is assimply a mild saline aperient, in a peculiarly pleasant and effective form, and free from every ingredient which could possibly harm the most sensitive constitution. It is, indeed, scarcely correct to term it a medicine, for it is rather a simple regulator, as is as useful to keep the healthy person healthy, especially at trying seasons of the year, as it is to bring the sufferer from indigestion or sluggish liver out of his troubles.

Its testimonials are not of the carefully faked order, so common among preparations which make their appeal to the unthinking portion of mankind. They are given by prominent Canadian medical men, such as Dr. Charles L. de Martigny, of Montreal; Dr. S. P. Cooke and Dr. G. Routhier, of Ottawa; Professor Brunelle, of Laval, and a score of men of similar eminence and unquestioned public spirit.

Dr. Charles G. Purdy, of New York, describes this preparation as "the most effective and elegant aperient for clearing the gastro-intestinal tract." There can be no question as to its popularity with the medical profession, who appear to regard it as an improved form of the famous saline preparations which have so long been standard remedies for digestive affections in a no' too advanced stage. It has one great advantage over the older preparations, in that it dissolves comparatively slowly, need not be consumed hurriedly, and can always be entirely dissolved

THIS GIRL'S FANCY TURNS TO THOUGHTS OF MILLINERY

The following anonymous poem was sent to Mr. Robert Fair this morning, and he desires to express his appreciation to the writer and states that if she calls she will be presented with an Easter Lily:—

If you want a mat
Call at Fair's
A bonnet or a dress
Fair will do his best.
Everything that's nobble
The latest style too
Call and see, or
Phone up Fair
He will do his best for you.

Swell silk dresses
Fancy sun shades
New red gloves
All for the gents to buy.
For their lady love
Don't forget it's Easter
And the girl that you love best
Will appreciate a
Fancy sun shade, or
A new Silk dress.

Several other things
Too numerous to mention.
But we wish to draw
The public's attention
For when you go to Fair's
You'll be waited on polite,
For each clerk there
Tries to do what's right.

WINDOWS ATTRACT MUCH ATTENTION

Cressman's Easter Display a Triumph of The Window Dresser's Art

Of the many beautifully designed windows in the city, which testify to the fact that Easter is at hand, none has attracted more attention or been more worthy of that attention, than the windows of the Cressman store. Especially is this true of the large centre window, which has been the object of admiring eyes since the window was dressed. An urn of gigantic proportions, and containing a large fern, forms the central figure in the window, and plants and imitation rushes are used in the decoration of the background, while in front is an attractive display of ladies' ready to wear articles. The effect is wholly pleasing, and the window is a credit to the work of Mr. J. C. Edwards, the clever window dresser of the establishment.

Hartley, G M Roger, Hon. J R Stratton, R R Hall, M.P., P McNulty, ex-Warden and Liberal candidate, East Peterborough; R F McWilliams, John Riddell, D O'Connel, A McFarlane and Joseph Duffus. Mr. J J Hartley, the newly elected president, in assuming office, thanked the convention for the honour it had shown him. He had, all his life, been connected with Liberal conventions and election contests in the Liberal interest, and his interest as well as his faith in Liberal principles was unabated.

On motion of Mr. Macfarlane Wilson, seconded by Mr. R H Leary, a vote of thanks was tendered the retiring officers, which was briefly acknowledged by Mr. Roger.

Confidence in Laurier

Mr. John Riddell, in moving, seconded by Mr. A McFarlane, a resolution of confidence in Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and his Government, said, he had cast his first vote at the first elections under Confederation. He had quit some often in mind that time of political principles and parties, studying both sides. He had taken note of the great party leaders and had no hesitation in asserting that Sir Wilfrid Laurier stands first in rank of Canadian statesmen in the last half century. (Applause.)

The resolution, which was enthusiastically approved, was as follows:—

Moved by John Riddell, seconded by Andrew McFarlane That this Convention, representing the Liberals and supporters of the Liberal Party in West Peterborough, wishes to declare and record in the most emphatic manner its admiration and its complete confidence in the great Leader of the Liberal Party and his Government; and to heartily endorse the Legislative and Administrative Policy, which has so highly redounded to the material advancement and credit of Canada. The eleven years administration of the Liberal Government has been attended by a corresponding period of prosperity and growth quite without parallel in the history of this or possibly any other nation. Under this policy the resources of the country have been grandly developed and Canada has gained a standing among the nations of the world, which in both fact and inference, in performance and promise, fully warrants the patriotic optimism of Sir Wilfred Laurier when he declared that the Twentieth Century belongs to Canada. Every national interest has received and is receiving adequate attention from the several departments of the Government, the supremely important interests of transportation have also received and are receiving adequate attention, so that the tremendous expansion of trade coincident with the Liberal regime promises to be maintained in increasing volume. This Convention is of the opinion that, in view of these things, in view of the hopeful out-look it is in the highest degree desirable and necessary to a continuance of conditions favourable to national growth and development, that the Liberal Government, so ably led by Sir Wilfred Laurier should be confirmed and continued in power, and to this end this Convention pledges itself, when opportunity offers to use every legitimate means to bring about this result.

Leader MacKay Endorsed

In moving the following resolution of confidence in Hon. A G MacKay, Provincial Liberal Leader, Mr. R F McWilliams declared that in Mr. MacKay the Liberals had the ablest leader since Sir Oliver Mowat. (Applause.) He had very amply justified his appointment, and from his early days in parliament was, by his high qualities, marked for promotion. The following resolution was adopted with hearty applause:—

Moved by R. F. McWilliams, seconded by Mr. Jos. Duffus, That this Convention of Liberals and supporters of Liberal principles desire to place upon record its hearty and complete confidence in Hon. A. G. MacKay, Leader of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition in the Ontario Legislature and Leader of Ontario Liberals. In his brief tenure of office in these capacities, he has showed a wisdom, prudence, aggressiveness, keenness of political insight, moral courage and generally statesman-like qualities, which eminently fit him for the role of leadership and give promise of useful service to the party he leads in the great Province of Ontario which can find effective outlet in the crusade against the waste of provincial resources, in extravagant expenditures and undesirable subordination of provincial interests to party profit now prevailing. And this Convention pledges itself to employ all honourable means to strengthen our leader in his fight for good Government, by pledging its united and hearty support to the candidate nominated by this Convention to carry the Liberal standard in the forthcoming Provincial General Election contest.

Gillespie the Candidate

Mr. A McFarlane, in a few eulogistic remarks, nominated Ald. G A Gillespie as the Liberal candidate for the Legislature contest. This was seconded by Mr. Jos. Duffus, and as there was no other names proposed, Mr. Gillespie received the hearty and unanimous nomination.

Mr. Gillespie, on going to the platform, to respond, was greeted with lusty cheers and applause. In accepting the candidature he assured the audience that he felt proud, indeed, to have been tendred the nomination, although, consulting his personal feelings, he thought it might have gone to some one more worthy than he. The nomination had been quite unlooked for and it came unexpected.

He did not intend on the present occasion to make a speech bearing on the political questions of the day. He desired that during the short campaign before him, each man of the Liberal ranks in West Peterborough should do his share, and that unity should prevail, so that the labour might be done in the most useful manner, and towards the best end.

He was satisfied that the Liberal party in Ontario had, in the Honourable A G MacKay, the best man as leader in many years, and he felt sure that all true Liberals would place their utmost confidence in him. He wanted a good straightforward, clean campaign, and whether Liberals or Conservatives, he desired that all should be fairly treated, so that when the polling day was over, if victorious, he might be able to say sincerely, that the fight was won by the Liberals on their merits. (Applause.)

Mr. P. McNulty

Upon responding to the call of his name, Mr. McNulty, ex-warden of the county, and the Liberal nominee for the Legislature for the East Peterborough riding, was enthusiastically applauded. He was always delighted to appear before an audience on such an occasion. He felt proud of our country and the people, as he recognized Canada as one of the most important colonies of the British Empire. Being engaged in agriculture, he was always glad to see advances in that pursuit, and he was also pleased to be present to hear the various speakers, including his honoured leader, Mr. MacKay.

He congratulated the West Peterborough Liberals on the selection of Mr. Gillespie as their candidate, and he hoped that all would be able on the eve of election day, to congratulate him also on his successful campaign. (Applause).

Hon. Mr. Stratton's Remarks

Hon. J. R. Stratton, one of the honourary presidents, being called upon, was received with hearty applause. He said that he would not detain the audience with any lengthened remarks. They had come to hear Hon. Mr MacKay, who would, he was sure, do justice to the public questions he would deal with. He, (Mr. Stratton) had induced Mr. MacKay to enter politics in North Grey. He had won the seat and had retained it ever since, with credit to himself and his native province, and now had been advanced to the honourable position of leader of the great Liberal party of Ontario (applause), and would soon, sooner, perhaps, than was expected, be at the head of the Government of the province. Proceeding to speak of public affairs, Mr. Stratton declared that the Whitney Government had gained power under false pretenses. They had deluded the people with the cry that the Ross Government had corruptly administered the province, and that when the Conservatives came into power and had access to the records they would expose this corruption. They have had three years of power and had access to all the books, but they had not been able to show where there was one act of wrong doing. (Applause.) His own department, one of the largest spending departments of the Government, had been especially attacked. The books were open to the public scrutiny of his successor, and not one act of wrong doing had been discovered. (Applause.) The Conservatives, in Opposition, had denounced the extravagance of the Liberal Government. As a matter of fact, for the five years, from 1891 to 1896, under Liberal rule, there had been a reduction of $455,000 in the annual expenditure, a decrease of nearly $100,000 per year. The last year of the Ross Government, 1904, the expenditure was five and a quarter millions. Under the economical Whitney Government the annual expenditure of the province had increased to eight millions in three years. The Conservatives had opposed the guaranteeing by the Ross Government of the Northern Railway bonds for colonization railway reasons, but what was this to Mr. Whitney guaranteeing the bonds of the railway to the extent of two millions, of which a million and a half was for terminals in the city of Toronto—a pretty sort of colonization region. The idea of guaranteeing the bonds of the Northern, from Sudbury to Moose Mountain, to help MacKenzie and Mann to carry ore from their own mines to Toronto. Mr. Whitney had promised better license administration, but Mr. Stratton declared that the law was not one whit better administered now in Peterborough and elsewhere, than it was when he had charge of the department. To show how the Whitney Government had used the license administration for political purposes, the resignation of Mr. Flavelle in Toronto, because a member of the Government, Dr. Pyne, wished to force the Board to issue a license to a man who was unfit to receive a license, showing this conclusively. Mr. Whitney had boasted of his bravery and honesty, but the gerrymander showed he was lacking in both qualities. In this riding South Monaghan had been shouldered upon Sam Clarke, to embarrass him in East Northumberland, and Lakefield was transferred to the east to embarrass the Liberals. Concluding, Mr. Stratton said he was glad to see Mr. Gillespie selected as the Liberal candidate. He believed he would make an excellent run, and make a good representative of both the farmers and the city, of which he was an aldermau, elected close to the head of the poll. He was familiar with farming, and knew the wants of the farmers. He knew dairying and farming "down to the ground." He was also a merchants and an honest, capable and progressive young man. He believed that if the Liberal party in West Peterborough stood behind Mr Gillespie, and gave him their united support, his chances for winning in the next election were excellent. (Applause.)

Liberal Leader's Address

The Honourable A. G. MacKay was next called upon to address the convention. On rising to respond he was given a most enthusiastic reception by the audience. He expressed his sincere thanks for the kind resolution and the confidence placed in him, and it gave him a great deal of pleasure to have the privilege of addressing the people of West Peterborough. He was glad to know the Liberals were taking hold of the work in a businesslike manner and to know that they had selected Mr. Gillespie to be their standard-bearer. He had often heard of him, and nothing but words of praise had been said concerning him.

Of Mr. McNulty, excellent reports had reached Toronto weeks ago, and he hoped to have the pleasure of meeting both of them in the House next session. (Applause.)

Hon. Mr. MacKay next referred to the remarks of Hon. J. R. Stratton, with whom he had been associated a few short weeks in the dying moments of the Ross Government. The time was altogether too short. Mr Stratton had charge over one of the large departments of the Government, and he had always been represented as giving better satisfaction and a better administration than any of his predecessors in that department. (Applause.)

University Question

The question of the proper mode of floating the University of Toronto was one upon which the Liberals and Conservatives showed the greatest divergence of opinion. In fact, there was never a time in the history of the two parties when their policies were more widely divided than at present. The University of Toronto should not be financed in a manner different from any other public institution, and any public institution will prosper better if the Government will take the people into its confidence in dealing with it.

The Government refused to bring down the estimates for the University, which work is left to a board of control, independent of the Government. If such had been done there might have been no adverse criticisms, and the action would have brought the keystone of our politics—representative government—into touch through their representatives in the House, with the rank and file of the Province of Ontario. When an act is passed, leaving the finances not in the hands of the representatives of the people, but in the hands of a board of governors working in secret, not even admitting the press, as has been done in the University case, then there is a cleavage between the two parties which stands out predominant—the first principles of responsible government are gone.

Teachers' Salaries

Going back to the first session of the present Government, they had said that permanency and higher salaries were desirable in reference to Public School teachers. This was not denied at all by the Opposition. But the Government wanted to pass a law to compel the school trustees in the rural districts to pay specified salaries to the teachers. He had opposed it because the Government had proposed to make this law refer only to rural schools, and not to villages as well. He had also opposed it because he believed the trustees of rural schools, who attended to the payment of the salaries to their teachers, were competent enough to determine the amount of such salaries. The Government wanted to take from the trustees the exercise of the judgment that God had given them. It desired to run the trustees, and dictate to them from Queen's Park, but, as the result of a stubborn opposition, the iniquitous law had largely been modified. (Applause.)

Hon. Mr. MacKay believed there was no class more willing to give their children a good education than the farmers of the Province of Ontario, and he considered the administration of their schools should be left in the hands of the trustees—their own representatives.

Improper Mode of Inspection

The searchlight of public opinion should be turned upon all expenditures. The public wants to know, and have a perfect right to know, how their money is being spent. They do not object to men going behind closed doors to spend their own money, but they do not object to their spending the people's money without the people knowing what value is received. Neither the speaker nor the Opposition he led object to generous aid to the University of Toronto, but they did object to the manner in which the Board of Control—a body not responsible to Parliament—spent the people's money without being responsible to the people through the Legislature.

Three-Fifths Clause

The government had again turned down representative government, when the three-fifths clause was instituted. It would not trust the municipality in handling its own affairs. In case of doubt, his advice was to trust to the majority of the people.

Spoils System

During the last year of Liberal regime, under the leadership of Hon. G. W. Ross, the legal fees in connection with the administration amounted to $14,000. Last year they were $43,000, or three times as much. This increase in expenditure was caused largely by the institution of commissioners for the want of responsible ministers. If the head of a department desires to relieve a man of his duties, his department should do it without the appointment of a commission.

The speaker furnished an excellent example of the "spoils system," in the change of governors of the Toronto jail. It had been common talk on the streets, that the Rev. Mr. Chambers was to succeed Governor Vanzant, before Justice Judd was brought from London to make the vacancy. And yet, resumed Mr. MacKay, the Whitney Government, when in Opposition, cried graft and dishonesty in the face of the Ross Government. (Applause.)

Gerrymander Crookedness

Mr. Whitney had shouted from the house tops that he is "bold enough to be honest, and honest enough to be bold," and yet what do we find he has done in his general gerrymandering of constituencies.

In 1902, when Dr. Jamieson brought in his bill on "Redistribution," Mr. Whitney supported it. The bill leaned against increased representation in the Legislature, from 60 to 94; was in favour of a redistribution only after a decennial census, and the marking of the boundaries not by the House, but by three High Court judges, selected from their own numbers—that was Mr. Whitney in opposition, but on coming to power he has neither followed the British precedent nor his own in 1902. He has forgotten the main rung—equalization by population.

Some Examples

Before the recent gerrymander, the riding of Cardwell contained a population of more than 17,000, while Peel constituency, next to it, contained less than 18,000. There was only a difference of about 559. He now divides these ridings so that Cardwell has a population of 14,030 and Peel 21,000, making a difference of more than 7,000, with, of course, Conservative chances improved.

In the House, Mr. Whitney stated the reason for the change in the Township of Albion, was because the Liberals had ravished it in days gone by. He, Mr. MacKay, had looked up the British North American Act of 1867, and showed conclusively that Albion was then and has been since in Cardwell, from which the Government leader has now moved it. (Applause). Mr. Whitney had not followed up his bold statements, but rather, as Mr. Duncan Ross had said, "he was cowardly enough to be dishonest on the eve of elections."

Liberal Administration

The Liberals, judged by their legislative ability, along business and financial lines, have a thirty-three year record of which they should be proud. They made a few mistakes, of course, but their record was a good one.

The policy of the Liberal Government, in the G. W Ross regime, was to open up the vast country of New Ontario for the purpose of trade and commerce—the land, according to Mr. Whitney at that time, of "the stunted poplar."

In 1902 the Liberals gave the right to cut pulp timber up the Ottawa country with a view to opening up and settling New Ontario. The present government, however, cancelled the contract in 1907, made another and claimed to have received $300,000 more. But statistics prove conclusively that in 1907 pulp wood was at least 100 per cent. more valuable than in 1902.

Under the old regime, lumbermen were allowed to go into that country to make homes for themselves. Every swing of the axe helped on the erection of a house, and he had also a ready market for the timber, which was absolutely his in the pulp mills there. The country was developing and thriving. By Mr. Whitney's scheme the timber is cut and shipped to Mr. Booth's mills at Ottawa, and the north country has to suffer loss of market, loss of employment and loss of profit.

Liquor License Law

It was fashionable now in many places to say the license law was better kept than under the Ross Government. But Mr. McKay had been all over the Province, and he found that the law then was kept just as carefully as it is now. He believed in taking the civil service appointments out of the hands of a party and placing them in the hands of an independent commission.

He mentioned the recent case of Dr. Pyne, and the dismissal of Mr. Hastings for refusing a license to Dr. Courtney, a man who had been fined fourteen times in eleven years for illegal sales. Dr. Courtney applied for a license; he was a friend of Dr. Pyne; his request was refused by Mr. Hastings, and that was why the latter's head went off.

A Lengthy Hunt

In order that the Government might find some illegal acts done by the Ross Government, when in power, scouts were sent out to search through the archives of the past five years. Mr. Whitney wanted to prove his assertions made on the eve of the general elections that the Ross Government was corrupt, but no word of anything wrong was brought back. They were sent out a second and third time, with orders to go back ten and fifteen years, but with similar results. It was not until they searched back for twenty years that a single act bordering on the improper could be found, and that was a most paltry one.

In the conclusion of his admirable address, the leader paid a glowing tribute to the Right Honourable Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who had so nobly and diplomatically represented Canada's interests, and explained her relationship with the other colonies of the great British Empire at the recent colonial conference in England.

In the great commonwealth of nations under the British flag, we should be proud of the fact that our own Liberal leader should have been such a force on that great committee. It was the steady note of Sir Wilfrid Laurier that made the bonds so strong between fiery Australia and old John Bull. However you take him, as Hamar Greenwood has said, "Sir Wilfrid Laurier is the largest outstanding figure in the outward British Empire." (Applause.)

Mr. R. R. Hall, M. P.

The last speaker on the programme was Mr. R. R. Hall, M. P. for West Peterborough. He congratulated the Liberals of the riding on their choice of Mr. Gillespie as their standard-bearer. He has had an honourable and progressive career, and he predicted a victory for him, as he did for Mr. McNulty in the East, who was also a man of sterling integrity. He felt satisfied that if the Liberals put the necessary amount of force into the campaign, Peterborough would be represented by two Liberals in the next Legislature of Ontario, and two excellent followers of Hon. Mr. McKay.

The convention was then brought to a close by cheers for Mr. Gillespie, Mr. McNulty, the chairman, Hon. A. G. McKay, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and the King.

Disinterested Expert Will Examine Plumbing In School

Charges Made by Mr. E. R. Stocker Will be Further Investigated---Special Meeting of Board of Education Hear the Complaints---"A Tempest In a Teapot," Mr. Hayes Says.

Pursuant to the motion which was passed by the Board of Education at the last regular meeting, an investigation was begun, last night, at a special meeting of the Board, to look into certain complaints which Mr. Edward R Stocker had made concerning the manner in which the plumbing contracts had been carried out in the Queen Alexandra School and new Collegiate Institute buildings. Mr. Robert Fair presided, with the following members present: Messrs. Dumble, Nelson, Robinson, Crane, Hayes, Hill, Dr. Morrison and the secretary, Mr. Geo. Morrow. The parties interested in the matter, outside the Board, were present as follows: Messrs. E R Stocker, C A J Duranceau, John E Belcher, Peter Thompson and John Kincaid.

Mr. Stocker's Report

On being asked to present his charges, Mr. Stocker handed Mr. Morrow two written statements, one dealing with the alleged defects in the plumbing work of the Queen Alexandra School, the other with the Collegiate Institute.

The secretary read both reports, which mentioned specific cases of a lighter pipe being used than what was called for, or joints that were not made according to the plumbing bylaws of the city, and of other work which was not done properly.

After the reports were read, Dr. Morrison suggested that as the complaints re the Collegiate Institute work seemed less complicated, that they be dealt with first. This was done, and clause No. 1, of Mr. Stocker's report was considered. He stated that the specifications followed were those mentioned in the city's by-laws.

Mr. Belcher asked Mr. Stocker who did the work, and he replied that he did, and he noted then as a paid servant of Mr. Duranceau, and he did as he was told.

Mr. Robinson Breaks in

Mr. Belcher told Mr. Stocker he should have mentioned the alleged defects when they were made, and Mr. Dumble spoke strongly in the same vein. Mr. Stocker replied that he was then under three supervisors and he had no authority, whereas now he was a ratepayer and it was his duty as a citizen to make these revelations.

Mr. Dumble suggested that an adjournment be made until some disinterested outside expert could make a thorough investigation and report his findings to the Board.

Mr. Robinson was in favour of this, and added that the City Council was involved as well as the Board, as it was the duty of Plumbing Inspector Thompson to see that the work was done according to the bylaw, and the whole matter could be sifted.

The First Tiff

A discussion followed regarding the construction of certain joints, which Mr. Stocker said were of cement, when lead should have been used.

Mr. Dumble—"Who put in the cement?"

Mr. Stocker—"I didn't."

Mr. Dumble—"I was told that you did it."

Mr. Dumble then began to explain that the plumbing contract had not yet been completed; that Mr. Duranceau had not been paid in full, that the work had not been all inspected, in fact, the contractor was still at the job.

Mr. Robinson—"Mr. Chairman, we know that the work is completed, and that since then the work has been changed.

Mr. Dumble replied that these remarks were most unfair. He reiterated his statement that the work was not complete, and had not been passed by the Inspector, as no tests had been made outside a water test in the ground work.

Inspector's Statement

Mr. Hill asked that the Inspector be allowed to make an explanation. The latter stated that he knew the underground pipes were all right. The usual smoke test had not been made on the heat, as the weather was not suitable. He had not seen the fixtures and had not given Mr. Duranceau a certificate.

Thus the discussion jogged along, until Mr. Dumble made a motion to have the matter left to a disinterested expert. Mr. Fair questioned the authority of the Board to do this, as the contractor had not finished.

Mr. Dumble asserted that Mr. Duranceau had a perfect right to do anything on the buildings in connection with his work until he had completed his contract. Mr. Robinson demurred in this and stated that no repairs should be allowed to be made.

Reaching a Conclusion

Mr. Hill pointed out that Mr. Duranceau should not be interfered with in any repairs. If anything had been done wrong, he said it was only fair to the contractor that when they were pointed out he should be permitted to correct them.

"It seems to be a tempest in a tea pot," Mr. Hayes remarked, "these charges are made before the contract is taken off the man's hands."

The Decision

Mr. Dumble finally moved, seconded by Dr. Morrison, that the chairman of the Board be authorized to employ an expert to examine the plumbing of the Queen Alexandra School and the Collegiate Institute buildings, and that he report to the Board, later.

Speaking to Dr. Morrison, Mr. Stocker said, that the workmanship in the Collegiate Institute building was good with the exception of certain lead bends and a cracked joint. The first was merely a matter of one dollar, the second, Mr. Stocker said, would be discovered when the tests were made, if it was now hidden.

"All these things would have been let pass and no attention given them, if I had not pointed them out," was Mr. Stocker's parting shot before an adjournment was made.

Must Have License In Order To Give Concerts In Parks

Property Committee Dealt With the Request of Peterboro Concert Co. Last Night---Other Business Transacted by Committee.

A well filled file was ready for the members of the Property Committee of the City Council, which met last night, and considerable business was transacted. The most interesting and most important item that came up was the discussion on the public library question, which is treated at length in another column.

There were present Ald. Bradburn, chairman; Mayor Rush, Ald. Morgan, Johnston and Gillespie.

Letters were read from R. A. Elliott & Company and Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck and Kerr, opposing the request of the Peterborough Lumber Company to pile lumber and slabs on Maria street, on the south side of Engleburn avenue.

The company has been using the property for some time as a piling ground.

No action was taken in the request of the company at present, and it will be notified that if it secures the consent of the property owners adjoining, the Council will grant its request.

The case of a widower in the city, who is very seriously ill with tuberculosis, and who should be placed in some hospital, was brought to the attention of the committee in a letter from Dr. Scott, who stated that a place might be secured for him in the Toronto Free Hospital for Consumptives at $7 a week.

The man is at present receiving $4 per week from a lodge in the city, which sum will be decreased in June to $2.

Ald. Morgan moved that the chairman arrange for the admission of the sufferer into the Toronto Free Hospital for Consumptives, at a cost of $7 per week to the city, provided the court agrees to pay the benefits due him to the city.—Carried.

$100 More for Property

In the case of Mrs. Martha Reid, Wescott street, who had sold a house on the line of extension of Aylmer street to the city, and to whom the payment of money could not be made for a year after the sale, owing to the fact that the deed could not be furnished until Mrs. Reid's son was located, the committee, on motion of Ald. Johnston and Morgan, decided to recommend that she be paid $100 more for the property.

She had claimed this sum from the city, stating that Mr. McKee had promised that she should have it, and the latter wrote the committee that, in his opinion, Mrs. Reid's request should be granted.

A letter was read from Mr. George Chandler on behalf of the Peterborough Concert Company, asking the Council for the use of the bandstand in one of the parks for three nights in the week during the summer for the purpose of giving concerts, for which they expected to be paid by renting seats and collecting from those who preferred to stand.

The committee regarded the idea as an excellent one, but, as the City Clerk pointed out, there was the objection that there was a license governing such amusements, and the Council could not very well do away with it in this case, and not only allow people without a license to enter into competition with those who have to pay the license fee, but also provide them with a free place to carry on their business.

It was decided to notify the Peterborough Concert Company that if it desired to pay the necessary license it would be allowed the privilege of using Central Park for the purpose asked.

THE EASTER LIVE STOCK MARKETS

Marked Change in the Prices and an Advance Equal to 25% in values

In anticipation of the Easter demands, the live stock markets have taken on an upward tendency. Although trade has not been what one might call brisk, still the markets have shown steadiness and a good demand for favourite grades.

Most of the dealers have been handling small shipments at a time, and yet reported. Mr. Kennedy states that there has been a marked change in the prices of live stock during the past thirty days, the advance being equal to about 25 per cent. in values, in cattle, hogs, sheep and lambs. The principal causes of this are the high prices of feed, short supplies of the finished product, and the advances in the American market, as well as the export demand. Mr. Kennedy has been shipping largely to Montreal, Hull, Toronto and Peterborough, averaging from 25 to 30 cars per week. While in Montreal the past two weeks, he disposed of 16 cars of cattle, principally for the Easter market.

The prospects for the next ninety days are that prices will remain firm in all classes. The prevailing prices are: For choice cattle, 5c to 5 1-4c lb. live weight; for hogs, 6c to 6 1-4c live weight. One reason for higher prices in dressed meats is the fact that hides and offal have decreased in price,—hides especially being in poor demand.

H. P. KENNEDY,

taking small risks. But, in an interview with Mr. H. P. Kennedy, however, his transactions have been on a larger scale, and the season's business has been, perhaps, the largest

CLOSING BANQUET WAS HELD

Intermediate Bible Club of the Y.M.C.A. Had Enjoyable Evening

A TOAST LIST WAS GIVEN

The closing banquet of the Intermediate Bible Club was held last night, and was a most successful and enjoyable affair. Some twenty-six members were present, and the repast and toast list which followed, were thoroughly appreciated. Dr. Middleton, the leader of the club, acted as chairman.

A tasteful banquet had been arranged for the occasion by Coleman Bros., and ample justice was done to the repast, after which the following toast list was honoured:

The King, proposed by Dr. Middleton.

The Winners of the Membership Competition—proposed by Fred Hull, responded to by Mr. Hart and A. Weart.

"The Y. M. C. A."—proposed by Geo. Martin, responded to by Messrs. John Laing, H. C Wright and M. Hartley.

"Our Leader"—proposed by A. Hall, responded to by Dr. Middleton.

After the banquet the gathering had a flash light photograph taken at the Madill Studio.

"PARSIFAL"

One of the most striking scenes to be witnessed in the many presented in Messrs. Martin and Emery's production of "Parsifal," which comes to the Grand on Monday, April 20, is the transformation of the Magician Klingsor's castle to the magnificent Flower Garden vision of beauty and entrancement. Kundry has been summoned by Klingsor to appear in his magic castle, but hesitates to comply with his commands, being fearful of his power and designs. By use of his necromantic arts, and his compact with the Evil One, Kundry is compelled to bend to his will, and appears in his wizard-like den in a volume of blue vapor. He sets her to the task of encompassing the destruction of Parsifal through her seductive methods, and strive as she may against the odious task, she is constrained to obey his behests. With a shriek of despair and horror, Kundry disappears as she came. Klingsor, gloating over his prospective victim, continues in his weird and uncanny incantations. Of a sudden, the scene vanishes, and in its place is brought to view the wondrously beautiful Flower Garden with its tropical and variegated foliage and flowers and its denizens of surpassing loveliness, the Flower Maidens. The whole magical change is so deftly arranged in reality that it seems quite in keeping with the apparent occult powers of the arch wizard, Klingsor.

Owing to the unusual length of the performance, the curtain will rise on the first act promptly at 7.45 p.m. There are four acts, each one of which requires about forty minutes for its enactments. The intermissions are comparatively short, and the final curtain falls at 11 o'clock. It is one of the rules of the performance, and the management gives the assurance that the rule will be strictly enforced, that everyone must be seated before the theatre is darkened, which means before the music begins. Late comers will not be shown to their seats until the conclusion of the act. Warning of the approach of commencement time will be given by trumpeters in the lobby entrance. Plan opens to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

STAINER'S CRUCIFIXION AT ST. JOHN'S TO-MORROW

Sir John Stainer's great musical solemnity, "The Crucifixion," a magnificent combination of melody and devotion, will form a prominent feature of the Good Friday evening service at St. John's on Friday. It will be sung with a full choir, which has had the composition in studious rehearsal under Mr. R. J. Devey's direction for some time. Its rendering will form a fitting finale to the devotional events of the day.

ANOTHER GRASS FIRE TO-DAY

Another grass fire broke out to-day in a field a little above Smith street, on Aylmer street. Both waggons were soon upon the scene, and the fire was trampled out. This was the second turn out of the fire brigade this morning. During the past week the brigade has been called out to extinguish grass fires, which originated from some person burning dead leaves in a field. It is hoped that the citizens will be more careful in the future.

A DEED OF LOVE

(By Douglas Russell)

I look aloft at early morn
A while before the break of day,
The heavens a myriad stars adorn
Which to their Maker homage pay.

My pen instinctively I seize,
A medium find for thoughts that flow.
The stars! I fain would write of these Scarce formed is my resolve, when lo

There's light upon the Eastern sky,
On which I fixed my earnest gaze;
Behold, the King of day is nigh,
And feathered warblers chant his praise.

Up, up in all his majesty,
He mounts like some vast world on fire;
The stars—they bow becomingly,
They own his glory and retire.

King Sol without a rival reigns,
Of stars, indeed I thought to write,
They're gone, and he alone remains,
Before the day has fled the night.

I meant to write of deeds of men,
Of generous deeds, that they have done,
Congenial task for poet's pen,
I finish e'er I've well begun.

Inscribed upon the Sacred page,
A tale is told eclipsing quite,
All others which the thoughts engage,
As stars are lost in Solar light.

For guilty "subjects" in revolt,
The King of Love gave up His Son
On whom, like some dread thunder-bolt
Their judgment falls, escape there's none.

A two-fold "Deed of Love" we see
A Kingly Gift on men bestowed.
That hopeless debtors might go free
The Prince of Life paid all they owed.

In presence of a theme like this,
The best of earthly themes must pale,
Of Him the ransomed sing in bliss,
To him who loves and lives—All Hail.

The goods that lack quality, the shop-worn, the goods you don't want, are what some grocers are only too willing to offer you as a substitute for fresh tea in the clean, air-tight lead packages of "Salada" Tea. The tea quality made famous.—21.

Star Specials

Another List Of Quality Goods Priced Low

People are aware of the fact that we offer excellent qualities and the best styles at our star events although we mark them rather low. Skeptical women who rarely participate in special sales are very noticeable as enthusiastic purchasers. They're judges of good values—they're believers in economy too—and when a real money saving event of this sort presents itself they naturally take advantage of it. These sales are held only once a week — we couldn't afford to feature them more frequently as prices are too small to make them profitable. 'Tis simply our way of stimulating business on certain days. Take advantage of this "Star Special" event, as they are few and far between.

Women's Institute Advocated For Peterborough District

Splendid Address Delivered by Miss L. Rose of the Agricultural College, Guelph—Why Butter Discussed—Mr. Ward Speaks on Cheese Making.

SMALL NUMBER PRESENT

The afternoon session of the Cheese Board Convention, which was held in the Council Chamber, yesterday afternoon, was not very largely attended, but a very interesting and profitable time was spent. Mr. A H Campbell occupied the chair, and two excellent addresses were delivered during the afternoon by Mr. Ward and Miss L Rose, of the Agricultural College, Guelph. Mr. Publow, from whom a very important address on the subject of cheesemaking was expected, was unable to be present, owing to another engagement.

Mr. Ward, in his opening remarks, made a short review of the work of the past year. Many people, he said, thought that last year was a freak year. Very cold and dry weather existed up until June, and this was ideal for the production of cheese, but soon followed a very warm spell, and then came the worst week in the year, in September. He was of the opinion that the Peterborough cheese was not up to the mark, the cause he attributed to, either stirring the curds too dry, or not stirring them dry enough. Another fault was that the salting was not properly done, having been too highly salted, and cooked. He led up to the subject of co-operation between the makers and the patrons, and thought that conditions might be improved if the makers would often visit their patrons. Flies, also, he thought, were an important factor in the making of poor cheese, and factories should provide themselves with screen doors, and do everything in their power to promote cleanliness strongly on the point of beautifying the factory, by decorating the outside and giving it a good appearance.

Closing his address, he urged those present to make an earnest endeavour during the coming season to so improve the quality of the cheese that the Peterborough section would be known for having the best in the province.

The question was then open to the meeting for discussion, and in reply to a question on the subject of salting, Mr. Wood replied that he thought 2 1-2 pounds of salt were necessary for 1,00 pounds of milk.

Miss L Rose, of the Agricultural College, Guelph, was then introduced, and received a great ovation from those present. She stated that she understood she was coming to this city to address the ladies regarding the formation of a Women's Institute, of which she was one of the organizers, but would also make a few remarks regarding the making of cheese. She gave a very instructive address on the work of the Institute, and in her remarks on cheese making she proved familiar with every phase of the industry.

She began her remarks by stating that as civilization goes on, things become more and more complicated, and a great deal more knowledge is needed to-day regarding housekeeping than in the days of our grandmothers, and she considered this subject one of the most important in the world to-day. The society began in 1897, in a little village outside of Hamilton, where a body of women formed themselves into a society for the promotion of household science. There are now 125 of these societies in Ontario to-day. The speaker gave several very interesting experiences that she has had in the discharge of her duty, and told of the organization of the Lakefield and Ennismere Institutes which are now flourishing.

The object of the society was to improve the home conditions; the sanitation and ventilation of the home and the proper use of foods.

The speaker cited several instances where people were starved at tables of plenty, and this, she stated, was one thing the Institute was strongly fighting against. Before drawing her remarks on this subject to a close, she expressed her desire to see a Women's Institute started in this city.

A discussion took place on the subject of whey butter, the manufacture of which will be attempted by several of the makers in the Peterborough district this season. Miss Rose, who has had practical experience with the butter, thought that it could be made a success. The taste was a little different from the other butter, but it was very wholesome. The butter could be placed on the market at a low figure, and would benefit the buyer. As regards exporting it, Miss Rose strongly denounced such an undertaking.

Before the meeting adjourned, a vote of thanks to Miss Rose, moved by Mr. Ward, and seconded by Mr. Flood, was heartily approved of.

Mr. Hall Objects To The Carnegie Library Scheme

Informs the Property Committee That He Will Take Back the Gift If The Proposal Is Carried Out—"Have Never Set Up a Shingle For Mrs. Nicholls."

GOES BACK TO COUNCIL

The city council is placed in an awkward position, in regard to the public library question, in view of the developments that have arisen. It will be remembered that Mr. Richard Hall, trustee of the Nicholls' estate, donated to the city the property on the north side of Simcoe street, west of the Bank of Montreal, for the purpose of a public library. The council, after considering the matter, decided to ask Andrew Carnegie for $25,000, with which to build a library, and sell the Nicholls' property, using the revenue derived from this course for a site and as an endowment. Now, Mr. Hall strenuously objects to this procedure, on the ground that the city should not use the gift of the Nicholls' estate to build a Carnegie library.

The matter was brought to a head at the meeting of the Property Committee last night, when Mr. Hall was present," and stated his views to the committee, objecting strongly to the proposed action of the council, and threatened to withdraw the gift if the scheme was carried out. He was very much hurt at the idea and expressed himself strongly to the committee, who, after hearing him, came to the conclusion that it was too great a responsibility for them, and decided to report the matter back to the Committee of the Whole Council.

The committee discussed the matter for a few minutes before calling upon Mr. Hall.

The latter said that the property had not been given away in a hurry. He had found out the suitability of the building for the purpose of a public library, for one reason that it was central. There was no need of giving the building, as it could have been sold or disposed of in some other way. He thought the building could be turned into a most complete library.

"I would never have given it if I hadn't thought it suitable," said Mr. Hall. His idea was to fit it up with ladies' and gentlemen's reading rooms and to have an open reading room for everyone. There would be room enough for thirty years, and at the end of that time, other arrangements could be made.

Ald. Bradburn asked if Mr. Hall did not think it a good stroke of business to have $25,000 come into the city, and use the money obtained from the sale of the building as an endowment and to provide a site. A tablet could be placed in the building, calling attention to Mrs. Nicholls' gift.

Mr. Hall explained that he wanted the library to be a monument in the centre of the city to Mrs. Nicholls. Nothing had ever been done in that respect.

"Surely," he remarked, "when $500,000 or $600,000 had been spent on the city, the latter can spend $10,000 or $15,000, and not merely stick up a tabblet in a corner with Mrs. Nicholls' name upon it."

He referred to the Y. M. C. A., the parks and other evidences of Mrs. Nicholls' generosity, and remarked that the city hadn't even set up a shingle as a monument to Mrs. Nicholls. Mr. Hall thought that a splendid iron could be placed on the Simcoe street property, and it could be called the Nicholls' Free Library. It would make, he thought, just as good a library as if $25,000 was spent for the purpose.

Mayor Rush said that the committee did not want to conflict with Mr. Hall in the matter, and appreciated what had been done on behalf of the city by the Nicholls' estate. On the other hand, it was too bad to ignore a chance to obtain $25,000 to be spent in the city.

Mr. Hall remarked that he looked upon accepting a grant from Mr. Carnegie as borrowing that much money. "You are not going to endow a Carnegie Library with our money," he remarked. "After what has been done for the city, we are being used meanly. Would you think for a minute of sticking Mrs. Nicholls' name in a Carnegie Library?"

"I'll take it back altogether," he continued, "and you can borrow your $25,000. I can give it back to the city in another way and use it to advantage in a shape that will be more appreciated."

The matter was, on motion of Ald. Johnston, referred back to the Committee of the Whole Council, and a meeting will likely be called in a short time, at which Mr. Hall will be present and address the council.

THE INQUEST ADJOURNED AGAIN

A Reply From the Provincial Analyst Has Not Been Received—Foreman Anxious to Go On.

The inquest on the body of the late W E Weaver was resumed last night in the police court. The jury were all present, and the inquest was conducted, as usual, by Coroner Gray, and Drs. Bucher and Young were also present. A satisfactory report from the Provincial Analyst, in Toronto, upon the stomach of the deceased, had not been received, and the inquest was adjourned until Monday, 27th inst.

The foreman of the jury asked the coroner to have everything ready on that night, as he did not want to see the inquest dragging on through the summer. The coroner in reply, stated that it was not his fault, the case was in the hands of the Provincial Government, and they would have to wait until they were ready.

New Midland League Ball Team Organized In City

Athletics Will be Composed Entirely of Peterboro Players--- Enthusiastic Meeting Was Held Last Night--- Mr. M. Connors President.

Another Midland League team for Peterborough. That is the outcome of an enthusiastic and largely attended meeting held last night at "Mac's" cigar store. The new club will be known as the Athletics' Baseball Club of Peterborough, and will have representatives present at the annual meeting of the Midland Baseball League to-morrow in Port Hope for the purpose of applying for admission into that body.

C. G. GRAHAM,
1st Vice President of the New Peterborough Midland League Team

The following officers were elected—:

Patrons and Patronesses—Ald. and Mrs. Geo. Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Green, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. H. LeBrun.

President—M. Connors.
Vice-Pres.—C. G. Graham.
2nd Vice-Pres.—T. W. McDonough.
Sec.-Treas.—E. Desautel.
Manager—Geo. Lynch.

Representatives to the Midland League meeting—Messrs. Martin Connors and E. Desautel.

The idea before the new club is to have a team composed of Peterborough players. Home-brews will be given every chance in the world, and the officers believe there is enough material in the city to enable them to put a strong team in the league, one that will not only give a good account of itself, but will also be thoroughly representative of Peterborough. The new club should meet with every success, and will doubtless receive the hearty support of the citizens in their commendible move of having an All-Peterborough team.

It is understood that "Yebbie" Flaherty and "Prunes" Quinlan will be on the firing line of the new club, while "Dubbie" Shea, the former popular shortstop of the Peterboough club, who has been in Brantford for several years, will be behind the bat. Shea has secured a position in the city and is expected to arrive to-night.

The Athletics will support a resolution calling for a strict residence rule in the Midland League.

CONSTITUTION OF CITY LEAGUE

Drawn Up to be Submitted Before the Executive at Meeting on Monday Night

WAS CAREFULLY PREPARED

The committee appointed to formulate the constitution of the Intermediate City League met last night at Lang & Maher's store. After careful consideration the following clauses were drawn up, to be submitted to the executive at Monday night's meeting:—

1—That this association be called the Peterborough Intermediate Baseball League.

2—That the annual meeting of this league be held not later than Good Friday of each year.

3—The active officers of this league consist of president, first vice-president, secretary-treasurer, and a representative from each team.

4—A majority of officers shall constitute a quorum, and due notice of every meeting must be given each representative at least two days before each meeting.

5—That an entrance fee of $2 must accompany any application to the league, same to be returned if application is not accepted.

6—No club can be represented at the annual meeting unless the admission fee of $2 for present season be paid before date of meeting.

7—The amount of deposit required from each club be $5 as evidence of good faith that the club will finish the season, to be refunded at the close of the schedule, but in case of default the club defaulting forfeits its deposit.

8—The league shall furnish 18 certificates to every club, the certificates to be numbered consecutively and registered with the league, and must be furnished the umpire before each game.

9—No player shall sign a certificate with more than one club in such league, or participate in league games other than with the club holding said certificate.

10—A player in the Intermediate Baseball League must be a bona fide resident of the city since April 1.

11—No permits issued to any club under any consideration.

12—No verbal proxies will be accepted at any meeting, and all proxies must be signed by an officer of the club, and witnessed.

13—Competing clubs to agree on an umpire three days before a game, and in the event of their inability to agree, this matter to be left in the hands of the president.

14—That all scheduled games must be played on Saturday afternoons, nine innings to constitute a game.

15—Each club is requested to register its colours with the secretary-treasurer before the first scheduled game.

16—Any club playing a man who violates any rule of this league must lose such game, and is also liable to suspension.

17—No applications for admission to this league will be considered unless received within ten days after date of annual meeting.

18—All games must commence on advertised time, and any team delaying game will be fined.

19—Games to be governed by Spalding rules, and will be strictly enforced.

THE STRAHS TEAM FOR TO-MORROW

Will Play an Exhibition Game With the West Ends

The Stratheonas will have the following line-up in the exhibition game with the East Ends, on the latter's grounds on McDonel street, to-morrow afternoon: Wilson c, Pilling p, Parnell p, Heaslip 1b, Weatherstone 2b, Craig ss, Dusty 3b, McMillan, Curtis, Ray, Regan and Allison, out field. The men are expected to be on hand, in uniform at 2 o'clock sharp.

Y.M.C.A. FOOTBALLERS TO PLAY QUAKERS

Britannias Cannot Come Good Friday— Practice Last Night

About twenty-five football kickers responded to the first call for practice last night, and assembled at the Central Park to get ready for the game against the Britannias. This morning, however, Secretary Ray Best received word from Toronto that the Britannias would not be here, as they had made arrangements to play Hamilton on Good Friday. But there will be a game, nevrthless. The Y. M. C. A. will get a team out against the Quakers, and there will be a lively game at the exhibition grounds in the morning. The time will be arranged at to-night's practice.

Among the players out last night were McFadden, Evans, Archibald, Scrimshaw, Fitzgerald, Coleman, Brooks, Hagley, Milburn, Baker, Thorpe, Dunnigan and a dozen others.

The boys were kicking strong, especially "Dick" Evans, who put his boot through the ball. A new wind bag will be ready for the game on Good Friday.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

The Toronto writers are at their old tricks again. The sporting editor of the World in to-day's issue, referring to the Olympic committee's decision to include boxing in its programme, states that a Canadian team of boxers should be made up of about three-quarters Toronto. We would willingly wager dollars to doughnuts that quite as brilliant boxers as ever Toronto possessed are to be found in any of the big cities of the Dominion.
